24 I. INTRODUCTION

25 The Complaints in these matters allege that Li Juan “Cindy” Gong, formerly known as Li 26 Juan “Cindy” Yang (“Yang”), engaged in multiple schemes to funnel excessive contributions of 27 her own funds and other individuals’ foreign national contributions to several committees in 28 violation of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (the “Act”), and 29 Commission regulations. Specifically, the Complaints allege that Yang made contributions in

---

1 the names of several family members and business associates and used foreign national funds to
2 make contributions to Make America Great Again PAC f/k/a Donald J. Trump for President, Inc.
3 and Bradley T. Crate in his official capacity as treasurer (the “Trump Committee”) and to Trump
4 Victory and Bradley T. Crate in his official capacity as treasurer (“Trump Victory”), a joint 5 fundraising committee. According to the MUR 7581 Complaint, the contributions were in 6 excess of the limitations of the Act and primarily made in order to enable attendance and a photo
7 opportunity with President Trump at a March 3, 2018 Trump Victory fundraising event held in 8 Palm Beach, Florida.<sup>2</sup> The MUR 7614 Complaint alleges that the contributions were primarily 9 made in order to enable Yang’s and foreign nationals’ attendance at the March 3, 2018 event, as 10 well as an earlier December 2, 2017 Trump Victory fundraising event in New York City.<sup>3</sup> The 11 MUR 7581 Complaint further alleges that Bingbing Peranio, Katrina Eggertsson, Gong Haizhen, 12 and unknown respondents, Yang’s employees and associates, knowingly served as conduits for 13 Yang’s contribution scheme.<sup>4</sup>

14 The MUR 7614 Complaint alleges that the contributions in connection with the 15 December 2, 2017 and March 3, 2018 events in particular, but all of the events Yang advertised,
16 were facilitated by Yang, along with several other individuals, who had formed political-tourism
17 companies that promised foreign nationals access to President Trump at political fundraisers that 18 required contributions to the Trump Committee, Trump Victory, the Republican National 19 Committee and Ronald C. Kaufman in his official capacity as treasurer (the “RNC”), the 45th

<sup>4</sup> Compl. ¶¶ 36-37, MUR 7581. The MUR 7614 Complaint did not name Peranio as a respondent but contained similar allegations and she was added as a Respondent in that matter.

1 Presidential Inaugural Committee, or the Republican Party of Palm Beach County and Jane C.
2 Pike in her official capacity as treasurer,<sup>5</sup> in violation of the Act's prohibitions on soliciting or 3 providing substantial assistance in the making of foreign national contributions. The MUR 7614 4 Complaint further alleges that Yang was assisted in her efforts to secure foreign national 5 attendance at events by Jon Deng, Hui Liu, and Li Jing, individuals described as influential 6 members of the Asian American Republican Party community.<sup>6</sup> Additionally, the MUR 7614
7 Complaint alleges that Xinyue "Daniel" Lou, Sun Changchun, Jingzhu "Margaret" Yang, Jiusi
8 Yao, Ma Jin, and unknown respondents engaged in similar promotions targeted to foreign 9 nationals, which resulted in them providing substantial assistance to foreign nationals making 10 contributions and that Ryan Xu, Li Xiaohua, and unknown individuals made prohibited 11 contributions in connection with their attendance at political fundraising events.<sup>7</sup>

12 Yang responded to both Complaints denying the allegations.<sup>8</sup> Although several of the 13 Respondents alleged to have been a part of foreign national contribution schemes could not be 14 located, and several who were located and provided with copies of the Complaints did not 15 respond, those who did respond denied the allegations and described varying amounts of 16 involvement with Yang.<sup>9</sup> The Committees alleged to have received the prohibited contributions

1 also responded, arguing that there is no reason to believe they violated the Act because the 2 Complaints did not raise allegations about their conduct.<sup>10</sup>

3 Based on the available information in the record, we recommend that the Commission 4 find reason to believe that Yang made contributions in the names of her family members and 5 work associates in violation of 52 U.S.C. § 30122, and in violation of 52 U.S.C. § 30116(a)(1) by 6 making contributions in excess of the Act's individual contribution limits. Additionally, Yang 7 appears to have provided substantial assistance in the making of prohibited foreign national 8 contributions so that foreign nationals could attend political events through her tourism 9 packages. Accordingly, we recommend that the Commission find reason to believe that Yang 10 violated 52 U.S.C. § 30121 and 11 C.F.R. § 110.20(h)(1). We also recommend that the 11 Commission authorize pre-probable cause conciliation with Yang.<sup>11</sup> Finally, given the limited 12 factual record and impending statute of limitations, we recommend that the Commission dismiss 13 the allegations as to the remaining Respondents.

14 II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

15 Yang is reportedly a Florida businesswoman who, along with members of her family,
16 formed, owned, and operated a number of day spas in Florida.<sup>12</sup> Starting in 2015, Yang began

1 Yang had made arrangements for some, though not all, of the Chinese executives to attend the

3 “I don’t want to see that money somehow get funneled into the political 4 process here,” he remarked. He said that the Chinese American 5 community he works with is composed of politically inexperienced people 6 “with a weaker sense of compliance and also not that good a sense of 7 campaign finance law.” “That caused some weaknesses,” he said, and 8 perhaps “even intentional violations.” Li said that in the wake of the 9 December fundraiser, he had changed procedures at his group to bar 10 people who lack green cards or US citizenship from attending fundraisers.
11 He said he also pushed the group towards grassroots organizing and away 12 from fundraising. Yang and he differed on these matters. “She doesn’t 13 see the need for a more stringent policy,” Li said.<sup>33</sup>

1           At least one of the contributors, Bingbing Peranio, a massage parlor receptionist,
2           reportedly directly linked Yang to her contributions, stating to the press that Yang had come to
3           the massage parlor where she worked for Yang's husband and helped fill out the check toward 4           Trump's campaign.<sup>58</sup> She reportedly added, "I was working there. I didn't say no."<sup>59</sup>

5           In total, both Complaints allege that at least nine of Yang's family members and work 6           associates, some of them believed to have modest incomes, made contributions of $5,400, and 7           contend that the contributions were made using the funds of another person.<sup>60</sup> According to the 8           MUR 7581 Complaint, the nine contributions that Yang's associates made on her behalf to

1 III. LEGAL ANALYSIS

2 A. The Commission Should Find Reason to Believe that Yang Made
 3 Contributions in the Name of Another and in Excess of the Act's Contribution
 4 Limits

