Washington, D.C. 20463

October 29, 2000

To Whom It May Concern:

I am receiving solicitations from files that appear on <http://herndon2.sdrdc.com/cgi-bin/dcdev/forms/C00343889/3081/sa/ALL/6>

I am filing a complaint based on the use of my personal information. I know because the information provided on me is incorrect. My gender is female and now I am getting US mail solicitations to Mr. Tery Spataro. I am enclosing mail I have been collecting as evidence.

According to a correspondence from Mr. Robert Biersack, FEC, he states there is a provision of the Federal Election Campaign Act, that precludes anyone from using information about individuals that appears in reports submitted to the FEC "for soliciting contributions or for commercial purposes." (See 2 USC 438 (a) (4). As stated above I am receiving solicitations. The following organizations and individuals have sent me US Mail, which is enclosed:

Bob Barr
Alliance Defense Fund
Con Brio
Rick Lazio
Forbes
Lazio 2000
Swing States for a GOP White House
Emergency Committee to Defeat Al Gore
Emergency Committee to Defeat Hillary Rodham Clinton
Republican National Committee
Rick Lazio
Barbara Bush
Archdiocese of New York

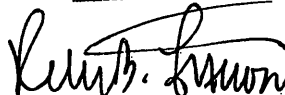

I am stating I have no political affiliation. I do not appreciate getting mail in this regard. Your consideration in this matter is appreciated

Regards,

Ms. Spataro,

We have received your request to remove your name from materials appearing on our Web site. Your name appears in a report of receipts and disbursements filed by the Elizabeth Dole for President Exploratory Committee. This report (including the name, address, employer and occupation of any person who contributes more than $200 to the committee in a calendar year) is required to be filed in accordance with the Federal Election Campaign Act which also requires that information contained in such reports be made available to the public. As such we are unable to remove your name from the listings submitted by this committee.

There is another provision of the Federal Election Campaign Act, however, that precludes anyone from using information about individuals that appears in reports submitted to the FEC "for soliciting contributions or for commercial purposes." (see 2 USC 438(a)(4)) If you are receiving solicitations based on the information that appears in our files then you may file a complaint with the Federal Election Commission. You can find out more about the complaint process including how to file a complaint by going to <http://www.fec.gov/pages/complain.htm>

If you have any questions please feel free to contact me.

GILDER TECHNOLOGY REPORT

FALL 2000

A JOINT PUBLICATION OF FORBES MAGAZINE AND GILDER PUBLISHING

Our past

If you had acted with my readers to buy these technology super-stars, you too could have enjoyed these spectacular and certain profits:

✓ $10,000 grew to $261,890 in 11 months!

Because we knew this company has a lock on a fundamentally different technology.

✓ $10,000 became $230,000 in 30 months!

Because we understood the implications of wave division multiplexing long before Wall Street.

✓ $10,000 turned to $226,000 in 21 months!

And the stock of this cable modem company is going to keep right on going.

✓ Our portfolio was up 268% in 1999!

That's triple the red-hot NASDAQ.

Your future:

There's still plenty of time to grow rich on the still-infant technology revolution! In fact, there's no reason why you can't . .

✓ Turn $25,000 into $2 million. . . $3 million. . . even $5 million or more in the next 5 to 10 years!

✓ You can grow rich quickly on the NEXT technology winners regardless of the stock market, if you know this secret.

Inside: 7 tech stocks poised for lift off!

He was first to spot JDS Uniphase, a huge technology winner! He's been consistently ahead of the crowd... and consistently correct in predicting which technology companies would rise to the top.

Dear Fellow Investor:

George Gilder has shown an uncanny ability to identify technology companies whose stocks were poised for explosive appreciation. For example, JDS Uniphase (up over 3,000% since he originally recommended it in 1997) is just one of dozens of George's huge technology winners.

In the three years since he started his newsletter, readers have seen many of the little-known companies they first heard about in the GILDER TECHNOLOGY REPORT - Broadcom, Conexant and Terayon, to name but a few, appreciate by 249%...326%...and in the case of both Broadcom and JDS Uniphase, more than 3,000%!

For 1999, the GTR selection was up a NASDAQ-clobbering 268%! And his portfolio remains way ahead of NASDAQ for this year.

Yes, technology stocks have been volatile. But the real value of what George Gilder does is his ability to separate the solid, long term technology winners from short-lived sensations.

George doesn't pay much attention to what Wall Street thinks or says. The information he gives readers is not about stocks, but rather, about companies with unique and world-changing technologies.

Because George is always ahead of Wall Street and the popular press, and because his genius is technology not stocks, it can sometimes take months or even a year or more for the market to catch on.

But, the record shows that when the investment community finally climbs aboard, the companies that George Gilder has identified, ultimately outperform the market by a wide margin.

I agree with George that we are still in the early stages of the greatest wealth building opportunity of all time. I hope that you will take advantage of the colossal technological advances now underway to amass real and lasting wealth.

George Gilder can be trusted to separate the winners from the losers. I hope you will take advantage of his integrity and insight.

Cordially,

Steve Forbes

Special Half-Price Opportunity.

Dear Reader:

Personally, I don't have a clue where the market will be in one month. . .three months. . .nor six.

And I don't particularly care! It doesn't matter.

Because I know, with absolute certainty, that this still-infant technology revolution is unstoppable. The stock market has seen only the tip of the technology iceberg. The real growth, and profits that will dumbfound the skeptics, lie ahead! I'll support that assertion with some convincing facts in a moment.

Regardless of the market's ups and downs, you can make a fortune in the next two to three years if you invest now in the right technology companies.

You'll understand why this is so and how to separate the next incredible winners from the plethora of duds, by the time you're finished reading this report.

And if you're thinking. . ."I don't need more advice from another Wall Street stock picker," let me assure you, I couldn't be farther removed from the world of speculative investing.

But if making money in the stock market. . .really big money, with a minimum of risk. . . interests you, perhaps I can hold your attention with a few recent numbers. The documented track record speaks for itself:

✓ $10,000 grew to $261,890 in 11 months!

Many of my readers bought this blue chip wireless technology stock early in 1999 for under $8 (adjusted for splits) a share. The stock of this company that owns the technology for the next generation of wireless telephones had been flat for awhile because Wall Street didn't understand its importance. But by the end of 1999 it traded at over $200 a share, a gain of 2,400% in less than 12 months. And this is one of tomorrow's blue chip companies, not some speculative start up.

✓ $10,000 grew to $47,142 in just ten months!

Do you know what a linear CDMA-power amplifier is and why it's a breakthrough? In March of '99, readers of THE GILDER TECHNOLOGY REPORT learned about the company that owns this technology. When Wall Street caught on, our stock shot up 371% from $14 a share (adjusted for splits) to over $66 by the end of December 1999.

✓ Readers turned $10,000 into more than $226,000 in just 21 months!

Investors who heeded my alert saw stock in this manufacturer of cable modem chipsets—with a lock on a breakthrough technology—rocket from $12 to over $272 in less than two years. And this company is just getting started! It's a core holding.

✓ $10,000 became $230,000 in 30 months!

In June '97 our readers knew—and understood— why the wave division multiplexing technology of this, then-unnoticed company was going to be so important. Readers who bought the stock then at $7 (adjusted for splits) were sitting on a profit of 2,200% by the end of 1999! Because they got in early. Because they had the information to separate this stock from other overhyped technology stocks, many of which have already fizzled.

✓ More than triple (up 313%) in just 7 months!

In June '99, readers heard about the $15 stock of an AllWave, "dark fiber" pioneer. (You know what that is, right?) By the end of December,

About George Gilder

Editor, Gilder Technology Report

George Gilder is a Senior Fellow at Discovery Institute, a privately funded, independent think tank where he directs the program on high technology and public policy. He is also Chairman of Gilder Publishing and Founder and Editor of the GILDER TECHNOLOGY REPORT.

Born in 1939 in New York City, Mr. Gilder attended Harvard University where he studied under Henry Kissinger and helped found ADVANCE. He later returned to Harvard as a fellow at the Kennedy Institute of Politics and editor of the Ripon Forum. During the 1980s, Mr. Gilder served as a consultant to high technology businesses and published his best-selling book, Microcosm, in which he explored the quantum roots of the electronic technologies that spawned the computer revolution.

In his 1992 book, Life After Television, he explored the future of computers and telecommunications (the telecomputer).

In his soon-to-be-published book, Telecosm, Mr. Gilder shows how the former microcosmic paradigm will soon be supplanted by a new telecosmic paradigm based on the broad bandwidth technologies of all-optical networks, digital wireless, cable modem and the Internet.

In addition to his work at Gilder Publishing, Mr. Gilder is a founder of and frequent contributor to FORBES ASAP. His writing also appears frequently in The Economist, The Harvard Business Review, and The Wall Street Journal.

"I don't pick stocks, I zero in on ascendant technologies. The foundation of my work is unrelated to the stock market."

just 7 months later, the stock was trading at $62. And this isn't some flash in the pan Internet stock. This company will be a major player for decades.

Here's one more example:

✓ This "over-the-hill" technology giant turned $10,000 into $80,000 in just 37 months. And it's got a lot of growth left!

When Wall Street was falling in love with tech-sounding IPOs and fretting about an alleged glut of microchips, our readers knew why this major microchip company was poised for sudden growth. The stock went for just under $12 a share in November '96 to over $96 by the end of December 1999.

I admit, that's a pretty good record for someone who claims not to be a stock picker.

But I didn't pick the stocks, I zeroed in on ascendant technologies. I need to say once again that... the foundation of my work is unrelated to the stock market.

Personally, the profit frenzy motivating short term investors and pushing up many undeserving stocks makes speculative investing too unpredictable and far too risky for me. You've seen how Wall Street reacts to every fickle recommendation and obsesses about interest rates and inflation. It seems to me that investors wouldn't have to worry about the bubble bursting if their stock portfolios didn't contain so much hot air!

But, you can build your wealth on a safe, solid foundation.

Short term speculators—fund managers, day traders and market timers—trying to guess where the market will be in a month or two and using silly, flimsy analysis to predict which will be the next hot stock to be discovered, are totally missing the boat.

Over time, the real leaders in the technology sector (not the eBays, uBids and Priceline.coms) have shrugged off the market's ups and downs. And you are about to discover the secret of how to identify tomorrow's big winners before their stocks take off!

If you have $10,000 to $25,000 to invest now... you will be a millionaire in ten years or less if you embrace this simple secret of safe, profitable investing.

No matter what happens to the stock market, there are a few technology stocks out there right now, that in two or perhaps three years will be selling at 500%... even over 1,000% more than their current trading price. It's as certain as the daily sunrise.

Five years or so down the road, your gains on these technology superstars will be astonishing. Beyond your wildest dreams!

That it will happen, regardless of the market, is proven in part (there is other positive proof which I will get to) by the past. Even the greatest bull market of all time can't begin to match the profits of the very best technology companies:

- A $20,000 investment in Sun Microsystems has grown to about $3.7 million!
- $20,000 invested in Microsoft has become $7.5 million!
- If you'd put just $20,000 into Intel at the start, you'd now have over $70 million!

"I say forget 'the market!'"

But. . .as I said before. . . the market has seen but the tip of the technology iceberg!

All of today's technology needs to be replaced and the process will create immense sales and profits for the few companies who control the new and very different technology.

As you'll discover in a moment, the very foundation of the current chip-based economy is rotten. There is a different paradigm for the information age and the new economy. Profound and fundamental technological change has already begun and the profits precipitated by the inevitable retooling will dwarf the fortunes made so far on the microchip-based industry.

The trick, of course, is knowing early on which technologies will be dominant so you can buy the stocks of these few ascendant companies before they go through the roof.

So, the good news is that if you didn't buy Intel, Microsoft or Sun when they were cheap. . . you don't need to beat up on yourself. It's not too late to grow very, very rich on blue chip technology stocks. In fact, there are now even better, safer, faster opportunities to grow rich. You're about to discover why the technology revolution and all of the immense wealth it will generate are still in the early stages.

How you can buy the stocks set to triple and quadruple in only the next few years. . .and why you'll be able to do it. . .again
. . .and again. . .and again!

As I keep reminding you, I am not a Wall Street stock picker.

There is a safer, more certain way to invest in the stock market than to get caught up in the speculative frenzy of trying to guess which technology stocks Wall Street will fall in love with next. We didn't pick our recent technology winners using Wall Street's yard stick. We were able to spot them early because we see through a different lens.

I guess if you have to pin a label on me, the closest match might be "futurist." If you want, you can read my bio on page 4 of this report.

Suffice it to say, I am a Senior Fellow at Discovery Institute, a privately funded, totally independent—and therefore beholden to none—think tank, where I direct Discovery's program on high technology and public policy.

I've long been fascinated by micro-electronics and the molecular theories that spawned the computer revolution. Way back in 1989, I wrote a book—to my amazement, it actually became a best-seller—on the quantum roots (indivisible electrical energy) that underlie the workings of the microchip. The book, Microcosm, probably explains more than most people need or want to know about the fascinating-to-me world of atom-size electrical charges.

The secret: how to know which technology companies are for real.

I study technology for no reason other than to understand. Because the more I know, the more truly incredible it is. It's all very exciting to me.

Consider for example the feat of simultaneously transmitting 5 million voice conversations through a single fiber optic strand no thicker than a human hair.

I love it.

My fascination with quantum electronics led naturally to the practical application of computer technology with its myriad complexities.

George Gilder's Technology Predictions and Winners!

The way to win in the technology sector is to be guided by a disciplinary paradigm, or economic model, for the era. Many of George Gilder's recent predictions, all based on his guiding telecosmic paradigm, have come true. They include:

In 1986, Gilder predicts that PCs would increasingly displace mainframes, supercomputers, minicomputers, timesharing terminals, television sets, telephones and other centralized systems.

In 1988, Gilder predicts the death of TV, replaced by a network PC that would be a solid state device tied to a low-power fiber network.

In 1991, Gilder predicts CDMA technology will be ascendant over GSM and TDMA technology.

In 1995, Gilder predicts Netscape and Java as critical to the net becoming central.

In 1996, Gilder predicts falling DRAM prices will result in a sharp upside surge in computer sales and semiconductors through 1997.

In 1997, Gilder predicts on the basis of the Gilder Paradigm that Ciena will have the dominant Initial Public Offering (IPO) to date.

In 1998, Gilder predicts that one of his recommended companies (see special report) will become the Intel of the Telecom.

In 1999, Gilder predicts Lucent's AllWave fiber will greatly increase the value of WDM applications.

In 2000, Gilder declares optical switches the "next big thing" and subscribers learn the names of companies that will profit the most.

"It's not too late to grow very, very rich on blue chip technology stocks."

And I know the major technology players. Some of the top scientists and strategists in the technology community are my old school buddies from Harvard.

