RESPONDENTS: John James for Senate, Inc. and Timothy Caughlin in his official capacity

I. INTRODUCTION

The Complaints in these matters allege that Better Future Michigan, Inc. (“BFM”), a non-profit corporation, made prohibited in-kind contributions to John James and John James for Senate, Inc. and Timothy Caughlin in his official capacity as Treasurer (the “Committee”), in violation of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971 as amended (“the Act”). The Complaints allege that within a month of leaving her employment with the Committee in May 2019, Victoria Sachs became Executive Director of BFM, which ran negative advertisements featuring Gary Peters, James’s opponent in the 2020 race for U.S. Senate in Michigan, in coordination with James and the Committee. The Complaint in MUR 7716 also alleges that James, through Sachs as his agent, directly or indirectly established, financed, maintained or controlled (“EFMC’d”) BFM.¹

The Respondents deny that the advertisements satisfy the Commission’s standards for coordinated communications because they do not satisfy the conduct prong. Further, Respondents deny that the Committee had any involvement, directly or indirectly through Sachs, in the establishment of BFM.

As discussed below, there is insufficient information to support the allegations that BFM made communications in coordination with James and the Committee or that Sachs acted as

James's agent when she became BFM's Executive Director. Thus, the Commission:

(1) dismisses the allegation that BFM made, and James and the Committee accepted, a prohibited in-kind contribution in violation of 52 U.S.C. § 30118(a); and (2) dismisses the allegation that James, the Committee, BFM, and Sachs violated 52 U.S.C. § 30125(e)(1) by soliciting, receiving, directing, transferring, or spending funds prohibited under the Act in connection with an election for federal office.

II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

On June 6, 2019, James declared his 2020 candidacy for U.S. Senate in Michigan; his opponent is Senator Gary Peters.² John James for Senate, Inc., is James's principal campaign committee.³

In 2018, James also ran for U.S. Senate in Michigan against Senator Debbie Stabenow and designated the Committee as his principal campaign committee.⁴ Sachs was James's campaign manager for his 2018 candidacy. After James lost the election, Sachs began serving James as an independent contractor in January 2019 to "assist with 2018 vendor issues, 2018 donor maintenance, and Mr. James [sic] 2020 testing-the-waters process to decide whether to run for office again, and if so, for what office."⁵ Sachs received her last payment from the Committee on May 3, 2019.⁶ While the Complaints allege that Sachs served the Committee for the entire month of May, Respondents contend that Sachs’s independent contractor relationship with the Committee concluded the same day she received final payment.⁷

The next month, Sachs became the first Executive Director of BFM, which was incorporated on June 12, 2019, as a section 501(c)(4) organization established under the Internal Revenue Code.⁸ According to its Articles of Incorporation, BFM’s purpose is “to educate and engage the public on the need for leadership committed to taking action to secure a better future through strong national security, and increased economic and educational opportunities with the objective of ensuring everyone the opportunity to achieve the American Dream.”⁹

The Complaints and Responses identify three advertisements paid for by BFM. The Complaints focus on “Eliminate,”¹⁰ which ran on Facebook from August 7-12, 2019 (within 120 days of Sachs’s departure from the Committee).¹¹ The Responses cite two additional advertisements – “Falling in Line”¹² and “Radical Washington Liberals”¹³ – that BFM states it publicly distributed in December 2019 (more than 120 days after Sachs’s departure).¹⁴

Relying on a Daily Beast article, the Complaint in MUR 7714 alleges that the Committee and BFM used some of the same vendors – IMGE and Smart Media Group.¹⁵ First, the article notes that James’s largest vendor during the 2020 cycle is IMGE, a digital consulting firm. The article states that BFM used IMGE to create its website and “[h]ours after [The Daily Beast journalist] asked the James campaign about that particular case of apparent vendor overlap, BFM’s website registration data was scrubbed of fingerprints tying it to IMGE.”¹⁶ Second, the Complaint alleges an overlap because the Committee used Smart Media Group to place its ads in 2018, and BFM used Del Cielo Media, a subsidiary of Smart Media group, to place its ads.¹⁷

