COMPLAINT

Complainant files this complaint under 52 U.S.C. § 30109(a)(1) against Rand Paul; Rand Paul for President, Inc. and Paul Kilgore, Treasurer, in his official capacity; and Reinventing A New Direction Political Action Committee (“RAND PAC”) and Kevin Broghamer, Treasurer, in his official capacity, for violating the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (“the Act”), and Federal Election Commission (“FEC”) regulations, as described below. As RAND PAC made, and Rand Paul for President received, an excessive contribution in support of Mr. Paul’s presidential campaign, and Rand Paul for President failed to refund or redesignate general election contributions after Paul withdrew from the presidential election, the FEC should investigate these allegations and fine Respondents the maximum amount authorized by law.

A. FACTS

On January 5, 2011, Rand Paul was sworn in as a United States Senator.¹ In March 2011, Rand Paul established a Leadership PAC called Reinventing A New Direction (“RAND PAC”).² RAND PAC has been actively involved in raising funds and supporting candidates since its inception.³ In April 2011, Paul filed paperwork for reelection to the United States Senate, establishing Rand Paul for U.S. Senate 2016 (“Paul for Senate”).⁴

Speculation surrounding Rand Paul’s interest in running for President began in earnest when Paul delivered the Tea Party response to President Obama’s State of the Union address on February 13, 2013.⁵ The day after delivering the response, Paul answered a question about whether he might be interested in running for President: “Well, you know, I’ve said I am interested. And we are thinking about it but probably would make a decision until 2014.”⁶ Paul entered and won the Conservative Political Action Conference’s (“CPAC”) 2016 “presidential preference straw poll” in 2013, 2014, and 2015.⁷

Also indicating Paul’s early interest in running for President, the Kentucky Legislature debated legislation in the summer of 2014 that would have removed a prohibition on Paul appearing on the ballot for both a presidential ticket and re-election to the United States Senate;

the state auditor at the time said that “Rand Paul is extraordinarily involved” in the effort.⁸ With respect to raising funds for candidates for the state legislature, Paul said that their positions on a ballot access amendment was “a consideration” in lending his support.⁹ On January 13, 2015, Paul announced the hiring of a campaign manager, Chip Englander, for his 2016 presidential bid, reporting indicating that “people familiar with the hire say [Englander] has been assured that he will manage what has become campaign-in-waiting.”¹⁰ Other reporting from January 2015 provided that “Rand Paul has been acting like a presidential candidate for months.”¹¹ After much speculation and planning, Paul formally announced his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination on April 7, 2015.¹²

During the extended period prior to the formal announcement of his candidacy for President, Paul engaged in extensive “testing-the-waters” activities that were financed by RAND PAC, such as traveling to meet with prospective voters and financing polling, research, and other consulting work. As detailed in Exhibit 1, RAND PAC spent hundreds of thousands of dollars on consultants, travel, printing services, and list rentals for campaign activities in early caucus and primary states prior to April 7, 2015. This included more than $20,000 of electoral activity in Iowa, $9,000 in Florida, $23,000 in New Hampshire, and $2,800 in Nevada. RAND PAC also spent more than $110,000 on list rentals. In sum, the leadership PAC “spent hundreds of thousands of dollars around the country on [] ‘testing the waters’ expenses.”¹³

Even after Paul formally announced his candidacy for President, RAND PAC extensively supported Paul's presidential campaign activities, including by paying a number of Paul's presidential campaign advisers and political consulting firms.¹⁴ The Leadership PAC "paid Paul's presidential campaign adviser Doug Stafford, his Iowa political director Jonathan Van Norman and the Manchester, N.H., political consulting firm employing his New England chief strategist, Michael Biundo."¹⁵ Public reporting also indicates that RAND PAC paid the security company that "guarded Paul on the presidential campaign trail and the Washington law firm that served as the presidential campaign's legal counsel."¹⁶ Exhibit 1 details these expenditures.