Once a year, together with my good friends at FORBES magazine, I host an international gathering of the keenest minds in the community. We spend days together exchanging information, ideas and yes, I admit, all-important industry gossip and opinions.

So, I venture that I know as much as any one person about the underlying physics of today's astonishing computer related technologies and their interplay with the marketplace.

What matters to you is that I approach each technology breakthrough and application not as a Wall Street stock picker but with scientific skepticism and the dispassionate objectivity of a theoretician.

I understand on a very sophisticated level what today's technology leaders are doing and where they're going. I have the perspective and practical experience to judge which applications will impact the real world and which are of no consequence.

No offense, but few—if any—Wall Street analysts have the technical background to know when a company's investor relations department is dishing out misleading PR.

I know when a nice-sounding technology is for real, and when it's likely to amount to nothing.

And I often know about promising breakthroughs long before anyone else has sat down and measured their real-world application or value. Which means, when something comes along that will eventually turn the world upside down. ... I know about it (often years) before Wall Street!

There are fine companies out there with astonishing technologies that will change the world, that Wall Street hasn't yet caught on to, because it just doesn't understand the implications of the new technology.

And although I know nothing about the whims of the stock market, or when Wall Street analysts will finally take note of a great technology company, I know with absolute certainty which of today's best, but still-unappreciated companies possess the critical ascendant technologies that will make them dominant for decades to come.

I do know this about the stock market: I like it when stocks I own go up 162% in six months. ... 910% in just 18 months. ... 657% in 26 months. ... and 966% in 36 months! There's nothing very complex about that.

And I like sleeping soundly at night. I don't care for uncertainty.

Here's why I am so confident about the fortunes to be made soon on the stocks of a certain few technology companies, regardless of what happens short term to the stock market:

The Next Paradigm

For starters, the PC, as you know it, is dead. But that's not the real news.

What counts. . .and why you can absolutely become a millionaire. . .is that most of today's computer related electronics rest upon a fundamentally obsolete architecture. Photonic bandwidth (light) is in the process of replacing electrical impulses as the quantum building block of communications. Photons have won out over electrons. And Wall Street still doesn't realize the significance of the shift. They just don't get it!

Photons (light) have no detectable mass. And fiber optic bandwidth—technology based upon light—has increased communications power a million-fold over conventional, chip-based technology.

That means that every communications device in existence—from TVs and telephones, modems and cable boxes to anything that connects to the Internet—must be converted.

The new photonic technology is so incredibly more cost-effective and so superior in quality that it renders the most cutting edge, conventional-chip technology, totally obsolete. There is no going back.

So that's what's going on.

That's why some of the best-known technology giants are doomed. They came to a fork in the technological road... chose electrons over photons... and are too far behind now to retrace their steps, start over and catch up.

And that is why the stocks of the pioneers in the field of fiber optic networks will skyrocket as the revolution kicks in. That's why companies that recognized the implications of bandwidth technologies are strategically positioned to dominate not just for months or years, but for decades.

Unlimited, low-cost communications will be the backbone of the new world economy.

It's not just the originators of the new fiber optic technology that will profit in the years ahead. The revolution will spill over to an entirely new economy built upon low-cost, networked information.

Soon, you will have instant access (as one TV commercial promises) to every movie ever made, in any language, whenever you feel like watching it... for less than you pay now for an at-home TV movie.

Sooner than you think, you will be paying one, low, monthly bill for TV, voice communications and Internet access.

Fiber optic networks and their attendant hardware will soon replace obsolete, copper-wire systems. In the near future, the leader in the fledgling world of fiber optic networks is likely to displace the currently-biggest long distance carrier, or be bought by them at many times the current trading price of their stock.

An abundance of virtually no-cost bandwidth will fuel a thirst for new, faster, better ways to communicate, work, bank, and recreate. The newest, high-tech toy from the auto world—the onboard system that's linked via satellites (bandwidth at work) to a central monitoring station that tracks your exact location within 50 feet at all times and that will automatically notify the nearest paramedics if your air-bag deploys—is an example of the market demand that will result from the bandwidth revolution.

Through the new, bigger, faster, cheaper, bandwidth pipeline will soon flow as much as half of the world's expanding commerce. There will be an unending cycle of economic expansion... that will increase demand for bandwidth... resulting in growth of fiber optic networks... that will lead to still more economic expansion... and so on. I kid you not! And it will be here much sooner than any of us thought.

Faced with an unending bombardment of seemingly-credible technological information from a plethora of investment-related sources, it is next to impossible for even the most sophisti-

"I know when a nice sounding technology is for real, and when it's likely to amount to nothing."

Now you can accumulate real wealth safely, by building your technology portfolio on sound information and thoughtful, knowledgeable opinion rather than Wall Street hype.

cated investor to tell what is hype and what is fact.

And that in a nutshell is what the GILDER TECHNOLOGY REPORT is all about. The GILDER TECHNOLOGY REPORT will give you a practical, simple understanding of which new technologies will shape the next decade, and what companies are leading the charge.

The kind of investment-useful, company-specific technology information you'll discover in any given issue, might include news about:

- A fledgling company with a patent on a technology that guarantees its position as the dominant provider of the next generation of cable boxes.
- Why a global, wireless telephone system, built upon low-earth satellite technology, will eventually be able to offer long distance rates to any place in the world for less than 5 cents a minute. (Bandwidth will be that cheap and the demand great enough to cover launching costs.)
- Why Internet providers will be giving the new hardware away virtually free. And why the survivors in this to-the-death struggle will go on to reap unimaginable profits.
- Who's about to turn the world of programming languages upside down and what it will mean to that company's profits.
- The wireless phone company whose unique code division multiple access chip technology guarantees its dominance in the explosive expansion of the global market.
- Who is the leader in the systems used by fiber optic providers and why they are so critical.

Why "Wavelength Division Multiplexing" Will Soon Be Household Words

The era of microchips was built upon cheap transistors that compensate for a scarcity of communications power, what we term "bandwidth." That is, computers use microchips to switch, route, multiplex, compress, code, buffer and store information efficiently in an effort to make up for a bottleneck (limited bandwidth) in the pipeline that transmits bytes of information.

But imagine that suddenly that bottleneck is widened by a million times! Imagine a pipeline that lets a million times more information flow back and forth in far less time at a much lower cost.

That's what happens when you switch from electrons to photons. That's what fiber optics and wavelength division multiplexing are all about.

But all of the microprocessing and communications systems developed during the computer revolution are based upon bandwidth scarcity.

Now, the FCC's new wireless bandwidth licensing combined with fiber optic technology has made bandwidth suddenly abundant and dirt cheap. It's a whole new ball game.

Bandwidth technology is the unstoppable engine that will power the rebuilding of the world's information infrastructure. It is so infinitely superior that, just as the internal combustion engine replaced oxen and horses, bandwidth and fiber optic systems will soon replace the old telecom technologies.

Separating the eagles from the turkeys... introducing the Gilder Technology Report:

- What company is ahead in the race to market digital, wireless smart phones that will open your garage door. . . remind you of your dentist appointment. . . and send and receive e-mail.

You'll discover that we rely upon proven, scientific evidence and hard statistical data to identify ascendant technologies and the companies making the best, real-world use of them.

The GILDER TECHNOLOGY REPORT is not an opinion paper, not a "stock-picker" report per se, but rather as the title suggests, a factual report on technology that has proven a valuable tool for the investor seeking an "inside" edge.

In the GILDER TECHNOLOGY REPORT, you will find the hard statistical information—charts, graphs and numbers abound—to help you separate pivotal trends from popular fads. You'll always have the scientific evidence (as opposed to Wall Street speculation) to understand which specific technologies will shape the future and who will be tomorrow's blue chip technology companies.

You'll see, for example. . .

Why the satellite phone system launched by Motorola component, Iridium, failed and why Globalstar (GSTF) and Loral (LOR)—both second-generation satellite phone operators—are set to cash in big time on the $26 billion satellite service sector.

Why Qualcomm's (QCOM) low powered Code Division Multiple Access is superior to the technology used by Ericsson and Nokia and will ultimately position Qualcomm as the dominant player in the colossal wireless telephone market.

What makes NorthEast Optic Network

(NOPT) different and better from other optical networks and why you should buy its stock before it's too late.

What's so great about a little company named Chorum (not yet public) that produces components that can enable the new era of 12.5 gigahertz spacing and all-optical add-drop multiplexing and cross connects. . . and why when it hits the street, its stock will rocket!

And although I'm not a stock picker, I know that it's just a matter of time until the unique technology of each of these companies drives their stock prices through the roof.

Don't worry, you don't need to know what a gigahertz is or how add-drop multiplexing works in order to increase your wealth 100-fold in the next five to ten years. But, trust me, this is the kind of hard, scientific, nitty-gritty that is defining tomorrow's blue chip companies. It's the stuff that makes the difference. And few on Wall Street understand it either. The big difference is that few stock pickers really pay attention to technological details.

Understand it fully or not (it's not that complicated), investors who read the GILDER TECHNOLOGY REPORT will have the confidence that there's far more behind their investment decisions than public relations spin. The indiscriminate technology bulls, on the other hand, will continue to buy up the hottest e-bargain that comes along in the hope that they get out at a huge profit before it tanks.

You'll sleep a lot better at night when the market is gyrating. And in the long run you will make a lot more money than trying to guess which will be Wall Street's next darling technology stock.

Do You Really Need Another Website?

Amid the glut of bits, bytes, banner ads, and URLs, why do you need another web site? Do you really need another paradigm?

Yes. . . dear investor. . . to grow rich safely in the world of technology stocks, you need both just to tame the glut and sort the onrush of new technologies, business concepts, investment hype and PR hustles.

Because I have been guided by a paradigm over the last several years, I have been able to readily dismiss many of the most touted new technologies, from Zenith HDTV and Time-Warner interactive television to 3DO game machines and Phillips CD-I multimedia, from McCaw TDMA wireless and Nextel cellular compression to pervasive ATM networks.

I have been able to instantly embrace the developments that will be shaping the next decade, such as all optical networks, Qualcomm spread spectrum wireless, and Sun's Java programming language. My paradigm allowed me to find pivotal trends amid a welter of noise.

With the help of this website, I hope you will be able to do it, too.

"I have to write to express my sincere thanks for your newsletter and for all the money you've made me! I am very grateful and you have my complete trust."

"My only regret is that I didn't buy more of the companies you follow sooner!"

"I've been a reader since the first issue, so I have nobody but myself to blame for not having jumped on Qualcomm when it was $19 a share."

"But, thanks to you, I bought a bunch in April of 1999 at (adjusted for the split) $63 a share. Today, it's at $406 a share."

"That's a profit of 544% in a little over 7 months. And of course, Qualcomm is only one of my big winners. I've got some $16 a share Sun Microsystems that's up over 500% but that took over two years. How spoiled we get!"

The paradigm shift from electrons to photons and the resulting million-fold increase in communications power will have an incredible impact on world economies and the profits of some of the best-positioned technology companies.

Don't miss out. You can truly turn as little as $10,000 or $20,000 into $2-3 million in the next five to ten years if you invest soon in the right technology stocks.

And the safest way to do that is to close your eyes and ears to all of the investment hype and look instead at the underlying, fundamental technology on a company-by-company basis.

I'll help you. Focusing on what counts has made a ton of money for our readers in the past several years. And the profits ahead will dwarf the past! You too can turn as little as $10,000 or $20,000 into millions by investing now in the right technology stocks.

It's hindsight, but had you put $20,000 into Microsoft in 1986, your money would have grown to $11 million in the next 13 years.

If you'd been a subscriber and bought Qualcomm at my original recommendation, an investment of $25,000 would have turned into $467,096 in just over 3 years. In the long term, Qualcomm will out-profit Microsoft.

But I'm telling you even greater opportunities for huge profits lie ahead.

And as a subscriber to the GILDER TECHNOLOGY REPORT you'll have the confidence and information to act instead of wishing later that you'd bought.

Because the companies we follow are all part of the new paradigm. In the '80s it was the microcosm (micro transistors on silicon chips), which is why Microsoft was a good investment.

Today it's the telecosm—wireless bandwidth technology—and we're covering the best companies with the ascendant and pivotal technologies.

I Need Help and I Need It Now

By CARDINAL JOHN J. O'CONNOR

I didn't sleep last night, again. I couldn't. The cupboard is bare; and though I don't live in a shoe, I have thousands of times more children to worry about than Old Mother Hubbard ever dreamed of—the children of every religion, color and nationality in our Catholic schools. I desperately want to promise that our Catholic schools will always be there, for them and for their children and their children's children, generation after generation.

So I sleep little and I worry a lot, night after night. Tossing and turning doesn't help. Time after time, I turn the light on again, and review staggering rows of depressing numbers, each preceded by both a dollar sign and a minus sign. The deficits refuse to disappear.

Every day I beg. I meet with the wealthy and the not-so-wealthy, Jew, Protestant, Catholic, Muslim, and ask them to help save our schools. Many are wonderfully generous. Others are embarrassed; they want to help, but are struggling themselves in these hard times.

Right now I am personally going over the data on each of 41 schools, with the proverbial fine tooth comb. Why these schools? My close consultants tell me they are "at risk." Most, if not all, have raised tuition as high as they can, without driving away those who can not afford another penny. Yet the overall deficit for the 41 schools is over four-and-a-half million dollars. I counted those dollars instead of sheep last night! And I added that four-and-a-half million to the four-and-a-half million dollar deficit our Catholic high schools are running. Where do I come up with money like that?

It's more than a tuition problem. The archdiocese supports a large number of our 413 parishes by as much as $20 million a year. Many of those parishes have to put a large percentage of that money into their schools. During the past few years we have been investing some $50 million in parish buildings to keep roofs from falling in and boilers from blowing up. Millions of more dollars have gone into asbestos removal, by government order.

Most importantly, from my viewpoint, we have been trying desperately to raise salaries and benefits for our teachers, who still deserve more than we can pay and will be able to pay for another several years. Some 86 percent of our parish elementary school teachers and 76 percent of our Catholic high school teachers are lay persons. A great many have families. I thank God for our lay teachers, as well as for our teaching sisters, brothers and priests. One day I hope we will be able to pay every one of them what they deserve.

Day after day we remind big businesses in New York that we provide them top-grade graduates, that 90 percent of our Catholic high school graduates go to college, that those who don't are ready to pass stiff tests for industry jobs. We remind them that all our Catholic schools include non-Catholic students; in some, 80 percent may be non-Catholic (three of our Catholic schools, for example, have heavy populations of Buddhists). Eighty-five percent of youngsters in our inner-city schools are black or Hispanic. Fewer than one percent of our students drop out of school.

There's a myth, perpetrated by some anti-Catholic school educators, that our schools are so successful because we throw kids out for the slightest reason. It is, in fact, very difficult to be thrown out of a Catholic school. You really have to work at it. No teacher can throw a student out, nor can a principal, without a hearing by the superintendent of schools, who doesn't listen to expulsion talk very sympathetically.

