SUBJECT: Naturalized Citizen as Candidate For US President

The Federal Election Commission decision to even consider this ridiculous issue has my head spinning....what is the point of involving a naturalized citizen as a presidential candidate when he can't become president? It sounds to me like you are wasting your valuable time to achieve almost nothing. Back off and get back to the real work to save our Nation.

You must all have your brains somewhere else when giving this illegitimate candidate tax payer funds to run a campaign when he's not eligible to fill the office? And we wonder why the US government is in debt up to our ears?

Is there any common-sense left in American government anywhere? If so please let me know where it's at. And I spent life-threatening time in Vietnam and other areas while serving 22 years in the Navy defending this craziness.

Think again and do something worthwhile for our nation.