5 The Act provides that a contribution includes “any gift, subscription, loan, advance, or 6 deposit of money or anything of value made by any person for the purpose of influencing any 7 election for Federal office.”<sup>68</sup> The Act prohibits a person from making a contribution in the 8 name of another person, knowingly permitting his or her name to be used to effect such a
 9 contribution, or knowingly accepting such a contribution.<sup>69</sup> The Commission has included in its 10 regulations illustrations of activities that constitute making a contribution in the name of another:

- 11 (i) Giving money or anything of value, all or part of which was provided to the 12 contributor by another person (the true contributor) without disclosing the 13 source of money or the thing of value to the recipient candidate or committee 14 at the time the contribution is made; or
- 15 (ii) Making a contribution of money or anything of value and attributing as the 16 source of the money or thing of value another person when in fact the 17 contributor is the source.<sup>70</sup>

18 The requirement that a contribution be made in the name of its true source promotes 19 Congress's objective of ensuring the complete and accurate disclosure by candidates and 20 committees of the political contributions they receive.<sup>71</sup> Courts therefore have uniformly 21 rejected the assertion that “only the person who actually transmits funds . . . makes the

<sup>71</sup> United States v. O'Donnell, 608 F.3d 546, 553 (9th Cir. 2010) (“[T]he congressional purpose behind [Section 30122] — to ensure the complete and accurate disclosure of the contributors who finance federal elections — is plain.”) (emphasis added); Mariani v. United States, 212 F.3d 761, 775 (3d Cir. 2000) (rejecting constitutional challenge to Section 30122 in light of compelling governmental interest in disclosure).

1 contribution,”<sup>72</sup> recognizing that “it is implausible that Congress, in seeking to promote 2 transparency, would have understood the relevant contributor to be [an] intermediary who
3 merely transmitted the campaign gift.”<sup>73</sup> Consequently, both the Act and the Commission’s 4 implementing regulations provide that a person who furnishes another with funds for the purpose
5 of contributing to a candidate or committee “makes” the resulting contribution.<sup>74</sup> This is true 6 whether funds are advanced to another person to make a contribution in that person’s name or 7 promised as reimbursement of a solicited contribution.<sup>75</sup> Because the concern of the law is the 8 true source from which a contribution to a candidate or committee originates, we look to the 9 structure of the transaction itself and the arrangement between the parties to determine who, in 10 fact, “made” a given contribution.

11 The available record supports a reason to believe finding that Yang made contributions in 12 the names of Yang’s family members and work associates to attend the March 3, 2018 Trump
13 Victory fundraiser and obtain a photograph with President Trump.<sup>76</sup> Yang admits in her

FEC*, 558 U.S. 310, 371 (2010) (“The First Amendment protects political speech; and disclosure permits citizens and shareholders to react to the speech of corporate entities in a proper way. This transparency enables the electorate to make informed decisions and give proper weight to different speakers and messages.”); Doe v. Reed, 561 U.S. 186, 199 (2010) (“Public disclosure also promotes transparency and accountability in the electoral process to an extent other measures cannot.”).

<sup>74</sup> See Boender, 649 F.3d at 660 (holding that to determine who made a contribution, “we consider the giver to be the source of the gift, not any intermediary who simply conveys the gift from the donor to the donee” (emphasis added)); O’Donnell, 608 F.3d at 550; Goland v. United States, 903 F.2d 1247, 1251 (9th Cir. 1990) (“The Act prohibits the use of ‘conduits’ to circumvent . . . [the Act’s reporting] restrictions.” (quoting then-Section 441f)).

<sup>75</sup> O’Donnell, 608 F.3d at 555. Moreover, the “key issue . . . is the source of the funds” and, therefore, the legal status of the funds when conveyed from a conduit to the ultimate recipient is “irrelevant to a determination of who ‘made’ the contribution for the purposes of [Section 30122].” United States v. Whittemore, 776 F.3d 1074, 1080 (9th Cir. 2015) (holding that defendant’s “unconditional gifts” to relatives and employees, along with suggestion they contribute the funds to a specific political committee, violated Section 30122 because the source of the funds remained the individual who provided them to the putative contributors).

<sup>76</sup> The Act further addresses knowing and willful violations of the law, which occur when one has knowledge that he or she is violating the law. See 52 U.S.C. § 30109(a)(5)(B), (d); FEC v. John Dramesi for Congress

1 Response that at least nine people in her “orbit” contributed $5,400, combined with her own
2 contribution of $5,400, to reach the $50,000 fundraising amount associated with getting a
3 photograph with President Trump.<sup>77</sup> None of the identified contributors who contributed in 4 connection with the March 3, 2018 event had contribution histories, some served in subordinate
5 roles at businesses associated with Yang, and all made the maximum contributions despite some 6 having jobs that did not appear to pay enough money to allow for such sizable donations. At 7 least one of the contributors, Bingbing Peranio, a massage parlor receptionist, reportedly directly 8 linked Yang to her contributions, stating that Yang had come to the massage parlor where she 9 worked for Yang’s husband and helped fill out the check toward Trump’s campaign.<sup>78</sup> She 10 reportedly said “I can’t say she was pushing me or not pushing me, but I worked there then...I 11 was working there. I didn’t say no.”<sup>79</sup> When asked whether Yang had reimbursed Peranio,
12 Peranio responded “I do not want to answer that question.”<sup>80</sup>

13 Yang’s alleged conduit reimbursement scheme has many of the same hallmarks of prior 14 straw donor matters in which the Commission found reason to believe a violation had occurred.
15 These hallmarks include the use of family members and subordinates,<sup>81</sup> clustered donations of

4 made any federal contributions previously and either did not respond to the Complaint, or failed
5 to address in their responses whether the individual's contribution was made with their own
6 money or they had been reimbursed.<sup>84</sup> In light of the available information, we recommend that 7 the Commission find reason to believe finding that Yang made contributions in the name of 8 others in violation of 52 U.S.C. § 30122 as to the contributions related to the March 3, 2018

3 As a joint fundraising committee, Trump Victory was structured to allocate the first 4 $5,400 in contributions to the Trump Committee with additional funds subsequently allocated to 5 the RNC, the RNC's national party accounts, and state party committee accounts.<sup>89</sup> According 6 to that allocation structure, the nine $5,400 contributions that each of Yang's associates allegedly 7 made on her behalf to Trump Victory were allocated to the Trump Committee.<sup>90</sup> Because Yang
8 already made the maximum contribution to the Trump Committee for this election cycle,<sup>91</sup> and 9 in accordance with the foregoing recommendation that the Commission find reason to believe 10 that Yang's associates made contributions with funds provided by or reimbursed by Yang, these 11 nine $5,400 contributions appear to have resulted in Yang making $48,600 in excessive 12 contributions to the Trump Committee.<sup>92</sup> Accordingly, we also recommend the Commission

