 REPORTS ANALYSIS DIVISION

THROUGH:
 SUBJECT: REFERRAL OF THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL COMMITTEE-EXPENDITURES, NATIONAL REPUBLICAN CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE-EXPENDITURES, AND NATIONAL REPUBLICAN SENATORIAL COMMITTEE-EXPENDITURES

This is a referral of the Republican National Committee-Expenditures ("RNC"), the National Republican Senatorial Committee-Expenditures ("NRSC"), and the National Republican Congressional Committee-Expenditures ("NRCC"). The NRCC and NRSC made forty (40) apparent excessive contributions totalling $51,929.33 to eight (8) candidates for the U.S. Senate. In addition, the RNC and the NRSC made thirty-eight (38) apparent excessive contributions totalling $214,500 to twenty-nine (29) candidates for the U.S. House of Representatives.

Although an exception exists for separate contribution limitations by national party committees and their House campaign committees (see 11 CFR 110.3(b)(2)(i)), all contributions made by the national committee of a political party and any political committees established, financed, maintained, or controlled by the same national committee are combined for limitation purposes (see 11 CFR 110.3(b)(1)(i)). Hence, the RNC, NRSC and NRCC are together limited to contributing $17,500 to candidates for the U.S. Senate. Similarly, the RNC and the NRSC are together limited to contributing $5,000 per election to candidates for the U.S. House of Representatives. Pursuant to Standard 6 of the RAD Review and Referral Procedures for Unauthorized Committees, further examination is required by your office.

Please note that RAD did not send RFAIs to the NRCC regarding its apparent excessive contributions to candidates for the U.S. Senate, as similar responses were submitted by all three committees prior to the generation of the RFAIs.

2 U.S.C. §441a(h)
11 CFR 110.2(d) and (e)
11 CFR 110.9(a)

III. BACKGROUND:

This is a referral of the Republican National Committee-Expenditures ("RNC"), the National Republican Senatorial Committee-Expenditures ("NRSC"), and the National Republican Congressional Committee-Expenditures ("NRCC"). The NRCC and NRSC made forty (40) apparent excessive contributions totalling $51,929.33 to eight (8) candidates for the U.S. Senate (see Chart 1). In addition, the RNC and the NRSC made thirty-eight (38) apparent excessive contributions totalling $214,500 to twenty-nine (29) candidates for the U.S. House of Representatives (see Chart 2). Although an exception exists for separate contribution limitations by national party committees and their House campaign committees (see 11 CFR 110.3(b)(2)(i)), all contributions made by the national committee of a political party and any political committees established, financed, maintained, or controlled by the same national committee are combined for limitation purposes (see 11 CFR 110.3(b)(1)(i)).

On January 27, 1989, Requests for Additional Information ("RFAIs") were sent to the RNC and the NRSC for their combined apparent excessive contributions on behalf of candidates for the U.S. House (Attachments 2 and 3). The RFAIs recommended that refunds be requested of the amounts in excess of $5,000 per election.

On February 7, 1989, Mr. Jan Baran, General Counsel of the NRCC, called the Reports Analysis Division's ("RAD's") Assistant Staff Director ("ASD"). Mr. Baran asked about the RFAIs which were sent to candidate committees concerning the apparent excessive contributions from the RNC. The ASD explained that the "National" committee is defined as the National, Senatorial and Congressional Committees, and that the regulations stipulated a separate contribution limitation only for the NRCC (Attachment 4).

In a February 9, 1989 response to an RFAI questioning apparent excessive contributions from the national party committees, Mr. Jack T. Taylor, treasurer of the McCrery for Congress Committee, submitted a memorandum written to 1988 House candidates from Mr. Baran. Mr. Baran's memorandum stated, in part:

"...it is our view that the FEC staff position is not supported by the Federal Election Campaign Act or FEC regulations. In particular, FEC Regulations state that the House, Senate and National committees of a political party each have separate limits, see §110.2(c)(2)&(3), with one exception. That exception pertains to contributions by the RNC and NRSC to Senate candidates. Id. §110.2(e). During the 1976 Congressional debates on the Act, Chairman Vander Jagt, with the concurrence of Democratic floor manager Wayne Hayes, established for the record that the House, Senate and National committees of each party are separate independent entities with separate limits. Cong. Rec. #3785 (May 3, 1976)"

(Attachment 5).