In response, BFM and the Committee both admit that they have each used IMGE. BFM hired IMGE to create its website, which the non-profit described as “an online platform dedicated to educating Michiganders on important policy issues.”¹⁸ The Committee hired IMGE for “media buying services” shortly before James announced his candidacy; since then, the Committee has disbursed $728,566.39 to the firm though July 15, 2020.¹⁹ Both respondents contend that IMGE used a firewall policy to prevent its work from being shared with other clients and provided excerpts of the firewall policy from their respective contracts.²⁰

As to Smart Media Group and its subsidiary Del Cielo Media (“Del Cielo”), the Committee acknowledges that it used Smart Media Group for ad placements, but states that its contract ended after the 2018 election, more than 120 days before BFM incorporated.²¹ BFM acknowledges that it currently uses Del Cielo for ad placement.²² concert with, or at the request or suggestion of, a candidate or the authorized committee or their agents, it is treated as an in-kind contribution.²⁵

Under the Commission's regulations, a communication is "coordinated" with a candidate, an authorized committee, a political party committee, or agent thereof, and is treated as an in-kind contribution, if the communication satisfies a three-prong test: (1) it is paid for, partly or entirely, by a person other than the candidate, authorized committee, political party committee, or agent thereof; (2) it satisfies at least one of the "content standards" at 11 C.F.R. § 109.21(c); and (3) it satisfies at least one of the "conduct standards" at 11 C.F.R. § 109.21(d).²⁶ All three prongs must be satisfied for a communication to be considered coordinated.²⁷

The three advertisements in question satisfy the first prong because BFM, not James or the Committee, paid for the ads. However, they do not appear to constitute coordinated communications because they do not meet any of the conduct standards set forth at section 109.21(d).²⁸ The "conduct" prong will be satisfied if: (1) the communication was created, produced, or distributed at the request or suggestion of a candidate or his campaign; (2) the candidate or his campaign was materially involved in decisions regarding the communication; (3) the communication was created, produced, or distributed after substantial discussions with the campaign or its agents; (4) the parties contracted with or employed a common vendor that used or conveyed material information about the campaign's plans, projects, activities or needs, or used material information gained from past work with the candidate to create, produce, or distribute the communication; (5) the payor employed a former employee or independent contractor of the candidate who used or conveyed material information about the campaign's plans, projects, activities or needs, or used material information gained from past work with the candidate to create, produce, or distribute the communication; or (6) the payor republished campaign material.²⁹

The Complaints allege that the ads satisfy the conduct prong because: (1) Sachs joined BFM approximately a month after she had served as an advisor to James; and (2) BFM shared common vendors with the Committee.³⁰

1. Former Employee or Independent Contractor

Under the "former employee or independent contractor standard," the conduct prong may be satisfied if: (1) the payor employed a person who had been an employee or independent contractor of the candidate's authorized committee during the previous 120 days; and (2) that former employee or independent contractor conveyed to the payor material information about the campaign's plans, projects, activities or needs, or used information gained from past work with the candidate that was material to creating, producing, or distributing the communication.³¹ The first part of the former employee standard is satisfied here because the Committee had an independent contractor arrangement with Sachs within 120 days of BFM creating "Eliminate,"

1 which was the only ad of the three in question disseminated in the 120 days after Sachs left the
2 Committee.³²

3 Regarding the second part of the standard, the Commission has explained that “campaign
4 information must be both current and proprietary (that is, non-public) to be subject to the
5 coordinated communications regulation.”³³ Similarly, when creating the standard, the 6 Commission noted “much of the information gained working for candidates during primary races
7 becomes largely irrelevant for general elections.”³⁴

8 Here, the Complaint does not allege, nor are we aware of, any specific facts indicating 9 that Sachs used non-public material information in creating, producing, or distributing
10 “Eliminate.” The campaign that Sachs managed for James in 2018 was against a different
11 opponent – Debbie Stabenow, not Gary Peters – suggesting that whatever Sachs may have 12 learned from her work in the 2018 race would have less value for the 2020 race. Although Sachs
13 also advised James while he was testing the waters for his 2020 campaign, there is insufficient
14 information to support finding reason to believe that any non-public information she may have 15 had about the Committee’s plans was actually material to the creation, development, or 16 distribution of “Eliminate.”

