9 Dear Mr. Skall:

10
11 We are responding to your inquiry on behalf of the Missouri Broadcasters 12 Association (“MBA”) regarding whether, under the Federal Election Campaign Act of 13 1971, as amended (the “Act”), a broadcaster would be making a corporate in-kind
14 contribution by selling advertising time at the Lowest Unit Charge (“LUC”)¹ to a 15 candidate who fails to include the required BCRA Statement² in one of his 16 advertisements and, therefore, is not “entitled” to the LUC under the Communications
17 Act of 1934, as amended. 47 U.S.C. 315(b).

18 As long as a broadcaster offers the LUC to all other Federal candidates, including 19 those who did not include the required BCRA Statement, the LUC is a discount offered in 20 the ordinary course of business and is not an in-kind contribution.

21 Background

22 The facts of this request are presented in your letter of October 29, 2004, as 23 supplemented by your letter of November 19, 2004.

24 MBA is a voluntary association of broadcasters who are Federal Communications
25 Commission (“FCC”) licensees of radio and television stations throughout Missouri.

² As discussed in detail below, the Bipartisan Campaign Reform Act of 2002 (“BCRA”), P.L. 107-155, 116 Stat. 81 (March 27, 2002), amended section 315 of the Communications Act of 1934, 47 U.S.C. 315(b), such that a Federal candidate “shall not be entitled” to the LUC if any of his advertisements makes a direct reference to his opponent and fails to contain a statement both identifying the candidate and stating that the candidate has approved the communication (the “BCRA Statement”).

1 Your request was prompted by a letter sent to some of MBA's members by the campaign
2 committee of Nancy Farmer, a 2004 Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate from 3 Missouri.³ The Farmer campaign's letter alleges that the MBA members were charging 4 Ms. Farmer's opponent, Senator Christopher Bond, the LUC even though, under the 5 Communications Act, the Senator was no longer entitled to such a discount because one 6 of his advertisements did not contain the required BCRA Statement.

7 As indicated in note 2, supra, a Federal candidate must include the required
8 BCRA Statement in advertisements that mention the candidate's opponent. For radio 9 broadcasts, the BCRA Statement must consist of a personal audio statement by the 10 candidate identifying himself, the office sought and stating his approval of the message.
11 In the case of television advertisements, for a period of no less than four seconds at the 12 end of the ad, there must appear simultaneously (i) a clearly identifiable photographic or 13 similar image of the candidate; and (ii) a clearly readable printed statement, identifying 14 the candidate and stating that he has approved the broadcast and that his authorized 15 committee paid for the broadcast.

16 Although the Communications Act generally requires broadcasters to charge
17 candidates the LUC for a candidate's political advertisements in the 45 days preceding a 18 primary election and the 60 days preceding a general election, BCRA amended 315(b) of 19 the Communications Act to provide that a Federal candidate "shall not be entitled"
20 [emphasis added] to receive the LUC if any of his advertisements have failed to include
21 the required BCRA Statement. 47 U.S.C. 315(b). Specifically, once a broadcaster airs a 22 Federal candidate's political advertisement that does not contain the BCRA Statement,

³ A copy of one of the letters sent by the Farmer campaign to an MBA member was attached to your request.

1 that candidate is no longer guaranteed the LUC for any advertisement aired in the 2 remaining days leading up to the election.

3 In order to respond to your inquiry, we must address two preliminary issues.

4 First, we must address whether Senator Bond had lost his entitlement to the LUC
5 advertising rate. While we have neither the jurisdiction nor the facts necessary to 6 determine whether one of Senator Bond's advertisements in fact failed to contain the 7 required BCRA Statement, your request is premised upon such an assumption. You state
8 that some MBA members "charged Senator Bond the [LUC] for campaign 9 advertisements after he lost his entitlement" [emphasis added] to receive such a discount.
10 Accordingly, we assume, for the purposes of this opinion, that Senator Bond ran an 11 advertisement without the required BCRA Statement and therefore was not entitled to the 12 LUC, but we make no independent judgment as to this issue.

