

FEDERAL ELECTION COMMISSION Washington, DC 20463

April 20, 2018

VIA UPS NEXT DAY AIR

Mr. Wayne B. Brown

Augusta, GA 30907

RE: MUR 6824

Dear Mr. Brown:

The Federal Election Commission, the regulatory agency that administers and enforces the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (the "Act"), has ascertained information in the normal course of carrying out its supervisory responsibilities indicating that you, in your individual capacity or in your capacity as an owner, member or partner of Wayneworks, LLC, or both, may have violated the Act or Commission regulations by making excessive or prohibited contributions to Eugene Yu for Congress, the principal campaign committee of candidate Eugene C. Yu ("the Committee") in the 2014 election cycle. You are therefore being provided this notice and an opportunity to respond, if you wish to do so.

In connection with the Commission's investigation of a complaint in MUR 6824 alleging that Mr. Yu had insufficient personal funds to loan more than $730,000 to his 2014 campaign, you provided an affidavit dated January 31, 2016, stating that you made $650,000 in payments to Mr. Yu pursuant to a "Contract of Partial Sale" ("Contract") in exchange for a 50% ownership interest in 1082 Bertram Road, a property jointly owned by Eugene and Jonie H. Yu. Copies of the complaint, your affidavit, and the Contract between Wayneworks, LLC, and Jonie H. Yu, are enclosed for your convenience. Although you were not named in the complaint, it appears that your activities may fall within its scope.

The Commission has received information that you and Mr. Yu negotiated the Contract for the purpose of providing funds to the campaign; that you made payments under the Contract as the campaign needed funds; and that the understanding between you and Mr. Yu was that he would repay you for payments made under the Contract plus interest when the Bertram Road property sold. Bank records in the Commission's possession indicate that you, personally or as an owner, member or partner of Wayneworks, LLC, or both, caused to be issued a total of $645,000 in checks payable to Mr. Yu between August 19, 2013, and September 4, 2014. Of that amount, $555,000 appears to have been used to finance Mr. Yu's 2014 campaign. The apparent campaign purpose of the transaction and certain facts suggest that payments made under the contact were contributions in the nature of a loan rather than payments made under a bona fide sales contract. See 52 U.S.C. § 30101(8)(A) and 11 C.F.R. § 100.52 (the term "contribution" includes any gift, loan, advance, or deposit of money or anything of value made by any person for the purpose of influencing a Federal election). First, there is no public record evidencing your ownership interest in the property. Second, the Commission has received information that no appraisal was conducted prior to execution of the Contract, a standard practice in a real estate sales contract. Moreover, publicly available information indicates that the value of the property in 2013 on which the property tax assessment was based was $1,043,175 rather than the $1.3 million value listed in the Contract. And, public information reflects that the property has been listed for sale for $890,000 since at least April 25, 2017.

To the extent the checks issued under the contract were made from your personal funds, the payments may constitute excessive contributions by you. See 52 U.S.C. § 30116(a) (limiting contributions by individuals to $2,600 per election in the 2013-2014 election cycle). To the extent the payments were made by Wayneworks, LLC, the payments may constitute excessive contributions by you if you are the sole member of Wayneworks (see 11 C.F.R. § 110.1(g)(4)), an excessive contribution by you and any other partner if Wayneworks elects to be treated as a partnership under tax law (see 11 C.F.R. § 110.1(g)(2)), or a prohibited contribution if Wayneworks elects to be treated as a corporation (see 11 C.F.R. § 110.1(g)(3)).

The Office of General Counsel is reviewing this information to determine whether we should recommend to the Commission that it find there is reason to believe you, Wayneworks, LLC, or both, violated the Act or Commission regulations. A "reason to believe" finding is not a finding that any person violated the Act; rather, it means only that the Commission believes a violation may have occurred. In the event the Commission finds that there is reason to believe, it may authorize the Office of General Counsel to conduct an investigation to determine whether, in fact, a violation occurred or to assess the scope of the alleged violation. See 52 U.S.C. § 30109(a)(2). The Commission may also authorize the Office of General Counsel to enter into negotiations directed toward reaching a conciliation agreement in settlement of a matter at an earlier stage of the enforcement process prior to a Commission finding that there is probable cause believe that a person violated the Act or Commission regulations. See 11 C.F.R. § 111.18(d) and the enclosed procedures.

