OFFICE OF GENERAL
COUNSEL

MUR # 6448

To whom it may concern:

Please find this letter to be a formal complaint against Notolls.com PAC, registered in Washington State, for raising and spending money to support candidates for federal office, while failing to file as a federal PAC, and successive violations that compounded this error.

Respondent:
NOTOLLS.COM
1408 NE 13th Avenue
Vancouver, WA 98664
NOTOLLS@NOTOLLS.COM
360-601-3056
Chair, Treasurer, Primary Donor: David Madore

Failure to File

The PAC, Notolls.com, failed to file FEC Form 1 (Statement of Organization) within 10 days of raising or spending $1000 in connection with federal elections. Notolls.com has used PAC funds to clearly identify and advocate for the election of federal candidates in a direct mail piece and on their website. The candidates are Dino Rossi (R - WA Senate) and Jaime Herrera (R - House WA-03). According to expenses filed with the Washington State Public Disclosure Committee, their expenses for federal elections exceeded $1000 by October 9, 2010.

Attached to this complaint, please find supporting documents including:

- A screen shot from the PAC website as it appeared during the 2010 election cycle, featuring promotion of federal candidates;
- A mailer used to promote candidates including federal candidates;
- Expenditure reports from the Washington PDC which document expenditures and in-kind payments made for the mailer and for web editing/design, showing that enough money was spent promoting these candidates to trigger FEC filing.

Mailer: $7729.92 postage
$3084.13 mailhouse services
$2900.00 mailer printing

$13,714.95 - Mailer promoted 20 candidates. Each federal candidate received $685.70 of promotion.

Website: $389.06 website editing
$1775.00 tech design services

11044300850

$143.00 web hosting services
$1682.50 web & artwork-IT
$4888.00 IT & admin services
$432.00 Design services & IT support
$1508.00 notolls.com domain name
$154.20 domain names

$10,963.76 - Website promoted 18 candidates. Each federal candidate received $609.10 of promotion.

No Proper Disclaimer

Notolls.com failed to include an FEC-appropriate disclaimer on a direct mail public communication used to support two federal candidates, and failed to have proper disclaimer on its website, which contained support for the same candidates. Both items are independent expenditures, apparently made with no coordination with the candidates.

No fundraising solicitations by notolls.com have informed donors that their contributions will be used in connection with federal elections or that they are subject to the limits and prohibitions of the Act. 11 CFR 1 102.5(a)(2)(ii) and (iii). Nor has the PAC indicated to donors that contributions are not tax-deductible as charitable contributions.

Bank Accounts

Notolls.com has only one bank account, held at Washington State's Columbia Credit Union. Because they meet the requirements of a federal PAC, and did not create a second account exclusively for federal activity, all funds received for that account, regardless of how they are used, should be subject to the limitations, prohibitions and reporting requirements of the Act, 102.5(a)(1)(ii) and (2).

Contribution Limits

A nonconnected committee may receive up to $5,000 per calendar year from any contributor, per 110.1(d). Notolls.com is primarily funded by David Madore, CEO of US Digital. During the primary and general elections of 2010, Madore personally contributed $134,000 to the notolls.com PAC. He also made in-kind contributions personally and the company of which he is owner and CEO, US Digital, also made in-kind contributions to the PAC, well in excess of $5,000.

A report from the Washington PDC showing Madore's contributions is attached.

Filing

Because Notolls.com PAC failed to file Form 1, it follows that they have also failed to meet all other reporting requirements.

11044300851

Argument

Though the amount that this PAC has been involved in federal elections is small in proportion to the amounts spent on local candidates, it is notable in the context that they also violated many Washington and Oregon state laws as well (separate filings have been made with those states). Their consistent efforts to flout campaign finance law demonstrate what seems to be a consistent determination to obscure the sponsor of their activities. The federal violations stand alone but also, by their commission, affect and throw into question all other activities of the PAC at the state level.

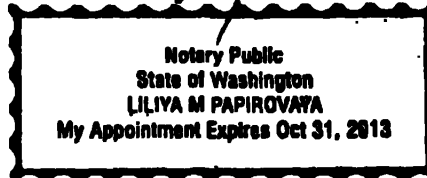

Sincerely,

Alexander Stone

Subscribed and sworn to before me on this 21 day of Dec, 2010.