1                   B. The Commission Should Find Reason to Believe that Yang Provided

3       It is unlawful to knowingly provide substantial assistance in the solicitation, making,

6 nationals at political fundraisers as apparent guests of Yang's, strongly belies this assertion.<sup>113</sup>

7 The available record shows that Yang met the "raise" contribution amounts required to

9 and brought Chinese national guests to both fundraisers.<sup>114</sup> Yang made $23,500 in contributions

5 Yang admits in her Response that she attended a Trump Victory evening reception in

1 While a United States citizen or permanent resident, like Yang, is permitted to acquire tickets for 2 foreign national guests to attend campaign fundraiser events, the person must not be 3 compensated or reimbursed for those tickets by the foreign national.<sup>122</sup> Here, the available
4 information indicates that Yang was being compensated directly and through her tourism 5 company, GY US, for those tickets by foreign nationals and using those funds to offset 6 attendance costs by making contributions. Accordingly, we recommend that the Commission 7 find reason to believe Yang's actions constituted providing substantial assistance in the making 8 of foreign national contributions.<sup>123</sup>

9 C. The Commission Should Dismiss the Allegations as to the Other Respondents

10
11 In addition to the named conduits, discussed above, the MUR 7614 Complaint alleges 12 that numerous other individuals either affiliated with Yang or involved in activities similar to 13 Yang's violated the Act's prohibitions on foreign national contributions. Specifically, the MUR 14 7614 Complaint alleges that Li Xiaohua, Ryan Xu, and other unknown foreign nationals were 15 photographed with President Trump, suggesting that they directly or indirectly made foreign 16 national contributions in violation of 52 U.S.C. § 30121(a)(1).<sup>124</sup> The MUR 7614 Complaint 17 also alleges that Xinyue "Daniel" Lou, Sun Changchun, Margaret Yang, Jiushi Yao, Ma Jin, and 18 unknown individuals promoted attendance at political fundraising events either along with Yang 19 or through business endeavors similar to Yang's, which, as discussed above, appears to have <sup>123</sup> The available information does not appear to support a finding that Yang directly solicited foreign national contributions because the information available at present indicates that she would "re-package" events to make them appear to be social or networking events with politicians and not necessarily political fundraisers. See 52 U.S.C. § 30121(a)(2); 11 C.F.R. §§ 110.20(g), 300.2(m).

3 alleges that Li Jing, Jon Deng, and Hui Liu violated the straw donor ban contained in 52 U.S.C.
4 § 30122 by making contributions on behalf of foreign nationals.<sup>126</sup> Although we could 5 investigate these allegations, because the factual record regarding them is not as developed as the 6 record involving Yang and in light of the statute of limitations circumstances relating to the 7 events in 2017 and 2018, as well as the potential difficulties in further developing the record due 8 to the presence of foreign nationals, we recommend the Commission exercise its prosecutorial 9 discretion under Heckler v. Chaney,<sup>127</sup> and dismiss these allegations. Finally, because the 10 available information does not indicate the knowing receipt of contributions in the name of 11 another or foreign national contributions by the recipient committees, we recommend that the 12 Commission dismiss the allegations that Trump Victory, the Republican National Committee, 13 Make America Great Again PAC f/k/a Donald J. Trump for President, Inc., the Republican Party 14 of Palm Beach County and the 45th Presidential Inaugural Committee accepted foreign national

3 RESPONDENT: Li Juan “Cindy” Gong, MURs 7581 and 7614

5

6 I. INTRODUCTION

7 The Complaints in these matters allege that Li Juan “Cindy” Gong, formerly known as Li
8 Juan “Cindy” Yang (“Yang”), engaged in multiple schemes to funnel excessive contributions of 9 her own funds and other individuals’ foreign national contributions to several committees in 10 violation of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (the “Act”), and 11 Commission regulations. Specifically, the Complaints allege that Yang made contributions in 12 the names of several family members and business associates and used foreign national funds to 13 make contributions to Make America Great Again PAC f/k/a Donald J. Trump for President, Inc.
14 and Bradley T. Crate in his official capacity as treasurer (the “Trump Committee”) and to Trump
15 Victory and Bradley T. Crate in his official capacity as treasurer (“Trump Victory”), a joint 16 fundraising committee. According to the MUR 7581 Complaint, the contributions were in 17 excess of the limitations of the Act and primarily made in order to enable attendance and a photo
18 opportunity with President Trump at a March 3, 2018 Trump Victory fundraising event held in 19 Palm Beach, Florida.<sup>1</sup> The MUR 7614 Complaint alleges that the contributions were primarily 20 made in order to enable Yang’s and foreign nationals’ attendance at the March 3, 2018 event, as 21 well as an earlier December 2, 2017 Trump Victory fundraising event in New York City.<sup>2</sup>

Factual and Legal Analysis

1           The MUR 7614 Complaint alleges that the contributions in connection with the 2 December 2, 2017 and March 3, 2018 events in particular, but all of the events Yang advertised,
3 were facilitated by Yang, along with several other individuals, who had formed political-tourism
4 companies that promised foreign nationals access to President Trump at political fundraisers that 5 required contributions to the Trump Committee, Trump Victory, the Republican National 6 Committee and Ronald C. Kaufman in his official capacity as treasurer (the “RNC”), the 45th
7 Presidential Inaugural Committee, or the Republican Party of Palm Beach County and Jane C.
8 Pike in her official capacity as treasurer,<sup>3</sup> in violation of the Act’s prohibitions on soliciting or 9 providing substantial assistance in the making of foreign national contributions

10           Yang responded to both Complaints denying the allegations.<sup>4</sup> Based on the available 11 information in the record, the Commission finds reason to believe that Yang made contributions 12 in the names of her family members and work associates in violation of 52 U.S.C. § 30122, and 13 in violation of 52 U.S.C. § 30116(a)(1) by making contributions in excess of the Act’s individual 14 contribution limits. Additionally, Yang appears to have provided substantial assistance in the 15 making of prohibited foreign national contributions so that foreign nationals could attend 16 political events through her tourism packages. Accordingly, the Commission finds reason to 17 believe that Yang violated 52 U.S.C. § 30121 and 11 C.F.R. § 110.20(h)(1).

