1992 CONGRESSIONAL ELECTION SPENDING JUMPS 52% TO $678 MILLION

WASHINGTON -- Congressional campaign spending soared by 52 percent to $678 million during the 1991-92 election cycle, according to a Federal Election Commission analysis of year-end disclosure reports.

Overall, the FEC found that from January 1, 1991 to December 31, 1992, U.S. Senate and House campaign committees raised $659 million (up 40 percent over 1989-90), spent $678 million, and reported year-end cash balances totalling $60 million (a drop of $37 million from 1990).

Increased financial activity in this cycle was influenced by congressional redistricting and an unusual number of House incumbent departures, as well as by two special Senate elections in Pennsylvania and North Dakota, and two Senate races in California. The large number of competitive races and an increased number of well-funded non-incumbents contributed to the dramatic upsurge in financial activity.

Compared to the previous cycle, 1992 House campaign receipts increased 39 percent to $396 million while spending rose 53 percent to $407 million. House incumbents accounted for 93 percent of the $48 million cash-on-hand for all House candidates. Incumbent spending for this election was substantially higher than receipts, thus causing their cash-on-hand to drop $32 million, or 42 percent, compared to 1990, and left the smallest incumbent "war chests" since the end of 1984.

The following chart summarizes the financial activities of all Congressional campaigns by election cycle (special elections included):

Even as the number of House challengers increased in 1992, this type of candidate's median disbursements more than tripled from 1990 to $83,201 for Republicans and doubled to $68,324 for Democrats. In comparison, median disbursements for House incumbents rose 53% to $517,594 for Democrats and by 30% to $485,778 for Republicans. Also, compared to previous elections, median disbursements for open seat Republicans dropped 10% to $420,800 and 13% to $397,873 for open seat Democrats.

More House candidates, especially non-incumbents, contributed or loaned their campaigns money than in previous cycles. Records show House candidates loaned or contributed $54.4 million to their own efforts, more than twice that contributed and loaned by candidates in 1989-90 races.

In Senate contests, candidates raised $263 million, spent $271 million, and ended the cycle with cash-on-hand of $12 million. Political action committees contributed $52 million to Senate candidates. Because Senate elections are for staggered, six-year terms and, at least in this cycle, there were two California contests, comparisons of activity are difficult.

The following chart summarizes activity of winning campaigns (special elections not included).

Information attached to this report provides overall summary data by political party as well as by candidate status (incumbent, challenger or open seat), statistics for individual candidates, and candidate rankings. Comparison figures are provided for election cycles back to 1985-86. Other charts provide information on median activity for certain types of House campaigns. Summary tables on Senate candidates include financial activity since 1986. Activity from 1987-90 may relate, in part, to debt retirement from prior elections and should not automatically be presumed to have been raised for a candidate's 1992 campaign.

The FEC's final Report on 1991-92 Congressional financial activity will be issued later this year.

FOOTNOTES

1. Figures in the first two Tables and the detailed listing of candidates cover from January 1, 1991, or whenever the campaign registered during the election cycle, through December 31, 1992, or the last report filed by the campaign.
2. Net receipt and net disbursement figures are total receipts and total disbursements, as reported by the campaigns, minus any money transferred between committees of the same campaign.
3. Columns entitled "Other Committees" (also "Other Cmte's") are monies received, as reported by the campaigns, that are comprised mostly of PAC funds, but also include contributions by other candidates' committees and some unregistered entities. On the Senate listings, the column "Non Party Contributions" contains PAC contributions for 1988 and 1990, as reported by the PAC's, and "Other Committee" data for 1992.
4. Open seat races are those in which the incumbent did not seek reelection. As such, both general election candidates in the 14 districts where the incumbent was defeated in the primary are classified as challengers. The two general election candidates in Ohio's 1st district and the 7th district in New Jersey are also listed as challengers. In these two cases, the incumbent decided to retire after receiving his party's nomination for reelection. Districts where special elections have been held at times separate from the regular election calendar (AZ/2; MA/1; IL/15; PA/2; TX/3; and VA/7) have been divided into two races. The special election activity is classified as open seat. Winners of the specials appear here as incumbents, and their activity begins with the first report following the Post Special filing. The districts in which a special election is being held in conjunction with the general (old NY /17 which becomes NY/8,; and NC/1) are classified as open seats and have not been divided.
5. Percentage figures in Tables covering several election cycles represent the percentage of net receipts from each source and will not sum to 100, since not all sources of receipts are listed.
6. On the Senate listings, the column titles "Candidate Support" includes contributions by the candidate, as well as loans made or guaranteed by the candidate. The column titles "Trans from other auth" includes monies transferred from House committees of candidates for the Senate, as well as proceeds from joint fundraising activity among several candidates or committees. Contributions from individuals and PAC's made through these joint fundraising efforts are NOT included in the "Individual Contributions" or "Non Party Contributions" columns.
7. Detailed listings of candidates include all those participating in the November 3rd general election, along with those candidates in Louisiana who received at least 50% of the vote in the primary and were therefore declared the winner of the seat.
8. Some House members who are or were running for the Senate in '92 changed their former House campaign committees into their Senate campaign committees. Financial activity related solely to their Senate campaigns cannot be isolated. (See Dorgan, ND and Aucoin, OR).
9. Activity of House Other Party candidates primarily reflects the campaigns of Bernard Sanders in Vermont, Lynn Taborsak in Connecticut, and Carlos Romero-Barcelo in Puerto Rico.
