ADVISORY OPINION 2010-24

Ms. C. April Boling, CPA
Treasurer, Republican Party of San Diego County
7185 Navajo Road, Suite P
San Diego, CA 92119

Dear Ms. Boling:

We are responding to your advisory opinion request on behalf of the Republican Party of San Diego County (the “Committee”), concerning the application of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (the “Act”), and Commission regulations to the activities of the Committee’s Voter Registration Coordinator (the “Employee”) and Executive Director.

The Commission concludes that some of the Employee’s activities recruiting, training, and supervising contractors hired by the Committee during the applicable Federal election activity (“FEA”) time periods are voter registration activity and therefore FEA under the Act and Commission regulations. The Commission further concludes that the Executive Director’s supervision of the Employee does not constitute voter registration activity.

Background

The facts presented in this advisory opinion are based on your letter received on September 15, 2010.

The Committee is a local committee of the Republican Party. The Committee hired the Employee in May 2010. The Employee’s sole function is to recruit, train, and supervise contractors hired by the Committee exclusively to perform voter registration activities. The Employee spends 100 percent of her time engaged in this activity.
The Employee spends approximately twenty percent of her time on each of the following four categories of activities, for a total of eighty percent of her time:

1. Recruitment - includes posting positions on job boards, meeting with clubs to encourage members to participate in the electoral process by registering voters, interviewing potential contractors, and scheduling orientations for contractors.

2. Orientations - includes both one-on-one and group meetings with potential contractors to communicate the Committee's voter registration program's requirements relating to the contractors' responsibilities, protocol, and payment structure. This category also includes training contractors on voter eligibility requirements, legal rights to solicit, and table set-up instructions.

3. Contractor management - includes providing additional training upon request, responding to requests from business owners for verification of contractor status and program details, and completing vendor applications on request.

4. Validation of completed registrations - includes scheduling the turning in of voter registration cards, reviewing the voter registration cards for missing information or errors made by the voters, photocopying voter registration cards, calling newly registered voters to welcome them to the Republican Party, reviewing and verifying information submitted by registrants, reporting any suspicious information revealed on such review to the Registrar of Voters, and personally submitting the voter registration cards to the Registrar of Voters.
The remaining twenty percent of the Employee’s activity is divided between three additional categories of work. These categories and the percentage of time spent on them are as follows: (1) Material preparation – 10 percent, (2) Events – 5 percent, and (3) Calculation of contractor payments – 5 percent.

- Material preparation – includes designing and preparing signs and other voter registration materials for the contractors.

- Events – includes researching potential events at which voter registration may take place and alerting contractors to them, as well as determining the number of contractors to attend such events. It also includes setting up and tearing down voter registration booths, but it does not include the Employee’s actual registration of any voters, herself.

- Calculation of contractor payments – includes all activities related to calculating the payments to be received from the California Republican Party, and the payments to be distributed to each contractor depending on the number of voter registrations in targeted State Assembly and State Senate districts.

The Committee anticipates that it will also employ a Voter Registration Coordinator with these duties in future election cycles.

The Committee is currently reporting the activities of the Employee during the applicable FEA time periods as FEA to the Commission. If the Employee’s activities are not FEA, however, the Committee would like to amend its reports and to transfer the appropriate amount of non-Federal funds\(^1\) to cover the non-Federal share of those costs.

\(^1\) Non-Federal funds are funds that do not comply with the amount limitations, source prohibitions, and reporting requirements of the Act. See footnote 6, below.
Questions Presented

(1) Are the Employee’s activities voter registration activity and therefore FEA during the 120 days prior to an election?²

(2) If the answer to Question 1 is “yes,” do the activities of the Executive Director in supervising the Employee also constitute voter registration activity?

(3) If the answer to Question 1 is “no,” may the Committee amend its reports previously filed with the Commission characterizing the Employee’s activities as FEA, and transfer the appropriate amount of non-Federal funds to cover the non-Federal share of the cost for these activities?

(4) Will the answer to Question 1 differ under the new FEA regulations that are scheduled to take effect on December 1, 2010?

Legal Analysis and Conclusions

(1) Are the Employee’s activities voter registration activity and therefore FEA during the 120 days prior to an election?

Yes, some of the Employee’s activities within California’s FEA voter registration periods for 2010 are FEA because they constitute voter registration activity.

The Bipartisan Campaign Reform Act of 2002³ ("BCRA") amended the Act, in pertinent part, by introducing and defining a new term – FEA – and by requiring State, ² Voter registration activity is FEA “during the period that begins on the date that is 120 days before the date a regularly scheduled Federal election is held and ends on the date of the election.” 2 U.S.C. §431(20)(A)(i). For California for 2010, these periods are February 8 through June 8 and July 5 through November 2. See “Federal Election Activity Dates for 2010,” Federal Election Commission, at http://www.fec.gov/pages/bcra/rulemakings/charts_fea_dates_2010.shtml. The Committee has not asked, and the Commission does not address in this advisory opinion, whether any of the Employee’s activities constitute FEA outside of the 120-day voter registration activity FEA time periods.

district, and local party committees to pay for FEA with either Federal funds or a combination of Federal and Levin funds. The Act's definition of FEA includes voter registration activity during the period beginning 120 days before the date of a regularly scheduled Federal election, and ending on the date of the election. Commission regulations define voter registration activity as "contacting individuals by telephone, in person, or by other individualized means to assist them in registering to vote." It includes, but is not limited to, "printing and distributing registration and voting information, providing individuals with voter registration forms, and assisting individuals in the completion and filing of such forms." 6 4 "Federal funds" are funds subject to the amount limitations, source prohibitions, and reporting requirements of the Act. See 11 CFR 300.2(g). "Levin funds" are funds raised by State, district, and local party committees pursuant to the restrictions in 11 CFR 300.31 and disbursed subject to the restrictions in 11 CFR 300.32. See 11 CFR 300.2(i).

