1994 CONGRESSIONAL FUNDRAISING CLIMBS TO NEW HIGH

WASHINGTON -- Congressional candidates raised a total of $740.6 million and spent $724.0 million for the 1993-94 election cycle, according to a new Federal Election Commission compilation. The FEC study covers financial activity from January 1, 1993, through December 31, 1994.

The amounts of money raised and spent were the highest ever recorded in any election cycle in the Commission's 20-year existence. The 12% increase in receipts and 6% increase in spending over 1992 occurred without some of the special factors which were evident in the previous election cycle (e.g. redistricting, reapportionment, and two competitive Senate races in California.) The totals include special elections as well as the activity of all candidates who participated in 1994 primary and general elections.

The following chart summarizes the financial activities of all Congressional campaigns by election cycle (special elections included):

Increased activity by Republican candidates was entirely responsible for the growth in 1993-94, more than overcoming declines in receipts and spending by Democrats in both Senate and House races. Republican Senate candidates raised $183.5 million and spent $180.5 million while Democratic Senate candidates raised $133.5 million and spent $135.9 million. Republican House candidates raised $201.8 million and spent $190.5 million. Democratic House candidates raised $216.9 million and spent $213.2 million. For House and Senate candidates combined, this was a $92.7 million increase in receipts for Republicans and a $11.1 million decrease in receipts for Democrats when compared to 1991-92 figures. Spending by Republican candidates during 1993-94 increased by $71.8 million, while spending by Democrats decreased $26.8 million when compared to the 1991-92 cycle.

Fueling the increases in campaign fundraising were contributions from individuals, which increased 13%, to $402.5 million during 1993-94, and contributions and loans from candidates themselves, which increased 37% over 1992 levels to a total of $122.8 million. (This total includes some loans from candidates which were subsequently repaid, but the percentage increase from 1992 remains the same even if these repayments are removed.) PACs, by contrast, gave almost identical amounts to 1993-94 campaigns - $178.8 million - as they did during the previous cycle - $178.6 million.

The following chart summarizes activity of winning campaigns (special elections not included).

While PAC contributions did not increase overall, there were some significant changes in the types of candidates supported. As in previous cycles more PAC money was given to Democrats than to Republicans. The Report shows that $111.8 million in PAC money was given to Democratic candidates and $66.7 million to Republican candidates. Within the parties, however, PAC support of Democrats was focused more on incumbents during 1993-94, while support for Republicans shifted somewhat to non incumbents. (In the House, for example, PAC support of Democratic incumbents increased 10% to $71.1 million, while at the same time PAC, giving to Republican House challengers increased 48% to $6.5 million.) PAC contributions continued to represent a larger proportion of receipts for House candidates than for Senate candidates. The following chart provides the amounts and percentages of PAC contributions in Congressional campaigns for nine election cycles.

Included in this release is a table listing Senate campaign spending per voting-age-population (VAP) for each state over the past four election cycles. While comparisons of overall Senate activity are difficult because different states participate each cycle, generally the average spending per VAP is higher in smaller states. However, other factors besides state size, such as the competitive nature of the election, also influence the amount spent per VAP. In 1993-94 races, the most spent per VAP was in Montana - $7.41, while the lowest, $.43, was in Florida. (See chart, page 14).

FOOTNOTES

1. Figures in the first two Tables and the detailed listing of candidates cover from January 1, 1993, or whenever the campaign registered during the election cycle, through December 31, 1994, or the last report filed by the campaign, as indicated.

2. Net receipt and net disbursement figures are total receipts and total disbursements, as reported by the campaigns, minus any money transferred between committees of the same campaign.

3. Columns entitled "PAC Contributions" are monies contributed to campaigns as reported by the PAC's making contributions. For candidates who won special elections in 1993 or 1994, these contributions have been divided between the special and regular election processes based upon the date of the contribution. If that date is more than 20 days after the special election, then the contribution is included in the regular election information for that candidate.

4. Open seat races are those in which the incumbent did not seek reelection. As such, both general election candidates in the 5 districts where the incumbent was defeated in the primary are classified as challengers. Districts where special elections were held at times separate from the regular election calendar (TX Sen, CA/17, KY/2, MI/3, MS/2, OH/2, OK/6, WV/1) have been divided into two races. Special election activity appears in tables referring to all campaigns and is included in the open seat category. Regular election activity of winners of the specials appear in the incumbent category, and their activity begins with the first report following the Post Special filing.

5. Percentage figures in Tables covering several election cycles represent the percentage of net receipts from each source and will not sum to 100, since not all sources of receipts are listed.

6. On the Senate listings, the column titled "Candidate Support" includes contributions by the candidate, as well as loans made or guaranteed by the candidate. The column titled "Trans from other auth" includes monies transferred from House committees of candidates for the Senate, as well as proceeds from joint fundraising activity among several candidates or committees. Contributions from individuals and PAC's made through these joint fundraising efforts are NOT included in the "Individual Contributions" or "PAC Contributions" columns.

7. Some House members who are or were running for the Senate in '94 changed their former House campaign committees into their Senate campaign committees. Financial activity related solely to their Senate campaigns cannot be isolated. (See Inhofe, OK; Wheat, MO).

8. Activity of House Other Party candidates primarily reflects the campaigns of Bernard Sanders in Vermont, Merrill Cook in Utah. Third party Senate candidates include Marshall Coleman in Virginia, John Coon in Michigan, and Joseph Slovenic in Ohio.

9. Information regarding candidate contributions and loans from the candidate for Senate Republican Challengers is significantly affected by the campaign of Michael Huffington in California. He provided $28.4 million to his campaign, 62% of all candidate contributions and loans in that campaign type.