Before we make a recommendation to the Commission, we offer you the opportunity to provide in writing a response to the allegations in the complaint and in this letter. Should you choose to respond, you may also submit any materials – including documents or affidavits from persons with relevant knowledge – that you believe may be relevant or useful to the Commission's consideration of this matter. The Commission will take into account any additional information you provide in determining whether to find reason to believe that you, Wayneworks LLC, or both, violated the Act or Commission regulations.

The Committee refunded $50,000 to you on November 11, 2013, in connection with a sua sponte submission to the Commission, which you signed, concerning the first four payments under the Contract that were paid directly to the Committee or deposited directly into its account.

Your response, if you choose to make one, must be submitted in writing within 15 days of this letter's receipt. You should address any response to the Office of General Counsel, and the response should reference MUR 6824. Direct any response to: Federal Election Commission, 1050 First St., N.E., Washington, D.C. 20463 or to me at dodrowski@fec.gov. After 15 days, we will make our recommendations to the Commission. The Commission will then consider the recommendations and take appropriate action.

This matter will remain confidential unless you notify the Commission in writing that you wish the matter to be made public. See 52 U.S.C. §§ 30109(a)(4)(B) and 30109(a)(12). If you intend to be represented by counsel in this matter, please complete the enclosed form and return it to the Commission. Please be advised though that, although the Commission cannot disclose information regarding an investigation to the public, it may share information on a confidential basis with other law enforcement agencies.² Also, please be advised that you are required to preserve all documents, records, and materials relating to the subject matter in the complaint and discussed in this matter until we notify you that the Commission has closed its file in this matter. See 18 U.S.C. § 1519.

If you have any questions, please contact me at my email address listed above, at (202) 694-1591 or toll free at 1-800-424-9530. Information is also available on the Commission's website at www.fec.gov.

Complainant: (Corrected)

Augusta, GA 30909

MUR# 6824

PREFACE: This complaint was filed with the FEC on May 16, 2014. Since that time the FEC informed the Complainant that the FEC required the Complaint be re-filed with specific instructions to revise the language used concerning the swearing to the facts of the case by the Complainant. This filing fulfills this request to revise the May 16, 2014 Complaint.

Complaint:

Eugene Yu has failed to account for the source of his $736,000 loan to Eugene Yu for U.S. Congress as reported to the Federal Election Commission in his March 31, 2014 report, as evidenced by his Candidate Financial Disclosure Report filed on March 26, 2014 with the Clerk of the U.S. House of Representatives.

Facts of the Case:

According to reliable media reports, Mr. Yu has not reported financial assets of sufficient quantity to personally loan his campaign $736,000, nor any source of secondary loans or personal gifts to allow this amount of contribution to his own campaign. He is also refusing to answer media inquiries on this matter, indicating potential illegalities in the source(s) of this massive injection of campaign funds in the closing weeks of the Georgia Republican Primary. This discrepancy follows two previous violations of Federal Election Law this election cycle, with both instances involving donation limit violations, indicating a pattern of practice of Eugene Yu for U.S. Congress of violating donation rules.

Summary: The infusion of $240,000 in cash by Eugene Yu for U.S. Congress in the final weeks of the Georgia Republican Primary has resulted in a barrage of campaign activity by Eugene Yu for Congress that would otherwise have not been possible. If that infusion of cash is in violation of federal campaign law the certification of the May 20 Primary results could be in question.

TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE:

The magnitude of these violations are such that could alter the results of the May 20 Republican Primary Elections if allowed to stand. The Commission is urged to act on these matters with urgency. Complainant, upon information and belief and relying on personal knowledge and the exhibits attached hereto as evidence of the possible violations of law set forth above hereby swears under penalty of perjury that the statements and facts of the complaint are true to the best of his knowledge and belief.