Shortly after Paul received less than five percent of the vote in the Iowa Caucus, he announced that he would drop out of the presidential race.¹⁷ Between April 7, 2015, and the February 3, 2016, announcement, Rand Paul for President, Inc. ("Paul for President") received $368,801 in individual itemized receipts designated for the general election.¹⁸ As of April 3, 2016, Paul's presidential campaign had not refunded $322,007 of itemized individual contribution designated for the general election.¹⁹ As shown in tab four of Exhibit 2, more than 500 individual contributions designated for the general election were never refunded by Paul for President and approximately 50 individual contributions designated for the general election were refunded more than 60 days after Rand Paul made his February 3, 2016, announcement.

B. LEGAL ARGUMENTS

RAND PAC violated a heartland campaign finance provision by making significant, excessive contributions in support of Paul's presidential campaign. The FEC must investigate these allegations and enforce the law to ensure that candidates do not circumvent contribution limits by using leadership PAC funds to finance artfully prolonged testing-the-waters activities.

1. Financing a candidate's travel costs, campaign consultants, security, and staff is an in-kind contribution subject to contribution limits.

A "contribution" is "any gift, subscription, loan, advance, or deposit of money or anything of value made by any person for the purpose of influencing any election for Federal office."²⁰ A contribution includes the "payment by any person of compensation for the personal services of another person which are rendered to a political committee without charge for any purpose,"²¹ as well as "the provision of any goods or services without charge," such as "equipment, supplies, personnel, advertising services, membership lists, and mailing lists."²² As such, RAND PAC's financing of Rand Paul's travel to early caucus and primary states outside of Kentucky, presidential campaign staff, and media and other consultants constitutes a clear in-kind contribution to Rand Paul for President.

2. Rand Paul qualified as a candidate long before he formally announced his candidacy for President.

The record strongly indicates that Rand Paul's presidential candidacy began far earlier than the date on which he filed his Statement of Candidacy. An individual is considered to be "testing the waters" when he or she is determining whether to become a candidate.²³ Examples of such activities include conducting a poll and engaging in travel.²⁴ An individual is no longer considered to be “testing the waters” after he or she has “decided to become a candidate for a particular office” or engaged in certain “activities relevant to conducting a campaign,” such as conducting activities in close proximity to the election or over a protracted period of time, or taken action to qualify for the ballot under state law.²⁵ “[A]n individual who has raised or spent more than $5000 on testing-the-waters activities and who informs the media (either directly or through an advisor) that he or she ‘will announce candidacy’ would be a candidate.”²⁶

The record shows clearly that Paul decided to become a candidate for President before he announced his candidacy in April 2015. Paul engaged in a number of activities relevant to conducting a campaign for President over a protracted period of time, including working with legislators in Kentucky to allow his name to appear on the ballot for multiple offices in 2014, entering the CPAC straw poll for multiple years, and engaging in extensive travel and other campaign activities in early primary and caucus states. Further, by encouraging legislators in Kentucky to adjust state law, Paul moved to “take action to qualify for the ballot under state law.”²⁷ At a minimum, Paul qualified as a candidate for President as early as January 2015 when statements began to be released to the press that Paul had hired top staff members for his presidential campaign.²⁸

3. Testing-the-waters activities are subject to contribution limits and source restrictions.

Regardless of the specific date on which Paul qualified as a candidate for President under Section 100.72, all of the contributions that were made to support his “testing-the-waters” or candidate activities are subject to the source restrictions and contribution limits in the Act. If an individual engaging in testing-the-waters activities “subsequently becomes a candidate, the funds received are contributions subject to the reporting requirements of the Act.”²⁹ The “prohibitions and limitations of the Act” apply “to the ‘funds received’” during the testing-the-waters period.³⁰ As a result, regardless of the particular date on which Rand Paul became a presidential candidate, the extensive campaign activities prior to the April 2015 announcement funded by RAND PAC were contributions. The Commission has previously found, in closely analogous circumstances, that such conduct gives rise to a reason to believe that a violation occurred.³¹ Because the expenditures by RAND PAC in support of Paul’s presidential campaign far exceeded any contribution limit, RAND PAC made, and Paul’s presidential campaign received, excessive contributions.