On February 14, 1989, Mr. Jay C. Banning, the RNC's comptroller, responded to RAD's RFAIs. Mr. Banning stated, in part:

"The notion that the Senatorial Committee is part of the RNC or that NRSC donations need to be aggregated with RNC contributions and cannot exceed $5,000 per election is without foundation in the Act, the Commission's Regulations, or its Advisory Opinions."

(Attachment 6).

On March 23, 1989, Mr. James L. Hagen, the NRSC's treasurer, filed a response which stated, in part:

"...it is our position that candidates for the House of Representatives may accept up to $5,000 per election from each the RNC and NRSC."

(Attachment 7).

The accompanying Charts 1 and 2 are a summary of the apparent excessive contributions to candidates for the U.S. House of Representatives and apparent excessive contributions to candidates for the U.S. Senate. All brackets on the attachments supporting these charts (Attachments A through D) were made by RAD analysts. Asterisked contributions on these same attachments were questioned in RFAIs from RAD.

IV. OTHER PENDING MATTERS INITIATED BY RAD:

None.

Dear Mr. McManus:

This letter is prompted by the Commission's preliminary review of the report(s) referenced above. The review raised questions concerning certain information contained in the report(s). An itemization follows:

-Schedule B of your report(s) (pertinent portion(s) attached) discloses a contribution(s) which appears to exceed the limits set forth in the Act. The national committee of a political party may not make a contribution(s) to a candidate for the office of Representative in excess of $5,000 per election. (11 CFR 110.3(b)(1)--(4)) It appears that, for purposes of the limitation, the Senatorial committee is considered a part of the national committee.

If you have made an excessive contribution(s), the Commission recommends that you notify the recipient and request a refund of the amount in excess of $5,000. Any refund should appear on a supporting Schedule A for Line 16 of your next report.

Although the Commission may take further legal steps, prompt action by you to obtain a refund of the excessive amount(s) will be taken into consideration.

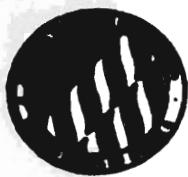

A written response or an amendment to your original report(s) correcting the above problem(s) should be filed with the Federal Election Commission within fifteen (15) days of the state of this letter. If you need assistance, please feel free to contact me on our toll-free number, (800) 434-9330. My local number is (302) 375-2400.

COMMITTEE: National Republican Congressional Committee

DATE: 2/89

SUBJECT(S): Letters to House Candidates

Mr. Baran called to see why a number of candidates had received letters from the Commission about possible excessive contributions from the RNC. He said he called to find out why we had sent the letters out. I explained to him that only the congressional committee had a separate limit written into the regulations. I also pointed out to him that "National" committee is defined as the National, Senatorial and Congressional Committees. He said that he would get back to me.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN

MEMORANDUM

TO: 1988 House Candidates

FROM: Jan W. Baran [Signature]
General Counsel

DATE: January 27, 1989

RE: Letters from the FEC regarding contributions from the National Republican Senatorial Committee (NRSC)

It has come to our attention that certain 1988 House candidates have received letters from the FEC Report & Analysis staff questioning contributions from the NRSC. Specifically, these letters suggest that NRSC donations must be combined with donations from the Republican National Committee (RNC) and in the aggregate may not exceed $5,000 per election. Please be advised that this interpretation by the staff has not been adopted by the Commission itself. Furthermore, it is our view that the FEC staff position is not supported by the Federal Election Campaign Act or FEC regulations.

In particular, FEC regulations state that the House, Senate and National committees of a political party each have separate limits, see § 110.3(c)(2) & (3), with one exception.

Jan 30, 89 09:17 CONG. McCARRY-LA 302/325-2999

That exception pertains to contributions by the DNC and NRSC to Senate candidates. H. R. 110-2(e). During the 1976 Congressional debates on the Act, Chairman Vender Jagt, with the concurrence of Democratic floor manager Wayne Mays, established for the record that the House, Senate and National committees of each party are separate independent entities with separate limits. Cong. Rec. 63785 (May 3, 1976).

Accordingly, it is our legal position that candidates for the House of Representatives may accept up to $5,000 per election each from the RWC and NRSC.