Augusta candidate Eugene Yu took $50,000 in prohibited donations

By Ruse Bynum Associated Press

Monday, March 10, 2014

SAVANNAH, Ga. - Running his first race for Congress, Eugene Yu found a generous supporter in his friend and fellow Augusta businessman Wayne B. Brown. Last summer and fall, Brown and his company gave the Republican candidate $54,500 for his campaign.

The problem is that's far more cash than the $5,200 limit one person can legally give a single candidate seeking federal office. Yu had to refund $50,000 of the money given to his U.S. Senate campaign. He abandoned that race to run for a U.S. House seat in eastern Georgia.

"This is the first time I'm running in an election," Yu said in a phone interview Monday. "If anything, it was an honest mistake."

Fundraising reports filed with the Federal Election Commission show Yu's campaign waited three months to disclose the prohibited contributions. Instead, the campaign reported most of the cash as a $45,000 personal loan.

"It looks more sketchy because it raises a question of whether or not the candidate was trying to conceal the contribution," said Sheila Krumholz, the executive director of the Center for Responsive Politics, a nonprofit and nonpartisan organization that tracks money in politics. "He took this large sum of money and passed it off as money from his own pocket."

Both the candidate and his donor said they weren't trying to deceive anybody. They said Brown owed Yu money for his share of a real-estate investment, and the money was deposited into the candidate's campaign account to help his largely self-funded race.

"Eugene had already paid for the property so I was reimbursing him for my share," Brown wrote in an e-mail Monday. "Since it was his money, it was deposited in the campaign account as a contribution from him which is correct but not transparent."

A political newcomer, the 58-year-old Yu of Evans remains an active player in the 2014 elections even after exiting his Senate campaign. Last week, Yu signed up for a five-way primary race for the GOP nomination to oppose Democratic Rep. John Barrow in Georgia's 12th District.

Yu's campaign could face fines if FEC auditors find there were fundraising violations. The FEC gives candidates grace periods of up to 60 days to refund or otherwise make right excessive or prohibited contributions.

Yu's campaign had most of its money from Brown for longer than that. The FEC doesn't disclose the status of investigations until they're resolved.

Yu came to the area as a teenager when his South Korean parents immigrated here. He's a former military policeman and ex-sheriff's deputy who's now retired from his now-defunct company that refurbished military trucks returning from overseas deployments. Yu also served as president of a major Korean-American lobbying association before launching his first political campaign last year.

Yu's newcomer status made him a longshot in the race for Georgia's open Senate seat, where the crowded Republican field includes three sitting congressmen. But Yu also poured more than $447,000 of his own money into the Senate race. A continued willingness to self-finance could make him tough to ignore, even as a latecomer, in the GOP primary for Barrow's seat.

Still, Yu hasn't been terribly successful raising money from supporters. In the last six months of 2013, the candidate raised just $121,475 from outside donors. The $50,000 Yu ended up returning, after reporting the money as prohibited contributions, equaled 41 cents of every dollar he raised.

Brown owns an Augusta company, WayneWorks, that manages a range of business ventures from real estate to custom embroidery services to exotic charter-boat vacations. Yu says he and Brown have been friends for 15 years or more. Spending reports show Brown is also the campaign's landlord, renting Yu space at his company's office park for $100 a month.

Yu's fundraising reports show Brown gave his Senate campaign $4,900 in July. Brown's wife chipped in another $5,200. Both contributions were within legal limits. Yu's campaign disclosed them in its quarterly report filed Oct. 14.

The same fundraising report says Yu loaned the campaign $202,000 of his own money during the same quarter from July through September. Three months later, his campaign filed an amended report that reduced the amount of Yu's personal loan by $45,000.

What happened to that money? It showed up in the amended report as previously undisclosed contributions from Brown and his company. Brown gave the campaign $30,000 in two different payments in August and September – putting him well past the legal donation limit. A $15,000 contribution attributed to WayneWorks was received by Yu's campaign Aug. 19. Corporations are prohibited from giving money to individual candidates.