13 Second, we must address whether your statement of the Communications Act is 14 correct as to whether it is permissible for a broadcaster to continue to offer the LUC to a 15 candidate who is no longer "entitled" to it. As you acknowledge, the FCC is the agency
16 with jurisdiction to interpret the Communications Act. Although the FCC has not yet
17 promulgated regulations implementing the BCRA amendments to the Communications
18 Act, you argue that despite a candidate's lack of entitlement to the LUC, under section
19 315(b)(1) of the Communications Act, a broadcaster is still permitted to offer the LUC
20 discount to such a candidate.⁴ You argue, therefore, that the lack of entitlement does not 21 create a requirement for a broadcaster to charge a rate higher than the LUC to such an

⁴ Informal conversations between Federal Election Commission ("FEC") and FCC staff members confirm that the FCC staff interprets the BCRA amendments to the Communications Act to allow a station to offer the LUC to a candidate who has failed to include the BCRA Statement in one of his advertisements, as long as it treats all Federal candidates in a consistent, non-discriminatory manner.

1 “unentitled” candidate. As this issue is within the jurisdiction of the FCC rather than the 2 FEC, for purposes of this opinion, we presume that your statement is correct, and make 3 no independent judgment as to that issue.

4 Question Presented

5 Does a broadcaster make an in-kind contribution by charging a Federal candidate
6 the LUC for advertising time when the candidate is not “entitled” to the LUC under 7 the Communications Act? If the LUC is an in-kind contribution, must the broadcaster
8 re-bill the candidate for the difference between the LUC and some higher rate?

9 Legal Analysis and Conclusions

10 The Act prohibits any corporation from making any contribution or expenditure in 11 connection with a Federal election. 2 U.S.C. 441b(a). The Act and Commission 12 regulations define the terms “contribution” and “expenditure” to include any gift of 13 money or anything of value for the purpose of influencing a Federal election. 2 U.S.C.
14 431(8)(A)(i) and 431(9)(A)(i); 11 CFR 100.52(a) and 100.111(a); see also 2 U.S.C.
15 441b(b)(2) and 11 CFR 114.1(a)(1) (providing a similar definition for “contribution and 16 expenditure” with respect to corporate activity). Commission regulations further define 17 “anything of value” to include all in-kind contributions and state that, unless specifically 18 exempted under 11 CFR 100.71(a), the provision of any goods or services (including 19 advertising services) without charge, or at a charge which is less than the usual and 20 normal charge for such goods or services, is a contribution. 11 CFR 100.52(d)(1); see 21 also 11 CFR 100.111(e)(1).

22 The Commission has held, however, that discounts that are less than the usual and 23 normal charge are not contributions if such discounts are offered in the ordinary course of

1 business. See, e.g., Advisory Opinions 2004-18, 1996-2, and 1989-14. Since the LUC is 2 a statutorily-guaranteed discount available to all candidates whose advertisements contain
3 the required BCRA Statement, it is a discount offered in the ordinary course of business
4 to those candidates. Additionally, because the LUC itself is calculated based on the rates
5 available to certain commercial advertisers,⁵ it is by definition, offered to some customers 6 in the ordinary course of business. Accordingly, because a broadcaster must offer the 7 LUC to all candidates whose advertisements contain the required BCRA Statement and 8 because certain commercial advertisers also receive a discount amounting to the LUC,
9 the Commission concludes that a broadcaster may offer the LUC to a Federal candidate 10 whose advertisement did not include the required BCRA Statement without making an 11 in-kind contribution, so long as the broadcaster provides the LUC to all similarly situated 12 Federal candidates, thereby ensuring that the discount does not favor any particular 13 candidate.

14 Therefore, based on your representation that no MBA member who offered the 15 LUC to Senator Bond failed to make the LUC available to any other Federal candidate, 16 whether or not the candidate was “entitled” to the LUC, the offer of the LUC to Senator 17 Bond did not constitute a prohibited in-kind contribution. Finally, because we have 18 concluded no in-kind contribution was made, we do not need to reach your question 19 regarding re-billing.

20 The Commission expresses no opinion regarding the applicability of the 21 Communications Act of 1934, or of regulations promulgated by the FCC, to the activities
22 in this request because those questions are outside the Commission's jurisdiction.

⁵ See note 1, supra.

1 This response constitutes an advisory opinion concerning the application of the 2 Act and Commission regulations to the specific transaction or activity set forth in your 3 request. See 2 U.S.C. 437f. We emphasize that if there is a change in any of the facts or 4 assumptions presented, and such facts or assumptions are material to a conclusion 5 presented in this advisory opinion, then the requestor may not rely on that conclusion as 6 support for its proposed activity.
