No, No, And Hell no for the political ads being un spammed!
To whom it may concern:

As a free American, I cherish my right to choose whether I am going to participate in the political processes of our country. As such, I do not want any unsolicited communication of any sort delivered to me in any way. I cannot control what arrives in my physical mailbox, but I very much appreciate the ability to filter such things (which I am not going to read anyway) from my email, saving my very precious time. Please do not allow the filtering of political spam to be disabled or restricted in any manner; I do not want it, I will not read it, and it will only make me angry having to manually delete it.

- J. David Shulmister, St. Petersburg, FL
I am writing to ask that the FEC deny Google's request regarding AO 2022-14 (Google LLC). Allowing this action could result in many people being exposed to potentially disturbing or even triggering words, regardless of where one resides in the political landscape. Google claims that they would allow political entities to bypass the SPAM blockers, however, they would force them to include an "unsubscribe" button. Unfortunately, these buttons are typically found in a tiny font at the bottom of an email. Thus, a reader would at the very least have to scroll through potentially disturbing materials in order to simply prevent further harassment. Even then, just that particular sender would be blocked. The political entity could simply choose another sender name and resend the same or even more disturbing email because senders are notified when they are blocked or someone unsubscribes. This could initiate a cascade of offensive emails from the sender using different names.

Sincerely,

Good Morning,

Approving Google’s request will be government perpetuation of predatory campaign practices that have inundated all political parties with scandal in the last decade. Further, it will victimize those least tech savvy and most vulnerable. You still haven’t figured out how to address the use of social media platforms for spreading disinformation; now you want that in everyone’s inbox? This will be another step toward a dissolved government like the ones seen in the Middle East, 3rd World nations, and every other recent civil conflict around the world.

Allowing political emails to bypass Gmail's spam filter will likely lead to entities taking advantage of this unfair prioritization. Please do not allow this.
Please dear GOD do not allow this change to happen. We are inundated now with campaign advertisements everywhere. DO NOT ALLOW more campaign spam in our email.
To whom it may concern:

The AO 2022-14 proposal from Google should NOT be passed/allowed to happen. I do not want to be bombarded with political messages, from either party, that I will have to manually remove from my inbox. I get plenty of emails and do not want to sift through more to find what is relevant to my day.

Thank you, in advance, for denying this request from Google.

Chris Whitted
To whom it may concern,

Regarding AO 2022-14, please do not grant this request. This request would be crossing several lines that should not be crossed. From likely higher levels of division in this country due to an even deeper access of political messaging directly to the population to the forming of a more than questionable mutually beneficial relationship between Google & politicians. The implications of such a mutually beneficial relationship are morally questionable at best.

Thank you for your consideration.
Do not let this bill pass that says Google's spam filters should be changed. If I want to receive political solicitations, I can ask for them. I do not need overwhelming emails clogging my inbox.

The filters in Gmail are precisely the reason I use it - - - it helps me stay organized and focused. This is a ridiculous bill that puts the onus and the responsibility on the consumer to deal with when it should be the sender's responsibility to devise marketing strategies that appropriately work.

Thank you.

Please, please do not allow political emails, Democratic or Republican, bypass SPAM filters. Thank you

Regarding Google’s desire to allow email from political groups to be exempt from going directly to the spam folder: DO NOT LET THIS HAPPEN!! One of the biggest advantages for me of not owning a TV is that I do not have to listen to the barrage of sleazy campaign ads during election season (which, as far as I can tell, rarely persuade anyone, but mostly serve to entrench people in the political biases they already have). I will surely find another email provider if Google lets these ads evade spam controls. John Kuentzel

Dear FEC,

I would like to discuss the proposal allowing political messages to be exempt from spam filtration.

It is evident that our political environment in the US is becoming increasingly divided. It has polarized to the extent that politically mediated and hate violence is a greater threat than it has been in years past. In addition, there is ever more pressure for workers to be responsive to emails both in and out of the workplace.

Humbly, I suggest that Americans need less divisive politics in their email inboxes. Email is no longer just a personal address, but a lifeline for performing work, paying bills, and coordinating life events. It must be protected at all costs from uninvited messages - including political messaging - that dilute the ability for us to use email for what matters in our daily life.

In this age of high inequality, inflation, worker demands, etc… please, just let us do our work and suffer in peace. Do not bombard us with the machinations of our extremist political groups in a quest for power that has left the American people hollow.

Thank you for your consideration.

Chris Lakhiani, MD
No, please no! We should not have to suffer more political ads. Political ads should be limited in time and amount and definitely should not be passed over from the spam filter.

This change to the way Google handles political pitch email is absolutely a terrible idea, which would make my life miserable. It’s one thing to elect to receive such email, it’s quite another to have to reject receiving each and every political pitch individually.

To whom it concerns,

Please do NOT allow Google to relax their Gmail SPAM filter to allow political emails to my Gmail account. We do NOT need more email SPAM! We need LESS SPAM. If this happens, I will switch to another email provider (Microsoft O365 for instance).

As a very early adopter of gmail I have always been a fan and have always understood that I payed for the service by giving up a portion of my privacy and acceptance of a reasonable amount of unwanted nuisance e-mail. I did so because I was able to filter out obvious spam.

Politicians have made a mockery of many laws of civility and unity by exempting themselves and their self promotion (and opponent bashing) from rules that "We the People" must obey.

I am adamantly opposed to exempting them from spam rules or filters as proposed by this change to Gmail.

Should this be allowed, I and I expect millions of others will yet again disappointed by the government that we put in place to protect and serve us.

To whom it may concern,

In regards to reference #AO 2022-14, please do not grant this request. Political advertising is already a blight on the collective psyche of our country. Don't allow another avenue of harassment please. Thank you very much and have a good day

Here is an idea.......send all unsolicited campaign emails to SPAM regardless of party affiliation.... I can then decide what ads I want to approve/read. Do not be bullied by a bunch of temporarily elected whiners who don't really care about my rights...... I do not want to see these ads.

Thanks for allowing my input.
I am absolutely NOT in favor of allowing political emails to bypass spam filters for Gmail, particularly if they have to pass an “approved” list to qualify. That move would guarantee a majority of these unwanted emails would be for Democrat-sponsored candidates and topics.

Furthermore, as a Republican, I’m not interested in unsolicited political junk from Republican sources in my inbox, even if it’s from causes I support.