Yu's last Senate fundraising report, filed Jan. 30, shows Brown gave the campaign a final $5,000 in October – bringing the total amount of prohibited money to $50,000. The same report says Yu refunded the money on Nov. 18, nearly two months before any of the excessive donations were disclosed to federal regulators.

Source of Yu funds remain a mystery

By Walter C. Jones Morris News Service Friday, May 9, 2014 8:07 PM

ATLANTA — The source of funds that U.S. House candidate Eugene Yu has funneled into his campaign remain a mystery, and his campaign is not returning requests for comment.

Yu, who is in second place in the Republican race in the 12th District according to the latest poll, had loaned his campaign more than $736,000 as of April 30. But he did not list that much in liquid assets on his personal financial disclosure, and the income from his investments are a fraction of that amount.

After declaring bankruptcy in 2007, he might not be the model applicant for a bank, although he did list bank mortgages on his home and an Atlanta condo. The residence already had a second mortgage before he started his Senate campaign and later switched to the U.S. House race in the 12th District.

"I hope that Mr. Yu will operate with full disclosure and explain how he was able to loan his campaign over $700,000," said William Perry, the executive director of the government-watchdog advocacy Common Cause of Georgia.

Yu, reached by phone Thursday, referred all financial questions to his campaign chairman, Wayne Brown. Brown has not returned messages left Thursday and Friday at the campaign; at his corporation, WayneWorks LLC; or at the telephone number Yu supplied for him.

WayneWorks gave $15,000 to the campaign in August even though federal law prohibits congressional candidates from accepting corporate donations. The campaign cashed the check instead of refusing it, even though it is in the same building as the company.

Federal election rules say that if a corporate gift is received, the campaign must refund it within 30 days of discovery, but the Yu campaign exceeded that period and appeared to have used the funds based on expenditures and the cash on hand at the time.

"They should have known that it was an illegal, corporate contribution," said Bryan Tyson, a campaign attorney with Strickland, Brockington & Lewis.

The campaign lists its address as the corporate offices of WayneWorks but reported only token "rent and postage" for it, even though federal candidates must pay the fair-market rate to corporate landlords to avoid accepting discounted rent as a contribution.

Brown personally contributed more than the legal limit to the campaign, and the campaign was slow in refunding him, according to his campaign reports filed with the Federal Election Commission.

Yu's financial disclosure included no more than $50,000 in cash in a money market account.

"I think it is reason to be skeptical. If you don't have liquid assets and all of a sudden you have liquid assets," Tyson said.

Campaign finance lawyer Stefan Passantino, the head of the political law team at McKenna Long & Aldridge, notes that Yu is not required to update his personal financial disclosure form because he filed it less than 12 months ago. So there is no reason for him to disclose any personal loans he might have gotten or the source until next year.

"I don't know any facts that would indicate there was wrongdoing here," he said,

Yu has an office building on Bertram Road that he rents for $100,000 yearly at most. The value of the building is between $1 million to $5 million on the federal forms, which don't require more precise figures.

He lists stock in two companies, one of which has effectively folded. The other was listed at no more than $250,000.

"I don't really consider that a lot of assets," said Kent Balch, a veteran financial planner with First Fidelity Financial Group. "His ace in the hole could be that building. If he could sell it at any given moment, somebody might lend on that."

Repaying it could be difficult because a 5-year loan at current rates on that amount would total 60 percent more than he lists as income from the rent and his other investments.

If Yu got a loan, it could only be for personal reasons and not simply to fuel the campaign through the back door, according to Tyson. The same with anyone making an outright gift to him personally, although there is no limit on what a candidate can lend or give to his or her own campaign.

The motives for making a loan or gift directly to a candidate could spur the curiosity the Department of Justice's Public Integrity Section, which is charged with policing what are known as straw donors. Those could be put to rest if Yu has written arrangements or documentation of long-standing personal connections to his funding source.