5 In Shays v. FEC, 528 F.3d 914 (D.C. Cir. 2008) ("Shays III"), the appellate court upheld the district court's decision holding that the Commission's regulatory definition of, inter alia, voter registration was overly permissive and thus contrary to the statute. The court remanded the regulation to the Commission, which promulgated revised regulations on September 10, 2010, as discussed more fully below in Question 4. Since the revised regulations do not take effect until December 1, 2010, the Commission analyzes Questions 1 through 3 under the old regulations, which remain in effect until December 1, 2010.

6 Cf. Explanation and Justification of Federal Election Activity, 71 FR 8926, 8930 (Feb. 22, 2006) ("2006 E&J") (noting, in the context of get-out-the-vote activity ("GOTV"), which is also known as Type II FEA, that if "a State party committee . . . hire[s] a consultant a month prior to the election to design a [72-hour] GOTV program for the State party committee and recruit volunteers to drive voters to the polls on election day[, t]he consultant's work performed well before the 72-hour time period would be considered Type II FEA . . . .") (emphasis added). There, the Commission was concerned not so much with the fact that the consultant would recruit volunteers engaging in Type II FEA, but rather with the timing of the consultant's activities. Here, the question is not about the timing of the Employee's activities, but rather with whether those activities meet the definition of Type I FEA.

The Act and Commission regulations also provide different definitions for voter registration activity (Type I FEA) and GOTV activity (Type II FEA), and thus are not necessarily analogous. Moreover, where the Commission was aware of the practice of hiring consultants to design 72-hour campaign programs in advance of the election and associated time periods, but chose to include that example only in the GOTV context, it can be presumed that the Commission meant to exclude this type of relationship in the voter registration context. See, e.g., Bates v. United States, 522 U.S. 23, 29 (1997); Lindh v. Murphy, 521 U.S.
The Committee's description of the Employee's tasks indicates that the Employee spends 20 percent of her time validating complete registrations, which includes assisting individuals in registering to vote by reviewing their voter registration cards for missing information or errors, and taking the voter registration cards and turning them in to the Registrar of Voters. The Employee spends an additional ten to fifteen percent of her time preparing materials for use in registering voters, such as signage, in-field voter registration materials, and setting up and tearing down voter registration booths. These activities fall within the definition of voter registration activity. See 11 CFR 100.24(a)(2) (defining voter registration activity to include "printing and distributing registration and voting information, providing individuals with voter registration forms, and assisting individuals in the completion and filing of such forms").

The Commission's regulations require State party committees to use a Federal account to pay for salaries, wages, and fringe benefits of any employees who spend more than 25% of their compensated time in a given month on FEA. See 11 CFR 106.7(d)(1)(ii); 300.33(d)(2). Accordingly, because the Employee spends at least 30 to 35 percent of her time on Type I FEA within California's FEA voter registration periods, she must be paid exclusively from the Committee's Federal account within those periods.

(2) If the answer to Question 1 is "yes," do the activities of the Executive Director in supervising the Employee also constitute voter registration activity?

Although the request does not ask specifically about the 25 percent FEA payment threshold under 11 CFR 300.33(d)(2) with respect to the Employee, the request asks generally about "the proper reporting and payment related to" the Employee's activities.
No, the activities of the Executive Director in supervising the Employee do not constitute voter registration activity.

Unlike the Employee in the answer to Question 1, above, whose job consists of assisting individuals in registering to vote, the Executive Director does not engage in these activities. The Executive Director’s supervision of the Employee does not fit within the definition of voter registration activity under the Act or Commission regulations.

(3) If the answer to Question 1 is “no,” may the Committee amend its reports previously filed with the Commission describing the Employee’s work as FEA, and transfer the appropriate amount of non-Federal funds to cover the non-Federal share of the cost for these services?

This question is moot, because the answer to Question 1 is “yes.”

(4) Will the answer to Question 1 differ under the new FEA regulations that are scheduled to take effect on December 1, 2010?

No, the answer to Question 1 will not differ under the new FEA regulations that take effect on December 1, 2010.

In September 2010, the Commission adopted new definitions of GOTV activity and voter registration activity in response to the decision by the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit in Shays III. See Explanation and 8 The Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit in Shays III found two flaws in the definitions. First, by requiring efforts to “assist” people to vote or to register to vote, the definitions improperly excluded efforts that “actively encourage people to vote or to register to vote.” Id. Second, by limiting the scope of the definitions to contacting voters by “individualized means,” the definitions improperly excluded “mass communications targeted to many people,” and otherwise had the effect of narrowing the activities covered by the rules. Shays III, 528 F.3d 914.

As revised, the definition of voter registration activity has been expanded to include activities that encourage or urge people to register to vote, as well as those that assist them in registering to vote. 2010 E&J at 55260, 55267. In addition, the current regulatory language about contacting potential voters by “individualized means” has been eliminated. Accordingly, the Employee’s activities also constitute voter registration activity under the revised definition.

This response constitutes an advisory opinion concerning the application of the Act and Commission regulations to the specific transaction or activity set forth in your request. See 2 U.S.C. 437f. The Commission emphasizes that, if there is a change in any of the facts or assumptions presented and such facts or assumptions are material to a conclusion presented in this advisory opinion, then the requester may not rely on that conclusion as support for its proposed activity. Any person involved in any specific transaction or activity which is indistinguishable in all its material aspects from the transaction or activity with respect to which this advisory opinion is rendered may rely on this advisory opinion. See 2 U.S.C. 437f(c)(1)(B). Please note that the analysis or conclusions in this advisory opinion may be affected by subsequent developments in the law including, but not limited to, statutes, regulations, advisory opinions and case law.