Steven Weyhrich >--<IX0YE>
Proposed plans to exempt political related emails from spam filtering could do massive harm to our democracy. It would enable further manipulation of Americans by political figures. There is already far too much bias based reporting and messaging. This would only add fuel to the fire burning the soul of America. It also introduces a vehicle to frame other spam in terms of political messaging. The upshot would be more than just political emails but anything that could be colored as such.

Please block the proposed changes by Google to spam rules and what should be categorized as spam.

thank you,

Christina Compy
There may be worse ideas than exempting political adds from SPAM filters but I can't think of one. DO NOT APPROVE THIS. Political dialog in this country is very divisive. Providing an easier way to pipe nonsense to billions of people is nothing but bad. DO NOT ALLOW THIS.
To Whom It May Concern:

As a person with almost 60,000 msgs in my Gmail Folders, and having to spam notify over and over and over again, already - from BOTH Political Parties, I am nearly going insane.

Please do not allow Google to circumvent the hard, albeit unsuccessful efforts I already make, often with little success.

"Stop", "end"; "no"; and every other avenue, incl directly responding and telling them "I did not subscribe, remove me from your lists" which does NOT work.

To open this type of approach up is insane!

With Regards,

Shayne Lee Glessing-Karzmar
A HARD NO on political emails slipping through the cracks of my spam filter.
Please tell Google it should stay away from participating and providing a free ride to politicians inundating my inbox.

I already get enough junk even with spam filters active, we need more spam control not less.

Today google wants to exempt politicians, what will be next? Big non profits, big pharma, medical advice?

Please do not open this Pandora's box.

Keep politicians from invading my inbox

Thank you

Hello,

I would like to strongly stand against the request by Google to remove political spam emails from their spam filtering. This is a forced method for political groups to push false information. As there is NO FEC requirements for political messaging to be grounded in fact or truth you will essentially be allowing idealogues to sell on their vision for American that will wipe away our Republican in lieu of either an oligarchy or potentially an authoritarian regime. Respectfully this is a TERRIBLE idea.

RE: AO 2022-14

This is a horrible idea. NO ONE wants to increase the amount of spam routed to their inbox. We already have to deal with spam email that gets through due to Google's imperfect spam detection.
In regards to AO 2022-14 I vehemently oppose not being able to filter out emails from political representatives and fundraising events of which I do not wish to receive in my inbox. My inbox is not a dumping ground for political ads, especially if I utterly oppose a viewpoint expressed in the email.

The proposed idea to prevent GMAIL'S algorithm from automatically filtering spam based on personal feedback does not fall in line with my right to avoid seeing things I consider spam. This idea was proposed on grounds that republican political emails are being filtered more than the opposing party's but that sounds like a messaging issue on the political party, not a filter bias since spam is individualized for everyone aside from known scam tactics.

Respectfully,
A concerned citizen

My comments regarding Google's proposed action on prioritizing political spam e-mail over spam filters:

Imagine for a minute giving the US Postal Service control over which mail you actually read vs. throw in the garbage. It is effectively the same level of authority. Additionally this would give one corporation an unprecedented amount of power over not only political views but also the ability to determine on their own what is or is not important to the consumer.

Please deny Google's request.

Walter Putman
Dear FEC representative,

No, please do not allow Google to change spam rules. Spam is spam and political emails are spam. They should not be exempt.

Please do not allow google to pass the political emails though the spam filter. I get enough unwanted emails as it is!!
Absolutely no!
Google classifies mail as spam based on users' feedback. If a mailer does not want their mail classified as spam, reduce the number of messages, keep the content factual, and limit the amount of begging for money.

An occasional request from any party is acceptable. Getting flooded with bogus messages is unacceptable.

Do I not have the right to choose the content of emails?

We're already bombarded with political madness on TV, on highway billboards, plastered all over public transit, and other public places.

Good morning,
After reading of the proposal to allow political emails to by-pass spam filters in Gmail I must request that this not be approved. People can opt in if needed and desired. Gmail users need to be able to filter the incoming emails, just as we can turn off our television or radio if we don't want the constant negative barrage.

Please consider the needs of the Gmail users over the preferences of political action groups.

Carol Speirs
I recently read an article stating that Google is requesting that political emails should be treated differently than regular emails; that those political emails should not be routed into Spam folders.

I CANNOT DISAGREE ENOUGH TO THIS IDEA

Politicians already can do virtually anything they want nowadays and get away with it - up to and including insurrection. Why We The People allow them do do this baffles my mind but no one other than politicians and their campaigns want their spam emails to get through our email filters. The only reason Google would have for making this request is money. Pure and simple.

DO NOT APPROVE THIS

Please do not add to my burden of unwanted emails by exempting the politicians from spam filters!
I am writing in my personal capacity to object to Google's proposed pilot program, AO 2022-14. under which emails from some FEC-registered political committees would "not be affected by forms of spam detection to which they would otherwise be subject."

Thank you, but no. Already, too much spam skips the spam rules and reaches my mailbox, particularly political spam. It takes hours from my work week sifting the important emails from the unsolicited, sometime resulting in the former being accidentally deleted.

This appears to be a project steeped in partisanship, the result of conservative pressure on Google. It should be rejected as bad for consumers.

No.
As a concerned US citizen, I oppose the measure by Google to allow political messages to be considered non-spam.

To allow Google to do this would be akin to Google providing a large political donation to every politician sending emails to Gmail addresses (possible even in violation of laws governing political donations).

More damagingly, this may further polarized or divided country.

I ask you to oppose this messag measure.

Please reject Google's request: "AO 2022-14" As this would create significant end user burden to explicitly exclude unsolicited political emails, result in potential unplanned costs associated with future charges for mail storage for unsolicited email, and would likely result in the targeting of vulnerable adults who unwittingly could end up being subject to aggressive fund raising practices.

To whom it may concern,

I vehemently object to Google's proposal regarding political emails as noted in the subject line. It is bad enough all the unsolicited Spam we get anyway, which often includes very offensive material, but to exempt this specific type of email is no less offensive. I wish to receive emails that I choose to receive and not have to worry about individually filtering them out as Spam. Please consider carefully and do not approve this very flawed idea.