Please feel free to use this memorandum in responding to the FCC staff on this issue.

11/28/88) Reports

Dear Mr. Tangney:

This will respond to your letter to the Republican National Committee (RNC) Expenditures concerning the above-referenced reports.

Your letter questions contributions by the RNC to Republican candidates for the United States Congress. Your premise appears to be that certain RNC contributions exceeded the Act's limits because "for purposes of the limitation, the [National Republican] Senatorial Committee (NRSC) is considered part of the National Committee." The notion that the Senatorial Committee is part of the RNC or that NRSC donations need to be aggregated with RNC contributions and cannot exceed $5,000 per election is without foundation in the Act, the Commission's Regulations, or its Advisory Opinions.

Indeed, the Commission's regulations state that the House, Senate, and National Committees of a political party each have separate contribution limits. 11 C.F.R. 110.2(c)(2), (3). The lone exception pertains to contributions to United States Senate candidates from the national and senatorial committees. 11 C.F.R. 110.2(e).

In addition to the regulations, the 1976 Congressional debate on the Act provides legislative history in support of the RNC's position. This affirmation is contained in a discussion between Congressman Guy Vander Jagt (R-Mich.) and Wayne Hayes (D-Ohio). Cong. Rec. #3785 (May 3, 1976). This dialogue establishes for the record that House, Senate, and National Committees of each party are separate, independent entities with separate limits. Id.

Accordingly, based on the existing law, it is the legal position of the Republican National Committee that candidates for the House of Representatives may accept up to $5,000 per election each from the RNC and the NRSC.

I trust this response answers your inquiry.

Sincerely,

J. C. Banning

Dear Mr. Raymond,

This letter is in response to an FEC request for additional information from the National Republican Senatorial Committee - Expenditures, dated January 27, 1989, (see Attachment A).

It is our interpretation that FEC regulations state that the House, Senate and National committees of a political party each have separate limits, see 11 CFR 110.2(c)(2)&(3), with one exception. That exception pertains to contributions by the RNC and NRSC to Senate candidates. Id. 11 CFR 110.2(e). Cong. Rec. #3785 (May 3, 1976).

Accordingly, it is our position that candidates for the House of Representatives may accept up to $5,000 per election from each the RNC and NRSC.

INTERNAL REPORTS CHECKED: Referral Materials

FEDERAL AGENCIES CHECKED: None

I. GENERATION OF MATTER

This referral stems from a review by the Reports Analysis Division ("RAD") of contributions made by the Republican National Committee-Expenditures ("RNC"), National Republican Senatorial Committee-Expenditures ("NRSC") and the National Republican Congressional Committee-Expenditures ("NRCC"). RAD has questioned contributions to eight candidates for the United States Senate and 29 candidates for the United States House of Representatives.

With respect to the House candidates, the referral indicates that both the RNC and NRCC made contributions within the $5,000 per election limits of 11 C.F.R. § 110.3(b)(2)(i). In question are contributions made by the NRSC, the Senatorial committee, to House candidates. The issue regarding the Senate candidates is similar; RAD is in essence questioning contributions made by the NRCC, the House campaign committee, to Senate candidates.

RAD sent out RFAIs to the RNC and NRSC questioning alleged excessive contributions to House candidates of $214,500. The RFAIs stated "[i]t appears that for the purposes of the limitation, the Senatorial Committee is considered to be part of the national committee." Complementary RFAIs were also sent to the candidate committees, although no copies were included in the referral. No RFAIs were sent concerning the questioned contributions of $51,929.33 to the Senate candidates.

In response to the RFAIs, the General Counsel of the NRCC spoke with the Assistant Staff Director of RAD, who explained why the RFAIs had been sent. In essence, RAD's position is that the three national party committees have two limits; contributions to House candidates by the Senatorial committee must be aggregated with the national committee's and be within the latter's $5,000 limit.