1 II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

2 Yang is reportedly a Florida businesswoman who, along with members of her family,
3 formed, owned, and operated a number of day spas in Florida.<sup>5</sup> Starting in 2015, Yang began 4 fundraising on behalf of the Republican Party, reportedly working closely with “Cliff”
5 Zhonggang Li, the executive director of the National Committee of Asian American Republicans 6 on her fundraising activities.<sup>6</sup> Li has reportedly stated that he had acted as a political mentor to 7 Yang, introduced her to conservative-leaning Chinese Americans in Florida, and worked closely

2 reportedly directly linked Yang to her contributions, stating to the press that Yang had come to 3 the massage parlor where she worked for Yang’s husband and helped fill out the check toward 4 Trump’s campaign.<sup>49</sup> She reportedly added, “I was working there. I didn’t say no.”<sup>50</sup>

5 In total, both Complaints allege that at least nine of Yang’s family members and work 6 associates, some of them believed to have modest incomes, made contributions of $5,400, and 7 contend that the contributions were made using the funds of another person.<sup>51</sup> According to the 8 MUR 7581 Complaint, the nine contributions that Yang’s associates made on her behalf to 9 Trump Victory were allocated to the Trump Committee, resulting in Yang making excessive 10 contributions to the Trump Committee by having provided or reimbursed the funds for the 11 contributions to the named contributors.<sup>52</sup>

12 The MUR 7614 Complaint also alleges that Yang, as well as others, played a central role 13 in facilitating foreign national attendance at political events by promoting access to Trump as 14 part of tourism packages marketed to foreign executives.<sup>53</sup> The MUR 7614 Complaint alleges 15 that Yang’s activity violated the Act’s prohibition on foreign national contributions by 16 facilitating the purchase of tickets to, and attendance at, political fundraising events by foreign

4 Victory Mar-a-Lago fundraiser and obtained a photograph with President Trump, indicating that 5 over $50,000 in contributions to the event were associated with Yang.<sup>55</sup> Yang also states that 6 “for a short time [she] ran a travel service to the US for Chinese business people, and the only 7 events at Mar-a-Lago to which she brought her clients were either club events or local charity 8 events, not political fundraisers,” apparently at odds with her reportedly bringing at least four

10 III. LEGAL ANALYSIS

11 a. The Commission Finds Reason to Believe that Yang Made Contributions 12 in the Name of Another and in Excess of the Act’s Contribution Limits

13 The Act provides that a contribution includes “any gift, subscription, loan, advance, or 14 deposit of money or anything of value made by any person for the purpose of influencing any 15 election for Federal office.”<sup>57</sup> The Act prohibits a person from making a contribution in the 16 name of another person, knowingly permitting his or her name to be used to effect such a
17 contribution, or knowingly accepting such a contribution.<sup>58</sup> The Commission has included in its 18 regulations illustrations of activities that constitute making a contribution in the name of another:

19 (i) Giving money or anything of value, all or part of which was provided to the 20 contributor by another person (the true contributor) without disclosing the

1 source of money or the thing of value to the recipient candidate or committee 2 at the time the contribution is made; or

3 (ii) Making a contribution of money or anything of value and attributing as the 4 source of the money or thing of value another person when in fact the 5 contributor is the source.<sup>59</sup>

6 The requirement that a contribution be made in the name of its true source promotes 7 Congress’s objective of ensuring the complete and accurate disclosure by candidates and 8 committees of the political contributions they receive.<sup>60</sup> Courts therefore have uniformly 9 rejected the assertion that “only the person who actually transmits funds . . . makes the 10 contribution,”<sup>61</sup> recognizing that “it is implausible that Congress, in seeking to promote 11 transparency, would have understood the relevant contributor to be [an] intermediary who 12 merely transmitted the campaign gift.”<sup>62</sup> Consequently, both the Act and the Commission’s 13 implementing regulations provide that a person who furnishes another with funds for the purpose
14 of contributing to a candidate or committee “makes” the resulting contribution.<sup>63</sup> This is true
15 whether funds are advanced to another person to make a contribution in that person’s name or

Reed*, 561 U.S. 186, 199 (2010) (“Public disclosure also promotes transparency and accountability in the electoral process to an extent other measures cannot.”).

<sup>63</sup> See Boender, 649 F.3d at 660 (holding that to determine who made a contribution, “we consider the giver to be the source of the gift, not any intermediary who simply conveys the gift from the donor to the donee” (emphasis added)); O’Donnell, 608 F.3d at 550; *Goland v. 1 promised as reimbursement of a solicited contribution.<sup>64</sup> Because the concern of the law is the 2 true source from which a contribution to a candidate or committee originates, we look to the 3 structure of the transaction itself and the arrangement between the parties to determine who, in 4 fact, “made” a given contribution.

5         The available record supports a reason to believe finding that Yang made contributions in 6 the names of Yang’s family members and work associates to attend the March 3, 2018 Trump
7 Victory fundraiser and obtain a photograph with President Trump.<sup>65</sup> Yang admits in her
8 Response that at least nine people in her “orbit” contributed $5,400, combined with her own
9 contribution of $5,400, to reach the $50,000 fundraising amount associated with getting a 10 photograph with President Trump.<sup>66</sup> None of the identified contributors who contributed in 11 connection with the March 3, 2018 event had contribution histories, some served in subordinate
12 roles at businesses associated with Yang, and all made the maximum contributions despite some 13 having jobs that did not appear to pay enough money to allow for such sizable donations. At 14 least one of the contributors, Bingbing Peranio, a massage parlor receptionist, reportedly directly
15 linked Yang to her contributions, stating that Yang had come to the massage parlor where she <sup>64</sup> O’Donnell, 608 F.3d at 555. Moreover, the “key issue . . . is the source of the funds” and, therefore, the legal status of the funds when conveyed from a conduit to the ultimate recipient is “irrelevant to a determination of who ‘made’ the contribution for the purposes of [Section 30122].” United States v. Whittemore, 776 F.3d 1074, 1080 (9th Cir. 2015) (holding that defendant’s “unconditional gifts” to relatives and employees, along with suggestion they contribute the funds to a specific political committee, violated Section 30122 because the source of the funds remained the individual who provided them to the putative contributors).

<sup>65</sup> The Act further addresses knowing and willful violations of the law, which occur when one has knowledge that he or she is violating the law. See 52 U.S.C. § 30109(a)(5)(B), (d); FEC v. John Dramesi for Congress Committee, 640 F. Supp. 985, 987 (D.N.J. 1986).