To whom it may concern,

I believe the proposition by Google to send political advertising directly to the inbox would be a disaster. Would the emails be vetted for misinformation before being allowed to bypass spam, or would this propagate the current divisive political climate? If political ads were allowed to be the only exception, would they then push for being taken off of Apple’s potential spam caller list, and then be able to call and email and push ads on tv. Where is the line? Right now it is obvious but making anyone the exception to a rule will undoubtedly cause backlash and confusion. I personally use my @gmail.com email for school, work, and personal accounts. It is important to me to have all my email notifications on, and to read all of my emails in my inbox. I unsubscribe or block the spam that does make it through (or i get for making an account on a website), but adding political campaign ads to the mix would be overwhelming and make my inbox unusable. I am sure you understand the feeling of letting a random number go to voicemail because the probability that it is a telemarketer or scammer. Please do not put gmail in the same position as the phone system by allowing political spam to get through. The extremely polarized American public would not respond well to having further polarizing spam in their inboxes, and it would also retract from the efficiency and integrity of using gmail for work or school purposes. I ask that you understand how this plan will be terrible for the individuals, the American public as a whole, and set a dangerous precedent that could hurt more people, or the gmail platform in the future.

Best Regards,
Milla W

I would like to add my comment on Google's plan that would open the doors for all political messages to come through my email and not be caught by the spam filters. I already get far too many such emails and to open the doors further would be simply intolerable. I am adamantly opposed to such a move - not just for my own comfort but I would also remind the PCC that it was through such political hateful emailing that an insurrection was mobilized and carried out on Jan 6 2021. Please do not allow this request.
I am writing to vehemently vote against the subject change.

I do not want to have unrestricted political "SPAM" in my inbox from any political party. My Gmail account is not for such purpose and would be detrimental to my use.
I object to proposed changes to Gmail AO-202214 gmail seems to believe that all emails from all people belong to them. I will be getting off asas possible. Gmail has taken all our rights away. M Bain

I think this is a terrible idea. Not only is this a giant donation to political parties (of all stripes) but it means that every person with gmail will be inundated with (even more) junk email that will be near impossible to opt out of. It's bad enough already. This will create in gmail the equivalent of all those junk phone calls and texts that plague us on our phones. These types of things waste so much of our time and irritate people to no end.

I hope that the FEC will protect us from this kind of unnecessary invasion of junk mail.

Thank you,
Susan Toder
Dear FEC:

I do not support the changes proposed by Google. I don’t want to be given content that should be filtered to spam folder - I want the freedom to filter out content that is objectionable/uninteresting.

This amounts to Google making a political contribution with each email placed in my inbox...times millions of users. In short, unfair, un-American propaganda pushing.

Please do NOT grant Google's AO 2022-14.

Sincerely,

Prof. Eve Himmelheber
Please do not allow political spam. All spam should be opt-in only. If I want spam from a political party, I should be willing to ask for it, not be bombarded by it. I get enough spam (real mail and email) as it is and I want it all gone.

Politicians and corporations believe they are better than normal people. Let people keep our voice and choices. If we don't want spam we should be able to filter it all out without having to wade through it. If you allow this, the spam should follow the same rules. If I return it, they should not be able to filter it out, and they should have to deal with it at a real address, one email at a time.

This is a horrible idea. It is akin to Google giving out political donations to any political entity sending emails. Individuals should not be forced to do anything to stem the receipt of unsolicited political emails, fundraising or otherwise.

Do not grant this request.

Sincerely,

David F Mishiwiec Sr
This seems to be a terrible idea that would make political messages even more annoying and distasteful. It also is, in effect, contributing to the politicians and organizations that can use this, which is deplorable.

Also, in my opinion, any unsolicited email I get falls into the SPAM category. That I don't have to worry about this (currently, anyway) is one of the reasons I use Google email and might switch to something else.

Again, I'm opposed to this proposal. I think it's a terrible idea.

Thank you for taking my comments into consideration,
Mike Beard
Please do not grant this request. I firmly believe this is not something most Americans want. Politicians already have unprecedented access to people through social and various other multimedia formats. Most of us already devote too much time to managing our email accounts and trying to avoid spam. Allowing political ads to bypass our spam filters could be viewed as yet another invasion of our privacy. Please take the time to consider whether this is actually good for the American people, or just good for politicians.

Thank you for your time and attention to this matter.

Delora M Brooks
This is a bad idea based completely on Google trying to avoid becoming out of favor with politicians instead of listening to what their non-political customer majority wants. If politicians don’t listen to their constituents about email spam preferences and don’t legislate appropriately against it, then it’s ok for Google to ignore or put appropriate policies in place based on their customers’ preferences also?
AO 2022-14

Why obviously of course not.
Good morning,

I am writing to request that you DO NOT APPROVE Google’s request to allow political email’s to not be marked as spam and go directly into my inbox instead. We are already inundated with so much unwanted email we certainly do not need any additional. It takes a lot of time to delete these types of messages and get to what I call important to me emails. Don’t take the right to send political emails automatically into spam away from us. If I want to know more about any issue I can research it on the internet or locate real telephone numbers for trusted sources to learn from.

Please do not allow this from Google.

Than you for your consideration.

It is my understanding that Google is proposing a designation for political junk mail to circumvent being routed into my spam folder automatically. This is a colossally bad idea. I already get too much political email that I have to manually designate as spam. Anything that might increase it is not welcome.

PLEASE! SAY NO TO THIS PROPOSAL.

I am in opposition to allowing politicians open access to SPAM individual accounts.
I am opposed to Google's proposal to allow political advertising to bypass spam filters in Gmail. Individuals who wish to be in contact with a political party or candidate may voluntarily do so. There is no good reason to subject all Gmail users to a barrage of unwanted e-mail. This is not in the public good. Given the amount of money spent by political campaigns and how easy it is to send mass emails, an approval of this proposal would inundate inboxes with unwanted messages that will negatively impact peoples personal and professional lives.

Please do not approve Google's request.

Hello,
Please don't allow this to happen. I don't want extraneous unsolicited email from political entities flooding my inbox.
This message is in response to Google's proposed change to handling spam in the Gmail service. PLEASE DON'T GRANT THIS PURPOSEAL. In fact if anything they should have to increase the ways to flag and catalog spam coming through. As it is I already have well over 10,000 unread email in which at least 2/3rds if not more could be tagged as spam. But are not as they come from a news source, retailer or political candidate or organization. Rather than backing off Google should be creating a additional categories of Spam such as Politicacl Spam, News Spam, Weekly Ads Spam, Online Retailers Spam in which the user can then not only go in and set the desired time frame before all messages are auto cleared from the Spam catalog but also the max number of unread messages allowed to get through. Once a specified category's spam folder reaches the user set limit, Google should automatically send a response to that email's parent organization email every time an email is rejected thus spamming the spammer until the user is removed from the list or has cleared/updated the catalog settings and limits.

