HOUSE AND SENATE CANDIDATES SPEND $936 MILLION DURING 2001-2002

WASHINGTON - House and Senate candidates spent a total of $936.4 million seeking office during 2001-2002, according to a Federal Election Commission summary. The 2,097 candidates who participated in primary and general election campaigns for the U.S. Congress raised a total of $969.5 million during those two years. These figures are 7% below the record financial activity in the Congressional campaigns of 2000.

All of the decline was found among Senate races, where an unusual set of campaigns in large states during 2000 led to extraordinary spending in the 2000 campaign. During 2001-2002, Senate candidates raised $326.1 million and spent $322.4 million, about 25% below 2000 levels. House candidates, by contrast, increased their financial activity during 2001-2002, raising $643.3 million, 5% above 2000 totals, while spending $613.9 million, up 7% from the previous election.

The following chart summarizes the financial activity of all Congressional campaigns by two-year period:

| | 2001-2002 | 1999-2000 | 1997-98 | 1995-96 | 1993-94 | 1991-92 | 1989-90 | 1987-88 |

Contributions directly from individuals totaled $536.8 million and, at 55% of total receipts, represent the largest source of funds for both House and Senate candidates. Contributions from PACs totaled $274.3 million, or 28% of receipts. Candidates themselves provided $110.2 million, which represented 11.4% of all fundraising. Contributions directly from individuals are more important in Senate campaigns (66% of receipts) than in House races (50%) while PACs represent a larger percentage of receipts for House candidates (33% vs. 18% in Senate races). PAC contributions were the only major source of receipts that increased in Senate campaigns between 2000 and 2002, however, growing by nearly 16% to $60.2 million. PACs gave House campaigns $214.1 million, 11% more than in 2000.

The chart below provides amounts (in millions of dollars) and percentages of PAC contributions in Congressional campaigns for the past five campaigns:

| | 2002 | % of Receipts | 2000 | % of Receipts | 1998 | % of Receipts | 1996 | % of Receipts | 1994 | % of Receipts |

| Senate | $60.2 | 18% | $52.0 | 12% | $48.1 | 17% | $45.6 | 16% | $46.7 | 15% |