Some critics say we take only the best kids. In a sense we do, in that we believe every kid is a "best" kid if you see in him or her the Image of God, and are willing to go all out to help that Image shine through. In another sense, our youngsters come from the same backgrounds as youngsters in other schools—many from broken homes, from single parents, from families whose incomes are well below the poverty level. I have written before about one archdiocesan parish in the immediate neighborhood of which 65 murders were committed in one year. The Catholic school in that parish, to my knowledge, is drug free, and every year the youngsters score higher than the national average in basic academic subjects.

That's not unusual for our Catholic schools—to surpass national averages.

That's what's so frustrating. During the past year or so—finally—the story is breaking all over the United States that Catholic schools excel. Scientific studies are multiplying, all reporting the same story of excellence and superiority. Newspapers such as The New York Times and the Wall Street Journal have picked up the story and published it. Magazines such as U.S. News & World Report and Forbes have done the same, as have many others, well-known and lesser known. Yet at the very time that their worth is being widely publicized, our schools are in greatest jeopardy. At a point in our national history when a solid education is absolutely crucial, one of the best educational systems our country has ever known is being dismantled in diocese after diocese. Catholic schools have closed in frightening numbers throughout the Church in the United States. It is not simply the Church that will suffer the loss, or even Catholics alone. Our Catholic schools are a national treasure, a treasure disappearing bit by bit every day.

I am trying desperately to save our Catholic schools for New York—every one of them. A great number of people are helping. Some provide scholarships, some adopt entire schools, some repair buildings in critical need. I am tremendously grateful to such committed individuals, but there are only a fraction of them in comparison with the need.

Some people assume that tuition paid by parents meets expenses. In truth, tuition meets between one-third and one-half of the costs, at most. The bulk of the money has to come from other sources.

That's why I beg, every day. That's why I go sleepless night after night.

What will be the next step after I finish all the reviews of the 41 schools "at risk"? In every instance where there is danger of closing a school, I will personally meet with representative parents and teachers, the principal, the local superintendent, the pastor, the Finance Council and Parish Council representatives and others. I will go over with them every conceivable way of trying to save the school if it should be and can be saved. The rest will be largely in their hands. I have done this before with other schools and we have been able to save many.

The schools are not mine. They belong to parents, to children, to the Church, to all society. I need the help of all society and I need it now! It is not enough to come up with the money to save a school only for this year or the year ahead. We need long-term help for a long-term problem. It's that, or close our schools. I can not believe that would be the right thing to do.

Practically every one of you who reads Catholic New York is already stretched to the limit. Some of you are in dread of losing your homes. Many of you are out of work. Many of you have never had a lot of money in the best of times. Yet I must appeal to you, not for big contributions, but for the "widow's mite" that Our Lord praised so highly. Anything you can give; anything you can do to help save our schools, I will be deeply grateful for.

Can you give something to preserve our schools? A dollar? A hundred, a thousand dollars? Can you fund a youngster for a couple of thousand dollars a year? There might even be a rare and generous soul who would make a gift of a hundred thousand dollars, or a million dollars or more! Can you send whatever you can send to Bishop Patrick Ahern, Office of Development, 1011 First Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10022? Every gift will be gratefully acknowledged. Every penny will go into our schools, and every penny will be accounted for.

Maybe not. Maybe you don't have a penny left. God bless you, nonetheless. Send me your prayers. A Hail Mary a day might keep more schools open than we know. And maybe you can at least pray me to sleep!

You have my deepest gratitude for all that you do and for all that you are.

Inner-City Scholarship Fund

Dear Friend,

It will be a tragedy if we have to close our inner-city Catholic schools. I'm writing to you today to ask you to help us save them.

For thousands of young people in New York's toughest neighborhoods, Catholic schools offer the best chance to overcome the destructive forces of poverty and injustice.

More than 68% of these students live at or below the poverty level; more than half are from single-parent families.

Despite this, the dropout rate is less than 1%. Fully 99% of high school students graduate and over 92% of graduates go to college.

Catholic schools give them the tools they need to learn and succeed, to rise above the temptations of the streets. Perhaps most importantly, Catholic schools provide the foundation for a life in the faith you and I treasure.

Yet not all our students are Catholic. Families of many backgrounds and religions send their children to our schools, knowing they will have the opportunity to gain the knowledge and values needed to lead productive lives.

The Archdiocese charges considerably less than actual cost. For example, the average high school tuition is $3,400, but the actual cost of educating each student is $5,800. To make up the difference, we must rely on caring people like you.

Imagine the commitment and sacrifice of an inner-city parent, saving every dollar to pay tuition, knowing that a over, please...

21.04.405.0596

Catholic education can mean a rewarding life for her child!
Can you help us make this dream of a better life come true for these deserving families?

With escalating costs, the Archdiocese can no longer afford to subsidize tuition to the degree that it has in the past. To keep these schools going, we need you to make a contribution to Inner-City Scholarship Fund today.

Join us in our campaign to keep these schools open... support the inner-city boys and girls as they defy the odds to receive a good education. Please send your check today. Use the enclosed card. It will be one of the most rewarding things you've ever done.

Sincerely,

Monsignor Thomas J. Bergin
Vicar for Education

P.S. The attached article by Cardinal O'Connor is of great importance to all people of faith. I urge you to read it.
And please send the most generous contribution you can to Inner-City Scholarship Fund right now. Thank you, and may God bless you.

Inner-City Scholarship Fund
1011 First Avenue
New York, NY 10022

INNER-CITY SCHOLARSHIP FUND was founded in 1971 by Cardinal Cooke and a group of prominent executives of all religious beliefs to save Catholic schools in danger of closing. Today, with escalating costs Cardinal O'Connor needs you to join the effort to support the boys and girls in the inner-city schools of the Archdiocese.

- Approximately 51,000 students are assisted in 119 schools serving low-income areas including the South Bronx, Harlem, and the Lower East Side.
- An overwhelming majority of the students live at or below the poverty level.
- 99% of high school students graduate in four years and 92% go on to college.

Please help these boys and girls of our inner-city schools by sending your contribution to the INNER-CITY SCHOLARSHIP FUND.

Barbara Bush

Dear Friend:

If you have a moment, I would like to tell you about a trip I took.

It was a trip unlike any you might expect. It was long, cold and the meals were, for the most part, horrible.

But I wouldn't have missed it for all the world. And if you could have been there, I know you would share my enthusiasm.

We departed on a four engine jet from JFK International Airport in New York. But this wasn't an airliner.

All of the seats, except those in the cockpit and eight in the back, had been removed. The carpeting had been pulled up and the walls and ceiling were stripped down to bare aluminum.

In short, this was a bare bones air freighter with a few seats bolted to the floor in the back in a makeshift passenger compartment -- commonly referred to as a "People Pallet."

In place of the usual airline interior, there were wooden pallets carrying piles of medicines strapped down with netting. The medicines were stacked in such a way that the tops and sides had the same arch as the interior of the aircraft. By very carefully stacking the medicines up this way, the maximum amount could be loaded on the plane and the plane could be kept in balance.

The only way to go from the back of the plane to the cockpit was a two foot wide passage that extended along the left-hand side of the plane between the aircraft wall and the piles of medicines. This was not the place to discover that you could be claustrophobic. Fortunately, I'm not.

Some of the young Americans who would later unload and deliver most of the medicines took their sleeping bags and wedged themselves between the top of the cargo and the roof of the plane. How they got any sleep is still a mystery to me. The rest of us tried to rest in the back of the plane with our blankets.

Our flight was in two parts. First, we flew to Ostend, Belgium for refueling. After several hours on the ground where we were able to stretch our legs and get a bite to eat, we took off again for our final destination to the city of Split in the former Yugoslavia..

Why did I go halfway around the world on a cargo plane - twice? Who are these real world angels? And why do I think all of this would be of interest to you?

I went halfway around the world to help deliver $1.22 million worth of medicines to those suffering in the former Yugoslavia.

I went because I wanted to do a small part to help ease the suffering of those brave people. And I went because I wanted to lend my support to a little known but exceptional organization of Americans.

The marvelous organization which flew this trip and which last year delivered more than $343 million worth of medicines and hospital supplies to the sick and dying is called AmeriCares.

Maybe you've heard of AmeriCares. They're receiving more and more news coverage and justified praise for their life-saving work. Here in this country and around the world when floods, earthquakes, hurricanes or civil unrest and social upheaval mean people aren't getting the medicines they need to survive, AmeriCares mounts another one of their missions of mercy.

But if you're like most Americans, you probably have never heard of AmeriCares. And it's not your fault.

You see, despite the fact that last year they delivered more than $343 million worth of medicines to people in desperate need here in America and around the world, AmeriCares hasn't done a lot to promote itself.

Instead, they've gone about their life-saving efforts with a minimum of fanfare and a maximum of efficiency.

In fact, that's one of the things that makes AmeriCares so special. They run such a lean and effective operation that at least 98% of every gift they received was delivered to those in need. Less than 2% of their budget goes toward overhead and administration.

How can they deliver more than $343 million and spend less than 2% of their budget on overhead?

First of all, they don't conduct telephone solicitations or mail a "Dues Statement" solicitation to every living, breathing American. Instead they solicit medicines directly from the source - the men and women who manufacture the medicines.

By soliciting surplus medicines from many, many American pharmaceutical companies, they cut out the enormous overhead which would be otherwise associated with raising the money for the medicines and then purchasing the medicines.

As a result of this direct approach, their overhead is very, very small. It consists of a small staff, the expenses associated with renting the planes to ship the medicines and the costs of soliciting gifts of medicine and money from American pharmaceutical companies and a select group of concerned and caring Americans. A good portion of their work is even done by volunteers.

In fact, their Founder and Chairman, Bob Macauley, is a volunteer. He even goes beyond volunteering his time. He not only doesn't receive a penny out of AmeriCares, but he has generously given of his own money. I wish I had more time to tell you all about Bob. He's a fascinating and wonderful individual and a long time friend of George and mine. But let me just say, after making his mark in the business world, Bob, launched AmeriCares. It truly is a labor of love.

I hope you are beginning to see why I took that trip halfway around the world on that cargo plane and why I say AmeriCares is making me proud to be an American.

AmeriCares is a uniquely American effort. It is caring, concern, generosity and a willingness to roll up our sleeves and help those in need. This caring extends across a wide range of people from the newest volunteer to the men and women at the pharmaceutical manufacturers who donate their medicines, to the individual contributors who pay for the planes and minimum overhead expenses. It brings out the best in America.

The thousands of individuals who volunteer their time, their resources and their money to make AmeriCares possible truly are, as George has said, "real world angels!"

All they are doing to save lives, not only around the world but here in America, reflects well on everyone who lives in this great country. On almost every carton of medicines AmeriCares ships, they attach a sticker with a waving American flag.

For the Americans and everyone who receives these life-saving medicines, it is a powerful reminder that there are good and decent people in America.

I am telling you all of this in the hope that you will join me on the AmeriCares Team.

As I mentioned, AmeriCares does not spend the money and cannot ask everyone to join their cause. But they do urgently need the support of individual Americans to pay the cost of the airplanes and sea shipping they use to deliver these life-saving medicines, and their small overhead to keep the lights on and the operation thriving. Will you help?

Through your support, you will make possible the missions of mercy like the one I described. If you want to help do some good in this world, AmeriCares is one of the best ways you can. When I say that, it is more than an emotional response from the heart, it is a statement of fact. When you contribute to AmeriCares, more of your contribution will go to help people than almost any other contribution you can make.

Will you help? I hope you will. Join me as a part of the AmeriCares Team. And, if you're like me, your support will lift your head a little higher and refresh your pride in this nation.

There is so much suffering in this world today that we too often become deaf to the cries of pain and anguish and that is what makes AmeriCares so special. With ears more finely tuned than most, AmeriCares hears whenever there are cries of anguish and suffering. From the refugee camps in that aching open wound known as Chechnya, to Guatemala, to Rwanda, to the Sudan, to Lebanon, to the flood, earthquake and hurricane ravished areas of this country, as well as Central America and Colombia, AmeriCares rushes not only life-saving supplies but also caring and love.

I hope I can count on you to join this very special AmeriCares Team.

Sincerely,

Barbara Bush

Ambassador-at-Large for AmeriCares

P.S. Like me, I know you are probably bombarded with letters from many, many worthwhile organizations.

I know what a difficult dilemma those letters can present. You'd like to help them all. But you can't. And so you have to make some difficult choices without really knowing which are the best. I'm writing to give you a strong recommendation and ask you to support this truly spectacular organization.

In fact, I believe so deeply in the work of AmeriCares that since the trip to the former Yugoslavia, I have gone on a second mercy mission with AmeriCares, delivering medicines to the poor of Guatemala City's shantytowns and I have agreed to become AmeriCares' first Ambassador-at-Large. AmeriCares is doing wonderful work, please join me in supporting them. Thank you.

Swing States for a GOP White House

GEORGE W. BUSH INAUGURAL BALL GALA EVENT

October 24, 2000

Mr Tery Spataro
462 W 51st St #6
New York, NY 10019

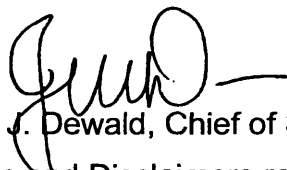

Dear Mr Spataro:

We are calling on a select few of the most generous individual supporters of Elizabeth Dole in these last days of the 2000 campaign to help raise a final $1 million before October 26 to capture the electoral votes in these critical swing states: Florida, Michigan, Pennsylvania; Missouri, Arkansas and Washington. We stand on a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to control both the White House and the Congress and usher in a new era of ethical government and lower taxes. But if we allow the current $10 million fundraising advantage of the Democrats to dominate the debate in these critical states we can lose the White House again this year.

Regardless of your previous contributions, the Swing States for a GOP White House PAC can accept your additional individual contribution from $500 up to a maximum of $5000 to help make sure a Republican ticket is elected to the White House in 2000. If married, each you and your spouse can give up to $5000. As a way of thanking you for your generous support, we are also awarding a pair of tickets to the George W. Bush inaugural Ball in Washington DC this January to a randomly selected contributor in each of the four states with the highest response. Because our mailing list is very select, your chances of being awarded a pair of tickets could be as good as 1 in 20.*

But the important issue is gaining control of the White House in 2000. Without a Republican victory in November, we will face another four years of high taxes, irresponsible spending and unethical government in Washington. So please act now to protect our future. Complete and return the enclosed card with your generous contribution of at least $500.