4. RAND PAC’s support of Paul’s presidential candidacy is subject to contribution limits.

A leadership PAC is a nonconnected committee formed to support candidates for various federal and nonfederal offices.³² A leadership PACs is not an authorized committee or affiliated with the authorized committee of the candidate that sponsored the leadership PAC.³³ As such, leadership PACs “operate under the same rules as other nonconnected committees,” which means that “any support from the leadership PAC that could be paid by the candidate’s authorized committee is a contribution from the leadership PAC to the candidate.”³⁴ The FEC spoke clearly when it said that leadership PACs may not “provide support to the Federal candidate or officeholder with whom it is associated in amounts different than those available to other similar political committees.”³⁵ Once they “qualify as multicandidate committees,” leadership PACs “may contribute up to $5000 per candidate per election.”³⁶ As RAND PAC provided more than $100,000 in support of Paul for President (either in the form of “testing-the-waters” activity or actual candidate activity), it made an excessive contribution in violation of 52 U.S.C. § 30116.

5. FEC regulations clearly establish that the expenditures at issue here are in-kind contributions to Paul for President.

RAND PAC, Paul for President, and Rand Paul clearly violated campaign finance law by making, and receiving the benefit of, excessive expenditures (taking the form of in-kind contributions) in support of a presidential campaign. FEC regulation clearly states that “[a] payment by a multicandidate political committee is deemed an in-kind contribution to and an expenditure by a Presidential candidate, even though made before the individual becomes a candidate . . .”³⁷ In order for such expenditures to qualify as a deemed in-kind contribution in support of a Presidential candidate: (1) the expenditures must be made on or after January 1 of the year immediately following the last Presidential election year; (2) the expenditures must take the form of polling expenses relevant to the candidate, compensation to employees, consultants, or vendors connected to campaign activities in states where presidential primaries, caucuses, or preference polls are to be held (outside of the candidate’s home state), administrative expenses, such as rent, utilities, and equipment connected to campaign activities in states where presidential primaries, caucuses, or preference polls are to be held (outside of the candidate’s home state), or delegate expenses; and (3) the candidate must accept or receive such goods or services, request or suggest their provision, be materially involved in a decision to provide them, or be involved in substantial discussions about their provision³⁸ The rationale for this rule is plain; it is meant to “address situations where unauthorized political committees closely associated with a particular individual planning to run for President defray costs that are properly treated as in-kind contributions unless reimbursed by the Presidential campaign.”³⁹ In other words, it is a mechanism to address “situations that truly present the potential for evasion of the contribution and spending limits.”⁴⁰

RAND PAC, Paul for President, and Rand Paul clearly and unmistakably contravened this regulation, eviscerating through evasion the contribution limits at the core of the campaign finance system architecture. The elements of Section 110.2(l) are clearly satisfied; a multicandidate committee (RAND PAC) made numerous expenditures after January 1, 2013 in support of Rand Paul’s presidential campaign prior to the date he declared his candidacy or otherwise qualified as a candidate pursuant to Section 100.3. Exhibit 1 shows that RAND PAC spent hundreds of thousands of dollars on consultants, travel, printing services, and list rentals for campaign activities in early caucus and primary states (outside of Kentucky) prior to April 7, 2015. This included more than $20,000 of electoral activity in Iowa, $9,000 in Florida, $23,000 in New Hampshire, and $2,800 in Nevada. RAND PAC also spent more than $110,000 on list rentals. All of these activities satisfy the “goods or services” standard established in Section 110.2(l)(1)(iii), which discusses compensation to consultants and vendors related to campaign activities in states where presidential primaries, caucus, or preferences are to be held (outside of the candidate’s home state). And, as the expenditures were financed by RAND PAC, which is sponsored by Rand Paul, the “conduct” standard in Section 110.2(l)(1)(ii) has clearly been satisfied; Paul accepted or received the goods and services and could not, as committee sponsor, ³⁸ Id. § (l)(1)(iii).

have avoided being involved in decisions or substantial discussions to provide them. To find otherwise would render Paul's involvement in RAND PAC a nullity and destroy the fundamental definition of a leadership PAC as an entity "directly or indirectly established, financed, maintained, or controlled" by a candidate or officeholder.⁴¹ In fact, the FEC specifically noted that Section 110.2 particularly applied to the present factual circumstances when it said the rule "will have the most impact on so called 'leadership PACs.'"⁴²