On behalf of the Commission,

Matthew S. Petersen
Chairman
Dear Ms. Boling:

We are responding to your advisory opinion request on behalf of the Republican Party of San Diego County (the "Committee"), concerning the application of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (the "Act"), and Commission regulations to the activities of the Committee's Voter Registration Coordinator (the "Employee") and Executive Director.

The Commission concludes that the Employee's activities recruiting, training, and supervising contractors hired by the Committee during the applicable Federal election activity ("FEA") time periods are voter registration activity and therefore FEA under the Act and Commission regulations. The Commission further concludes that the Executive Director's supervision of the Employee also constitutes voter registration activity.

Background

The facts presented in this advisory opinion are based on your letter received on September 15, 2010.

The Committee is a local committee of the Republican Party. The Committee hired the Employee in May 2010. The Employee's sole function is to recruit, train, and supervise contractors hired by the Committee exclusively to perform voter registration services. The Employee spends 100 percent of her time engaged in this activity.

The Employee spends approximately twenty percent of her time on each of the following four categories of activities, for a total of eighty percent of her time:
(1) Recruitment, (2) Orientations, (3) Contractor management, and (4) Validation of completed registrations.

- Recruitment – includes posting positions on job boards, meeting with clubs to encourage members to participate in the electoral process by registering voters, interviewing potential contractors, and scheduling orientations for contractors.

- Orientations – includes both one-on-one and group meetings with potential contractors to communicate the Committee’s voter registration program’s requirements relating to the contractors’ responsibilities, protocol, and payment structure. This category also includes training contractors on voter eligibility requirements, legal rights to solicit, and table set-up instructions.

- Contractor management – includes providing additional training upon request, responding to requests from business owners for verification of contractor status and program details, and completing vendor applications on request.

- Validation of completed registrations – includes scheduling the turning in of voter registration cards, reviewing the voter registration cards for missing information or errors made by the voters, photocopying voter registration cards, calling newly registered voters to welcome them to the Republican Party, reviewing and verifying information submitted by registrants, reporting any suspicious information revealed on such review to the Registrar of Voters, and personally submitting the voter registration cards to the Registrar of Voters.

The remaining twenty percent of the Employee’s activity is divided between three additional categories of work. These categories and the percentage of time spent on them are as follows: (1) Material preparation – 10 percent, (2) Events – 5 percent, and
(3) Calculation of contractor payments – 5 percent.

- Material preparation – includes designing and preparing signs and other voter registration materials for the contractors.

- Events – includes researching potential events at which voter registration may take place and alerting contractors to them, as well as determining the number of contractors to attend such events. It also includes setting up and tearing down voter registration booths, but it does not include the Employee’s actual registration of any voters, herself.

- Calculation of contractor payments – includes all activities related to calculating the payments to be received from the California Republican Party, and the payments to be distributed to each contractor depending on the number of voter registrations in targeted State Assembly and State Senate districts.

The Committee anticipates that it will also employ a Voter Registration Coordinator with these duties in future election cycles.

The Committee is currently reporting the activities of the Employee during the applicable FEA time periods as FEA to the Commission. If the Employee’s activities are not FEA, however, the Committee would like to amend its reports and to transfer the appropriate amount of non-Federal funds\(^1\) to cover the non-Federal share of those costs.

\(^1\) Non-Federal funds are funds that do not comply with the amount limitations, source prohibitions, and reporting requirements of the Act. See footnote 6, below.
Questions Presented

(1) Are the services provided by the Employee voter registration activity and therefore FEA during the 120 days prior to an election?

(2) If the answer to Question 1 is “yes,” do the activities of the Executive Director in supervising the Employee also constitute voter registration activity?

(3) If the answer to Question 1 is “no,” may the Committee amend its reports previously filed with the Commission characterizing the services provided by the Employee as FEA, and transfer the appropriate amount of non-Federal funds to cover the non-Federal share of the cost for these services?

(4) Will the answer to Question 1 differ under the new FEA regulations that are scheduled to take effect on December 1, 2010?

Legal Analysis and Conclusions

(1) Are the services provided by the Employee voter registration activity and therefore FEA during the 120 days prior to an election?

Yes, the services provided by the Employee within California’s FEA voter registration periods for 2010 are FEA because they constitute voter registration activity.

The Bipartisan Campaign Reform Act of 20023 (“BCRA”) amended the Act, in pertinent part, by introducing and defining a new term – FEA – and by requiring State,

2 Voter registration activity is FEA “during the period that begins on the date that is 120 days before the date a regularly scheduled Federal election is held and ends on the date of the election.” 2 U.S.C. 431(20)(A)(i). For California for 2010, these periods are February 8 through June 8 and July 5 through November 2. See “Federal Election Activity Dates for 2010,” Federal Election Commission, at http://www.fec.gov/pages/bcra/rulemakings/charts_fea_dates_2010.shtml. 5 In Shays v. FEC, 528 F.3d 914 (D.C. Cir. 2008) (“Shays III”), the appellate court upheld the district court’s decision holding that the Commission’s regulatory definition of, inter alia, voter registration was overly permissive and thus contrary to the statute. The court remanded the regulation to the Commission, which promulgated revised regulations on September 10, 2010, as discussed more fully below in Question
4. Since the revised regulations do not take effect until December 1, 2010, the Commission analyzes Questions 1 through 3 under the old regulations, which remain in effect until December 1, 2010.
The Commission concludes that the activities performed by the Employee within California’s FEA voter registration periods are Type I FEA because the Employee’s sole duties are to recruit, train, and supervise the contractors hired by the Committee for its voter registration program. The Committee’s description of the Employee’s tasks indicates that the Employee spends 20 percent of her time validating complete registrations, which includes assisting individuals in registering to vote by reviewing their voter registration cards for missing information or errors, and taking the voter registration cards and turning them in to the Registrar of Voters. See 11 CFR 100.24(a)(2) (defining voter registration activity to include “printing and distributing registration and voting information, providing individuals with voter registration forms, and assisting individuals in the completion and filing of such forms”).