Signed,

J. Dewald, Chief of Staff

Notices and Disclaimers required by the Federal Elections Commission and/or the Internal Revenue Service: 1. Your contributions will be used in connection with federal elections and are subject to the limits and prohibitions of the Act. 2. This solicitation is paid for by Swing States for a GOP White House. 3. Contributions are not tax deductible. Other: We reserve the right not to award tickets if we fail to reach a minimum of 30% of our fundraising goal by October 26. (Fundraising was started October 14.)

September 20, 2000

Mr. Tery Spataro
462 W 51st St. Apt. 6
New York, NY 10019-6516

Dear Mr. Spataro,

"Eight years is ENOUGH!"

That is the battle-cry of this election.

As concerned citizens, parents and grandparents reflect on the distortions, deceptions and scandals of the Clinton era, they know that, even though Bill Clinton must leave office in January, we could be saddled with Mrs. Clinton and her extreme liberal ideology for years to come.

Because, if we don't defeat Hillary Clinton this November it won't be the end of the Clinton era, it will be at least six more years.

If we fail, not only will Hillary Clinton take center stage in Washington as a powerful Senator from New York, she will also position herself as a leading contender for President in 2004 or 2008.

WE CANNOT AFFORD TO LET THAT HAPPEN!

That is why I urge you to rush your most generous contribution of $1,000, $500, $250, $100, $50, or $35 to my Senate campaign immediately.

And, take the bumper sticker I've enclosed and put it on your car or truck - or display it in your home or office - to remind voters of what's at stake in this election.

We can put an end to the Clinton era of big government, high taxes and Washington-knows-best policies . . .

(Over, please)

... But only if concerned Americans, like you, join our Lazio 2000 campaign team.

So please take a moment right now to send back your most generous contribution in whatever amount you can afford.

I urge you to do it immediately because, although Mrs. Clinton and I are neck-and-neck in the polls, she has a tremendous financial advantage.

I'm sure you saw on the news recently that, while Bill and Hillary Clinton were in Los Angeles for the Democrat convention, Hollywood liberals from Whoopi Goldberg to Warren Beatty turned out in full force to help raise millions of dollars for Hillary's campaign – in just one weekend!

Add to that the millions of dollars pouring into New York from the Association of Trial Lawyers and left-wing special interests from coast-to-coast, and you can see why I'm turning to every like-minded American to ask for whatever help you can give.

We've made a lot of progress in the four short months since I entered this race. We are organizing the state, identifying supporters and getting our message of less government, lower taxes, mainstream values and common-sense solutions to the voters.

This race will be decided between Labor Day and Election Day. We must have the funds to run TV ads – not just to get our message out, but to respond to the negative attacks and distortions Mrs. Clinton's campaign is already firing at me.

So please, take a moment right now to send your contribution for $1,000, $500, $250, $100, $50, $35, or whatever you can afford to my campaign.

Eight years is enough. You can help make sure the Clinton era ends after November by responding today.

Sincerely,

Rick Lazio

P.S. I know there are a lot of organizations out there working to defeat Hillary Clinton. But the truth is, if you really want to have an impact, joining my campaign team is the most effective thing you can do. And please don't delay!

We can win, if we can get our message out on TV and respond to her attacks and distortions. If you want to be sure the Clinton era ends after this election, please help me win by sending a contribution to my campaign today. Thanks!

EMERGENCY COMMITTEE TO STOP HILLARY RODHAM CLINTON

A Project of the Conservative Leadership Political Action Committee

Dear Conservative Friend,

We have formed an emergency committee to defeat Hillary Rodham Clinton. And I'm writing to ask for your help.

The Committee

Partial List

Morton C. Blackwell
Chairman

Edwin Meese, III
Attorney General
under President Reagan

Lyn Nofziger
Former Senior Advisor to President Reagan

Ernest J. Istook
U.S. Congressman

Robert K. Dornan
Former U.S. Congressman

Alan Keyes
Former U.S. Ambassador

This emergency committee has one mission.

And that's to raise $9,000,000 in the next 60 days to alert every voter in New York State about Mrs. Clinton's record of corruption and ultra-left political agenda. We aim to do this by,

- 1) Broadcasting a series of 15 powerful television and radio ads throughout New York State.
- 2) Printing newspaper ads detailing the key role Mrs. Clinton played in the major scandals of the Clinton White House. And ...
- 3) Reaching 9,500,000 registered voters in New York State with our fact-filled "Voter Communication" mailings and our phone bank targeting Mrs. Clinton.

Since Democrats outnumber Republican voters in New York, we can't defeat Mrs. Clinton with Republican votes alone.

That's why virtually all our advertisements and communications will be aimed at persuading some Democrats and most Independents to vote for Congressman Rick Lazio ... and against Mrs. Clinton.

The reason we decided to form this emergency committee is that Mayor Rudy Giuliani's stunning decision to quit the New York Senate race has given Mrs. Clinton an enormous head-start over Rick Lazio, her Republican opponent.

Mrs. Clinton has her husband's entire fundraising apparatus at her disposal and is well on her way to raising $35,000,000 for her campaign.

Congressman Lazio cannot possibly close this gap by himself.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Clinton has the liberal media cheering her every move as she attacks Congressman Lazio.

The disturbing truth is, Mrs. Clinton will likely have a free ride into the Senate unless conservatives who care deeply about the future of our great nation rally to stop her.

Of course, she does not intend to stay in the Senate for long.

She will use her Senate seat as a springboard for her true goal -- to be President of the United States.

In other words, if we don't stop Hillary now, it will be much harder to stop her later when she runs for President. That's why a number of leading conservatives made the decision to form this emergency committee.

My name is Morton Blackwell.

I was a Special Assistant to President Reagan on the White House Staff from 1981 to 1984. I have served as the Republican National Committeeman for Virginia since 1988.

And I have decided to take on the responsibility of organizing this Emergency Committee to stop Hillary Clinton.

This Emergency Committee is a project of my CONSERVATIVE LEADERSHIP POLITICAL ACTION COMMITTEE (which I founded in 1972), and is made up of leading American conservatives, including ...

Edwin Meese, III, Attorney General under President Reagan
Lyn Nofziger, former Senior Advisor to President Reagan Congressman Ernest J. Istook (R-OK)
 Congressman Robert K. Dornan (R-CA)
 Ambassador Alan Keyes

... and many other prominent conservative leaders.

I am told that, like me, you are no fan of the Clintons.

I am writing to ask if you will join our committee and help fund this $9,000,000 "Stop Hillary Now" advertising, mail and phone campaign by immediately sending a contribution of $15, $25, $50, $100, or more.

We have hired some of the best political ad writers and producers in the business. They are working on our ads right now.

We also made the decision to set up our committee as an "Independent Expenditure."

Please let me take a moment to explain what this is.

Under the election laws, an "Independent Expenditure" is not permitted to coordinate in any way with the candidate's campaign.

In exchange for this restriction, there is no limit on what we can spend to defeat Hillary Rodham Clinton.

Another reason we've organized ourselves as an "Independent Expenditure" is that we can be much tougher with our ads and "voter communication" programs than the Lazio Campaign.

In fact, the Lazio Campaign can't afford to say much at all that's critical of Mrs. Clinton without being accused by the Clinton forces and liberal media of "negative campaigning."

It doesn't matter to us if Mrs. Clinton and the media attack us for our tough, factual ads ... because we are not part of the official Lazio Campaign, and we operate independent of any party organization.

(Next page, please)

6190 "SOT" 40" 12

As an Independent Expenditure, we don't have to pull any punches. We are free to broadcast the kind of hard-hitting ads that the Lazio campaign would never dare broadcast.

Our carefully-documented TV, radio and newspaper ads (and other "voter communication" programs) will show voters in New York State the real Hillary Clinton -- the Hillary Clinton who is a key figure in ...

The "Chinagate" scandal
 The FBI "Filegate" scandal
 The "Cattlegate" bribery scandal
 The "Travelgate" scandal
 The Whitewater fraud that cost taxpayers $69,000,000
 The Castle Grande real estate scam
 The disappearing incriminating law firm billing records
 The Webster Hubbell "Money-for-Silence" Scandal
 The threatening of grand jury witnesses
 The use of the I.R.S. to crush critics of the Clintons
 The use of Air Force planes to wage her Senate Campaign

Our ads and "voter communication" programs will show New York voters that Mrs. Clinton is an angry woman who is abusive to White House staff and obsessed with imposing her radical left vision on the rest of America. We also want New York voters to know that ...

- ** Mrs. Clinton defended Bobby Seale and the violent Black Panthers when she was at Yale Law School;
- ** She was very close with notorious 1960s radicals like Saul Alinsky and Carl Oglesby (who was President of one of the most infamous violent organizations of the 1960s, SDS);
- ** She was Chairman of the far-left Legal Services Corporation and a board member of the Children's Defense Fund -- which pursues a radical anti-parent agenda by pushing a perversion of "children's rights."

In addition, we want the voters of New York to know that Mrs. Clinton (who claims to defend the "little people") spent her White House years abusing staff and crushing anyone who had the misfortune of getting in her way ... like the veteran White House chef who was fired for preparing a meal she didn't like.

If we can raise $9,000,000 in the next 60 days, we'll be able to tell every voter in New York State all of this and more about Mrs. Clinton with our ads, mailings and phone bank campaign.

But the only way we can raise this enormous amount of money this quickly is with your immediate help and help from many other conservatives I am writing to.

Under the federal election laws governing our committee, the maximum contribution you can send is $1,000.

A few of those I am writing to will be able to contribute the maximum $1,000 amount. But most donations I expect in reply to my letter are likely to be in the $25, $50 and $100 range.

(Over, please)

21 "04" 495 "06220

What's crucial is that you make a special point to send a contribution in some amount, whatever you can manage, if we're to succeed in raising $9,000,000 to defeat Mrs. Clinton.

I am mailing this letter to carefully selected, politically active conservatives who have made contributions to conservative causes and candidates in the past.

If every conservative I am writing answers my letter, it will take an average contribution of just $26 to raise $9,000,000 for our campaign to stop Hillary Clinton.

Perhaps you are in a position to give $50, $100 or even more to help make up for those who are unable to send the $26 average contribution I'm asking for.

On the other hand, maybe you aren't able to send the $26 average amount we need, but can send $15 or $20.

Whatever amount you can send will help us to immediately ramp up our advertisements, mailings and phone calls showing the voters of New York State the true Hillary Clinton.

Please answer my letter today. I will anxiously wait to hear from you in the next few days. Please help.

Cordially,

Morton C. Blackwell

Stop Hillary Rodham Clinton

P.S. Rudy Giuliani's surprise decision to quit the New York Senate race has given Mrs. Clinton an enormous head-start over Congressman Rick Lazio. As a result, Mrs. Clinton will have a free ride to the Senate unless conservatives immediately rally to stop her.

That's why we formed this emergency committee to raise $9,000,000 in the next 60 days for this advertising, mail and a phone bank campaign designed to tell every New York voter about Mrs. Clinton's record of corruption and radical politics.

Funding this enormous effort will require many contributions of $15, $25, $50 and $100 from conservatives like you. Please use the enclosed reply envelope to rush this committee your best donation today. We can still stop Hillary, but only if every conservative I am writing to answers my letter. Thank you so much for immediately answering this "Call-to-Action."

These newspaper articles dramatically make it clear that the GOP and most GOP candidates will not expose the crimes, corruption and criminal cover-ups of Hillary and Bill Clinton and Al Gore.

GOP candidates will lose badly unless you and others help Conservative Leadership PAC conduct a massive advertising campaign exposing the crimes, corruption and cover-ups of Hillary and Bill's Co-Presidency.

GOP axes TV ad of Gore vouching for honest Bill

By BRIAN BLOMQUIST
Post Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Republicans have dropped a TV attack ad that showed Al Gore defending President Clinton's honesty, fearing it would be viewed as a cheap shot about Monica Lewinsky, sources said yesterday.

The ad was killed during a late-night conference call Wednesday involving top officials from the George W. Bush campaign and the Republican National Committee, which was set to run the ad in several states as soon as today.

One GOP official said the inclination to go negative on Gore reveals a degree of panic by the Republicans, as they watch their candidate trailing Gore for the first time in national polls.

But the official said the decision to nix the ad was a no-brainer.

"It's an old interview. People would have been confused about when it took place and what it referred to," the Republican said.

A senior Bush adviser said, "I'll never see the light of day."

The ad showed a TV on a table with NBC reporter Lisa Myers asking Gore, "Can you say that neither you nor President Clinton has told a lie in your political career?" to which Gore responded, "None spring to mind."

That was followed by Myers saying, "And President Clinton has not uttered a single untruth in the last two years?"

Gore: "Not that I have heard, absolutely not."

What the ad didn't say was that the interview took place in 1994, two years before the funny-money controversy and four years before the Sexgate scandal broke.

A top GOP official said the decision to nix this particular ad doesn't mean Gore won't face future attack ads.

Stephen Hess, a political analyst at the Brookings Institution, said, "I think the Gore people would have jumped all over them and rightly so. The ad would have been the first really major foot fault on the Bush campaign."

Republicans Pull Unaired Ad Attacking Gore

By HOWARD KURTZ
Washington Post Staff Writer

The Republican National Committee, in a last-minute reversal, yesterday withdrew a harsh television ad that attacked Vice President Gore by using misleading excerpts from a six-year-old interview.

Bowing to objections from George W. Bush's campaign and Bush advisers at the White House, the committee took the rare step of 350 television stations. The ads were to begin airing today.

The spot shows a stammering Gore maintaining that President Clinton has never told a lie. Although the ad seems to suggest that Gore is deliberately overlooking Clinton's repeated statements denying his relationship with Monica S. Lewinsky, the footage in the ad actually comes from a Gore interview conducted in 1994, well before the president had even met Lewinsky.

used often by the Bush campaign—that "Al Gore will say anything to get elected."

The ad is revealing because it was produced at a time when Bush is insisting that the presidential campaign should be about policy differences and not personal attacks. The Texas governor regularly vows to restore "honor and dignity" to the White House, but insists that he is not trying to be the vice president to the scandal that led to

On eve of broadcast, ad questioning Gore is withdrawn

August 24, 2000

By Ron Fournier
Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Republican Party abruptly dropped plans yesterday to air a television ad questioning the veracity of Vice President Gore and President Clinton, fearing a backlash if moderate and independent voters viewed the ad as a reference to the Monica Lewinsky scandal.

Bush advisers in Austin, Texas, and in the Republican National Committee also said that the ad used an outdated Gore interview and conflicted with Bush's promise to confront the U.S. politics, according to several senior Republicans familiar with the ad strategy. They said the ad had been shipped to stations in several states for broadcast as early as today. However, a senior adviser to the Texas governor said, "I'll never see the light of day."

The officials spoke on condition of anonymity. The ad featured a television sitting on a kitchen table broadcasting a Nov. 6, 1994, television interview with Gore. Amid several questions about allegations that Oliver North lied to Congress, Gore was asked, "Can you say that neither you nor President Clinton has told a lie in your political career?" Gore: "None spring to mind."

