1. Republican presidential candidate, Donald John Trump (respondent) solicited help from a foreign government (I believe) as part of a political strategy to harm his 2016 general election opponent, Secretary of State Hillary Clinton:

C-Span and The New York Times -

July 27, 2016 – (from the podium): “Russia, if you’re listening, I hope you’re able to find the 30,000 (Hillary Clinton) e-mails that are missing.”

Please include the enclosed additional documents in my complaint alleging possible violations of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended, by U.S. President Donald John Trump.

Before the 2016 presidential election, I watched the President solicit "something of value from a foreign national in connection with an election." On television on July 27, 2016, he said, "Russia, if you're listening, I hope you're able to find the 30,000 (Hillary Clinton) emails that are missing." Thereafter, I believe Russia began to try to search out those e-mails.

Trump Urges Russia to Locate Clinton Emails

Donald J. Trump encouraged Russia at a news conference to find Hillary Clinton's missing correspondence.

I will tell you this: Russia, if you're listening, I hope you're able to find the 30,000 emails that are missing.