Cheers,

To Whom it May Concern,

Allowing Google to bypass its subscribers' spam filter's got political adds should not be allowed.
Number 1. It goes against the very heart of free speech in that anyone can say anything within reason but you cannot force another person to read it if they choose not to.

Number 2. This is just a Money Grab by Google to monitor and MONITOR the political beliefs of its client base. This has zero to do with the fairness of placing one political party's emails in the spam folder. The reason they may go into spam is because the Google subscriber probably placed similar emails into the spam folder or the inflammatory rhetoric triggered it.

Do not allow it!

I am vehemently against Google wanting to launch a pilot program under which emails from some FEC-registered political committees would "not be affected by forms of spam detection to which they would otherwise be subject." This is an extremely bad idea!

I have been a user utilizing google gmail for many years, and it always annoys me how many useless ads/spam emails I already receive that I have to manually spam or delete.

I do not want additional emails that are especially political. This will be a waste of my time as well as annoying which will make me take my personal business elsewhere.

I am against this completely. You will lose me as well as many current users b/c I will certainly share this with my family members as well as many others.

As a long-time Google (Gmail) user and as a voting citizen in this country, I plead with you not to allow unsolicited political emails to be sent to Gmail users. There is no conceivable benefit for the user and, and poses security risks, abuses to privacy, and opens the door for further foreign influence in our country's elections.
I do not vote and do not want to be burdened with removing these ads from my mailbox. I also believe this would amount to political contribution by Google.

I am totally opposed to having political emails from any party coming to my gmail account. I would close the account and try Yahoo if that were to happen. Hopefully Yahoo would not follow on as well.
It will be the end of gmail. Everyone will find another platform for their email. ALL of us will have to update the contact information of every former gmail user. What a never-ending update to one's "contacts" that will be. Imagine the total mess when people on new platforms don't know how to access their political-in-box, aka gmail, messages.

I am registering my opinion on the idea of "some" political ads skipping Gmail spam filters.

Do not allow this to happen, period!

You, the FEC, or any other entity cannot guarantee which ads will get filtered and which ones won't. This in turn can become a kind of political contribution to one party or the other, and also could benefit one candidate over another. This could even sway the direction that an election would go. No one entity should be allowed to have that much influence over any election.

I have read a brief article regarding Google's proposal for a pilot program in which FEC-registered political committees may be differentiated into groups that can send emails that are not automatically identified as spam, and groups whose emails will be automatically considered as spam.

I have a problem with unsolicited emails. I receive way too many as it is.

Whatever the decision is, I would suggest that email providers must limit the # of unsolicited emails that a person receives to a percentage (5%?) of the total personal emails that person receives.

I am also very concerned as to who gets to decide which political parties would be allowed to send unsolicited emails that must be manually deleted, and others cannot.

I would ask that you please consider these issues when reviewing and making a decision regarding this proposal.

Respectfully,

Helen Mary Johnson

I object to Google's plan to exclude political mail from spam filtering. If I ever want to donate to a campaign I can easily "google" for it myself. It feels like harassment to continually get email that I don't want. And this change is a bad precedent. Soon we'll discover that Google wants to exclude bulk emails from its filtering for a fee paid by the advertisers. And then it will be time to change my email provider.

TWIMC,

NO.

Please DO NOT grant to any sender a "pass" to put whatever they please in my inbox. Please DO NOT attempt to finesse the definition of which senders might, or might not, receive such a "pass". Treat ALL email the same.

DO require Google to put messages from ANY sender that meet Google Mail's existing, continually evolving, and, IMHO, very effective criteria for spam in the Spam folder, where it belongs.

If you have spare time on your hands, please address the ongoing debacle of spam phone calls and consider making "political" calls fall under the definition of spam!

Best regards.
No! As a small business owner I am tired to my phone to communicate with customers. The addition of 5, 10, 15 or God knows how many during the election cycle (which is now 24/7/365) will seriously affect my time and energy spent on my business. I will begin the process to move my business out of Gmail and to a email server that allows received and view the mail that is important and valuable to me.

4 additional thoughts-
1- I highly doubt that there will be fact checkers involved and it will be a total SHIT show of misinformation.
2- if I were a spam company I would immediately open a political division that is registered and add my advertising to a small political blurb!
3- How many political groups will then include paid for advertising to be added to their email as a way of fundraising?
4- I use the Spam folder as a place to put things I have no interest in at the time. When I have an interest I research and find the information I want!
Please, Please, PLEASE, NO! DEFINITELY NOT!

America is drowning in useless political garbage!

My Gmail account is SACRED! I receive very little spam there because I have always been extremely careful about who I give it to. I have a separate junk address for that and your decision to allow political spam to enter the inbox of all Gmail users would leave us with NO CHOICE over our accounts content. We're not stupid, we know how to sigh up for political spam when we CHOOSE to WANT it there.

This is a RIDICULOUSLY HORRIBLE way to satisfy a political party's made up concern over fairness. We, THE PUBLIC, deserve and demand consideration for our own sanity and privacy.

Dear FEC,

As an IT director for 30 years, I implore you to disapprove the proposal by Google to allow unsolicited political email to bypass the junk mail filters. Unsolicited is junk mail by definition, and impedes the ability to use email for normal communication. By flooding inboxes with unsolicited email, a bad precedent would be set, allowing more and more junk to render email more and more useless. Important, legitimate, scientific, business and personal communication is being drowned in a flood of unsolicited email, so the FEC must not bow to pressure to make matters worse.

Thank you for the opportunity to provide input on this issue, and I trust that you will stand up for honesty and integrity, rather than allowing corporate interest to outweigh publicity interest.

Sincerely,
Kevin Barron

I disagree that political emails should have to be considered spam manually. Political emails is where it will start and before you know it other businesses will also be requesting their spam emails be sent directly to people's Gmail and then if they don't get the same treatment as politicians they will fight Google for being bias on which type of spam emails get better treatment over others. Then before you know it people will eventually look for a less spamming type of email portal over Gmail. Politicians should not have better treatment on how they market themselves to the public over the rest of us. Point blank.

