MUR 4385

Dear Sir:

I read in the Lee County Eagle recently that state Senator Gerald Dial, who is running for Congress in the Democratic primary runoff from Alabama's 3rd District, has not filed a report with the Federal Elections Commission. I understand that candidates are required to file when they raise at least $5,000 and the Birmingham News reported that Senator Dial said he had spent $80,000 so far. He is in the runoff for Congress and has done advertisements, so he obviously has spent a substantial amount.

I believe that our political candidates should be completely above board. Mr. Dial's runoff opponent, state Senator Ted Little, has filed his reports. The newspapers have let us know where Senator Little has gotten his money from. The papers even listed the names of contributors to Senator's Little's campaign. But citizens have no way of knowing where Senator Dial is getting his money.

I believe government officials owe it to the public to at least allow citizens to inspect records to determine who financed their campaigns. Candidates have a right to raise money, because advertising is expensive, but the public has a right to know who gives them that money. If Senator Dial is not going to file his reports like everybody else, I don't think he should be allowed to serve in Congress a single day.

Today I am filing a formal complaint about the fact that Senator Dial has failed to file a single report with the FEC. As a taxpaying citizen, I am asking that you thoroughly investigate to determine why he has not, if the newspaper is correct, complied with the law. As a taxpayer, I am angry that anyone would attempt to live above the law.

I want you to know how much I appreciate your prompt attention to this matter. Since the runoff is June 25, I want to know before then if Senator Dial is trying to hide something.

Sincerely,

Boyd Seebra

Dial plans to position himself as a "pro-business candidate," contrasting his support from organizations such as the Business Council of America and the National Federation of Independent Businesses with Little's support from the Alabama Trial Lawyers Association and the AFL-CIO.

"It's a business candidate against a lawyer endorsed by labor unions and the trial lawyers," Willis said, summing up the runoff.

Little agreed that his endorsements helped him. In addition to labor support, he pointed out he won editorial page endorsements of area newspapers — The Birmingham News and Post-Herald, the Anniston Star and the Talladega Daily Home — as well as the predominantly black New South Coalition and the AFL-CIO.

"We knew that if we could keep our base in the southern part of the district and raise money for the northern part of the district, we could gain acceptance because our name recognition was low," Little said.

Dial said he has been sending his campaign finance reports to the FEC since May 15 and pledged to follow up on the problem.

Dial has said he didn't really start campaigning until last week, after the state legislative session ended. He said he raised approximately $53,000, although there was still no official record

The Lineville state senator attributed his success to his "grassroots support" and strong showing within his state senate district, which includes Chambers, Chilton, Clay and Randolph counties. He also did well in Talladega County, beating out all other candidates.

Willis said his campaign was hurt by a lack of newspaper endorsements, especially in the northern end of the district.

Early today, Rich and Howard Hawk, third-ranked Democrat and a state representative from Arab, had not conceded their races.

Aderholt said his message and not the money was the determining factor. "I was the only one who was driving home about those traditional Alabama family values," the Republican nominee said, referring to his stands against abortion and gun control and in favor of school prayer.

In the 3rd District, Riley, a car dealer who outspent his primary opponents, held the lead over Comer, a financial adviser.

"It was an humbling experience," Riley said. "I had no idea we were going to be that strong."

On the Democratic side, Little will face the first runoff of his political career. He is in his fifth term in the state Senate.

Dial said it was difficult to compete with the support Little garnered from the Trial Lawyers Association, the AFL-CIO and the Alabama Democratic Conference. Having spent about $80,000 during the primary, Dial said now he must work harder at raising money because it could take another $100,000 to win the runoff, he said.

Little spent about $175,000.

In the 7th District, Powell said his year of hard campaigning paid off.

Powell gathered with 200 friends at the Tuscaloosa restaurant he runs with his grandparents to watch the election returns.

Walker, a banker at AmSouth, said that with people voting in the U.S. Senate race, he thought the turnout would have been better than it was.

Dear Ms. Dial:

On June 18, 1996, the Federal Election Commission notified the Dial for Congress Committee and Jimmy Hurst, as treasurer, that it had received a complaint indicating that the Dial Committee may have violated the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended ("the Act"). Copies of this complaint and the Commission's notification letter are attached. We have numbered the matter MUR 4385.

On June 25, 1996, Friends of Gerald Dial registered as a political committee with the Commission and was designated by Senator Dial as his principal campaign committee. On the same date, Senator Dial redesignated the Dial for Congress Committee as an authorized committee. Accordingly, it now appears that Friends of Gerald Dial is the committee referenced by the complaint. This letter serves to notify Friends of Gerald Dial and you, as treasurer (collectively the "Dial Committee"), of the complaint and to provide an opportunity for the Dial Committee to respond.

Under the Act, the Dial Committee has the opportunity to demonstrate in writing that no action should be taken against it in this matter. GENERAL COUNSEL'S REPORT

I. INTRODUCTION.

The cases listed below have been identified as either stale or of low priority based upon evaluation under the Enforcement Priority System (EPS). This report is submitted to recommend that the Commission no longer pursue these cases.