2 reportedly said “I can’t say she was pushing me or not pushing me, but I worked there then...I
3 was working there. I didn’t say no.”<sup>68</sup> When asked whether Yang had reimbursed Peranio,
4 Peranio responded “I do not want to answer that question.”<sup>69</sup>

5 Yang’s alleged conduit reimbursement scheme has many of the same hallmarks of prior 6 straw donor matters in which the Commission found reason to believe a violation had occurred.
7 These hallmarks include the use of family members and subordinates,<sup>70</sup> clustered donations of 8 the maximum amount,<sup>71</sup> and contributions from subordinate employees with occupations 9 suggesting that a significant financial burden would be associated with a contribution of the 10 maximum allowable amount.<sup>72</sup> Additionally, the alleged conduits are not reported as having 11 made any federal contributions previously and either did not respond to the Complaint, or failed
12 to address in their responses whether the individual’s contribution was made with their own
13 money or they had been reimbursed.<sup>73</sup> In light of the available information, the Commission

2 52 U.S.C. § 30122 as to the contributions related to the March 3, 2018 fundraiser.<sup>74</sup>

3 The Act prohibits any person from making, and any candidate or committee from 4 knowingly accepting, an excessive contribution.<sup>75</sup> For 2017 and 2018, contributions by persons 5 other than multicandidate committees to any candidate and his or her authorized political 6 committees were limited to $2,700 per election.<sup>76</sup>

7 As a joint fundraising committee, Trump Victory was structured to allocate the first 8 $5,400 in contributions to the Trump Committee with additional funds subsequently allocated to 9 the RNC, the RNC’s national party accounts, and state party committee accounts.<sup>77</sup> According 10 to that allocation structure, the nine $5,400 contributions that each of Yang’s associates allegedly 11 made on her behalf to Trump Victory were allocated to the Trump Committee.<sup>78</sup> Because Yang
12 already made the maximum contribution to the Trump Committee for this election cycle,<sup>79</sup> and 13 in accordance with the foregoing finding of reason to believe that Yang’s associates made 14 contributions with funds provided by or reimbursed by Yang, these nine $5,400 contributions

11 It is unlawful to knowingly provide substantial assistance in the solicitation, making,

1 events, not political fundraisers,<sup>96</sup> the available record, which includes images of foreign

3 The available record shows that Yang met the “raise” contribution amounts required to <sup>107</sup> It is also unlawful for any person to “knowingly solicit, accept or receive” a contribution or donation made by a foreign national. 11 C.F.R. § 110.20(g); see 52 U.S.C. § 30121(a)(2). To “solicit” means “to ask, request, or recommend, explicitly or implicitly, that another person make a contribution, donation, transfer of funds, or otherwise provide anything of value.” 11 C.F.R. §§ 110.20(a)(6), 300.2(m). The Commission has clarified that in order to “knowingly” solicit, accept, or receive a foreign national contribution, a person must (1) have actual knowledge that the source of the funds is a foreign national; (2) have reason to know that the source of the funds is a foreign national, i.e., be aware of facts that would lead a reasonable person to conclude that there is a substantial probability that the source is a foreign national; or (3) engage in “willful blindness,” i.e., be aware of facts that would lead a reasonable person to inquire further into the provenance of the funds, but fail to conduct a reasonable inquiry. Id. § 110.20(a)(4). (“The final rules at 11 CFR 110.20(a)(4) . . . contain three standards of knowledge, any one of which would satisfy the knowledge requirements: (1) Actual knowledge; (2) reason to know; and (3) the equivalent of willful blindness.”). The available information does not appear to support a finding that Yang directly solicited foreign national contributions because the information available at present indicates that she would “re-package” events to make them appear to be social or networking events with politicians and not necessarily political fundraisers. See 52 U.S.C. § 30121(a)(2); 11 C.F.R. §§ 110.20(g), 300.2(m).

3 RESPONDENT: Bingbing Peranio MURs 7581 and 7614

4
5 I. INTRODUCTION

6 The Complaints in these matters allege that Bingbing Peranio knowingly served as a 7 conduit in a scheme to funnel excessive contributions to several committees in violation of the 8 Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (the “Act”), and Commission regulations.
9 Specifically, the Complaints allege that Peranio made a $5,400 contribution in her name, when it
10 was really made using funds of her employer, Li Juan “Cindy” Gong f/k/a Li Juan “Cindy” 11 Yang (“Yang”) to Trump Victory,<sup>1</sup> a joint fundraising committee, structured to allocate the first 12 $5,400 in contributions to the Make America Great Again PAC f/k/a Donald J. Trump for 13 President, Inc. (“Trump Committee”).<sup>2</sup> Because the available information does not indicate that 14 Peranio played a significant role in carrying out the alleged reimbursed contribution scheme, the 15 Commission dismisses the allegations.

6 III. LEGAL ANALYSIS

7 The Act provides that a contribution includes “any gift, subscription, loan, advance, or 8 deposit of money or anything of value made by any person for the purpose of influencing any

10 of another person, knowingly permitting his or her name to be used to effect such a contribution,
11 or knowingly accepting such a contribution.<sup>9</sup> The Commission has included in its regulations
12 illustrations of activities that constitute making a contribution in the name of another:

13 (i) Giving money or anything of value, all or part of which was provided to the

RESPONDENT: Hui Liu MUR 7614

I. INTRODUCTION

The Complaint in this matter alleges that Hui Liu engaged in a scheme to funnel excessive contributions of her own funds and other individuals' foreign national contributions to several committees in violation of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (the "Act"), and Commission regulations. Specifically, the Complaint alleges that Liu promoted political fundraising events targeted to foreign nationals, which resulted in Liu providing substantial assistance to foreign nationals making contributions in Liu's name in connection with their attendance at political fundraising events.<sup>1</sup> Given the limited factual record, the Commission dismisses the allegations.