Please reconsider. This will put undue pressure in having to delete the spam emails. Political emails should not be granted access to my inbox. I do not wish for this to go through. This is a business account.
Regarding Google's plan to allow political emails to go to everyone's inboxes, I vehemently oppose! ALL of such emails would be nothing but unsolicited SPAM and an invasion of my privacy, while at the same time a donation to their campaigns.

My email communications should be strictly for my private use!!

Dear FEC Commissioner Ellen L. Weintraub:

Please do not allow political fundraising emails to land in my regular Gmail in box. I currently receive tons of political emails requesting donations resulting from political surveys and Twitter participation. I am retired and do not enjoy spending time requesting to “Unsubscribe” to all of these emails. In the past I have received as many as 100+ such emails per day; so upon checking my email after a vacation, it takes hours to get to my important email notifications.

I setup my Gmail account for performing actual business, not sorting through junk mail. Let them use USPS to send their requests for donations. If Gmail allows an increase in such activity, I will need to say goodbye to Gmail and open a new email account to avoid this chaos.

Please don't.

I have extreme anxiety which politics sets off.

Plus, why should I be subjected to something I never looked for, showed interest in, or agreed to? That is the very definition of SPAM.

Where are my rights as an individual? Why must I once again be subjected to the whims of corporations? Why do they get the right to blanket email the whole of creation? What is Google getting out of the deal? Are they paid per email address?

My mother is a fan of politics, but is elderly and easily manipulated. She doesn't have the money to donate. She barely has the money to eat.

Please don't.

I am writing this email to oppose exempting political emails from spam.

Politics have invaded EVERYTHING, including my neighborhood app that is supposed to be about exchanging recipes, recommendations for local services and other friendly, non-contentious topics. I DO NOT WANT YO BE BOMBARDED by ANY MORE POLITICS!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

The nature of the messages you want to force down our throats is corrosive and, ultimately, has only served to anger and divide us. Unless and until this nation can pull back together, I would like for you to avoid the universal pressure to engage in this divisive process. If I want information related to politics, I can very, very easily find it on my own. I DO NOT WANT MY EYEBALLS ASSAULTED by this poison every time I open my email messages.

Thank you in advance for your courage to resist this BS.
Not just NO but HELL NO!!

Political end run to avoid the deletion feature WE WANT!!

Extremely bad idea, Spam has become a major pandemic, between multiple email addresses both personal and business, we get bombarded with emails for everything under the sun, we should only get emails for what we request or communicate with others Period!!!!!!! I strongly believe Spam filters need to be strengthened for both security and common sense reasons.
I am opposed to receiving any and all political spam!
I strenuously object to Google exempting political emails from spam filtering. I detest every political add from every politician even the ones I vote for.

Not everything has to be in the realm of national decisions.

I will delete my Gmail address if this change occurs. Tell Google that. I won't be the only one.

Under no circumstances is the idea of more spam acceptable. Just because the Republicans are crying wolf, doesn't mean that citizens should be forced to deal with this. Please disapprove.

To whom it may concern,

As an informed senior citizen and lifelong voter who has witnessed the hijacking of American democracy by wealthy individuals and corporations (thanks to the execrable Citizens United ruling from SCOTUS), I am vigorously opposed to Google's request to exempt political emails from GMAIL spam filters. Allowing political campaigns, PACs, and individual actors, to flood every GMAIL inbox with repetive, deceptive, misleading, aggressive, and potentially dangerous (e.g., virus link plagued) emails, would be a huge financial gift to Google and well funded political campaigns, but a crushing burden to individuals, consumers, and small businesses, that use GMAIL for email communication. Please reject Google's proposal.

Please don't grant request.

It's bad enough to constantly field phone calls and texts inspite of the state and federal "do not call list" which is ignored and blocking them and now more unsolicited emails! It's bad enough already.

Frankly it should be the user that seeks information not wasting one's time having to mark spam and delete.

If one is limited in how much space one can have and would be charged for overage-- they might have to give up email because unsolicited solicitors have abused email space creating coverage of space usage.

DO NOT EXEMPT POLITICAL EMAILS FROM AUTOMATIC SPAM. They belong in spam. We can discern which we want to read or keep.
Please deny this ill-conceived request.

In this time of rampant misinformation and organized political disinformation, the absolute last thing American voters should be subjected to is a flood of unsolicited political spam emails.

Thank you,

To whom it may concern, I vehemently oppose this new law or whatever you’re trying to do with this. No one in their right mind wants more spam mail. Especially spam mail from politicians. This is placing an undue burden on your consumer to appease a small portion of people who feel that they are being slighted even though they are being treated equally. This roughly amounts to you being a tool for the politicians in the world. At this point, if this is done I will cancel all of my Google services that I can. I understand that I am one person and that it probably means nothing to you, but this is a law that should not be passed this is a law that is foul this is a law that no one wants and you’re only doing it to keep whatever politicians you have a good graces. I staunchly opposed this.

Beverly Feinberg
Please do not allow Gmail to change its spam filter to allow political emails through.

American politics is increasingly corrosive to our society, and enabling further spread of messages and solicitations from politicians will only make things worse. As with other advertisers, these emails serve only the interests of the senders, not of the recipients.

My elderly mother receives emails from various senders with malign or self-serving intent. And sometimes she responds or sends money when it is not in her interest to do so. Sometimes the emails worry her. She doesn't need extra solicitations to (1) take her hard-earned cash or (2) make her confused or worried about issues raised by politicians.

Thank you for the consideration.

I am absolutely appalled at this request from Google to prioritize political mail and allow it to bypass SPAM filters.

While I have other choices for mail – Outlook, Comcast, etc., - allowing Google to do this would be a major mistake. (And yes, while I would need to keep a gmail address to utilize some services, I will absolutely transfer all of my vendor/private email to other email addresses that are not Google. But it will be painful.)

I understand that the FEC is receiving virtually 100% negative feedback regarding this proposal. I urge the FEC to LISTEN to us consumers and say 'NO' to Google.

Dear Madam or Sir,

I unequivocally oppose the request to send political emails directly into gmail users' inboxes, bypassing spam. This constitutes donations on the part of gmail to political parties. It is political advertising.

Speaking for myself, and most likely a majority of other gmail users, it will have no effect whatsoever upon my vote or political leanings. I will immediately send each and every political email...no matter how long it takes...to SPAM!!!

