FEDERAL ELECTION COMMISSION
FACTUAL AND LEGAL ANALYSIS

RESPONDENT: David Jordan Schirman

MUR: 6541

I. GENERATION OF MATTER

This matter was generated by a complaint filed with the Federal Election Commission by Grant Stinchfield (the 'Complainant'), a candidate for Congress in Texas' 24th Congressional District. See 2 U.S.C. § 437g(a)(1).

II. FACTS AND LEGAL ANALYSIS

The Complainant alleges that two contributions were made in the names of others in violation of the Act. Specifically, Mr. Stinchfield states that Stinchfield for Congress ("Stinchfield Committee") held a golf tournament fundraiser on February 27, 2012, for which it received two $40 online contributions from two gentlemen who, on the day of the tournament, filled out volunteer forms. Compl. at 1. The two names submitted with the contributions and volunteer forms were "Jordan Sherman" and "Carter Kendall." Id. Thank-you notes sent after the tournament to these two individuals by the Stinchfield Committee were returned as having incorrect addresses. Id.; Compl. Ex. at 4. Using publicly available information and the Facebook social media site, the Stinchfield Committee determined that "Jordan Sherman" was actually David Jordan Schirman. Compl. at 1. The Stinchfield Committee was unable to determine the true identity of "Carter Kendall." Id.

The Complaint states that the Stinchfield Committee contacted Schirman who "confirmed he made illegal contributions under false names and a false person." Id. The Complaint also states that the "credit card records confirmed his report of making a credit card contribution in another name other than his own." Id. Schirman also volunteered that his "'best friend' . . . is

1 employed by Mr. Marchant," who was also a candidate in the Texas 24th Congressional District.
2 Id. Thus, the Stinchfield Committee alleges that Schirman and Kenny Marchant for Congress
3 ("Marchant Committee") knowingly and willfully violated 2 U.S.C. § 441f "to gain access to
4 what was a fundraiser for supporters of my campaign but in lieu tried to spy on my campaign and
5 obtain information about my supporters." Compl. at 2.

6 In his emailed response, Schirman acknowledges that he made a $40 payment for a round
7 of golf, lunch, stating "[he] payed the 40 dollars under the understanding that it was going to 8 cover [his] round of golf at a private course, lunch, and a beverage" but that "it was never [his]
9 intent to provide a donation too [sic], nor support the Stinchfield for Congress campaign." His 10 response makes no mention of using any fictitious names nor does it mention a relationship
11 between himself and any employee of the Marchant Committee.¹

12 Under the Act, "no person shall make a contribution in the name of another person...."
13 2 U.S.C. § 441f. The Act requires that contributions be made in one's own name, rather than the 14 name of another, in order to promote full disclosure of the actual source of political 15 contributions. United States v. O'Donnell, 608 F.3d 546, 553-54 (9th Cir. 2010). A fictitious or 16 "false name contribution is a direct contribution from A to a campaign, where A represents that 17 the contribution is from another person who may be real or fictional." O'Donnell, 608 F.3d at 18 549 (emphasis in original); see also 11 C.F.R. § 110.4(b)(1)(i), (b)(2)(ii).

19 Based on the facts presented, the responses, and publicly available information, it appears
20 that Schirman made at least one $40 payment under a fictitious name.

¹ The Commission notes that the Schirman response was received from the same email listed on the online contribution receipt for "Carter Kendall" and listed on the handwritten volunteer form for "Jordan Sherman" on the day of the golf tournament fundraiser.

- 1 However, due to the extremely small amount involved and the fact that no further
- 2 contribution activity appears to be associated with the fictitious names or Schirman, the
- 3 Commission exercises its prosecutorial discretion and dismisses this matter pursuant to Heckler
- 4 v. Chaney, 470 U.S. 821 (1985).