II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

According to the Complaint Hui Liu is the wife of Jon Deng — the Director of the Palm Beach County chapter of the Asian GOP.<sup>2</sup> The Complaint alleges that Liu and Deng are associated with Li Juan "Cindy" Gong f/k/a Li Juan "Cindy" Yang ("Yang") who is reportedly a Florida businesswoman who, along with members of her family, formed, owned, and operated a number of day spas in Florida.<sup>3</sup> After the 2016 election, Yang began marketing tourism packages that purportedly promised Chinese businesspeople access to American politicians and

Factual and Legal Analysis

1 III. LEGAL ANALYSIS

2 The Act and Commission regulations prohibit any “foreign national” from directly or 3 indirectly making a contribution or donation of money or other thing of value, or an expenditure,
4 independent expenditure, or disbursement, in connection with a federal, state, or local election.<sup>11</sup>

5 The Act’s definition of “foreign national” includes an individual who is not a citizen or national 6 of the United States and who is not lawfully admitted for permanent residence.<sup>12</sup>

7 It is unlawful to knowingly provide substantial assistance in the solicitation, making,
8 acceptance, or receipt of a contribution or donation by a foreign national.<sup>13</sup> The Commission has 9 explained that substantial assistance “means active involvement in the solicitation, making, 10 receipt or acceptance of a foreign national contribution or donation with an intent to facilitate 11 successful completion of the transaction.”<sup>14</sup> Moreover, substantial assistance “covers but is not 12 limited to, those persons who act as conduits or intermediaries for foreign national contributions 13 or donations.”<sup>15</sup> In the context of foreign national attendance at fundraising events, the 14 Commission in MUR 4530, et al. (DNC, et al.) found reason to believe as to and conciliated with

2 Subsequent to these conciliations and after Congress enacted the Bipartisan Campaign Reform
3 Act of 2002,<sup>17</sup> the Commission issued further guidance reaffirming that it is illegal for U.S.
4 citizens to serve as conduits or render substantial assistance in the making of foreign national 5 contributions.<sup>18</sup>

6 The Act provides that a contribution includes “any gift, subscription, loan, advance, or 7 deposit of money or anything of value made by any person for the purpose of influencing any 8 election for Federal office.”<sup>19</sup> The Act prohibits a person from making a contribution in the 9 name of another person, knowingly permitting his or her name to be used to effect such a
10 contribution, or knowingly accepting such a contribution.<sup>20</sup> The Commission has included in its 11 regulations illustrations of activities that constitute making a contribution in the name of another:

- 12 (i) Giving money or anything of value, all or part of which was provided to the 13 contributor by another person (the true contributor) without disclosing the 14 source of money or the thing of value to the recipient candidate or committee 15 at the time the contribution is made; or
- 16 (ii) Making a contribution of money or anything of value and attributing as the 17 source of the money or thing of value another person when in fact the 18 contributor is the source.<sup>21</sup>

1           The requirement that a contribution be made in the name of its true source promotes 2 Congress’s objective of ensuring the complete and accurate disclosure by candidates and 3 committees of the political contributions they receive.<sup>22</sup> Courts therefore have uniformly 4 rejected the assertion that “only the person who actually transmits funds . . . makes the 5 contribution,”<sup>23</sup> recognizing that “it is implausible that Congress, in seeking to promote 6 transparency, would have understood the relevant contributor to be [an] intermediary who 7 merely transmitted the campaign gift.”<sup>24</sup> Consequently, both the Act and the Commission’s 8 implementing regulations provide that a person who furnishes another with funds for the purpose
9 of contributing to a candidate or committee “makes” the resulting contribution.<sup>25</sup> This is true 10 whether funds are advanced to another person to make a contribution in that person’s name or 11 promised as reimbursement of a solicited contribution.<sup>26</sup> Because the concern of the law is the 12 true source from which a contribution to a candidate or committee originates, we look to the

5 I. INTRODUCTION

6 The Complaint in this matter alleges that Jingzhu “Margaret” Yang engaged in a scheme 7 to funnel excessive contributions of her own funds and other individuals’ foreign national 8 contributions to several committees in violation of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, 9 as amended (the “Act”), and Commission regulations. Specifically, the Complaint alleges that 10 Yang promoted political fundraising events targeted to foreign nationals, which resulted in Yang 11 providing substantial assistance to foreign nationals making contributions in connection with 12 their attendance at political fundraising events.<sup>1</sup> Given the limited factual record, the 13 Commission dismisses the allegations.

14 II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

15 On December 2, 2017, Trump Victory, a joint fundraising committee, hosted a fundraiser
16 at Cipriani restaurant in New York City to which tickets cost $1,000 for general admission, 17 “VIP” tickets cost $2,700,<sup>2</sup> and posing for a photograph with President Trump at the event was

4
5 I. INTRODUCTION

6 The Complaint in this matter alleges that Katrina Eggertsson knowingly served as a 7 conduit in a scheme to funnel excessive contributions to several committees in violation of the 8 Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (the “Act”), and Commission regulations.
9 Specifically, the Complaint alleges that Eggertsson made a $5,400 contribution in her name, 10 when it was really made using funds of her employer, Li Juan “Cindy” Gong f/k/a Li Juan 11 “Cindy” Yang (“Yang”) to Trump Victory,<sup>1</sup> a joint fundraising committee, structured to allocate 12 the first $5,400 in contributions to the Make America Great Again PAC f/k/a Donald J. Trump 13 for President, Inc. (“Trump Committee”).<sup>2</sup> Because the available information does not indicate 14 that Eggertsson played a significant role in carrying out the alleged reimbursed contribution 15 scheme, the Commission dismisses the allegations.

16 II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

17 Yang is reportedly a Florida businesswoman who, along with members of her family, 18 formed, owned, and operated a number of day spas in Florida.<sup>3</sup> According to the Complaints,

5 III. LEGAL ANALYSIS

6 The Act provides that a contribution includes "any gift, subscription, loan, advance, or 7 deposit of money or anything of value made by any person for the purpose of influencing any 8 election for Federal office."<sup>7</sup> The Act prohibits a person from making a contribution in the name
9 of another person, knowingly permitting his or her name to be used to effect such a contribution,
10 or knowingly accepting such a contribution.<sup>8</sup> The Commission has included in its regulations 11 illustrations of activities that constitute making a contribution in the name of another:

- 12 (i) Giving money or anything of value, all or part of which was provided to the 13 contributor by another person (the true contributor) without disclosing the 14 source of money or the thing of value to the recipient candidate or committee

- 16 (ii) Making a contribution of money or anything of value and attributing as the

4
5 I. INTRODUCTION

6 The Complaint in this matter alleges that Li Jing engaged in a scheme to funnel excessive 7 contributions of Jing’s own funds and other individuals’ foreign national contributions to several 8 committees in violation of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (the “Act”), 9 and Commission regulations. Specifically, the Complaint alleges that Jing promoted political 10 fundraising events targeted to foreign nationals, which resulted in Jing providing substantial 11 assistance to foreign nationals making contributions in Jing’s name in connection with their 12 attendance at political fundraising events.<sup>1</sup> Given the limited factual record, the Commission 13 dismisses the allegations.