The only thing you can hope to achieve by enacting this measure is extreme irritation and a mass exodus from gmail. If that is what you want - to lose gmail users - well, then...

Most seriously,

The inability of not being able to send political ads to spam will contribute to the inefficiency of every worker in America. It is a burden and waste of time to have to deal with any unwanted messages. Political ads are evidenced to be the WORST, because they are relentless, from multiple sources, and overpopulate the inbox on a daily basis pushing important emails down the list. This comment is in OPPOSITION to the idea of allowing Google to bypass the spam filtering and flood our email inboxes with political advertising/solicitations/newsletters which are mostly spam as people never signed up for these things but somehow have ended up on a mail list. PLEASE DO NOT GRANT THIS PROPOSAL.

Thank you.
The idea of allowing political emails to show up in my inbox is a bad one. I already spend enough time wading through automatically generated emails to get to the ones that mean something to me. This would just make the problem worse. Please deny this request.

Thanks,

Do not do this ever!!!! Investigate Google for censoring conservatives!!!!!
Do not grant the request associated with AO 2022-14! E-mail life is difficult enough now and would become untenable were things to change because of the proposal.
I am opposed to AO 2022-14 and do not want political adds in my inbox. spam is spam no matter who sends it. if I've not asked for it them i dont want them. lots of mail options out there other than gmail, keep it up Google and you'll fall from the top.
Please do not allow political parties to by-pass spam filters with their mailings. I'm already getting way more of these emails than I care to see. They like advertisers, are already ignoring robo calling rules and we do not need to give them another way to pitch their bs to us.
Please from the American people, vote NO to Spam from anyone. No party should have extra access to anyone for political reasons. Keep it to television ads and web pop ups.
I beg of you to stop this! My email box is my personal communication channel. I do not want to be bombarded with emails that I have not solicited or subscribed. This is an undue burden to the American people. Parties should put a link on their websites for interested parties to subscribe to their emails or add instructions to the many advertisements that we will be subjected to during the midterm period.

Thank you for your consideration.

Please Do Not allow political ads to be sent to my email. They are spam and need to be treated as such. If I want emails from a political party or candidate I will sign up for them. I do not want to be harassed by people begging for money. Thank you.
Please, DO NOT do this.

This proposal will only contribute to the debasement of our democracy and render email even more infuriating, time-consuming, and costly to provide than it already is. The only beneficiaries will be those who run the political machines who want to divide the country for profit and power.
To Whom it may Concern,

Google's request to stop directing political ads to spam (AO 2022-14) seems like a terrible idea. Please do not let them do this.

Thank you very much for extending the deadline to hear from more users.

Good morning

It has come to my attention that Google wants the FEC to weigh in on a proposal to launch a pilot program” under which emails from some FEC-registered political committees would “not be affected by forms of spam detection to which they would otherwise be subject. Please do everything within your power to oppose this proposal. If this change were to be inacted it would force millions of people with Gmail accounts to address even more unsolicited mail than we already do. It would also allow yet another aspect of everyday life to become politicized and increase controversy in our already fractured society.
I am responding to public comment on this matter AO 2022-14.

FEC:

The idea of allowing political emails to spam personal email accounts, even Gmail accounts is a horrible idea.

I have noticed there is no agency holding political groups, candidates, or the not so popular PACs accountable for misleading and deceptive ads or unwanted bashing and ugliness.

This action would also amount to an untracked corporate political donation worth millions, maybe billions that in little time one party would whine about how the opposing party was taking advantage of.

Do your job, protect the interests of the American public and not the fear mongering work of the GQP party.

Bryan E Clements
To whom it may concern,
I am writing to urge the committee to oppose approval of Google’s pilot program to allow political emails to bypass spam filters.
Dear FEC reviewer,

This is a public comment regarding Google LLC’s pending AO(R) 2022-14.

I believe that Google's gmail service should NOT be allowed to send political email straight to users' inboxes, exempting it from their usual SPAM filtering. We are inundated by junk phone calls and texts because of political exemptions to the Do Not Call Registry, and now Google wants to exempt political emails (usually asking for money and/or lying or grossly misrepresenting that some candidate or issue will cause the end of the world as we know it) from their usual (and helpful) automatic SPAM filtering. I suspect that Google is looking for a way to avoid politicians complaining that they are biased in some way, by simply ducking the issue.

Most people (including myself) do NOT WANT POLITICAL SPAM, and the abuses SHOULD BE FILTERED. These emails, if presented directly to the inbox, will invariably reach numerous "low information" or gullible voters who may react viscerally to the subject line, not even reading the email, or reading only a portion of the blaring email introduction, never seeing the required fine print. This promotes shallow, divisive political messaging, and drowns out more meaningful dialogue that our divided democracy so urgently needs.

The bad actors will always break the rules and push the boundaries to scream at us, and thus there will likely be a race to the bottom. Or, if one party or candidate uses more measured and thoughtful messaging, they will be disadvantaged by Google's proposal--a very important consideration. After all, abusive practices should be filtered as SPAM, not simply passed on as if they must be legitimate just because they are from a registered political actor.

For these reasons, please do NOT approve Google's AOR.

Thank you for your consideration.

Bruce Lott
Dear FEC,

Google is asking for the FEC’s opinion on whether Google can institute a pilot program which allows the email sent to Gmail users from political candidates and campaigns to bypass Google's spam filters, and instead be delivered directly to their users' inboxes, allowing their users to determine whether or not they consider the email to be spam.

On the one hand, Google is of course free to do whatever they want with Gmail (within limits) as it is their service. It has always been the case that ISPs have wide latitude in making email delivery decisions. On the other hand, given what is going on with the Jan 6 investigation, and how campaign email is potentially directly implicated (as may be the conduit, Salesforce), it seems a very bad time indeed to give candidates and campaigns such a free pass (for which, have no doubt, Google will ultimately be charging). It seems doubly so if they are not going to also give a similar spam filtering bypass to others.

That said, of course, one can argue that the spam filtering of political email by an organization which delivers email to billions of people, and which is so wholly intertwined and entangled with various government agencies is, in and of itself, suppression of political speech, and that is certainly one of the specters hanging over this request.