Additionally, the Employee spends approximately 65 percent of her time recruiting, training, and managing contractors hired by the Committee to perform voter registration activity. The Commission concludes that the Employee’s activities recruiting, training, and supervising contractors hired by the Committee also constitute voter registration activity under the Act and Commission regulations because her activities are necessary to establish or implement the Committee’s voter registration program. Indeed, her duties are an integral and inseverable component of the program.

(2) If the answer to Question 1 is “yes,” do the activities of the Executive Director in supervising the Employee also constitute voter registration activity?

Yes, the services provided by the Executive Director in supervising the Employee – and, by extension, the voter registration program – constitute voter registration activity. Just as with the Employee in the answer to Question 1, above, the Executive Director’s supervision of the Employee is necessary to establish or implement the Committee’s voter registration program. Because the Committee’s voter registration program constitutes voter registration activity, the time spent supervising, managing, or directing any aspect of the program is voter registration activity under 11 CFR 100.24(a)(2). Accordingly, the time that the Executive Director spends supervising the Employee constitutes voter registration activity.

(3) If the answer to Question 1 is “no,” may the Committee amend its reports previously filed with the Commission describing the Employee’s work as FEA, and transfer the appropriate amount of non-Federal funds to cover the non-Federal share of the cost for these services?

This question is moot, because the answer to Question 1 is “yes.”

(4) Will the answer to Question 1 differ under the new FEA regulations that are scheduled to take effect on December 1, 2010?

No, the answer to Question 1 will not differ under the new FEA regulations that take effect on December 1, 2010.
In September 2010, the Commission adopted new definitions of GOTV activity and voter registration activity in response to the decision by the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit in Shays III. See Explanation and Justification of Final Rules Regarding the Definition of Federal Election Activity, 75 FR 55257 (Sept. 10, 2010) ("2010 E&J").

As revised, the definition of voter registration activity has been expanded to include activities that encourage or urge people to register to vote, as well as those that assist them in registering to vote. 2010 E&J at 55260, 55267. In addition, the current regulatory language about contacting potential voters by "individualized means" has been eliminated. As a result of these changes, the scope of what is voter registration activity for purposes of FEA will be broader under the new rules than it is under the current rules. Accordingly, the Employee's activities and the Executive Director's activities also constitute voter registration activity under the revised definition.

This response constitutes an advisory opinion concerning the application of the Act and Commission regulations to the specific transaction or activity set forth in your request. See 2 U.S.C. 437f. The Commission emphasizes that, if there is a change in any of the facts or assumptions presented and such facts or assumptions are material to a conclusion presented in this advisory opinion, then the requester may not rely on that conclusion as support for its proposed activity. San Diego, CA 92119

Dear Ms. Boling:

We are responding to your advisory opinion request on behalf of the Republican Party of San Diego County (the “Committee”), concerning the application of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (the “Act”), and Commission regulations to the activities of the Committee’s Voter Registration Coordinator (the “Employee”).

The Commission concludes that the services provided by the Employee for the Committee are Federal election activity (“FEA”) under the Act and Commission regulations. Accordingly, the Committee must pay the Employee’s salary, wages, and fringe benefits with funds that comply with the amount limitations, source prohibitions, and reporting requirements of the Act (“Federal funds”).

Background

The facts presented in this advisory opinion are based on your letter received on September 15, 2010.

The Committee is a local committee of the Republican Party. The Committee hired the Employee in May 2010. The Employee’s sole function is to recruit, train, and supervise contractors hired by the Committee to register voters. The Employee spends 100 percent of her time engaged in this activity.

The Employee spends approximately twenty percent of her time on each of the following four categories of activities, for a total of eighty percent of her time:
1 (1) Recruitment, (2) Orientations, (3) Contractor management, and (4) Validation of
2 completed registrations.
4 • Recruitment – includes posting positions on job boards, meeting with clubs to 5 encourage members to participate in the electoral process by registering voters,
6 interviewing potential contractors, and scheduling orientations for contractors.
7 • Orientations – includes both one-on-one and group meetings with potential
8 contractors to communicate the Committee’s voter registration program’s 9 requirements relating to the contractors’ responsibilities, protocol, and payment 10 structure. This category also includes training contractors on voter eligibility 11 requirements, legal rights to solicit, and table set-up instructions.
12 • Contractor management – includes providing additional training upon request,
13 responding to requests from business owners for verification of contractor status
14 and program details, and completing vendor applications on request.
15 • Validation of completed registrations – includes scheduling the turning in of 16 voter registration cards, reviewing the voter registration cards for missing
17 information or errors made by the voters, photocopying voter registration cards,
18 calling newly registered voters to welcome them to the Republican Party, 19 reviewing and verifying information submitted by registrants, reporting any 20 suspicious information revealed on such review to the Registrar of Voters, and 21 personally submitting the voter registration cards to the Registrar of Voters.
23 The remaining twenty percent of the Employee’s activity is divided between 24 three additional categories of work. These categories and the percentage of time spent on 25 them are as follows: (1) Material preparation – 10 percent, (2) Events – 5 percent, and
(3) Calculation of contractor payments – 5 percent.

- Material preparation – includes designing and preparing signs and other voter registration materials for the contractors.

- Events – includes researching potential events at which voter registration may take place and alerting contractors to them, as well as determining the number of contractors to attend such events. It also includes setting up and tearing down voter registration booths, but it does not include the Employee’s actual registration of any voters, herself.