As all of the elements of Section 110.2 have been satisfied, the expenditures by RAND PAC in support of Rand Paul's pre-candidacy activities are in-kind contributions. As such, and consistent with the arguments made above, the expenditures were subject to contribution limits, specifically the limit barring multicandidate committees from making contributions in excess of $5,000 to any candidate.⁴³ By spending hundreds of thousands of dollars on consultants and vendors to support Paul's presidential candidacy in early primary and caucus states, such as Iowa, Florida, New Hampshire, and Nevada, RAND PAC clearly made an excessive contribution, and Rand Paul and Paul for President clearly received an excessive contribution. In fact, the pattern and extent of the expenditures may indicate a conscious disregard of a known duty imposed by a heartland FECA provision.⁴⁴

II. Rand Paul for President Failed To Redesignate or Refund General Election Contributions

Federal regulations require general election contributions received by a candidate that withdraws prior to the date of the election to be handled in a particular way. In such a circumstance, "all contributions made for the general election shall be either returned or refunded to the contributors or redesignated in accordance with 11 CFR 110.1(b)(5), or reattributed in accordance with 11 CFR 110.1(k)(3), as appropriate.”⁴⁵ By regulation, a committee must obtain such a redesignation or effect a refund within 60 days.⁴⁶ The 60-day period begins on the “date the candidate withdrew from the presidential campaign.”⁴⁷

As Rand Paul withdrew from the presidential election on February 3, 2016,⁴⁸ Paul for President had a deadline of April 3, 2016, to refund or redesignate the general election contributions.⁴⁹ However, as of April 3, 2016, Paul’s presidential campaign had not refunded $322,007 of itemized individual contribution designated for the general election.⁵⁰ In fact, as shown in Exhibit 2, more than 500 individual contributions designated for the general election were never refunded by Paul for President and approximately 50 individual contributions designated for the general election were refunded more than 60 days after Rand Paul made his February 3, 2016, announcement.

C. REQUESTED ACTION

As shown, Mr. Paul, Rand Paul for President, Inc., and RAND PAC violated the Act by making and receiving an excessive contribution in support of Mr. Paul’s presidential campaign activities. In addition, Rand Paul for President, Inc. violated FEC regulations by failing to refund or redesignate general election contributions by April 3, 2016. We respectfully request that the Commission investigate these violations and that Respondents be enjoined from further violations and fined the maximum amount permitted by law.

EXHIBIT 1: RANDPAC'S INFLUENCE IN THE 2016 PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION

Summary

EXPLANATION OF DOCUMENT

Senator Rand Paul launched his presidential campaign on April 7, 2015.

April 7, 2015: Rand Paul Filed To Run For President. FEC – Rand Paul for President – Statement of Organization, [4/7/15]

But prior to the launch of his official presidential campaign, Paul was taking the national stage, reaching out to potential presidential election voters.

Paul did so at the expense of his leadership PAC, RANDPAC.

RANDPAC Served As The Leadership PAC For Rand Paul. According to FEC reports, Reinventing a New Direction (RANDPAC) served as the Leadership PAC for Rand Paul. FEC – RANDPAC – Statement of Organization, [3/9/11]

The below pages document a portion of RANDPAC's 2016 spending and activity, in states where a candidate with presidential aspirations would have needed to pick up support for their campaign.

Sections in the document show:

Details of RANDPAC's expenditures on items that would have had the potential to increase his name identification among states other than Kentucky, especially states with early caucuses and primaries – where Paul would have had to campaign, had his presidential campaign been more successful. Notable expenditures include $196,240 for list rentals (compared with $23,200 for list rentals in 2012), payments to known presidential campaign employees such as Jonathan Van Norman and Douglass Stafford, and hundreds of thousands of dollars on consulting services, research, media production, local hotel stays.

A comparison between 2016 and 2012 cycle spending, highlighting a significant increase in expenditures between a cycle in which Paul was running for President and a cycle in which he was not. Additionally, the reports show that of the 25 states RANDPAC spent heavily in during the 2016 cycle (Kentucky excluded from the total), six of those states saw no spending from RANDPAC in the 2012 cycle.