Part of the technical and institutional problem here is that political email has “always” been seen as a pariah among the email receiving industries (inbox providers, ISPs, spam filters, etc.) because so much of it is actually spam, meaning people being put on a mailing list without their request, let alone consent. I have zero doubt that you yourselves have received this political spam, because everybody has. While Google is no doubt reacting to recent events, and recent charges of partisan favoritism in their filtering algorithms, opening up the floodgates to their users' inboxes, and making their 1.5 billion users bear the brunt of the massive amount of political spam that is sent, in order to assuage partisan disgruntlement, is not the best way to address these charges. (I have thoughts on what is the best way, however coincidentally Google has not thought to ask me.)

Personally if Google is given this, the very first day I will be deleting my google account and I am sure there will be millions more just like myself.

Brad Yantzer
Please DO NOT allow Google's request: AO 2022-14

I have emailed CNN numerous times in regards to their advertising. For an example, to watch a 30 second animal video it is required prior for me to watch a 15 to 30 second advertisement. In my emails to CNN I have stated when that occurs I simply move on to a different curiosity and disregard CNN and the advertisement completely. The amount of advertising in front of American society is predatory, greedy, grifty, and simply distasteful. So to allow spam to be forced on me and others does not make anything better for me or society. It only makes google more money, which seems to me that they have enough. Please do not allow Google to change the way political spam email is dealt with to avoid being sent directly to the spam folder. Political email being able to bypass spam filters is a terrible idea and would further enable "rage farming" to escalate to deepen our national division. As a Gmail user and registered non-partisan voter I want to express my strong opposition to the FEC adopting the process described in the subject request.

I propose ALL political broadcast messages be flagged, not necessarily as Spam but rather as political, and have a Gmail filter installed to route all such messages to a special folder for me to review or purge as I see fit. This solution should appease those political organizations, whether republican or democrat, who believe they are being discriminated against.

Please, do not take the path of least resistance here, assert yourselves and request Google implement a new ‘political message’ label and folder for Gmail.

I am very strongly opposed to this change in treating political emails any differently than any other spam. I firmly believe the Republican complaining is a False Flag. The real reason for more Republican emails being treated as spam is because they ARE spam and should be filtered out. GOOGLE has no business getting involved in politics and if the Republicans think it is unfair then they should create their own email system and leave Google. Any changes to how political emails are handled is wrong just leave this as it currently is

David Abrames
Google’s proposed changes to their GMAIL service is a knee-jerk reaction to those politically vocal perpetrators of fraud, mis-information and propaganda. It is true that an algorithm based email screen may reflect a bias, or even be purposely manipulated. But with unsolicited SPAM, ROBOCALLS, telemarketing, PHISHING and cyber attacks rising daily, these proposed changes MUST BE REJECTED to protect the interests of the public! At a bare minimum, the ability to BLOCK ALL FUTURE EMAILS FROM A SOURCE, by IP Address, email address, telephones number, individual or entity MUST BE PROVIDED! Requiring INDIVIDUAL action on each email simply enables the perpetrators to continue to prey on the public!

Please do not allow political emails avoid the spam filter. Allowing to do so would flood email boxes with junk email. Self policed opt outs do not work. My spouse died three years ago and I opt out of every political email she gets and they still keep coming. Yes, I've written dozens of filters to screen out these emails but they always find a way to tweak the address or email to avoid the filter. If you opt into these messages fine, but either enforce opt outs or let Google help screen out the spammy political ads. --

Do. Not. Grant. This. Request!
This proposal by Google is about to open a pandora's box of problems.

It is bad enough that the government can't stop spam phone calls and sex and commercial spam emails. Now to allow an additional unfiltered entry into my inbox is disastrous. I do not want to spend hours clearing spam emails from my inbox.

while I know I can try to manually block or unsubscribe from the spam it rarely works and seems to just generate more spam.

It would probably be easier just to forward the unwanted spam to you. This way you can get to enjoy what you have sown.

If you can't guess I am totally opposed to this suggestion from Google.
No more spam in my inbox!

Regarding Google’s request to start spamming political ads…

No. Please. I already have plenty of political ads from individuals and organizations I support. I don’t need ads from those that are anathema to me escaping the spam filters.
I’m writing to you to voice my vehement opposition to this change to Gmail’s handling of Political “Spam” messages. By landing these messages directly into our inboxes or giving any priority to unsolicited emails just because they come from a political group is basically giving Google/Gmail’s support to the politicians and their messages.

On a daily basis we are already subjected to so much political propaganda in many forms and it is harder and harder to ignore it. Mailbox flyers, robo-phone calls and texts from out of the blue, TV ads, web pop ups, etc. Please don’t turn Gmail into just another vehicle for these unwanted, unsolicited messages.

Don’t let a few complaints from disgruntled politicians turn Gmail into just another instrument for political propaganda. We are seeing a surge in the dismantling of our democracy and oppression of rights on a daily basis and allowing these messages to flow unfettered into our inboxes will only hasten this.

Thank you
Concerned American

I oppose letting Google letting political email to bypass spam filters. If I want a political email, I will solicit it by going to a campaign, PAC, or interest group's website directly and signing up for newsletters or whatever. With as much news hits the airwaves (both physical and digital), I am able to find out what I want without being force fed information. Thank you for extending the public comment period on this. My schedule is busy these days as I return for covid, and this extension have me a chance to chime in.

Thank you for your time and willingness to hear from the public.

Please God no. Political contacts should be opt-in ONLY. I'm already deluged with garbage physical mail from both parties; I vote EVERY election based on actual political party performance, as should every responsible voter. This stuff is purest propaganda, actual agitprop, it's designed to deceive and misinform, it is a plague.

Please for all that is good, don't let this go through. We get enough spam. This is one reason most of us switched to gmail. Yahoo, hotmail, ect.... became unbearable with over 300 spam messages a day. Please don't loose us.
The world is already swimming and unwanted junk mail, and spam catching systems are just barely keeping up with them. This request from Google to allow political mail to be passed unfiltered into our inboxes should be rejected.

All unsolicited mail is spam. Registered political groups should not be exempted.

Please say no to this proposal. In the last month I have received in excess of 2500 unsolicited e-mails (SPAM) trying to sell me something I have no interest in.

Unsolicited political e-mails are no different. They usually contain falsehoods that prove wrong when fact checked and tend to inflame the vulnerable.

I do not want, nor do I need, more junk mail and/or spam in my in-box. Vote no on this proposal.

As a cybersecurity professional, I would strongly encourage the FCC to reject this proposal by Google as it is a step in the wrong direction for controlling spam. It's yet another example of a politically-motivated agenda.