- Calculation of contractor payments – includes all activities related to calculating the payments to be received from the California Republican Party, and the payments to be distributed to each contractor depending on the number of voter registrations in targeted State Assembly and State Senate districts.

The Committee anticipates that it will also employ a Voter Registration Coordinator with these duties in future election cycles.

Since June 2010, the Committee has been reporting the services provided by the Employee as FEA to the Commission (and has paid her salary with Federal funds during the applicable voter registration activity time period). If the services provided by the Employee are not FEA, the Committee would like to amend its monthly reports filed in June, July, August, September, and October accordingly and to transfer the appropriate amount of non-Federal funds to cover the non-Federal share of the Employee’s salary, wages and fringe benefits.

Questions Presented

(1) Are the services provided by the Employee FEA?
(2) If the answer to Question 1 is "yes," are the activities of the Executive Director in supervising the Employee also FEA?

(3) If the answer to Question 1 is "no," may the Committee amend its reports previously filed with the Commission characterizing the services provided by the Employee as FEA, and transfer the appropriate amount of non-Federal funds to cover the non-Federal share of the Employee's salary, wages and fringe benefits?

(4) Will the answer to Question 1 differ under the new regulations pertaining to FEA that are scheduled to take effect on December 1, 2010?

Legal Analysis and Conclusions

(1) Are the services provided by the Employee FEA?

Yes, the services provided by the Employee are FEA because the Employee spends at least 25 percent of her monthly compensated time on FEA or on activity in connection with a Federal election.

The Bipartisan Campaign Reform Act of 2002¹ ("BCRA") amended the Act by, in pertinent part, requiring State, district, and local party committees to pay for FEA with either Federal funds or a combination of Federal and Levin funds.² 2 U.S.C. 441i(b).

The Act and Commission regulations describe four different types of FEA, two of which (Types I and IV) are particularly relevant here. Type IV FEA covers "services provided during any month by an employee of a State, district, or local committee of a political

² “Federal funds” are funds subject to the amount limitations, source prohibitions, and reporting requirements of the Act. See 11 CFR 300.2(g). “Levin funds” are funds raised by State, district, and local party committees pursuant to the restrictions in 11 CFR 300.31 and disbursed subject to the restrictions in 11 CFR 300.32. month on activities in connection with a Federal election.\textsuperscript{3} 2 U.S.C. 431(20)(A)(iv); 11 CFR 100.24(b)(4). "Activities in connection with a Federal election" include, but are not limited to, the specific types of FEA enumerated in the Act and Commission regulations, including Type I FEA. \textit{See} 11 CFR 300.33(d)(2); \textit{see also} 2 U.S.C. 441i(e)(1)(A) (prohibiting Federal candidates and officeholders from soliciting, receiving, directing, or transferring funds "in connection with an election for Federal office, \textit{including} funds for any Federal election activity") (emphasis added).

Voter registration activity (also known as Type I FEA) is defined as "contacting individuals by telephone, in person, or by other individualized means to assist them in registering to vote." 11 CFR 100.24(a)(2). It includes, but is not limited to, "printing and distributing registration and voting information, providing individuals with voter registration forms, and assisting individuals in the completion and filing of such forms."
\textit{Id.} It also includes the establishment and implementation of a voter registration program, including the recruitment and training of volunteers. \textit{See} Explanation and Justification of Final Rules Regarding Definition of Federal Election Activity, 71 FR 8926, 8930 (Feb.
22, 2006) ("2006 E&J") (noting, in the analogous context of get-out-the-vote ("GOTV") activity,\textsuperscript{4} that if "a State party committee . . . hir[es] a consultant a month prior to the election to design a GOTV program for the State party committee and recruit volunteers

\textsuperscript{3} The salaries, wages, and fringe benefits of employees spending 25 percent or less of their time on such activities may be paid either from the Federal account or may be allocated as administrative costs pursuant to 11 CFR 106.7(d)(2), unless none of the employees' time is spent on such activity, in which case they may be paid with funds that comply with State law. 11 CFR 300.33(d)(1), (d)(3).

\textsuperscript{4} The definition of GOTV activity is similar to that of voter registration activity. It means, in pertinent part, "contacting registered voters by telephone, in person, or by other individualized means, to assist them in to drive voters to the polls on election day[, t]he consultant’s work . . . would be considered Type II FEA”).

State, district, and local party committees must use only Federal funds to pay the salary, wages, and fringe benefits of any employee who spends more than 25 percent of his or her compensated time in a given month on FEA or on activities in connection with a Federal election (Type IV FEA). 11 CFR 300.33(d)(2); see also 2 U.S.C. 441i(b)(1).
The Commission concludes that the services provided by the Employee are Type IV FEA, because she spends more than 25 percent of her compensated time for the party committee during the month on activities in connection with a Federal election – specifically, voter registration activity (Type I FEA). The Employee’s sole duties are to establish, implement, recruit for, manage, and supervise the Committee’s voter registration program.

Indeed, the Employee engages in voter registration activity not only through her supervision of the Committee’s voter registration program, but also through her direct participation in assisting individuals in registering to vote. The Committee’s description of the Employee’s tasks indicates that the Employee spends approximately twenty percent of her time validating complete registrations, which includes assisting individuals in registering to vote by reviewing their voter registration cards for missing information or errors, and taking the voter registration cards and turning them in to the Registrar of Voters. The Employee spends an additional ten to fifteen percent of her time preparing 5The example in the 2006 E&J refers to a “consultant” as opposed to an employee. See 2006 E&J at 8930. Because payments to consultants are not covered under Type IV FEA, they would be covered under Type II FEA. See also 11 CFR 300.33(a)(2) (State, district and local party committees “may allocate disbursements or expenditures, except salaries and wages for employees, between Federal funds and Levin funds” for GOTV activity) (emphasis added).

materials for use in registering voters, such as signage, in-field voter registration materials, and setting up and tearing down voter registration booths. These activities fall within the definition of voter registration activity. See 11 CFR 100.24(a)(2) (defining voter registration activity to include “printing and distributing registration and voting information, providing individuals with voter registration forms, and assisting individuals in the completion and filing of such forms”).