Question: "And President Clinton has not uttered a single untruth in the last two years?" Gore: "Not that I have heard, absolutely not."

The ad did not mention the year of the interview or the context of the questions. In an eleventh-hour meeting yesterday, the ad drew objections from senior officials in the Bush campaign, the Republican National Committee, and Victory 2000, the Bush-controlled wing of the RNC. Officials in all three camps said they argued that the ad, without a disclaimer, took the interview out of context. Two high-ranking Bush allies said they did not know until yesterday that it was six years old, predating the Lewinsky scandal. Opponents of the ad argued internally that Gore's credibility would be a major campaign issue, but they said that GOP attacks should be tied to issues, such as Gore's shifts on gun control and Social Security. Results of a focus group convinced senior Republicans that the ad "was not the most effective" of the GOP's large arsenal of anti-Gore ads, said two officials who reviewed the test results.

CONGRESSMAN BOB BARR

Dear Friend,

I hope you will support this Campaign to Stop Hillary Rodham Clinton by sending a contribution today to the Conservative Leadership PAC's project to STOP HILLARY NOW.

As a member of Congress who has relied on the Conservative Leadership Political Action Committee for my hard-fought election victories, I can attest to this committee's extraordinary effectiveness.

Morton Blackwell, the Chairman of this Committee, is a close personal friend of mine. And he is one of the most effective conservative political fighters I know.

He has trained thousands of young conservative political activists and Congressional staffers.

Members of Congress and two Governors have also gone through Morton's program and used his training to win their elections.

Any contribution you can send Morton and his team for this campaign to defeat Hillary Clinton will be money well invested.

That's because any contribution you are able to send will be small in comparison to what Mrs. Clinton will cost you and our nation if she is elected to the United States Senate.

Not only was she at the center of the most disturbing scandals of the Clinton-Gore Administration. But she will quickly use her seat in the Senate to revive her Socialized Medicine Plan (which will place another one-seventh of the entire U.S. economy under government control).

And she will immediately replace Ted Kennedy as the #1 advocate in the Senate for every ultra-left cause you can imagine.

More ominously, if she wins and Al Gore loses, Hillary Clinton will become the instant front-runner for the Democratic Party's Presidential nomination in 2004. In other words, if we fail to stop Hillary now, it will be much harder to stop her later.

Rudy Giuliani's stunning decision to quit the New York Senate race has given Mrs. Clinton an enormous head-start over Rick Lazio, her Republican opponent.

Mrs. Clinton is well on her way to raising $35,000,000 for her campaign. Congressman Lazio cannot possibly close this gap by himself. That's why a number of leading conservatives made the decision to form this emergency committee.

As Morton explains in his letter, this committee will be an "Independent

21-04-405-0627

Expenditure." As an "Independent Expenditure," this committee is not permitted to coordinate in any way with Congressman Lazio's campaign or any party committee.

But the big advantage of an "Independent Expenditure" campaign is that there is no limit on what this committee can spend to defeat Hillary Clinton.

But this committee can only succeed with your help.

As you'd expect, the pro-Clinton media is not asking her many tough questions about her role in the major scandals of the Clinton White House. Instead, the media now devotes much of its energy attacking Congressman Lazio.

Nor can Congressman Lazio fight back, because the media and Clinton campaign will then immediately accuse him of "negative campaigning."

Without the ads and "voter mail" being funded by this "Independent Expenditure," the key voters of New York state will never hear the case against Mrs. Clinton. That's why your support for this "Independent Expenditure" campaign is so important.

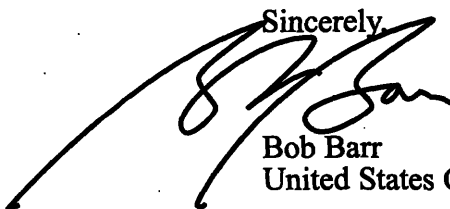

New York State is one of the most expensive media markets in America. It costs about $1,000,000 to broadcast one week's worth of television and radio ads statewide.

And it will cost about $4,000,000 to reach the key "swing" voters in New York State with mailings chronicling Mrs. Clinton's record and ultra-liberal political agenda.

Morton has put together a very well-thought out plan to reach every voter in New York state with the facts on Mrs. Clinton. The only way he can fund this campaign is with your help.

I hope you'll make a special point to rush this Emergency Committee to STOP HILLARY NOW your best contribution today.

Sincerely,

Bob Barr
United States Congressman

P.S. Make no mistake, Hillary Clinton's campaign for the Senate is a referendum on the continuation of Clintonism in America. In fact, America is being market-tested for a Hillary Clinton Presidency right now.

So before it's too late, please say "NO" to a continuation of Clintonism by sending your best donation today. Thank you for your immediate attention to this matter of urgent importance.

Dear Mr. Blackwell,

I thank you, Edwin Meese, Lyn Nofziger, Congressman Ernest Istook, Ambassador Alan Keyes, Congressman Bob Dornan and other leading conservatives for forming this Emergency Committee to Stop Hillary Rodham Clinton.

If she wins, I also agree she will use her Senate seat as a launching pad to run for President at the first opportunity. So we must stop her now.

I can see that Rudy Giuliani's sudden decision to quit the New York Senate race gives Mrs. Clinton an enormous head-start over her Republican opponent, Congressman Rick Lazio, and that Mrs. Clinton will likely have a free-ride into the Senate unless conservatives immediately rally to stop her.

I also like the fact that you have set up your committee as an "Independent Expenditure" because this means there is no limit on what you can raise and spend to stop Hillary Clinton.

Most important, I understand that, as an "Independent Expenditure," you are free to run tough, hard-hitting, well-documented ads against Hillary Clinton (which the official Lazio Campaign can't run without being accused of "negative" campaigning).

Therefore, you can count on me to do my part to help raise $9,000,000 for advertisements, mailings and a phone bank campaign aimed at telling every New York voter about Hillary Clinton's record of scandal, corruption and ultra-left politics. I am rushing you my best contribution in the amount of:

☐ $15      ☐ $20      ☒ $26      ☐ $50      ☐ $100
☐ $250      ☐ $500      ☐ $1,000      ☐ Other Amount $ _____

With this average contribution, we can fully fund
this campaign!

Please write your contribution check to: Stop Hillary Now!

Dear Conservative Friend,

We have formed an Emergency Committee to defeat Al Gore. And I am writing to ask for your help.

The mission of this Emergency Committee is to:

- 1) remind millions of undecided voters (mostly independents and conservative Democrats) in 20 key "battleground" swing states about Al Gore's role in the major scandals of the Clinton-Gore White House; and...
- 2) deploy our enormous phone bank, direct mail, and E-mail program to ensure maximum turnout of anti-Gore-leaning voters on Election Day in these 20 "battleground" states.

The key swing states we are targeting include: Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, New Jersey, New Mexico, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

We are targeting only these 20 states because these are the all-important "battleground" states -- where a tight election will either be won or lost this year.

The reason we formed this Emergency Committee is that George W. Bush and the Republican Party cannot talk clearly and plainly about Al Gore's record of corruption and scandal without being accused of "negative campaigning"... but we can, and we are.

Please let me know if I can count you as the newest "Founding Member" of this Emergency Committee by completing the enclosed reply and mailing it to me today along with your donation to support this emergency effort.

But before I explain further, please let me introduce

CONSERVATIVE LEADERSHIP POLITICAL ACTION COMMITTEE
PO Box 97150 • Washington, DC 20090-7150

myself.

My name is Lyn Nofziger.

I served with Ronald Reagan when he was Governor of California and when he was President of the United States. I was also one of his senior political strategists.

This Emergency Committee is a project of the CONSERVATIVE LEADERSHIP POLITICAL ACTION COMMITTEE which was founded by my good friend Morton Blackwell in 1972.

When Morton asked me to spearhead CLPAC's campaign to defeat Al Gore, I immediately said "yes."

I am told that, like me, you are no fan of Al-Gore or the Clintons.

I am writing to ask if you will join our Committee and help fund this $8,500,000 "Stop Gore" campaign in 20 key "battleground" states by immediately sending a contribution of $15, $25, $50, $100, $500 or more. If we can fully-fund this campaign, our strategy includes ...

1) Voter Identification.

We will use registered voter lists, sophisticated computer models, mailings, and our state-of-the-art phone bank system to identify our target voters in the 20 "battleground" states.

We will then use this list to bombard these voters with mailings and phone calls outlining the central role Al Gore played in the most serious Clinton-Gore scandals.

In addition, we will identify anti-Gore leaning voters for our "get-out-the-vote" phone calls which we'll deploy in the final days leading up to Election Day.

2) Voter Mail.

The most effective and time-tested method to reach your target audience is with direct mail.

We will use direct mail to reach millions of undecided voters in these 20 "battleground" states with our tough, hard-hitting mailings outlining Al Gore's record of corruption.

And we will use direct mail to help make sure the anti-Gore vote turns out on Election Day.

3) State-of-the-Art Phone Bank.

We will use our phone bank to ensure maximum turnout of the anti-

Gore leaning vote in the 20 "battleground" states.

Our callers will remind each voter to vote on November 7th.

4) Internet E-Mail Campaign.

The most cost-effective way to communicate with voters is through E-mail because there are no postage or printing costs.

We will undertake a massive effort to collect E-mail addresses for voters in the "battleground" states for this "Stop Gore" Campaign.

In all, we aim to reach 13,000,000 registered voters in these 20 "battleground" states with our voter mailings, phone bank and E-mail campaign.

If we don't fully fund this campaign, we'll still do everything we can with the money we do raise.

5) Why we are conducting this as an "Independent Expenditure."

We have made the decision to set up our Committee as an "Independent Expenditure." Here's why ...

Under the election laws, an "Independent Expenditure" is not permitted to coordinate in any way with a candidate's campaign.

In exchange for this restriction, there is no limit on what we can spend to defeat Al Gore.

As an "Independent Expenditure" we can be much tougher with our ads and "voter communications" programs than George W. Bush.

For example, Al Gore's role in the "Chinagate" scandal will be a major focus of our voter mailings, phone calls and E-mails.

"Chinagate" involves the Communist Chinese pouring an avalanche of dollars into the 1996 Clinton-Gore re-election effort ... and the Clinton-Gore White House permitting the wholesale transfer of America's nuclear missile technology to China.

The Bush campaign and Republican Party are not going to talk much at all about "Chinagate" in this election. They see the "Chinagate" issue as just too explosive and too risky to bring up.

So it will be up to us to tell voters about "Chinagate."

Under the Federal Election laws, the maximum contribution you can send to help fund this effort is $1,000.

A few of those I am writing to will be able to contribute the maximum $1,000 amount. But most donations I expect in reply to my letter are likely to be in the $25, $50 and $100 range.

What's crucial is that you make a special point to send a contribution in some amount, whatever you can manage, if we're to raise the $8,500,000 we need to make sure George W. Bush carries Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, New Jersey, New Mexico, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

If Bush wins these states, he'll win the election.

I am mailing this letter to carefully selected, politically active conservatives who have made contributions to conservative causes and candidates in the past.

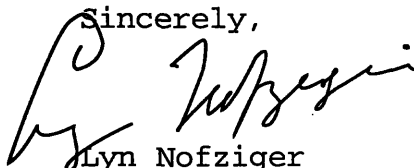

If every conservative I am writing answers my letter, it will take an average contribution of just $26 to raise $8,500,000 for our campaign to defeat Al Gore.

Perhaps you are in a position to give $50, $100 or even more to help make up for those who are unable to send the $26 average contribution I'm asking for.

On the other hand, maybe you aren't able to send the $26 average amount we need, but can send $15 or $20. Whatever amount you can send will be a great help.

Please answer my letter today. Time is of the essence. I will anxiously wait to hear from you in the next few days.

Sincerely,

Lyn Nofziger

Former Press Secretary and Senior Staff Assistant to President Reagan

P.S. George W. Bush and the Republican Party cannot talk forcefully about Al Gore's record of corruption without being accused of "negative campaigning." That's why CLPAC has launched this $8,500,000 "Independent Expenditure" campaign to remind 13,000,000 undecided voters in 20 key "battleground" states about Al Gore's central role in the most serious Clinton-Gore scandals.

But the only way we can fund this campaign is with your help and support from many others who want to restore honor and dignity to the Presidency. Please use the enclosed reply envelope to send your best donation today. Thank you so much for immediately answering this emergency appeal. Please help.

BATTLE PLAN TO DEFEAT AL GORE

PROJECTED BUDGET

The Bush campaign and the Republican Party cannot tell the full truth about Al Gore's role in the most serious Clinton-Gore scandals without being accused of "negative" campaigning by the pro-Gore liberal media. That's why we've launched this "Independent Expenditure" Campaign.

The major focus of our mailings, phone calls and direct communications programs with swing voters in 20 key "battleground" states will be to . . .

- 1) tell undecided voters about Al Gore's central role in the "Chinagate" scandal -- in which America's nuclear missile technology was sold to Communist China, apparently in exchange for millions of dollars in contributions to the 1996 Clinton-Gore re-election effort;
- 2) remind voters repeatedly about Al Gore's disgraceful speech in front of the White House following President Clinton's Impeachment when he called Clinton one of America's "greatest Presidents."
- 3) deploy our enormous targeted mail, phone and E-mail program to ensure maximum possible turnout of the anti-Gore vote on Election Day.

The only way we can fund this campaign is with your help and support from many others who want to restore honor and dignity to the Presidency.

Your contribution will be used to help pay for:

1) Voter Identification .....$2,280,000

We are using registered voter lists, sophisticated computer models, mailings with surveys, and our state-of-the-art phone bank system to identify undecided swing voters in the 20 "battleground" states. We are then using this list to bombard these voters with mailings, phone calls and E-mails outlining the central role Al Gore played in the most serious Clinton-Gore scandals. In addition, we are identifying anti-Gore leaning voters for our "get-out-the-vote" phone calls in the final days leading up to the election.

(Over, please)

2) Massive Voter Mail .....$3,300,000

The most effective way to reach a target audience is still with old fashioned direct mail. We are using direct mail to reach millions of undecided voters in the 20 "battleground" states with our tough, hard-hitting mailings outlining Al Gore's record of corruption. And we will use direct mail to help make sure the anti-Gore vote turns out on Election Day.

3) Get Out the Anti-Gore Vote Phone Bank .....$2,520,000

We will use our state-of-the art phone bank to ensure maximum turnout of the anti-Gore-leaning vote in the 20 "battleground" states.

4) Internet E-Mail Campaign .....$430,000

The most cost-effective way to communicate with voters is through E-mail because there are no postage or printing costs. We are undertaking a massive effort to collect E-mail addresses for voters in the 20 "battleground" states for this enormous "Stop Gore" Campaign.