Steve Kendra
As one of those who contributed to the original RFCs that created email as a method for individuals to communicate, I object to any attempts to subvert a pure opt-in model.

I subscribe to many mailing lists, including politicians who represent me and that I can vote for/against, independent of political party. I quickly get off lists that share my email address with others. I pay attention to what they say and how they say it when it comes time to reelect them. Unfortunately such emails are rarely a trustworthy source of reliable information as they all put their spin on what they say.

That said, I trust my ability to evaluate what I receive in email, but I don't trust most others to be as good bullshit detectors. In other words, I would rather outlaw all political email (and get info I need from trusted sources) than make it any easier to proliferate garbage that affects how others vote.

As others have observed, and I can collaborate, a lot of political email winds up in my spam folder, but, for me, it is dominated by GOP emails and for good reason: They don't know how to write emails that avoid being spammy.

Consider requiring, as for political ads on TV, a statement in the email that this message was endorsed by candidate - name. Messages without endorsement should be prime candidates for the spam folder.

In short:

1. require opt-in
2. prosecute offenders (for politicians - candidate or party as appropriate)

Regarding the case AO 2022-14, unsolicited political emails, my opinion is that unsolicited emails of a political (or any unsolicited email) is spam and existing spam filters should be made stronger, not removed or weakened to allow these emails into our inbox.

I would view such a change as infringing upon my right to privacy. For anyone who wishes to see such unsolicited political emails, the option to view spam is always available.

I also find the “unsubscribe “ option is usually complex and tedious and should be required to be easier to use with just a click of a button.

I am writing to voice my strong objection to allow political mailings to bypass the GMail spam filters.

I do not need or want unsolicited political email from any party. Allowing “free range” emailing to all gmail users virtually guarantees a flood of these emails especially since they cost virtually nothing to send. It does not serve the public interest - it serves the interests of the political parties. These are not your constituents!

If this is implemented I will likely close my gmail account due to the erosion of its usability.

Thank you for considering this comment.

I object to Google’s proposal to relax spam screening for unsolicited e-mail political request. Implementation of the relaxed spam categorization as proposed in reference above severely aggravates the ongoing problem with spam which both government and tech providers are arable or unwilling to mitigate. Cell phones and email are already serious hampered in their utility as it is. Understanding that users of Gmail already have a very convenient means of reclassifying spam as "not spam" in their folders, it is blatantly stupid to let these emails bypass the filter.
ADAMANTLY OPPOSED TO THIS LUNACY.
To Whom it May Concern:

Regarding AO 2022-14:

Please do not move forward with the plan to exempt some political emails in Gmail from spam. It is completely unacceptable I would have to delete these by hand while you give political committees and candidates data about how many of these wind up in my Gmail account.

DO NOT ALLOW POLITICAL EMAILS TO BYPASS SPAM FILTERS.

Let the political parties advise constituents to check their spam folders for messages and Mark them NOT SPAM if they want to receive them.

A small percentage of people want these emails so DO NOT BURDEN the majority of people who DO NOT what these to have to mark them spam.

This is a no-brainer except the right thing to do for people is not always how government things get done. Prove this one can get done appropriately.

I am writing to express my concern that Google will be allowed to provide support to political parties and individual candidates by giving them the special right to bypass crucial spam detection filters without having to declare the value of what constitutes corporate in-kind donations to these candidates and/or parties.

When I get USPS junk mail from political candidates or their party, they have been required to pay postage for their correspondence to me. When I get spam calls from political candidates, they’ve had to pay for making those phone calls. Google should not be allowed to bypass this financial requirement in order to promote political candidates in secret.

If every other email has to go through the spam detection filters except political emails, that is forcing the American public to be exposed to political communications against our will in order to prioritize a private company’s desire to support political efforts without having to declare the true value of the support.

This is wrong in so many ways.

We no longer seem to be organized by law and order, but rather by wealth and power. You’re supposed to be on the side of law and order.

Sincerely,

E.R. Bakwin
To Whom It May Concern:

I strongly object to Google’s proposal to let political ads circumvent current Spam software.

Do not allow this to happen.

Michael J. Burmeister, LMGI
Please, don’t allow Google, or anyone else, to have this ability to bypass spam filters. This is a BAD IDEA. Most of us already get hundreds of spam emails everyday, please don't add to the load.

Anyone proposing, or allowing, this idea of political SPAM bypassing spam filters should be tied to a chair in front of a TV set with their eyes taped open and forced to watch hundreds of hours of 'my opponent is a scumbag' ads.

Allowing a prioritization of political emails would mean that Google was providing a large political donation to every politician sending emails to Gmail addresses. Isn’t this illegal? We already know they suppress Republican/Conservative sounding emails and ads, and push Democrat/Progressive sounding emails and ads. Democrat/Republican/Independent/WHOEVER – THIS IS WRONG. If someone has to cheat to win, then they don’t deserve to win – ANYTHING.
To whom it may concern.

I am completely against allowing Google to exempt political email communications from spam filters.

By doing do, Google is elevating Political campaigns above personal preferences, and damaging my personal experience.

I believe that there is already too much corporate and PAC money in politics and the impact of the average American's opinion is being lost to those that have money.

Please do NOT approve of exempting Political emails from Spam filters.

Sarah Buta
Good afternoon,

I ask that you continue to put all political in the spam folder for both parties. The republicans complaining have a history of lying to suit their needs. For reference many continue lying about who won the 2020 election, they spread lies about covid, Donald Trump was proven to have lied or spread misinformation or got facts wrong over 30,000 times in his four year term. If people want ads from politicians they can go to their website and click on their subscribe button. I shouldn’t be harrassed by emails asking me for a dollar when i work my butt and they having the backing of the RNC and DNC which are both nothing more than corrupt corporate slush funds. No one should receive correspondence just because they scream on the floor of the house and senate and pass 0 legislation. If allowed will google be spending resource to vet the truth of all these ads? I suspect they won’t.

If you allow the political parties to email individuals without their express consent, than you open the door for every political action group to also do it ie:Black Lives Matter, HRC, Southern Poverty law center, ACLU, I could go on.

Please dont go down a slippery slope that will cause more anger and division in the country.

People can follow whomever they want and give them the email. Its the voters responsiblity to be informed and get information on their politicians not Google or the FEC.

Thank you for your attention to this email and matter.