Moreover, those activities performed by the Employee that are not “voter registration activity” under 11 CFR 100.24(a)(2), are, nonetheless, activities “in connection with a Federal election” under 11 CFR 100.24(b)(4). The Employee spends 100 percent of her compensated time recruiting, training, and supervising contractors whose sole function is to register voters for the California primary and general elections – elections in which Federal candidates appear on the ballot. “Common sense dictates, and it was ‘undisputed’ below, that a party’s efforts to register voters sympathetic to that party directly assist the party’s candidates for Federal office.” McConnell v. FEC, 540 U.S. 93, 167 (2003) (citation omitted).

Accordingly, because at least 25 percent of the services provided by the Employee are FEA (and fully 100 percent of her activities are in connection with a Federal election), those services are Type IV FEA. Therefore, the Committee must use only Federal funds to pay her salary, wages, and fringe benefits. See 11 CFR 300.33(d)(2).
(2) If the answer to Question 1 is “yes,” do the activities of the Executive Director in supervising the Employee count toward the 25 percent threshold for Type IV FEA?

Yes, the services provided by the Executive Director in supervising the Employee—and, by extension, the voter registration program—count toward the 25 percent threshold for Type IV FEA.

As explained in the answer to Question 1, above, time spent by an employee in supervising a voter registration program is both voter registration activity under 11 CFR 100.24(a)(2) and activity in connection with a Federal election under 11 CFR 100.24(b)(4). Accordingly, the time that the Executive Director spends supervising the Employee counts toward the 25 percent threshold for Type IV FEA.

(3) If the answer to Question 1 is “no,” may the Committee amend its reports previously filed with the Commission describing the Employee’s work as FEA, and transfer the appropriate amount of non-Federal funds to cover the non-Federal share of the Employee’s salary, wages and fringe benefits?

This question is moot, because the answer to Question 1 is “yes.”

(4) Will the answer to Question 1 differ under the new FEA regulations that are scheduled to take effect on December 1, 2010?

No, the answer to Question 1 will not differ under the new FEA regulations that take effect on December 1, 2010.

In September 2010, the Commission adopted new definitions of GOTV activity and “voter registration activity” in response to the decision by the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit in Shays v. Federal Election Commission,

As revised, the definition of "voter registration activity" has been expanded to include activities that encourage or urge people to register to vote, as well as those that assist them in registering to vote. 2010 E&J at 55260, 55267. In addition, the current regulatory language about contacting potential voters by "individualized means" has been eliminated. As a result of these changes, the scope of what is "voter registration activity" for purposes of FEA will be broader under the new rules than it is under the current rules. Accordingly, if an activity is voter registration activity under the current definition in 11 CFR 100.24(a)(2), then it will also be voter registration activity under the revised definition.

This response constitutes an advisory opinion concerning the application of the Act and Commission regulations to the specific transaction or activity set forth in your request. See 2 U.S.C. 437f. The Commission emphasizes that, if there is a change in any of the facts or assumptions presented and such facts or assumptions are material to a conclusion presented in this advisory opinion, then the requester may not rely on that conclusion as support for its proposed activity. Any person involved in any specific transaction or activity which is indistinguishable in all its material aspects from the transaction or activity with respect to which this advisory opinion is rendered may rely on

\(^6\) The Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit found two flaws in the definitions. First, by requiring efforts to "assist" people to vote or to register to vote, the definitions improperly excluded efforts that "actively encourage people to vote or to register to vote." Id. Second, by limiting the scope of the definitions to contacting voters by "individualized means," the definitions improperly excluded "mass communications targeted to many people," and otherwise had the effect of narrowing the activities covered by the rules. San Diego, CA 92119

Dear Ms. Boling:

We are responding to your advisory opinion request on behalf of the Republican Party of San Diego County (the “Committee”), concerning the application of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (the “Act”), and Commission regulations to the activities of an employee of the Committee (the “Employee”).

The Commission concludes that some of the services provided by the Employee for the Committee are voter registration activity, and that the Committee may amend its reports previously filed with the Commission describing the Employee’s work as FEA, and transfer the appropriate amount of non-Federal funds to cover the non-Federal share of the Employee’s salary, wages and fringe benefits. The Commission further concludes that the services provided by the Executive Director in supervising the Employee are not voter registration activity.

Background

The facts presented in this advisory opinion are based on your letter received on September 15, 2010.

The Committee is a local committee of the Republican Party. The Committee hired the Employee in May 2010. The Employee’s sole function is to recruit, train, and supervise contractors hired by the Committee to register voters. The Employee spends 100 percent of her time engaged in this activity. The Committee states that the Employee performs no activities that either encourage or assist potential voters in registering to vote.

The Employee spends approximately twenty percent of her time on each of the following four categories of activities, for a total of eighty percent of her time:

(1) Recruitment, (2) Orientations, (3) Contractor management, and (4) Validation of completed registrations.

- Recruitment – includes posting positions on job boards, meeting with clubs to courage members to participate in the electoral process by registering voters, interviewing potential contractors, and scheduling orientations for contractors.

- Orientations – includes both one-on-one and group meetings with potential contractors to communicate the voter registration program’s requirements relating to the contractors’ responsibilities, protocol, and payment structure. This category also includes training contractors on voter eligibility requirements, legal rights to solicit, and table set-up instructions.

- Contractor management – includes providing additional training upon request, responding to requests from business owners for verification of contractor status
and program details, and completing vendor applications on request.

