Dear Sirs:

I am filing a complaint today on behalf of the Connecticut Republican State Central Committee regarding the CT Working Families Party Federal PAC/DBA Taking Back Congress.

Enclosed you will find two campaign finance reports from the CT Working Families Campaign Committee.

In the report filed for January 10, 2011 there are three expenditures as follows:

November 26, 2010 - $7335.99 Check 1393

November 26, 2010 - $5057.57 Check 1394

December 16, 2010 - $4556.85 - Check 1395

In the report files for April 5, 2011 there two expenditures as follows:

January 9, 2011 - $3805.77 Check 1398

February 17, 2011 - $2528.78 Check 1405

The Working Families Campaign Committee is a registered party committee under Connecticut State law. They are a minor party in Connecticut and this committee acts as their State Central Committee. This complaint is being filed due to my understanding that under federal election law the federal campaign committee must be the same name as the state committee.

I contend that a contribution from a state party committee to a federal political action committee (PAC) is illegal under federal law.

In addition, according to the reports listed on the FEC website the above mentioned contributions to the CT Working Families Federal PAC from the Working Families Campaign Committee are not listed as income on any of their reports.

Please feel free to contact me with any additional questions.

Sincerely