14 II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

15 According to the Complaint Jing is a “New-York based Chinese socialite” who is close 16 with the Trump family. The Complaint alleges that Jing is associated with Li Juan “Cindy” 17 Gong f/k/a Li Juan “Cindy” Yang (“Yang”) who is reportedly a Florida businesswoman who,

1 On December 2, 2017, Trump Victory, a joint fundraising committee, hosted a fundraiser at 2 Cipriani restaurant in New York City to which tickets cost $1,000 for general admission, “VIP” 3 tickets cost $2,700,<sup>4</sup> and posing for a photograph with President Trump at the event was 4 available for contributors who donated $50,000 to Trump Victory.<sup>5</sup> In the two weeks preceding 5 the event, Yang made three contributions to Trump Victory totaling $23,500.<sup>6</sup> Yang reportedly 6 arranged for a large group of businesspeople from China to attend the December 2, 2017 event.<sup>7</sup>
7 According to the Complaint Jing assisted Yang in these efforts.<sup>8</sup> The Complaint alleges that Jing 8 promoted attendance at political fundraising events with Yang, which appears to have resulted in 9 the provision of substantial assistance to foreign nationals in making prohibited contributions in

2 The Act’s definition of “foreign national” includes an individual who is not a citizen or national

4 It is unlawful to knowingly provide substantial assistance in the solicitation, making,

5 I. INTRODUCTION

6 The Complaint alleges that, Li Xiaohua, a foreign national, made prohibited contributions 7 in connection with attendance at political fundraising events.<sup>1</sup> Given the limited factual record, 8 the Commission dismisses the allegations.

9 II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

10 On December 2, 2017, Trump Victory, a joint fundraising committee, hosted a fundraiser
11 at Cipriani restaurant in New York City to which tickets cost $1,000 for general admission, 12 “VIP” tickets cost $2,700,<sup>2</sup> and posing for a photograph with President Trump at the event was 13 available for contributors who donated $50,000 to Trump Victory.<sup>3</sup>

14 The December 2, 2017 Trump Victory fundraiser was reportedly promoted on Chinese 15 language social media.<sup>4</sup> A large group of businesspeople from China reportedly attended the 16 December 2, 2017 event.<sup>5</sup> According to press accounts, multiple Chinese nationals including

5 I. INTRODUCTION

6 The Complaint in this matter alleges that Ma Jin engaged in a scheme to funnel excessive 7 contributions of Jin’s own funds and other individuals’ foreign national contributions to several 8 committees in violation of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (the “Act”), 9 and Commission regulations. Specifically, the Complaint alleges that Jin promoted political 10 fundraising events targeted to foreign nationals, which resulted in Jin providing substantial 11 assistance to foreign nationals making contributions in connection with their attendance at 12 political fundraising events.<sup>1</sup> Given the limited factual record, the Commission dismisses the 13 allegations.

14 II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

15 According to the Complaint, Jin arranged for Chinese nationals to attend a June 2019 16 Trump Victory, a joint fundraising committee, fundraiser at Mar-a-Lago club in Palm Beach, 17 Florida.<sup>2</sup> The Complaint alleges that Jin promoted attendance at political fundraising events 18 through a political tourism business called HGGT Limited, which appears to have resulted in the 19 provision of substantial assistance to foreign nationals in making prohibited contributions in

FEDERAL ELECTION COMMISSION*FACTUAL AND LEGAL ANALYSIS

RESPONDENT: Xinyue “Daniel” Lou MUR 7614

I. INTRODUCTION

The Complaint in this matter alleges that Xinyue “Daniel” Lou engaged in a scheme to funnel excessive contributions of his own funds and other individuals’ foreign national contributions to several committees in violation of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (the “Act”), and Commission regulations. Specifically, the Complaint alleges that Lou promoted political fundraising events targeted to foreign nationals, which resulted in Lou providing substantial assistance to foreign nationals making contributions in connection with their attendance at political fundraising events.<sup>1</sup> Given the limited factual record, the Commission dismisses the allegations.

II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

On December 2, 2017, Trump Victory, a joint fundraising committee, hosted a fundraiser at Cipriani restaurant in New York City to which tickets cost $1,000 for general admission,<sup>2</sup> “VIP” tickets cost $2,700,<sup>3</sup> and posing for a photograph with President Trump at the event was available for contributors who donated $50,000 to Trump Victory.<sup>4</sup> According to the Complaint,

1 Lou brought 30 Chinese guests to the December 2 fundraiser.<sup>5</sup> The Complaint alleges that Lou 2 promoted attendance at political fundraising events through a political tourism business which 3 appears to have resulted in the provision of substantial assistance to foreign nationals in making 4 prohibited contributions in violation of 11 C.F.R. § 110.20(h)(1).<sup>6</sup> Lou specifically stated in his 5 unsworn response that he used his own money to make his contribution and that all of his guests
6 were either “American citizens or permanent residents.”<sup>7</sup>

7 III. LEGAL ANALYSIS

8 The Act and Commission regulations prohibit any “foreign national” from directly or 9 indirectly making a contribution or donation of money or other thing of value, or an expenditure,
10 independent expenditure, or disbursement, in connection with a federal, state, or local election.<sup>8</sup>
11 The Act’s definition of “foreign national” includes an individual who is not a citizen or national 12 of the United States and who is not lawfully admitted for permanent residence.<sup>9</sup>

13 It is unlawful to knowingly provide substantial assistance in the solicitation, making,
14 acceptance, or receipt of a contribution or donation by a foreign national.<sup>10</sup> The Commission has 15 explained that substantial assistance “means active involvement in the solicitation, making,

3 limited to, those persons who act as conduits or intermediaries for foreign national contributions
4 or donations.”<sup>12</sup> In the context of foreign national attendance at fundraising events, the 5 Commission in MUR 4530, et al. (DNC, et al.) found reason to believe as to and conciliated with 6 a number of individuals who made and facilitated the making of foreign national contributions 7 and contributions in the name of another in connection with attendance at fundraising events.<sup>13</sup>
8 Subsequent to these conciliations and after Congress enacted the Bipartisan Campaign Reform
9 Act of 2002,<sup>14</sup> the Commission issued further guidance reaffirming that it is illegal for U.S.