1994 CONGRESSIONAL FUNDRAISING CLIMBS TO NEW HIGH

WASHINGTON -- Congressional candidates raised a total of $740.6 million and spent $724.0 million for the 1993-94 election cycle, according to a new Federal Election Commission compilation. The FEC study covers financial activity from January 1, 1993, through December 31, 1994.

The amounts of money raised and spent were the highest ever recorded in any election cycle in the Commission's 20-year existence. The 12% increase in receipts and 6% increase in spending over 1992 occurred without some of the special factors which were evident in the previous election cycle (e.g. redistricting, reapportionment, and two competitive Senate races in California.) The totals include special elections as well as the activity of all candidates who participated in 1994 primary and general elections.

The following chart summarizes the financial activities of all Congressional campaigns by election cycle (special elections included):

Summary Financial Activity - All Congressional Campaigns

	1993-94	1991-92	1989-90	1987-88	1985-86	1983-84	1981-82	1979-80	1977-78

(millions of dollars)

Increased activity by Republican candidates was entirely responsible for the growth in 1993-94, more than overcoming declines in receipts and spending by Democrats in both Senate and House races. Republican Senate candidates raised $183.5 million and spent $180.5 million while Democratic Senate candidates raised $133.5 million and spent $135.9 million. Republican House candidates raised $201.8 million and spent $190.5 million. Democratic House candidates raised $216.9 million and spent $213.2 million. For House and Senate candidates combined, this was a $92.7 million increase in receipts for Republicans and a $11.1 million decrease in receipts for Democrats when compared to 1991-92 figures. Spending by Republican candidates during 1993-94 increased by $71.8 million, while spending by Democrats decreased $26.8 million when compared to the 1991-92 cycle.

Fueling the increases in campaign fundraising were contributions from individuals, which increased 13%, to $402.5 million during 1993-94, and contributions and loans from candidates themselves, which increased 37% over 1992 levels to a total of $122.8 million. (This total includes some loans from candidates which were subsequently repaid, but the percentage increase from 1992 remains the same even if these repayments are removed.) PACs, by contrast, gave almost identical amounts to 1993-94 campaigns - $178.8 million - as they did during the previous cycle - $178.6 million.

The following chart summarizes activity of winning campaigns (special elections not included).

While PAC contributions did not increase overall, there were some significant changes in the types of candidates supported. As in previous cycles more PAC money was given to Democrats than to Republicans. The Report shows that $111.8 million in PAC money was given to Democratic candidates and $66.7 million to Republican candidates. Within the parties, however, PAC support of Democrats was focused more on incumbents during 1993-94, while support for Republicans shifted somewhat to non incumbents. (In the House, for example, PAC support of Democratic incumbents increased 10% to $71.1 million, while at the same time PAC, giving to Republican House challengers increased 48% to $6.5 million.) PAC contributions continued to represent a larger proportion of receipts for House candidates than for Senate candidates. The following chart provides the amounts and percentages of PAC contributions in Congressional campaigns for nine election cycles.

Included in this release is a table listing Senate campaign spending per voting-age-population (VAP) for each state over the past four election cycles. While comparisons of overall Senate activity are difficult because different states participate each cycle, generally the average spending per VAP is higher in smaller states. However, other factors besides state size, such as the competitive nature of the election, also influence the amount spent per VAP. In 1993-94 races, the most spent per VAP was in Montana - $7.41, while the lowest, $.43, was in Florida. (See chart, page 14).

1. Figures in the first two Tables and the detailed listing of candidates cover from January 1, 1993, or whenever the campaign registered during the election cycle, through December 31, 1994, or the last report filed by the campaign, as indicated.

2. Net receipt and net disbursement figures are total receipts and total disbursements, as reported by the campaigns, minus any money transferred between committees of the same campaign.

3. Columns entitled "PAC Contributions" are monies contributed to campaigns as reported by the PAC's making contributions. For candidates who won special elections in 1993 or 1994, these contributions have been divided between the special and regular election processes based upon the date of the contribution. If that date is more than 20 days after the special election, then the contribution is included in the regular election information for that candidate.

4. Open seat races are those in which the incumbent did not seek reelection. As such, both general election candidates in the 5 districts where the incumbent was defeated in the primary are classified as challengers. Districts where special elections were held at times separate from the regular election calendar (TX Sen, CA/17, KY/2, MI/3, MS/2, OH/2, OK/6, WV/1) have been divided into two races. Special election activity appears in tables referring to all campaigns and is included in the open seat category. Regular election activity of winners of the specials appear in the incumbent category, and their activity begins with the first report following the Post Special filing.

5. Percentage figures in Tables covering several election cycles represent the percentage of net receipts from each source and will not sum to 100, since not all sources of receipts are listed.

6. On the Senate listings, the column titled "Candidate Support" includes contributions by the candidate, as well as loans made or guaranteed by the candidate. The column titled "Trans from other auth" includes monies transferred from House committees of candidates for the Senate, as well as proceeds from joint fundraising activity among several candidates or committees. Contributions from individuals and PAC's made through these joint fundraising efforts are NOT included in the "Individual Contributions" or "PAC Contributions" columns.

7. Some House members who are or were running for the Senate in '94 changed their former House campaign committees into their Senate campaign committees. Financial activity related solely to their Senate campaigns cannot be isolated. (See Inhofe, OK; Wheat, MO).

8. Activity of House Other Party candidates primarily reflects the campaigns of Bernard Sanders in Vermont, Merrill Cook in Utah. Third party Senate candidates include Marshall Coleman in Virginia, John Coon in Michigan, and Joseph Slovenic in Ohio.

9. Information regarding candidate contributions and loans from the candidate for Senate Republican Challengers is significantly affected by the campaign of Michael Huffington in California. He provided $28.4 million to his campaign, 62% of all candidate contributions and loans in that campaign type.