Subsequently, both the RNC and NRSC sent letters to RAD challenging this interpretation. The RNC's letter stated that RAD's position "is without foundation in the Act, the Commission's Regulations, or its Advisory Opinions." The NRSC's letter noted its position that House candidates may accept up to $5,000 each from the RNC, NRSC and NRCC. In addition, the response of a House candidate to one of the related RFAIs included a copy of an NRCC memorandum from its General Counsel to "1988 House Candidates." In the brief memo, counsel disputes "the FEC staff position." Citing 11 C.F.R. § 110.2(c)(2) and (3), the memo maintains "that the House, Senate and National committees of a political party each have separate limits ...." (emphasis in original). The memo posits that there is an exception to this general rule pertaining "to contributions by the RNC and NRSC to Senate candidates. Id. § 110.2(e)." (emphasis in original). Finally, the memo cites to legislative history contained in the 1976 congressional debates in support of the view that the House, Senate and national committees are independent entities with separate limits. While no specific argument is made with respect to the House Committee's contributions to Senate candidates, it follows that counsel's position is that the House committee may make contributions to Senate candidates over and above the $17,500 combined contribution limit for the national and Senatorial campaign committees set forth at 2 U.S.C. § 441a(h).

II. FACTUAL AND LEGAL ANALYSIS

Multicandidate committees may contribute up to $5,000 per election to a candidate or his or her authorized committee. 2 U.S.C. § 441a(a)(2)(A); 11 C.F.R. § 110.2(b). The House campaign committee and national committee of the Republican Party, multicandidate committees, are considered separate from one another for purposes of making contributions. See 11 C.F.R. § 110.3(b)(2)(i). Therefore, the House campaign committee and national committee of the Republican Party may each make contributions of $5,000 per election to House candidates. Assuming that there is a primary and general election, the NRCC and RNC may make contributions totalling $20,000 to a single House candidate for an election cycle. Commission regulations are silent on whether or not the Senatorial campaign committee of a political party may also contribute to House candidates in an amount that would exceed the House campaign committee and national committee limits. Assuming that such contributions are permissible, the total amount that could be made by all three committees would be $30,000 per candidate per election. This is the position taken by the three Republican committees with respect to the RFAIs sent to the RNC, NRSC and House candidates by RAD.

The corollary question, not the subject of RFAIs but included in the referral, is whether or not a House campaign committee has a per election limit for Senate candidates that is separate from the combined limit of $17,500 for the Senatorial campaign committee and national committee of a political party set forth at 2 U.S.C. § 441a(h). As noted earlier, the Republican committees' position is that each committee has a separate limit, with the single exception of the combined limit for national committee and Senatorial campaign committee contributions to Senate candidates. According to this view, the NRCC has a $5,000 per election limit for Senate candidates.

Neither the statute nor Commission regulations speak directly to this question. In his memorandum to House candidates, NRCC's General Counsel indicates that during the 1976 congressional debates on the Act, Representatives Vander Jagt and Hays "established for the record that the House, Senate and National committees of each party are separate entities with separate limits." While it is true that the debates established that the three committees had separate limits, a reading of the legislative history makes it clear that the discussion of separate limits involved amounts that each committee could receive. There is no explicit mention of a separate Senatorial campaign committee contribution limit regarding House candidates, nor a separate House campaign committee limit regarding Senate candidates. Indeed it appears that such transactions were simply not contemplated. See Legislative History of Federal Election Campaign Act Amendments of 1976 at 1084.

In summary, there is no specific statutory or regulatory provision prohibiting the contributions in question, nor is there a clearly enunciated legislative purpose to this effect. For these reasons, the Office of the General Counsel recommends that the Commission find no reason to believe that the three Republican committees violated the Act or Commission regulations by the contributions in question.

William J. McManus, as treasurer

Dear Mr. McManus:

In the normal course of carrying out its supervisory responsibilities, the Federal Election Commission considered the issue of whether or not the Republican National Committee-Expenditures ("RNC") and you, as treasurer, violated 2 U.S.C. § 441a(a)(2)(A) by contributions to certain 1988 candidates for the United States Senate and House of Representatives. On June 27, the 1989, the Commission found no reason to believe that the RNC, and you, as treasurer, violated 2 U.S.C. § 441a(a)(2)(A) in connection with the aforementioned contributions. Accordingly, the Commission has closed the file in this matter. Enclosed is a copy of the First General Counsel's Report.

This matter will become part of the public record within 30 days. If you wish to submit any materials to appear on the public record in this matter, please do so within ten days of your receipt of this letter. Such materials should be sent to the Office of the General Counsel.