6 I. INTRODUCTION

7 The Complaint in this matter alleges that Trump Victory and Bradley T. Crate in his 8 official capacity as treasurer (“Trump Victory”), a joint fundraising committee, knowingly 9 accepted excessive and prohibited foreign national contributions in violation of the Federal 10 Election Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (the “Act”), and Commission regulations.
11 Specifically, the Complaint alleges that Cindy Yang made contributions in the names of several

5 language social media.<sup>5</sup> Yang reportedly arranged for a large group of businesspeople from 6 China to attend the December 2, 2017 event.<sup>6</sup>

7 Yang also attended a March 3, 2018 Trump Victory fundraiser, reportedly again 8 accompanied by Chinese national guests. The event, held at Trump’s Mar-a-Lago resort, was 9 billed as an “evening reception with Donald J. Trump.” As shown in the invitation below, 10 tickets to the event started at $2,700 per person for attendance at the reception, while a $25,000 11 “raise per person” would include attendance to the reception and two tickets to a seated dinner 12 with Trump.<sup>7</sup> A “$50,000 raise per person” would also include a photo with Trump.<sup>8</sup> The 13 invitation to the event specified that “Funds must be raised in increments not to exceed $5,400 14 per person.”

SPACE IS LIMITED. RSVPs WILL BE ACCOMMODATED ON A FIRST COME, FIRST SERVED BASIS.
*FUNDS MUST BE RAISED IN INCREMENTS NOT TO EXCEED $5,400 PER PERSON.

Paid for by Trump Victory, a joint fundraising committee authorized by and composed of Donald J. Trump for President, Inc., and the Republican National Committee.

1
2 In addition to reportedly bringing at least four Chinese national guests to the March 3, 3 2018 fundraiser, Yang also achieved the $50,000 raise per person needed to obtain a photograph 4 of herself with Trump at the event by bundling contributions reported to be from friends and 5 family members.

1           According to the Complaint, nine of Yang’s family members and work associates, who 2 did not appear to possess significant financial means and none of whom had prior histories of 3 making political donations, made the maximum contribution of $5,400 to the Trump Committee 4 via Trump Victory.<sup>9</sup> The Complaint alleges that at least nine of Yang’s family members and 5 work associates, some of them believed to have modest incomes, made contributions of $5,400, 6 and contend that the contributions were made using the funds of another person.<sup>10</sup>

7           LEGAL ANALYSIS

8           The Act provides that a contribution includes “any gift, subscription, loan, advance, or 9 deposit of money or anything of value made by any person for the purpose of influencing any 10 election for Federal office.”<sup>11</sup> The Act prohibits a person from making a contribution in the 11 name of another person, knowingly permitting his or her name to be used to effect such a
12 contribution, or knowingly accepting such a contribution.<sup>12</sup> The Commission has included in its 13 regulations illustrations of activities that constitute making a contribution in the name of another:

- 14           (i) Giving money or anything of value, all or part of which was provided to the 15 contributor by another person (the true contributor) without disclosing the 16 source of money or the thing of value to the recipient candidate or committee 17 at the time the contribution is made; or
- 18           (ii) Making a contribution of money or anything of value and attributing as the 19 source of the money or thing of value another person when in fact the

1           The requirement that a contribution be made in the name of its true source promotes 2 Congress’s objective of ensuring the complete and accurate disclosure by candidates and 3 committees of the political contributions they receive.<sup>14</sup> Courts therefore have uniformly 4 rejected the assertion that “only the person who actually transmits funds . . . makes the 5 contribution,”<sup>15</sup> recognizing that “it is implausible that Congress, in seeking to promote 6 transparency, would have understood the relevant contributor to be [an] intermediary who 7 merely transmitted the campaign gift.”<sup>16</sup> Consequently, both the Act and the Commission’s 8 implementing regulations provide that a person who furnishes another with funds for the purpose
9 of contributing to a candidate or committee “makes” the resulting contribution.<sup>17</sup> This is true 10 whether funds are advanced to another person to make a contribution in that person’s name or 11 promised as reimbursement of a solicited contribution.<sup>18</sup> Because the concern of the law is the 12 true source from which a contribution to a candidate or committee originates, we look to the

Reed*, 561 U.S. 186, 199 (2010) (“Public disclosure also promotes transparency and accountability in the electoral process to an extent other measures cannot.”).

<sup>17</sup> See Boender, 649 F.3d at 660 (holding that to determine who made a contribution, “we consider the giver to be the source of the gift, not any intermediary who simply conveys the gift from the donor to the donee” (emphasis added)); O’Donnell, 608 F.3d at 550; *Goland v. <sup>18</sup> O’Donnell, 608 F.3d at 555. Moreover, the “key issue . . . is the source of the funds” and, therefore, the legal status of the funds when conveyed from a conduit to the ultimate recipient is “irrelevant to a determination of who ‘made’ the contribution for the purposes of [Section 30122].” United States v. Whittemore, 776 F.3d 1074, 1080 (9th Cir. 2015) (holding that defendant’s “unconditional gifts” to relatives and employees, along with suggestion they contribute the funds to a specific political committee, violated Section 30122 because the source of the funds remained the individual who provided them to the putative contributors).

1 structure of the transaction itself and the arrangement between the parties to determine who, in 2 fact, “made” a given contribution.

3 The Act prohibits any person from making, and any candidate or committee from 4 knowingly accepting, an excessive contribution.<sup>19</sup> For 2017 and 2018, contributions by persons 5 other than multicandidate committees to any candidate and his or her authorized political 6 committees were limited to $2,700 per election.<sup>20</sup>

7 The Act and Commission regulations prohibit any “foreign national” from directly or 8 indirectly making a contribution or donation of money or other thing of value, or an expenditure,
9 independent expenditure, or disbursement, in connection with a federal, state, or local election.<sup>21</sup>
10 The Act prohibits persons from soliciting, accepting, or receiving a contribution or donation 11 from a foreign national.<sup>22</sup> Commission regulations state that persons may not knowingly solicit, 12 accept, or receive such a contribution or donation.<sup>23</sup> The Act’s definition of “foreign national” 13 includes an individual who is not a citizen or national of the United States and who is not 14 lawfully admitted for permanent residence.<sup>24</sup> Commission regulations define “knowingly” as

1 facts that would lead a reasonable person to conclude that there is a substantial probability that 2 the source of the funds is a foreign national, or (iii) being aware of facts that would lead a 3 reasonable person to inquire whether the source of the funds is a foreign national but failed to 4 conduct a reasonable inquiry.<sup>25</sup> Provided that a foreign national does not make a contribution of 5 personal funds to attend a fundraising event, the Act does not prohibit a foreign national from 6 attending such an event.<sup>26</sup>

7 The available information does not indicate the knowing receipt of contributions in the 8 name of another or foreign national contributions by the recipient committees. Accordingly, the 9 Commission dismisses the allegations that Trump Victory knowingly accepted contributions in 10 the name of another and foreign national contributions and donations.<sup>27</sup>