TOTAL PROJECTED BUDGET .....$8,530,000

We made the decision to set up this Committee as an "Independent Expenditure" so that we would not be limited by Federal election law on what we can spend to defeat Al Gore.

As an "Independent Expenditure" we are prevented by Federal election law from coordinating in any way with the Bush campaign. But this allows us to be much tougher than the Bush Campaign with our "voter communications" programs.

**The only way we can fund this campaign is with your help, and help from many other conservatives who share your desire to end the Clinton-Gore era of corruption and restore honor to the Presidency.*

GOP axes TV ad of Gore vouching for honest Bill

By BRIAN BLOMQUIST
Post Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Republicans have dropped a TV attack ad that showed Al Gore defending President Clinton's honesty, fearing it would be viewed as a cheap shot about Monica Lewinsky, sources said yesterday.

The ad was killed during a late-night conference call Wednesday involving top officials from the George W. Bush campaign and the Republican National Committee, which was set to run the ad in several states as soon as today. One GOP official said the inclination to go negative on Gore reveals a degree of panic by the Republicans as they watch their candidate trailing Gore for the first time in national polls.

But the official said the decision to nix the ad was a no-brainer. "It's an old interview. People would have been confused about when it took place and what it referred to," the Republican said.

A senior Bush adviser said, "It'll never see the light of day."

The ad showed a TV on a table with NBC reporter Lisa Myers asking Gore, "Can you say that neither you nor President Clinton has told a lie in your political career?" to which Gore responded, "None spring to mind."

That was followed by Myers saying, "And President Clinton has not uttered a single untruth in the last two years?"

Gore, "Not that I have heard, absolutely not."

What the ad didn't say was that the interview took place in 1994, two years before the funny-money controversy and four years before the Sexgate scandal broke.

A top GOP official said the decision to nix this particular ad doesn't mean Gore won't face future attack ads.

Stephen Hess, a political analyst at the Brookings Institution, said, "I think the Gore people would have jumped all over them and rightly so. The ad would have been the first really major foot fault on the Bush campaign."

Republicans Pull Unaired Ad Attacking Gore

By HOWARD KURTZ
Washington Post Staff Writer

The Republican National Committee, in a last-minute reversal, yesterday withdrew a harsh television ad that attacked Vice President Gore by using misleading excerpts from a six-year-old interview.

Bowing to objections from George W. Bush's campaign and Bush advisers at the last minute, the committee took the rare step of 350 television stations. The ads were to begin airing today.

The spot shows a stammering Gore maintaining that President Clinton has never told a lie. Although the ad seems to suggest that Gore is deliberately overlooking Clinton's repeated statements denying his relationship with Monica S. Lewinsky, the footage in the ad actually comes from a Gore interview conducted in 1994, well before the president had even met Lewinsky.

The tag line is a version of the refrain—used often by the Bush campaign—that "Al Gore will say anything to get elected."

The ad is revealing because it was produced at a time when Bush is insisting that the presidential campaign should be about policy differences and not personal attacks. The Texas governor regularly vows to restore "honor and dignity" to the White House, but insists that he is not trying to tie the vice president to the scandal that led to

On eve of broadcast, ad questioning Gore is withdrawn

August 24, 2000

By Ron Fournier
Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Republican Party abruptly dropped plans yesterday to air a television ad questioning the veracity of Vice President Gore and President Clinton, fearing a backlash if moderate and independent voters viewed the ad as a reference to the Monica Lewinsky scandal.

Bush advisers in Austin, Texas, and in the Republican National Committee also said that the ad used an outdated Gore interview and conflicted with Bush's promise to soften the tone of U.S. politics, according to several senior Republicans familiar with the ad strategy. They said the ad had been shipped to stations in several states for broadcast as early as today. However, a senior adviser to the Texas governor said, "It'll never see the light of day."

The official spoke on condition of anonymity. The ad featured a television sitting on a kitchen table broadcasting a Nov. 6, 1994, television interview with Gore. Amid several questions about allegations that Oliver North lied to Congress, Gore was asked, "Can you say that neither you nor President Clinton has told a lie in your political career?" Gore: "None spring to mind." Question: "And President Clinton has not uttered a single untruth in the last two years?" Gore: "Not that I have heard, absolutely not."

The ad did not mention the year of the interview or the context of the questions. In an eleventh-hour meeting yesterday, the ad drew objections from senior officials in the Bush campaign, the Republican National Committee, and Victory 2000, the Bush-controlled wing of the RNC. Officials in all three camps said they argued that the ad, without a disclaimer, took the interview out of context. Two high-ranking Bush allies said they did not know until yesterday that it was six years old, predating the Lewinsky scandal. Opponents of the ad argued internally that Gore's credibility would be a major campaign issue, but they said that GOP attacks should be tied to issues, such as Gore's shifts on gun control and Social Security. Results of a focus group convinced senior Republicans that the ad "was not the most effective" of the GOP's large arsenal of anti-Gore ads, said two officials who reviewed the test results.

Here is Al Gore accepting a gift from Master Hsing Yun at the Hsi Lai Temple in April of 1996.

It was later revealed that Gore's infamous Buddhist Temple fundraising event was in reality a money-laundering scheme for illegal Communist Chinese money being funneled into the 1996 Clinton-Gore re-election effort ... at the same time the Clinton-Gore White House was permitting the wholesale transfer of America's nuclear missile technology to China.

With your help, we aim to make sure 13,000,000 swing voters in the 20 key "battleground" states clearly understand Al Gore's central role in the major scandals of the Clinton-Gore White House.

Dear Lyn,

I agree that the Bush campaign will not talk about "Chinagate" and Al Gore's role in the major Clinton-Gore scandals because the pro-Gore media will then accuse Governor Bush of "negative campaigning."

I also agree that the only way voters will clearly remember Al Gore's record of corruption is with a major "Independent Expenditure" campaign like the one you've described in your letter.

I like the fact that you are targeting 13,000,000 voters in the 20 key "battleground" states of Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, New Jersey, New Mexico, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin . . . because these are the all-important "battleground" states where this election will either be won or lost.

I also like the fact that you have set up your Committee as an "Independent Expenditure" because this means there is no limit on what you can raise and spend to defeat Al Gore. ** The AFL-CIO, at the mid-Winter conference in Miami Beach, pledged to spend $46,000,000.00 to defeat the House Managers.

** Hollywood movie moguls Steven Spielberg and David Geffen are raising millions of dollars from their Hollywood liberal friends to defeat Congressman James Rogan because of his role as a House Manager in the Impeachment Trial. (Geffen reportedly plans to spend $12,000,000.00 of his own money to defeat Rogan!)

** The Democratic Campaign Committees will spend millions more to unseat the House Managers.

Just from this list alone, I estimate that the Democrats are preparing to spend more than $60,000,000.00 to target the House Managers for retribution on behalf of President Clinton.

Some of us are now in the fight of our lives, which is why I'm writing to seek your help.

Specifically, I am writing to ask if you will please ...

1) Sign the enclosed "Pledge of Support" for the 13 House Managers of the Impeachment Trial.

2) Join with me as a "Founding Member" of the official House Managers Political Action Committee by sending a contribution today.

The House Managers PAC is the only authorized political committee of the House Managers.

- 3) Use the special reply envelope I've enclosed to send me your signed "Pledge of Support" and whatever contribution you can to help the House Managers survive Bill Clinton's "Campaign of Revenge."

Under federal election law, the maximum contribution anyone can send a political action committee is $5,000.

Of course, I realize most people to whom I am writing will not be able to send the maximum amount allowed under the law.

But I know all the House Managers will be very thankful for whatever amount you can send -- whether $5,000, $1,000, $500, $250, $100, $50, $25 or even just $15.

What's crucial is that you send support for the House Managers in some amount right now.

Your generous gift will be used to support the reelection of all House Managers as well as other members of Congress who are under attack by the Clinton-Gore White House and Democrats for supporting the "rule of law."

And please send your donation immediately, before you put my letter aside ... because time is of the essence.

With the $60,000,000.00 they're spending, the Democrats are capable of buying virtually all available broadcast advertising space for their attack ads in our districts.

This means the House Managers must start buying TV and radio ads right now, before all available ad space is bought by the Democrats. Meanwhile, the House Managers must also contend with a daily onslaught of biased news stories from the liberal media.

If the House Managers who are in most danger fail to buy enough campaign advertising because of lack of funds, the voters will hear only one side of the story from the Democrats and the liberal media and will likely lose their seats.

And remember, the Democrats can retake control of the House with a switch of just six seats.

What a devastating defeat this would be for the "rule of law" and honest government in America if this "Campaign of Revenge" by Bill Clinton and his fellow Democrats succeeds!

THIS IS IMPORTANT: As you know, advertising is very costly. And the only way the House Managers can pay for our campaign ads to counter the Democrat assault against us, is with voluntary contributions from Americans like you who share our love for this great nation.

So it's critical that you send any donation you can today.

I was especially proud of James Rogan for agreeing to be a House Manager because I knew this would put him in grave danger of losing his congressional seat this year.

Congressman Rogan's district is heavily Democrat. He is facing a very well-funded liberal Democrat challenger.

And Hollywood liberals, led by Steven Spielberg and David Geffen, are raising millions of dollars to defeat Congressman Rogan.

I am also a major target of the Clinton-Gore "Revenge Machine."

My Democrat opponent is a multi-millionaire who is bombarding my Georgia district with attack ads on TV and radio.

House Manager, and my good friend, Congressman Chris Cannon is also being heavily outspent by his liberal Democrat opponent.

The truth is, James Rogan, Chris Cannon and I cannot survive this liberal assault without your support ... and support from many other Americans who care about preserving "the rule of law" in America.

I am counting on you to rush the House Managers PAC an immediate contribution of $20, $30, $50, $100, $500, or even $1,000 to help save those House Managers (like James Rogan, Chris Cannon and me) who are in grave danger of losing re-election.

If we can raise the funds, our House Managers PAC will also help other endangered members of Congress who are under attack by the Clinton-Gore White House because they voted for President Clinton's Impeachment and supported the "rule of law."

For those who are in a position to send even more, the maximum contribution allowed by federal election law is $5,000.

I don't want you to contribute more than you can comfortably manage. But please try to send some amount; whatever contribution is right for you.

If you will rush the House Managers PAC a contribution of support today of at least $20, you will receive ...

- ** A "Certificate of Appreciation" with your name prominently displayed signed by all 13 House Managers.
- ** An invitation to a post-election reception in Washington, D.C. hosted by the House Managers.
- ** Regular news and Election 2000 updates from the House Managers via e-mail or fax (whichever you prefer).
- ** The Official House Managers PAC Membership Card with your name embossed in gold lettering identifying you as a "Founding Member" of the Committee and a defender of "the rule of law."

(Over, please)

21-04-485-0647

But the most important benefit you will receive by supporting me and the other House Managers is the knowledge that you are taking a stand for the principle that ...

"NO ONE -- NOT EVEN THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES -- IS ABOVE THE LAW."

So please try to send your contribution today before you put my letter aside and go on to something else.

Whatever you can manage to send will help enormously in ensuring that all House Managers survive the $60,000,000.00 assault that's being thrown at them by the Democrats and President Clinton's "Campaign of Revenge and Retribution."

I'm counting on your help. I will anxiously wait for your answer to my letter to arrive in the next few days.

Sincerely,

Congressman Bob Barr
Member, House Judiciary Committee

P.S. Your immediate contribution will help ensure the re-election of all the House Managers.

The Democrats, the Big Labor Unions and liberal special interests will spend an estimated $60 million to defeat as many of the House Managers as possible on November 7th. The Democrats and the Clintons see the defeat of the House Managers as the key to vindicating President Clinton for his Impeachment by the House.

As a result of this massive assault, some of the House Managers (including me) are in the fight of our lives and could easily lose our seats in Congress if we don't receive immediate support from patriots like you who support "the rule of law" and honest government.

By using the special reply envelope I've enclosed, you can be sure your contribution and signed "Pledge of Support" for me and the other House Managers will reach me in about two days. I will then immediately add your name as a "Founding Member" of the official House Managers Political Action Committee. Our need for your help is urgent. Thank you so much for answering my letter today!

Mr. Spataro,
Please answer my letter immediately if at all possible. Thank you so much for your urgently needed support!

Bob Barr

Dear Congressman Barr,

Thank you for alerting me to the fact that the Democrats are planning to spend at least $60,000,000.00 to defeat as many House Managers as possible on November 7th ... so they can claim vindication for President Clinton over his Impeachment in the House.

I realize that some of the House Managers (including you) are in the fight of your lives and that you urgently need support from Americans like me who care about preserving the "the rule of law" -- the corner-stone principle that protects our freedoms and made America great.

I want to do my part to help counter the massive "Campaign of Revenge and Retribution" being thrown at the House Managers right now by the Democrats ... and I want to help re-elect all House Managers on November 7th.

I am enclosing my best contribution of:

☐ $20    ☐ $30    ☐ $50    ☐ $100
☐ $250    ☐ $500    ☐ $1,000    ☐ Other Amount $ _____

The ACLU Finally Meets Its Match

Legal Group Founded by James Dobson, Larry Burkett, Bill Bright, and Other Christian Leaders Emerges as a Major Contender in Contest over Values

The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled on 22 major cases supported in various ways by the Alliance Defense Fund.

For nearly a generation, Christians have taken a beating in America's legal system. From the Supreme Court's 1963 ruling that effectively banned public prayer in schools to its landmark Roe v. Wade decision that legalized abortion, Christians have seen society and its laws move sharply away from any basis in biblical principles.

From the beginning, the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) has led the drive to use court rulings to limit Christian influence in American public life.

It hasn't hurt that the ACLU has been aided by Hollywood, the mainstream media, and most recently, the Clinton White House.

Where were the Christians while their rights were being taken away?

For years, they barely showed up for the battle. When the ACLU would file a suit to curb religious freedom or break some moral taboo, Christians rarely mounted a competent and effective legal challenge. As a result, we lost. Repeatedly.

In 1994, that picture began to change. Top evangelical Christian leaders Bill Bright, Larry Burkett, James Dobson, D. James Kennedy, Marlin Maddoux, and Don Wildmon gathered to discuss their grave concerns over the loss of religious liberty and slipping moral standards due to negative court precedents over the preceding 30 years. They were convinced that if the trend continued, it might actually become illegal for Christians to evangelize and freely exercise their faith in America.

These leaders determined it was time for their ministries to pool their resources to begin vigorously asserting the constitutional rights of Christians.

The Alliance Defense Fund (ADF) was formed to stand against the ACLU in three critical areas: religious freedom, the sanctity of human life, and family values.

When asked why he supported the concept of ADF, Larry Burkett, president of Christian Financial Concepts, stated, "The legal attacks on our religious freedom are escalating at an alarming rate. Through ADF, we can unite, pool resources, and help defend our rights."

