OFFICE OF GENERAL
COUNSEL

Re: Complaint against Lisa Wilson-Foley for Congress.

MUR # 6522

Dear Mr. Herman,

Recent actions by Lisa Wilson-Foley, Lisa Wilson-Foley for Congress, and several businesses owned or founded by Lisa Wilson-Foley have raised concerns that her campaign and businesses are potentially violating federal election laws.

CFR 114.2 states "National banks and corporations organized by authority of any law of Congress are prohibited from making a contribution, as defined in 11 CFR 114.1(a), in connection with any election to any political office, including local, State and Federal offices, or in connection with any primary election or political convention or caucus held to select candidates for any political office, including any local, State or Federal office."

In referring back to 114.1(a), "The terms contribution and expenditure shall include any direct or indirect payment, distribution, loan, advance, deposit, or gift of money, or any services, or anything of value."

It seems that the actions of Wilson-Foley's businesses have been giving something of value to the Lisa Wilson-Foley Congressional Campaign, as discussed in 114.1(a). The businesses have utilized Wilson-Foley in its advertisements, on its websites, and on its Facebook accounts.

Wilson-Foley is featured prominently in two Apple Rehab commercials on YouTube.¹ I also have reason to believe that Apple Rehab has been running ads with Wilson-Foley in them on Fox News recently. Wilson-Foley is running for the Republican nomination for US House district CT-5. Fox News is known to be viewed by Republicans.

AllStar Therapy, another Wilson-Foley owned company, has posted the following on its Facebook account:

1. Lisa Wilson-Foley (using her candidate Facebook account, as opposed to her personal account Lisa Foley) posted "Wishing all the Allstar employees, clients, patients and families a safe and wonderful New Year!" Exhibit A

13044340351

2. Posted "Owner Lisa Wilson-Foley will join Janet Peckinpaugh on the Mary Jones Show tomorrow at 10:30am. That's WDRC-AM 1360. The station frequently has political candidates on as guests. Exhibit B

The AllStar website lists Lisa Wilson-Foley as its owner and makes reference to her run for Lt. Governor in 2010.² Exhibit C

The Facebook page for Blue Fox Run Golf Course on two occasions actually promoted its followers to follow Lisa Wilson-Foley for Congress. Exhibit D

1. On December 28, 2011 at 7:26pm, the following was posted "If you get the chance please follow Lisa Wilson-Foley on her Facebook page wilsonfoley2012. She needs more friends."
2. On June 2, 2011 at 2:57pm, the following was posted "Like this page!" referring to Lisa Wilson-Foley for Congress.

Wilson-Foley is listed as the owner on their website.³ Exhibit E

While the businesses owned by Wilson-Foley are eager to mention her ownership, the Wilson-Foley website for her congressional race does not mention any of these companies by name.⁴ Exhibit F

I have researched this information personally and it is true and accurate to the best of my knowledge.

Overview

WHO WE ARE

AllStar Therapy is a unique rehabilitation company with a mission to be a leader in Physical Therapy, Occupational Therapy, and Speech and Language Pathology rehabilitation services.

The company was founded by owner Lisa Wilson-Foley, a licensed physical therapist with a master's degree in Public Health from Yale. Lisa Wilson-Foley is an award-winning entrepreneur. She has owned and operated 12 businesses in Connecticut over the past 20 years. Lisa currently owns: AllStar Therapy, a rehabilitation company and Blue Fox Enterprises, a family entertainment business.

Lisa is a business trendsetter and innovator. Her medical companies provide high tech mobile testing services using cutting edge technology. She was the first in the country to offer on-site child-care at her public golf course. Her bowling center was the first in the state to ban smoking.

Lisa was honored as Inc Magazine's Entrepreneur of the Year for Southern New England in 1997 and has been featured in Time Magazine, The New York Times and The Wall Street Journal. She has received prestigious awards from The March of Dimes, Junior Achievement and the UConn School of Business.

