UTAH CAMPAIGN FAILS TO FILE PRE-CONVENTION REPORT

WASHINGTON — One Utah Congressional campaign has failed to meet the June 14 deadline for filing 12-day pre-convention reports of receipts and expenditures.

Provisions of the Federal Election Campaign Act require that committees supporting candidates seeking U.S. House seats in the 3rd Congressional District Republican Party convention to be held on June 26 in Utah file reports of all financial activity 12 days prior to the convention.

As of 5 p.m. June 21, a report from the following committee had not been filed:

*UT/03.....Amy Valentine for Congress.....Amy Valentine (R)

The report was to include financial activity occurring from April 1 through June 5. If sent certified or registered mail, the report should have been postmarked by June 10. Otherwise, the due date was close of business June 14.

Some individuals and their committees have no obligation to file reports under federal election law, even though their names may appear on state primary ballots. If an individual and his or her campaign committee raise or spend less than $5,000, the individual is not considered a "candidate" and neither the individual nor the committee has to register.

The Commission notified the committees of all candidates participating in the convention of their potential filing requirements on May 25. Those committees which did not file on the due date were notified that their reports had not been received and that their names would be published for failure to file if they did not respond within 4 business days.

The Commission publishes only the names of those committees which have been designated by candidates as their principal campaign committees. Under Amendments to the Federal Election Campaign Act, effective January 8, 1980, candidates no longer are required to file personal reports of receipts and expenditures. All such information is reported by authorized committees of the candidates.

Other political committees supporting House and Senate candidates in elections (those which are not authorized units of a candidate's campaign) also are required to file pre-primary and pre-convention reports unless they report monthly. Those committee names are not published by the FEC.

Further Commission action against non-filers and late filers will be decided on a case-by-case basis, depending on the amount of financial activity involved, the percent of vote received and/or the lateness of the report. The election law gives the Commission broad authority to initiate enforcement actions, including civil court enforcement and the imposition of civil penalties ($5,000 for "any violation" and $10,000 for any "knowing and willfull" violation) for infractions of the law, including failure to file required disclosure reports.

The next report due for Utah candidates will be the July quarterly report, due July 15. That report will cover activity occurring between June 6 and June 30.
