

Marion Dunn <mldun@earthlink.net> on 08/15/2002 02:58:08 PM

Please respond to mldun@earthlink.net

To: Electioneering@FEC

cc:

Subject: Soft money and Internet Ads

In order for the ruling to be effective and fair, it should apply to the Internet as well.

I, for one, do not wish to receive solicitations for various politicians...I get enough of that on the phone every day and in the mail. There's not a day go by that someone isn't looking for money or votes, or both.

I make a point of reading the paper every day. It either backs [or not] what the TV news is saying about the various men and women running for office. Also, I make a point of noting what politician is doing what, if it's right [or not] so that when it comes time to vote, I feel I am an informed voter.

People are sick and tired of two/three year campaigns...we want the people we voted into office to work at what we sent them there to do [and what they all spouted they were going to do]. Enough of the soft money that lets them tie up all the Media with their promises, that once elected, their selective memory lets them forget.

ML Dunn

1815 NE 51st

Pompano Beach, FL 33064-5740

[registered Republican since the age of 21...49 yrs].

--- Marion Dunn

--- mldun@earthlink.net

--- EarthLink: It's your Internet.