A Board member and corporator for many non-profit organizations, Lisa currently sits on the boards of The Renbrook School and The Bushnell Center for Performing Arts, and is a corporator for Hartford and Saint Francis Hospitals. She has been a mentor to many young women and is a skilled speaker.

In 2010, Lisa Wilson-Foley ran as a candidate for Lieutenant Governor of Connecticut. She is the voice and face of Apple Rehab, her husband Brian's healthcare company.

Currently working toward her Doctorate in Physical Therapy, Lisa holds degrees from Ithaca College, Yale University and the University of Connecticut. She lives on a small farm in the Farmington Valley with her husband, Brian and their children.

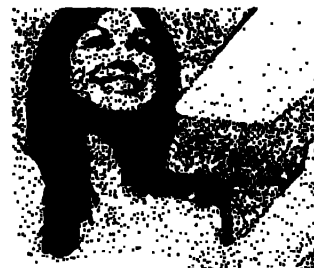

To achieve our ambitions, AllStar Therapy emphasizes a five prong approach: Quality, Compliance, Expertise, Ethics and Vision.

If you haven't gotten your clubs out yet it might be time to dust off the bag and get ready to hit the course. After beautiful weather this past weekend the course is in great shape and looking very green. If you're not sure about getting right onto the course, all of the practice facilities are open. A great way for you to work the winter kinks out of your swing!

About Lisa

Lisa began her career as a physical therapist with one mission in mind – to help people. She loved working with the elderly to help them regain their freedom. Now, she's running for Congress in Connecticut's Fifth District to help regain a different kind of freedom – the freedom to pursue the American dream. With our country on the verge of heading back into double digit national unemployment and a federal government growing out of control, Lisa brings a perspective far different from the career politicians who are letting the American dream slip away.

After working for several years as a physical therapist, Lisa received her Master's in Public Health from Yale University. With diploma in hand, her entrepreneurial trek began. At the age of 29, Lisa opened her first business starting a physical therapy service for nursing homes and rehabilitation centers. Quickly, Lisa's drive and business acumen led her to employ over 300 therapists serving clients throughout New England. Taking her ingenuity to other endeavors, Lisa started several companies in the health care, family entertainment, sports and leisure industries across Connecticut. Today, Lisa and her family employ over 1,500 people in 14 of the 41 towns in Connecticut's Fifth District. Always on the cutting edge, Lisa's golf course in Avon was the first in the nation to offer daycare to its employees and customers, and her new institutional pharmacy in Plainville will provide new technologies to reduce waste and inefficiencies in the medication distribution process. Her rehabilitation company continues to stress research and education and is one of only seven in the country to offer a Geriatric Residency Program for physical therapists.

For her innovative ideas and commitment to excellence, Lisa won Hartford Magazine's Business Leader of the Year Award in 2011. She was also honored as INC Magazine's Entrepreneur of the Year for Southern New England in 1995 and has been featured in Time Magazine, The New York Times and The Wall Street Journal. She also serves on the Board of the Bushnell, the American School for the Deaf, and is a past President of Connecticut Women's Hall of Fame.

EXHIBIT F

A tireless advocate for women's issues, Lisa is a former chair of the Connecticut Women's Hall of Fame and Connecticut Women in Healthcare Management. She is a frequent speaker on statewide panels on promoting women in leadership roles and balancing work, family, and health.

A Passion for Improving Health Care and Education

As a mother with a blended family of seven, Lisa has seen her children through both public and private schools, and has even homeschooled her children at different points. Lisa feels strongly about reforming our education system and has served on Boards to improve local educational institutions such as the UConn Foundation and Renbrook School. She embodies the concept of lifelong learning as she is currently working toward her Doctorate in Physical Therapy. In addition to earning her Masters from Yale University, Lisa also holds a BS from Ithaca College and a certification from UConn's Executive Program in Managed Care.

Lisa's commitment to improving health care goes well beyond her companies and career. She has worked to improve the quality of care at local hospitals by serving as a Corporator for both Hartford Hospital and Saint Francis Hospital, and currently serves on the Board of the National Association for the Support of Long Term Care. Lisa lives on a small farm with her family in Simsbury, CT.
