1995-96 PAC CONTRIBUTIONS INCREASE $17 MILLION OVER 1993-94

WASHINGTON -- Political action committees (PACs) contributed $126.5 million to federal candidates between January 1, 1995, and June 30, 1996, according to statistics released today by the Federal Election Commission.

That total is an increase of almost $17 million over the 18-month period in the 1993-94 election cycle. Of the $126.5 million, PACs contributed over $114.4 million to candidates seeking election in 1995-96, with the remaining $12 million going toward debt retirement and future elections. In the previous cycle, $100.9 million from a total of $109.9 million went to candidates seeking election in 1993-94.

FEC analyses of statistics from 4,430 PACs show a total of $311.5 million raised and $264.7 million spent in the first 18 months of the 1995-96 election cycle. Cash on hand to begin the last six months of this election year was $144.5 million.

Incumbents received $98.3 million of the $126.5 million contributed, while challengers were given $12.5 million and candidates for open seats got $15.8 million from PACs. In the previous election cycle, incumbents received $91.1 million, challengers $5.5 million, and candidates for open seats $13.3 million. Republican candidates received $71.6 million from PACs through June, 1996, while Democrats received $54.7 million. Through June of 1994, Republicans had received $37.8 million compared to Democrats' $72 million.

Accompanying this release (page 6) is a 16-year overview of the percentage of PAC contributions given during similar 18-month periods to House incumbents, challengers, and open-seat candidates. The figures in this table are limited to PAC contributions given to candidates seeking election in those cycles.

Comparable 18-month summary figures for PAC receipts, disbursements, and contributions to federal candidates, cash on hand, and debts are provided for five previous election cycles. Comprehensive data on PAC financial activity for the first 18 months of the 1995-96 follow, including rankings of the "Top 50" PACs.

This news release and accompanying statistics can be found on the FEC's World Wide Web site, <http://www.fec.gov>.