- Validation of completed registrations – includes scheduling the turning in of voter registration cards, reviewing the voter registration cards for missing information or errors made by the voters, photocopying voter registration cards, calling newly registered voters to welcome them to the Republican Party, reviewing and verifying information submitted by registrants, reporting any suspicious information revealed on such review to the Registrar of Voters, and personally submitting the voter registration cards to the Registrar of Voters.

The remaining twenty percent of the Employee’s activity is divided between three additional categories of work. These categories and the percentage of time spent on them are as follows: (1) Material preparation – 10 percent, (2) Events – 5 percent, and
(3) Calculation of contractor payments – 5 percent.

• Material preparation – includes designing and preparing signs and other voter registration materials for the contractors.

• Events – includes researching potential events at which voter registration may take place and alerting contractors to them, as well as determining the number of contractors to attend such events. It also includes setting up and tearing down voter registration booths, but it does not include the Employee’s actual registration of any voters, herself.

• Calculation of contractor payments – includes all activities related to calculating the payments to be received from the California Republican Party, and the payments to be distributed to each contractor depending on the number of voter registrations in targeted State Assembly and State Senate districts.

The Committee anticipates that it will also employ an employee with these duties in future election cycles.

Since June 2010, the Committee has been reporting the services provided by the Employee as federal election activity (“FEA”) to the Commission (and, accordingly, have paid her salary with Federal funds). If the services provided by the Employee are not FEA, however, the Committee would like to amend the monthly reports filed for June, July, August, September, and October accordingly and to transfer the appropriate amount of non-Federal funds to cover the non-Federal share of the Employee’s salary, wages and fringe benefits.

Questions Presented

(1) Are the services provided by the Employee FEA?

(2) If the Employee’s activities are “voter registration,” are the activities of the Executive Director also considered voter registration during the time he is supervising the Employee?

(3) If the answer to Question 1 is “no,” may the Committee amend its reports previously filed with the Commission characterizing the services provided by the Employee as FEA, and transfer the appropriate amount of non-Federal funds to cover the non-Federal share of the Employee’s salary, wages and fringe benefits?

(4) Will the answer to Question 1 differ under the new regulations pertaining to FEA that are scheduled to take effect on December 1, 2010?

Legal Analysis and Conclusions

(1) Are the services provided by the Employee FEA?

Some of the services provided by the Employee are Type I FEA (voter registration activity within 120 days of a Federal election).

Type I FEA covers “voter registration activity during the period that begins on the date that is 120 calendar days before a regularly scheduled Federal election is held and ends on the date of the election.” 2 U.S.C. 431(2); 11 CFR 100.24(b)(1). Voter registration is defined as “contacting individuals by telephone, in person, or by other individualized means to assist them in registering to vote.” 11 CFR 100.24(a)(2). It includes, but is not limited to, “printing and distributing registration and voting information, providing individuals with voter registration forms, and assisting individuals in the completion and filing of such forms.” Id.

Based on your description of the Employee’s activities, the Commission reaches the following conclusions about which of these activities constitute voter registration activity:

1. Recruitment – Posting of positions on job boards, interviewing potential contractors, and scheduling orientations for contractors are not voter registration activity because these activities do not include contacting individuals to assist them in registering to vote, printing or distributing registration and voting information, providing individuals with voter registration forms, or assisting individuals in the completion and filing of such forms. Meeting with various clubs to encourage members to participate in the electoral process by registering voters may constitute voter registration activity if the Employee distributes registration or voting information, or assists individuals in completion and filing of such forms. See 11 CFR 100.24(a).

2. Orientations – These activities do not constitute voter registration activities because these activities do not include contacting individuals to assist them in registering to vote, printing or distributing registration and voting information, providing individuals with voter registration forms, or assisting individuals in the completion and filing of such forms. See 11 CFR 100.24(a).

3. Material Preparation – These activities constitute voter registration activity because they include printing registration and voting information. 1 See 11 CFR 100.24(a).

4. Contractor Management – Training of contractors, including “additional training,” does not constitute voter registration activity because the activity does not include any contact with individuals to assist them with registering to vote or other voter registration activity. See 11 CFR 100.24(a).

5. Events – These activities constitute voter registration activity because they involve providing individuals with voter registration forms. See 11 CFR 100.24(a).

6. Validation of Completed Registrations – This activity is federal election activity because it involves assisting individuals in the completion and filing of voter registration forms. See 11 CFR 100.24(a).

7. Calculation of Contractor Payments – This activity is not federal election activity because these activities do not include contacting individuals to assist them in registering to vote, printing or distributing registration and voting information, providing individuals with voter registration forms, or assisting individuals in the completion and filing of such forms. See 11 CFR 100.24(a).

Thus, some but not all of these activities fall within the definition of voter registration activity. See 11 CFR 100.24(a)(2) (defining voter registration activity). 2

1 The Commission assumes for the purpose of this answer that the materials printed by the Employee are subsequently distributed. See 11 CFR 100.24(a)(2) (“Voter registration activity... includes but is not limited to printing and distributing registration and voting information”) (emphasis added).

2 The Act and Commission regulations provide different definitions for voter registration activity (Type I FEA) and GOTV activity (Type II FEA), and thus are not necessarily analogous. Cf. Explanation and Justification of Federal Election Activity, 71 FR 8926, 8930 (Feb. 22, 2006) (“2006 E&J”) (in the context of GOTV activity, if a State party committee hires a consultant a month prior to the election to design a
(2) If the Employee's activities are "voter registration," are the activities of the Executive Director also considered voter registration during the time he is supervising the Employee?

Although some of the Employee's activities are voter registration activities, the services provided by the Executive Director in supervising the Employee are not voter registration activities.