Alan Sears, ADF's president and general counsel, explains, "We weren't formed to duplicate the work of any other group. ADF's founders wanted to provide the muscle behind these groups by developing an effective strategy, carefully selecting cases that would have the greatest long-term impact, and equipping and supporting the attorneys fighting the frontline battles in court."

He continues, "Our goal is to establish new legal precedents to reclaim the ground Christians have lost to groups like the ACLU."

It was a sensible plan. As ADF founder D. James Kennedy says, "Through ADF's crucial work, we have a fighting chance to preserve America's true heritage and value system."

But in 1994, few expected that ADF would have an immediate and noticeable impact. In fact, the founders anticipated years of painstaking work and some setbacks before being able to slow the ACLU juggernaut, much less stop or reverse it.

But that's not how the story has played out. In fact, ADF's presence on the legal scene began to be felt almost immediately as ADF-backed attorneys became involved in one court victory after another.

The most notable was the U.S. Supreme Court ruling in the case of Rosenberger v. the University of Virginia.

Ron Rosenberger was a junior at the University of Virginia. A committed Christian, Rosenberger was concerned that none of the 15 student-run publications on campus offered a forum for Christian expression.

So he and some of his schoolmates decided to publish their own publication, and they applied for student activity funds.

It seemed only fair because 118 other student groups—including Students for Animal Rights, the Lesbian and Gay Student Union, and the Muslim Students Association—already received school funding.

Yet Rosenberger's request for funding was denied because his group was Christian.

When he appealed to the university, Rosenberger was told that his magazine "went

"I truly believe we are fighting for the very survival of the Gospel and of evangelism in America today."

Bill Bright

over the line in saying 'we want people to live as Christians.' " It was an interesting double standard because another student-funded publication, called the Yellow Journal, openly mocked Christianity in its pages.

Rosenberger decided to take his case to court. A group of volunteer lawyers, some of America's brightest, took his case.

Nonetheless, the judge ruled for the university on the grounds that funding the magazine would violate the Establishment

Clause of the U.S. Constitution. After appealing the decision to the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals, the trial court ruling was affirmed.

Enter ADF. Rosenberger's lawyers applied to the Alliance Defense Fund for a grant to appeal the case to the U.S. Supreme Court.

ADF has stringent standards for granting awards and a crack team of attorneys who review each case on its merits. Grants are only awarded for those cases that have the potential to establish an important new legal precedent. The Rosenberger case met every criteria. The grant was awarded.

The U.S. Supreme Court agreed to hear the ADF-funded arguments and ruled 5-4 in favor of the Christian students.

Writing for the majority, Justice Anthony Kennedy reasoned, "Vital First Amendment speech principles are at stake here. [W]e hold that the regulation invoked to deny [student fund] support, both in its terms and in its application to these [Christian students], is a denial of their right of free speech guaranteed by the First Amendment."

It was a stunning victory that put the ACLU and other liberal legal groups on notice: There's a new player on the block that can win.

Alan Sears says, "Rosenberger not only set a precedent others could build on in similar cases but also established the ADF alliance as a major force in the battle over religious liberty and traditional values."

Sears, who was a top federal prosecutor with the U.S. Department of Justice before joining ADF, knows the odds against an upstart legal group having a major national impact—much less having the Supreme Court hear cases it helps fund.

"The legal attacks on our religious freedom are escalating at an alarming rate. Through ADF, we can unite, pool resources, and help defend our rights."

Larry Burkett

"In a typical year, there can be more than 7,000 petitions to the U.S. Supreme Court," Sears explains. "Usually fewer than 150 are accepted for full review. That makes the odds of having a case heard about 46:1, to say nothing of winning."

"I urge every Christian to stand with me in support of ADF's critical case-funding work. Already, ADF is having a powerful impact in the nation's courts."

Dr. James Dobson

And yet, since 1994, the Alliance Defense Fund has supported in various ways 22 Supreme Court cases. Remarkably, the court's action in 16 of those cases resulted in victories for religious freedom, family values, or the sanctity of life.

At the same time, ADF has been involved in nearly 130 precedent-setting lower court victories.

Each of these rulings becomes an important part of case law that is used by attorneys in arguing future, similar cases. The more positive rulings in the areas of ADF's concern, the better.

"Each new favorable ruling is like a brick," explains Sears. "One by one you put them in place. Over the years we hope to erect a wall of precedent that can't easily be breached by those who oppose Christian values."

It's the same strategic approach, but with far different objectives, used by the ACLU to wall off Christian influence from society. For ADF, it's a strategy that's working.

But the effect of ADF's work is also felt outside the courtroom. New, hard-won precedents are being used to stop the violation of Christians' rights without resorting to costly litigation.

For example, a group of homosexuals in Florida planned to force its way into a parade sponsored by a group of Christian ministers.

The pastors pointed out that the Supreme Court's 9-0 decision in an ADF-backed case, Hurley v. Irish-American Gay, Lesbian, and Bisexual Group of Boston, prohibited forced speech and expression in the private arena. The homosexuals, aware that they would lose in court, backed off, and the Christians' parade went forward undisturbed.

"Without the Hurley precedent," says Sears, "those Christians in Florida either would have had to let the homosexuals in or cancel their parade. Had that happened, homosexual activists would have been emboldened to shut down any public gathering of Christians they wanted across the country."

Despite impressive victories like Rosenberger and Hurley, however, Sears is concerned about the future.

"There are some major threats to the family that aren't going away soon," says Sears. "In fact, they're likely to get worse. We've got a lot of work to do."

He refers to efforts by homosexual activists to use the courts and legal precedent to redefine the family in their pursuit of legalized same-sex "marriage" and other special privileges.

"If the homosexuals achieve their goals, you and I won't recognize America," explains Sears. "The homosexual agenda affects every area of ADF's mission—religious freedom, family values, and the sanctity of life. That's why ADF is committed to fighting it tooth and nail."

ADF has already funded 42 family redefinition cases and held a National Litigation Academy, Defining the American Family and Its Legal Future.

More than 40 Christian attorneys received advanced legal training that they can use in the courtroom to defeat homosexual activists who want to redefine and destroy the family.

"ADF has proven it has the right strategy to attack this problem," says Sears. "What we need are more financial resources to wage a successful fight against the homosexual agenda. I hope that as Christians hear about ADF and recognize the strategic importance of our work, they will give to help us. The future of our country and our freedoms as Christians are at stake."

Sears pauses before adding, "These battles will be waged in the nation's courts whether or not Christians show up to fight. We lost by default for 30 years. Now, with ADF on the scene, it is our goal not to let that happen again."

ADF was established as a nonprofit organization funded entirely by the tax-deductible contributions of people who share the vision of ADF's founders.

It also established a firm no-debt policy. ADF only financially backs new cases and invests in training and strategic planning as funds are available. And according to Sears, more funds are urgently needed—especially to fight the rapidly escalating homosexual threat in courtrooms across the country.

An Urgent Message from ADF President Alan Sears

Dear Friend,

Radical homosexual activists are busy in the legislatures and are filing dozens of lawsuits across America to obtain custody of children, to gain the legal right to "marry," and to redefine the legal definition of a family. Furthermore, homosexuals want to deny your right as a Christian to oppose their outrageous legal agenda.

The Alliance Defense Fund urgently needs your help to fund Christian attorneys who will go into court and successfully defeat attempts to change the law not only to legalize homosexual acts, but to grant special privileges.

Please join with James Dobson, D. James Kennedy, Larry Burkett, and our other founders in support of ADF. Send your gift today to help ADF fight, in love, for family values, religious freedom, and the sanctity of life. Thank you.

AT CON BRIO at Lincoln Center

Five nights of great music, excellent company and an open bar for the thirty-something crowd.

First, you're sitting in Alice Tully Hall, listening to some of the finest classical music ever written, played by some of the finest musicians of our time.

Then, next thing you know, you're upstairs partying in the Stanley H. Kaplan Penthouse, looking out over the Hudson, experiencing jazz, latin, swing.

Welcome to Con Brio.

Three concerts, each followed by a post-concert party. Plus two private sneak preview evenings of major musical events. Con Brio means with spirit Which, in the case of these five events, just about says it all.

U.S. CONGRESSMAN

Dear Mr. Spataro

If you want to help defeat Hillary Clinton, I urgently need you to send an emergency media fund contribution of $1,000, $500 or $250.

Since I last wrote to you, our U.S. Senate campaign has grown more intense.

Mrs. Clinton and her allies are launching daily attacks designed to distort my record of accomplishment and scare voters. Even liberal newspapers like the New York Times and Washington Post have commented on the unusually negative tactics Hillary Clinton is throwing at me.

Recent reports indicate Hillary has again tapped into taxpayer-financed help from the White House to fuel her negative campaign. According to these reports, Mrs. Clinton has used U.S. Air Force jets, the presidential retreat at Camp David, and even the White House itself to wine and dine her fat cat supporters at taxpayer expense.

And the news media has revealed that President Clinton has instructed his staff to dig up any dirt they can find on me and turn it over to Hillary for use in debates and TV ads. The resources Hillary Clinton has at her disposal are vast, and she's focusing every asset on an all-out attack against me.

Which is why your contribution of $1,000, $500 or $250 to our emergency media fund is so vital. We must nearly double our planned media expenditures just to respond to Hillary's attacks!

Our last debate was a case study in how Mrs. Clinton is running an almost exclusively negative campaign to defeat me. She continually resorted to distortions of my voting record and lame attempts to portray me as a Newt Gingrich clone.

But it didn't work and it won't work - if I can count on your continued support.

Hillary has not been able to increase her support above a certain level in over one year of campaigning, and she knows her only chance to win is by tearing me down.

Yet, in spite of everything she is throwing at us, we are even in the polls and many voters are still undecided.

We can defeat Hillary Clinton, if we have enough funds to buy TV and radio ads to get out our message of lower taxes, less government bureaucracy, and improving education between now and the election and to respond to Mrs. Clinton's relentless attacks.

That's why your emergency media fund contribution is essential.

Hillary is running over $1,000,000 worth of advertising each week now. We don't need to match her dollar for dollar to win, but we do need to be competitive and to respond to the distortions her campaign churns out daily.

So please, take a moment right now to send your most generous contribution to my campaign in the enclosed envelope.

Time is running out. We cannot afford to "wait and see." We must keep this campaign running on all cylinders until the last vote is cast on November 7.

Thank you again for standing by me in this tough campaign. I am confident that together we will defeat Hillary and make a fresh start in Washington in November.

Sincerely,

Rick Lazio

P.S. With less than one month remaining, we have to pull out all the stops. Don't delay send your check today. Thank you!

Mr. Tery Spataro
462 West 51st Street Apt. 6
New York, NY 10019-6516

Dear Mr. Spataro:

You have probably been swamped with letters from me and others asking for your help in defeating Hillary Clinton this year.

I hope you haven't been inconvenienced by it. For my own part, I wish we didn't need to put so much time, energy and so many resources into financing campaigns.

Frankly, this unprecedented effort by so many like-minded groups reflects the importance of defeating Hillary Clinton for Senate.

And because this election will be over in less than four weeks, my letter today is more urgent than ever.

So I hope you will give me your special attention one more time, and send help immediately, if you can.

I'm not going to take more of your time reciting the litany of Clinton scandals, deceptions and distortions, or reminding you that we can end the Clinton era here and now.

After all these months you already know that virtually every ultra-liberal special interest and left-wing Hollywood star is backing Hillary Clinton.

(Over, please . . .)

21-04-405-0668

Just let me give a few simple reasons why I am asking for your help one more time, and why your contribution of $1,000, $500, $250, $100, $50 or $25 is so urgently needed today - even if you have contributed previously.

It really comes down to what direction you want America to take.

Do you want an America where bureaucrats control health care decisions and where central planners in Washington determine what your child or grandchild should and should not be taught in school?

Do you want an America where government programs continue to bloat because those in power in Washington never think government is big enough?

Do you want an America where arrogant politicians tax you more and more heavily because they believe they can make better decisions about how to spend your money than you can?

If Hillary Clinton wins this election, I am convinced we will have the kind of America I just described.

She trusts Washington bureaucrats and central planners. She believes the best solutions to most problems are government solutions. And she will never work to reduce the tax burden, because she won't say "no" to big government.

You know where I stand. I want to cut your taxes, trim the fat from the federal government, and improve education by giving more control to parents and teachers in their own schools.

With less than four weeks remaining before Election Day, this may be your last chance to make a difference and help defeat Hillary Clinton.

As a patriotic citizen and leader in your community, you've likely been contacted by dozens of organizations asking for your help in defeating Mrs. Clinton.

But now, with only days remaining before the votes are cast, you personally can have the greatest impact on the outcome of this race by giving your financial support directly to my campaign.

Our campaign will pour everything we've got into these last few weeks. I will be campaigning morning, noon and night. We will run TV and radio ads with every dollar we can muster. In short, we plan to cross the finish line with no fuel left in our tank.

So every dollar you send, whether it is $25, $50, $100, $500 or the $1,000 maximum allowed by law, will be put to use immediately.

We've come a long way since I officially entered the race last May. At that time, many "experts" thought I didn't stand a chance - a Long Island Congressman challenging the First Lady of the United States!

But we've proved them wrong. Our campaign has been highly effective and our message has struck a chord with the voters. This race is now too close to call.

(Over, please . . .)

That's why the Clintons and their special interest backers are worried. We can win, but I need your personal support right away. I may not have another chance to contact you before Election Day.

Now is the time when you can truly make a difference. Please help today.

Sincerely,

Rick Lazio

P.S. Mr. Spataro, this election is still extremely close, and, historically, the undecided voters, who will determine the outcome, don't make their choice until the last few days.

Our job between now and then is to persuade them to vote for me. Your financial contribution will be put directly to use for that purpose. Please send your contribution right away. Every day is crucial now. Thank you!

Big names, big bucks

Celebrity out-of-staters flood Hil with cash

Hillary Rodham Clinton answers questions during news conference in Buffalo yesterday.

By BOB PORT
DAILY NEWS STAFF WRITER

WASHINGTON — Most of the cash in Hillary Rodham Clinton's controversial soft-money account came from outside New York State, much of it in fat five-figure amounts.

A Daily News review of Clinton's soft-money fund showed that 195 donors gave at least $10,000.

Ten gave $50,000 or more.

The First Lady's soft-money donor roster reads like the A-list of the entertainment, arts, fashion, business and Internet worlds. It's a crowd not likely to be impressed with the Lincoln Bedroom, were it casually offered — as one giver said it sometimes is.

Clinton's soft-money treasury contained $3.1 million as of June 30, and her opponent, Rep. Rick Lazio, estimates it to be as high as $10 million.

The fund took center stage in the Senate race this week as Lazio challenged Clinton to abandon soft money if Lazio called off 14 groups that have aided his campaign.

The two sides are warily negotiating a deal.