II. CASES RECOMMENDED FOR CLOSURE.

A. Cases Not Warranting Further Action Relative to Other Cases Pending Before the Commission

EPS was created to identify pending cases which, due to the length of their pendency in inactive status or the lower priority of the issues raised in the matters relative to others presently pending before the Commission, do not warrant further expenditure of resources. Central Enforcement Docket (CED) evaluates each incoming matter using Commission-approved criteria which results in a numerical rating of each case.

Closing such cases permits the Commission to focus its limited resources on more important cases presently pending before it. Based upon this review, we have identified 34 cases which do not warrant further action relative to other pending matters.¹

¹ These cases are: MUR 4470 (Ward for Congress); MUR 4478 (Citizens for Tom Reynolds); MUR 4492 (Friends of Ken Poston); MUR 4498 (Larry Roberts for Congress); MUR 4506 (The Hon. Ted Little); MUR 4512 (Friends of Lane Evans); MUR 4517 (Unknown Respondent); MUR 4518 (Kansas for Rathbun); MUR 4520 (Larry Lerner for

Attachment 1 to this report contains summaries of each case, the EPS rating, and the factors leading to assignment of a low priority and recommendation not to further pursue the matter.

B. Stale Cases

Effective enforcement relies upon the timely pursuit of complaints and referrals to ensure compliance with the law. Investigations concerning activity more distant in time usually require a greater commitment of resources, primarily due to the fact that the evidence of such activity becomes more remote and consequently more difficult to develop. Focusing investigative efforts on more recent and more significant activity also has a more positive effect on the electoral process and the regulated community. In recognition of these facts, EPS also provides us with the means to identify those cases which, though earning a higher rating when received, remained unassigned due to a lack of resources for effective investigation. The utility of commencing an investigation declines as these cases age, until they reach a point when activation of a case would not be an efficient use of the Commission's resources.

Congress); MUR 4522 (Republican Party of Bexar County); MUR 4523 (Cong. Andrea Seastrand); MUR 4524 (Danny Covington Campaign Fund Committee); MUR 4526 (Hoeffel for Congress); MUR 4528 (Pete King for Congress); MUR 4529 (Pete King for Congress); MUR 4532 (Citizen's Committee for Gilman for Congress); MUR 4535 (Visclosky for Congress); MUR 4537 (Di Nicola for Congress); MUR 4541 (Ross Perot); MUR 4548 (Blagojevich for Congress); MUR 4550 (Friends of Wamp for Congress); MUR 4551 (John N. Hostettler); MUR 4557 (De La Rosa for Congress); MUR 4559 (Bill Baker for Congress); MUR 4560 (George Stuart Jr. for Congress); MUR 4562 (Wayne E. Schile); MUR 4566 (Al Gore); MUR 4574 (Danny Covington Campaign Fund Committee); MUR 4576 (Volunteers for Shimkus); MUR 4579 (New Zion Baptist Church); MUR 4580 (Friends of Mike Forbes); MUR 4584 (Bill Baker for Congress); MUR 4588 (Navarro for Congress); and MUR 4613 (Gary Kelley for Congress).

The U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, however, held in Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee v. FEC, Civil Action No. 95-0349 (D.D.C. April 17, 1996) that 24 months was too long a time in which to hold a case in an inactive status.

Twenty one cases have remained on the Central Enforcement Docket for a sufficient period of time to render them stale, all of which are recommended for closure in this Report.⁴ This group includes four MURs that became stale several months ago, but were held pending criminal prosecution by the Department of Justice.⁵ DOJ obtained convictions in the two criminal cases related to these four MURs (U.S. v. Jay Kim and U.S. v. Dynamic Energy Resources) based upon guilty pleas by the key defendants, who are also the principal respondents in our pending matters. Pursuit of civil enforcement action in view of the satisfactory results obtained in the criminal cases would not be the most effective use of the Commission's scarce resources at this time.

We recommend that the Commission exercise its prosecutorial discretion and direct closure of the cases listed below, effective August 29, 1997. Closing these cases as ⁴ These cases are: MUR 4274 (GOPAC); MUR 4358 (Miller for Senate); MUR 4361 (ABC-TV); MUR 4368 (Citizens Business Bank); MUR 4380 (AFGE Local 2391 PAC); MUR 4385 (Dial for Congress); MUR 4386 (Zimmer for Senate); MUR 4396 (ABC); MUR 4404 (Friends of Steve Stockman); MUR 4410 (39th Legislative District); MUR 4417 (Our Choice II); MUR 4422 (Desana for Congress Committee); and Pre-MUR 336 (Park National Bank & Trust).

⁵ These cases are: MUR 3796 (Jay Kim for Congress); MUR 3798 (Jay Kim); MUR 4275 (Jay Kim); and MUR 4356 (Dynamic Energy Resources). In dismissing the Jay Kim cases, we also recommend closing Pre-MUR 352, which is the transmittal of the guilty plea agreement and related documentation in the criminal case against Congressman Kim forwarded by United States Attorney's office.