General supervision of an employee, without more, does not fit within the definition of Type I FEA. Specifically, it is not "voter registration activity" because it does not involve any contact with individuals by telephone, in person, or by other individualized means to assist them in registering to vote, or the printing or distributing of voting information, or providing individuals with voter registration forms or assisting individuals in the completion and filing of such forms. See 11 CFR 100.24(a)(2).

(3) May the Committee transfer the appropriate amount of non-Federal funds to cover the non-Federal share of the allocable voter registration costs of the Employee?

Yes, the Committee may transfer the appropriate amount of non-Federal funds to cover the non-Federal share of the allocable voter registration costs of the Employee.

Under the Act, "an amount that is expended or disbursed for Federal election activity by a State, district, or local committee of a political party . . . shall be made from funds subject to the limitations, prohibitions, and reporting requirements of [the] Act." 2 U.S.C. 441i(b)(1). The Act provides for an exception to this general requirement for GOTV program for the State party committee and recruit volunteers to drive voters to the polls on election day, the consultant's work would be considered Type II FEA; no similar language was included regarding Type I FEA). Thus, although the Commission specifically included in the 2006 E&J the example of the GOTV consultant hired prior to the 72-hour GOTV time window, that example was not included in the voter registration context.

certain Federal election activity (including the voter registration activity here), and allows for payment for such activity to be allocated among amounts "which consist solely of contributions subject to the limitations, prohibitions, and reporting requirements of this Act . . ." and "other amounts which are not subject to the limitations, prohibitions, and 441i(b)(2). Under the Act, the allocation ratio is set by Commission regulation.

Thus, the Committee may pay for its voter registration activity in one of two ways: (1) with funds subject to the limitations, prohibitions, and reporting requirements of the Act, or (2) allocated among funds subject to the limitations, prohibitions, and reporting requirements of the Act and Levin funds, as specified by 11 CFR 300.33(b). As for the remainder of the Employee's activities that do not constitute voter registration activity, the Committee may allocate the cost among its Federal and non-Federal accounts in accordance with 11 CFR 106.7(d)(2)-(3).

3 The Act conditions the use of "Levin funds" upon the following:
(i) the activity does not refer to a clearly identified candidate for Federal office;
(ii) the amounts expended or disbursed are not for the costs of any broadcasting, cable, or satellite communication, other than a communication which refers solely to a clearly identified candidate for State or local office;
(iii) the amounts expended or disbursed which are described in subparagraph (A)(ii) are paid from amounts which are donated in accordance with State law and which meet the requirements of subparagraph (C), except that no person (including any person established, financed, maintained, or controlled by such person) may donate more than $10,000 to a State, district, or local committee of a political party in a calendar year for such expenditures or disbursements; and
(iv) the amounts expended or disbursed are made solely from funds raised by the State, local, or district committee which makes such expenditure or disbursement, and do not include any funds provided to such committee from—
(I) any other State, local, or district committee of any State party, (II) the national committee of a political party (including a national congressional campaign committee of a political party).
(III) any officer or agent acting on behalf of any committee described in subclause (I) or (II); or
(IV) any entity directly or indirectly established, financed, maintained, or controlled by any committee described in subclause (I) or (II). 2 U.S.C. 441i(b)(2)(B).
11 CFR 300.33(d)(2) (purporting to define Type IV FEA, regarding certain employee staff time dedicated to activity “in connection with a federal election”) cannot be read to change the answer to this request. That section purports to define Type IV FEA, which the Act defines as “services provided during any month by an employee of a State, district, or local committee of a political party who spends more than 25 percent of that individual’s compensated time during that month on activities in connection with a Federal election.” 2 U.S.C. 431(20)(A)(iv). 11 CFR 300.33(d)(2) could be read as adding an additional, non-statutory requirement via regulation, to include “[s]alaries, wages, and fringe benefits paid for employees who spend more than 25 percent of their compensated time in a given month on federal election activities or on activities in connection with a federal election must be paid only from a Federal account.” 11 CFR 300.33(d)(2) (emphasis added).

In addition to the obvious problems (adding an additional restriction not found in the statute, and creating a circular regulatory framework that defines FEA by reference to FEA), applying the regulation here is at odds with other provisions of the statute, specifically 2 U.S.C. 441i(b)(2) (regarding Levin funds). The Commission cannot rewrite that statutory choice (where Congress specifically allowed a local party to pay for its voter registration activity with a mixture of federally-permissible funds and Levin funds) via regulation, and thus section 300.33(d)(2) cannot be read to impose a requirement that such activity be paid for only with federally-permissible funds. 4

4 Of course, the opposite is equally true -- merely because a party committee employee spends less than 25% of his time on voter registration activity, section 300.33 cannot eliminate that activity from the reach of the FEA restrictions. The Commission has not fared well when it chooses to ignore the statute to either impose a so-called “hard money” requirement where none exists in the Act, or when it eliminates such a requirement where one is imposed by the Act. See EMILY’s List v. FEC, 581 F.3d 1 (D.C. Cir. 2009) Should the Committee choose to allocate these costs accordingly, it should be done within 10 days after receiving this opinion, and the Committee should file the appropriate amendments.

(4) Will the answer to Question 1 differ under the new FEA regulations that are scheduled to take effect on December 1, 2010?

No, the answer to Question 1 will not differ under the new FEA regulations that take effect on December 1, 2010.

In September 2010, in response to the decision by the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit in Shays v. Federal Election Commission, 528 F.3d 914 (D.C. Cir. 2008), the Commission adopted a new definition of “voter registration activity.” See Explanation and Justification of Final Rules Regarding the analysis set forth above is unaffected by the new regulation.

This response constitutes an advisory opinion concerning the application of the Act and Commission regulations to the specific transaction or activity set forth in your request. See 2 U.S.C. 437f. The Commission emphasizes that, if there is a change in any of the facts or assumptions presented and such facts or assumptions are material to a