In the meantime, the soft money continues to flow.

"When was the last time we ever had a First Lady running for office? It's unprecedented," said Louis DiNatale, an expert in politics at the McCormack Institute of the University of Massachusetts. "What if Eleanor Roosevelt had run for office? You would have seen all the glitterati on her contributor list."

The donor list is heavy with lawyers, real estate developers, investors and bankers, many of them living in the other 49 states and supplying two-thirds of Clinton's soft money. But it is the names from Hollywood, Wall Street and Madison Avenue that make the roster sparkle.

Clinton got soft money from TV producer Norman Lear and composer Quincy Jones, from abstract painters Robert Rauschenberg and Frank Stella and from fashion world movers Kenneth Cole, Oscar de la Renta, Ralph Lauren and Donna Karan.

How many Senate candidates have TV talk show hosts funneling them five-figure checks? Clinton has two. Jerry Springer and Rosie O'Donnell kicked in $10,000 each.

Springer, a former mayor of Cincinnati, said there's nothing wrong with his hefty contribution.

"All I can do as a citizen is to contribute to the candidate I support. Obviously, I can't get anything back by contributing but good government," he said.

Steven Spielberg gave $10,000, and his actress wife, Kate Capshaw-Spielberg, gave $21,000 to Clinton.

"She's a good friend of both Steven and Kate. They've known her for many years now and think she'd be a great senator," said Andy Spahn, an executive at Spielberg's Dreamworks Studios. Alan Horn, chief operating officer of Warner Bros. Studios in California, gave Clinton $25,000 in soft money. He said the entertainment industry is behind her because "she's an extremely capable, competent, classy, smart, experienced, well-traveled person."

"Some of these folks in the political arena're less impressive once you get to know them. She's more impressive once you get to know her," Horn said.

He said he and his wife have been invited to the Lincoln Bedroom, but they've never gone.

"I don't care if we did or not. It doesn't mean anything to me. I mean, puh-leez," Horn said.

Lear doesn't live in New York but figures, "there isn't a senator from any state that isn't my senator."

"I've felt all my life that they matter a great deal to me, no matter which state I live in," Lear said, citing the Senate's role in approving Supreme Court justices.

Experts said Clinton's status as First Lady clearly is helping her fund-raising.

It's not surprising to see the art, fashion and entertainment worlds donating big bucks, according to Ron Faucheux, editor of Campaigns and Elections magazine. "They're all people with a lot of money. They like being part of a political in-crowd. A lot of contributions are less ideological and less cynical than some people might think. They're more social than political," he said.

Mr. Tery Spataro
Apt. 6
462 W 51st Street
New York, NY 10019-6516

Dear Mr. Spataro,

What do Jerry Springer, Martha Stewart, James Carville, and Ted Danson have in common?

Here's a hint, Mr. Spataro: It's the same thing that Tom Cruise, Jimmy Buffett, John Ritter, and Carrie Fisher share.

They're all part of the out-of-state Hillary Clinton Fan Club that's pumped millions of non-New York dollars into the all-out effort to buy Mrs. Clinton a seat in the United States Senate.

Our seat!

Steven Spielberg and his wife Kate Capshaw-Spielberg have chipped in $20,000. Dreamworks colleagues Jeffrey and Marilyn Katzenberg added $20,000 of their own. Tom and Rita Hanks gave $15,000. Nicole Kidman and her husband Tom Cruise contributed $10,000 to Mrs. Clinton. Paul Newman and his wife Joanne Woodward gave $2,000.

The list of Hollywood money goes on and on and on.

Los Angeles' Aaron Spelling wrote his check for $2,000. Comedian Martin Short gave Mrs. Clinton $1,000. Malibu's Carroll O'Connor gave $2,000 and so did Diane Keaton. Actor Michael Douglas gave $2,000. Melanie Griffith was good for $1,000. And Torrance, California's entertainer Roger Clinton gave $1,000.

Looking over her campaign disclosure report, scores of contributions totaling tens of thousands of dollars come from what must be Mrs. Clinton's favorite zip code:

90210.

Mrs. Clinton's star-studded, celebrity saturated campaign finance report reveals a disturbing pattern. She's relying on out-of-state dollars to fund her New York Senate campaign whose sole purpose is to tear me down with distorted negative ads.

Of course, not all of Mrs. Clinton's campaign money comes from her systematic schmoozing of show biz folks.

Over, please . . .

Page Two

The kingpins of the liberal movement are in her corner, too. Clinton confidantes Leon Panetta, Massachusetts Senator Ted Kennedy, Lanny Davis, Donna Shalala, Robert Strauss, Eleanor Smeal, and Patricia Ireland are big contributors to Mrs. Clinton's campaign.

While Mrs. Clinton has been hobnobbing with the glitzy Hollywood Crowd and rubbing elbows with wheeler-dealers in the Democratic Party, I've been hard at work talking to everyday New Yorkers about their jobs, schools, lives, and futures.

She's never seen a Hollywood fundraising party she didn't love or an extravagant ultra-liberal program she didn't embrace.

But I believe in New Yorkers because I was born here, raised here, educated here, served in Congress from here, and my wife Pat and I send our children to school here.

Now it's time for real New Yorkers to band together and throw ourselves heart and soul into the final days of the campaign to defeat Mrs. Clinton's brazen Senate bid.

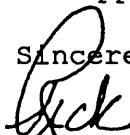

In the hope that you'll help me combat the massive onslaught of brutal negative ads, vicious personal attacks, and deliberate distortions of my proud record coming from Mrs. Clinton's campaign: please act quickly and decisively.

Your $500 check will exceed the amount that Beverly Hills actress Carrie Fisher gave to Mrs. Clinton. Your gift of $250 will match what LA actress Sally Field contributed to her.

Unlike Mrs. Clinton, I'm counting on the heartfelt checks of true New Yorkers for $25, $35, $50, or $100. The enclosed postage-paid envelope will speed your campaign gift, made payable to Lazio 2000, to our campaign headquarters . . . in New York.

Thank you in advance for your support.

Sincerely yours,

Rick Lazio

P.S. While Mrs. Clinton depends on her Hollywood friends to bankroll her campaign, I rely on your kind and generous help. The race is tied. Election Day is fast approaching. I need you now! We mustn't let Mrs. Clinton buy our Senate seat!

New York, NY 10019-6516

Dear Mr. Spataro,

Mrs. Clinton thought she could breeze into New York's Senate seat on the strength of her name, celebrity status, and political apparatus.

She began her campaign by chasing headlines with a phony "Exploratory Committee" followed by an equally disingenuous "Listening Tour." She flip-flopped on the issue of FALN terrorists and shrugged off her warm embrace of Mrs. Arafat. Lately she's dismissed any question of impropriety concerning overnight stays at the White House and Camp David visits used as trinkets to thank her major donors.

As her campaign and her poll numbers show no improvement, Mrs. Clinton reverts to the kind of campaign she's most comfortable with; a negative attack campaign with a constant drumbeat of criticism and trumped-up charges against her "enemies."

Just like her husband, you'll rarely hear Mrs. Clinton tell the unvarnished, unadulterated truth. In classic Clinton fashion, there's always an element of spin, hype, propaganda, and self-promotion in everything she does.

It's this dreary pattern of behavior that bothers New Yorkers the most about Mrs. Clinton.

Beneath the façade of compassion beats the heart of a liberal who believes that a mammoth and colossal federal government is the source of all wisdom and the answer to all problems.

While claiming to run a positive, issue-driven campaign, in reality Mrs. Clinton is scrambling to vacuum up Hollywood celebrity money . . . and using it to produce negative attack ads filled with distortions.

All of the commotion is designed to distract voters from asking the one question Mrs. Clinton fears most:

What has she done?

I've enclosed the "Review and Outlook" column from the Wall Street Journal because it summarizes better than I can the "hoax of accomplishment" Mrs. Clinton is hoping New York voters swallow.

Then I hope you'll go the extra mile and invest in my campaign because I'm convinced your help can make an instant and decisive difference.

Right now, the race between Mrs. Clinton and myself is a virtual tie, a dead heat, "too close to call."

There are two things we must do to tip the balance in our favor; first and foremost, correct the distortions and deception about me that Mrs. Clinton has deliberately inflicted on New Yorkers.

And secondly, we must spread the message from the Wall Street Journal editorial to all 62 New York counties and all eight million registered voters.

Both things require money.

It's your campaign contribution for $250, $500 or $1,000 that will fund the TV commercials, produce the radio spots, and get out our message that will set the record straight and carry us to victory.

You know the Clintons and what they're capable of. You know the Clinton's run shameless, opportunistic negative campaigns designed to trash their opponents and drive their "negatives" through the roof.

But you also know that you can have a big impact and make a dramatic statement by returning your personal check for $1,000 or whatever amount is right for you.

We can defeat Mrs. Clinton if we work together.

Sincerely yours,

Rick Lazio
Congressman

P.S. Will you send a check for $250, $500, or even $1,000, to help me counter the negative attacks Hillary Clinton is running against me? With your help, we can win this race. Please send your contribution today.

REVIEW &amp; OUTLOOK

What Has She Done?

Bill Clinton has always asked an awful lot of his followers and of his public—a lot of forgiveness, a lot of faith and a lot of forbearance. Now his wife has gone up the New Jersey turnpike, parked herself just outside the fat city of Manhattan campaign contributors and is asking the people of the state of New York to anoint her as the one who succeeds Daniel Patrick Moynihan into the U.S. Senate.

Chutzpah, to use a word heard in the Hillary Clinton-Rick Lazio debate Wednesday night, is nothing new in politics. But someone should ask: Just what has Hillary Clinton done to deserve this honor from the people of New York? Other than sheer celebrity, what qualification does she have to be a U.S. Senator? Mrs. Clinton cited "my 30 years of experience" and, ahem, "my last eight years in the White House."

Yes, by all means review those years and that experience. Where does one start?

Debate moderator Tim Russert started with Jan. 27, 1998, when Mrs. Clinton on the "Today" show blamed her husband's impeachment problems on a "vast right-wing conspiracy." Her denials of the Monica Lewinsky allegations recalled her 1992 appearance on "60 Minutes" denying the Gennifer Flowers allegations. Her explanation Wednesday: "Obviously I didn't mislead anyone. I didn't know the truth."

We now know that at that time Dick Morris reported to the President that an internal poll concluded a mere apology for the Lewinsky affair would not make it go away, to which the President replied: "We'll just have to win it then." Mrs. Clinton's "right-wing conspiracy" statement was the first salvo in the Clinton counteroffensive. If she didn't understand what was going on here, she ought to be defeated for naïveté. She isn't naïve. Mrs. Clinton was serving in full knowledge then as political bagman for her husband, and, of course, she declined Mr. Russert's invitation to apologize to the critics who have proved to be right about the Presidential lie.

Seeking to buttress her resumé, Mrs. Clinton has lately been bragging about all the influence she had behind the scenes in "my eight years in the White House." She does not mention coups such as insisting that the Attorney General be female, which tarnished the reputations of two upstanding women and left the Justice Department under control of Janet Reno. Any such behind-the-scenes influence was studiously denied after her one-on-camera effort, the Health Care Task Force. This policy debacle did more than anything else to elect a Republican Congress in 1994. The other result was a major lawsuit in which district Judge Royce Lamberth levied fines of $286,000 for the White House's attempts to cover up its efforts to keep secret the meetings of Mrs. Clinton's Task Force.

In another example of resumé padding, her campaign Web site (hillary2000.org) makes the claim, heard originally when she entered the White House, that "she was named one of the Top 100 Lawyers in America by American Lawyer Magazine." In its June 8 issue this year, the National Law Journal, which in fact puts out several lists, reports that Mrs. Clinton "brags she was once chosen as one of the 100 'top' lawyers in the country." In fact, says NLJ, they (not American Lawyer) included her in a list "influential" lawyers due to her connection with the Rose Law Firm, "whose billing records she famously misplaced."

Hillary Clinton
Her 30 years
don't add up

The "most influential rating" of course came when she was back in Arkansas. Soon, probably before the election, Independent Counsel Robert Ray is going to release his final report on the long-running investigation into the Clintons' Whitewater land dealings and Hillary Clinton's Arkansas law work. Having worked strenuously to delay and stonewall this investigation, Mrs. Clinton's camp will of course complain about its timing. But Mrs. Clinton is the one who descended on New York out of the blue and now expects its people to let her represent them for six years in Washington, waving "30 years of experience." Well, then let's have New York's voters review and judge what she's done over that period.

In 1977, at the age of 30, she joined Little Rock's Rose Law Firm. Her husband was Governor. A year later she has turned a $1,000 investment in cattle futures into a $100,000 profit, under the guidance of Jim Blair of Tyson Foods. The following year the Clintons and Jim and Susan McDougal form Whitewater Development Co. to engage in real estate transactions. Three years later Jim McDougal buys Madison Savings & Loan, which quickly runs into problems with federal regulators, who attempt to close it down.

In March 1985 Hillary Clinton starts receiving a $2,000 a month retainer from Madison, and in April she submits a recapitalization plan to the Arkansas Securities Commission. In October that year Hillary starts legal work for McDougal's Castle Grande land deal. This is the work for which Mrs. Clinton's billing records vanish for years, until they suddenly appear on a table in the White House in January 1996. After testifying before a grand jury about the long-gone billing records, Mrs. Clinton announces, "I, like everyone else, would like to know the answers about how those documents showed up after all these years."

We hope the Clinton corner doesn't start twitching if we describe that comment as certifiably bizarre. And put the question: Just how much of this sort of "experience" are the people of New York expected to swallow to elevate Mrs. Clinton into the Senate of the United States, and just how many similar experiences are they going to have to learn to live with over the next six years?

Rick Lazio may be no Pat Moynihan, but then, no one is, not even Joe Lieberman. But by all accounts Mr. Lazio has served his constituents honorably in the House, and he is at least entitled to say, as he did Wednesday, "Somehow it only matters what you say when you get caught. Character and trust is about well more than that." The political parsons are now tut-tutting that he was too tough on poor Mrs. Clinton, but it seems to us that he accomplished his strategic aim of showing himself to be someone who can play in her league.

For our money, the most revealing moment of the debate was when Mrs. Clinton, waving the Gingrich card, said that Rep. Lazio "voted to shut the government down." What vote, we wondered, was that? In the 1995 crisis, Republicans voted out a bill, albeit one Mr. Clinton had threatened to veto, that would have kept the government open. While Mr. Clinton managed to blame the Republicans, the fact is that it was his signature on the veto message that closed the government, created the crisis and opened the door of the Oval Office to Monica.

This exchange, we thought, captured the essence of the Hillary Clinton candidacy. Senator Clinton would represent the perpetuation of the myths of the Clinton Presidency, a vindication of its lies large and small, and an absolution of her husband's moral and ethical standards.