17 Instead, the Complaint posits that “[i]f Ms. Sachs used or conveyed any material, non-18 public information regarding the James campaign’s projects, plans, activities or needs, the 19 conduct prong is clearly met.”³⁵ The Commission has previously declined to investigate matters

³² Respondents assert that Sachs’s last day with the Committee was May 3, 2019. See MUR 7686 James Resp. at 3. According to the Facebook Ad Library, BFM distributed “Eliminate” on August 7, 2019.

where the allegations of coordinated conduct are similarly speculative and lacked support.³⁶ A review of the available information does not support a finding that Sachs used non-public information in providing services to James and that that same information was material to the creation, production, or distribution of “Eliminate.”

2. Common Vendor

The “common vendor” conduct standard is satisfied if all of the following are true: (1) the person paying for the communication employs a commercial vendor³⁷ to “create, produce, or distribute” the communication; (2) the vendor has provided certain delineated services to the recipient of the contribution during the 120 days preceding the communication; and (3) the vendor conveys non-public information about the campaign’s “plans, projects, activities, or needs,” or services previously provided to the campaign by the vendor, and that information is material to the creation, production, or distribution of the communication.³⁸ Under a “safe harbor” provision, the common vendor conduct standard is not satisfied if a commercial vendor has established and implemented a written firewall policy that meets certain requirements, so long as material information is not shared.³⁹

³⁶ Cf. F&LA at 8-9, MUR 6358 (Jaime for Congress) (finding no reason to believe where available information did not indicate that campaign or its agents requested or suggested that third party organization “create the ad, participated in any discussion about the ad on behalf of the Committee, were materially involved in its creation or dissemination as Committee agents, or otherwise informed [organization] about the campaign’s plans, projects, activities or needs.”), F&LA at 5-6, MUR 5999 (NRCC, et al.) (finding no reason to believe where respondents rebutted allegations that former employees of party committee shared material information to create communication). We note that in prior matters, such as MURs 6368 and 5999, the Commission relied, in part, on respondents’ sworn affidavits or declarations and respondents in the instant matters did not provide such statements. However, because the Complaints rely on speculation to satisfy the former employee standard, and we are not aware of information supporting the allegation, the lack of sworn statements is of less import.

³⁷ “Commercial vendor” means any persons providing goods or services to a candidate or political committee whose usual and normal business involves the sale, rental, lease or provision of those goods or services. 11 C.F.R. § 116.1(c).

³⁸ Id. § 109.21(d)(4)(i)-(iii).

³⁹ Id. § 109.21(h). A firewall policy satisfies this safe harbor if it (1) is designed and implemented to prohibit the flow of information between employees or consultants providing services for the person paying for the

The information does not support a finding that the Committee and BFM coordinated communications through Smart Media Group and Del Cielo. Even assuming that the parent firm and its subsidiary are a “common vendor,” their work does not satisfy the second part of the standard: providing certain delineated services to the Committee during the 120 days preceding BFM’s advertisements.⁴⁰ Smart Media Group stopped providing services to the Committee more than 120 days before BFM began using Del Cielo.⁴¹

IMGE, on the other hand, did provide qualifying services to the Committee within 120 days of all three of BFM’s advertisements. The Committee has used IMGE for media placements since James announced his candidacy in June 2019,⁴² and during that time, BFM hired IMGE to build its website.⁴³ There is no information in the record, however, that the first part of the common vendor standard is satisfied: there is no allegation that IMGE “create[d], produce[d], or distribute[d]” any of BFM’s three advertisements, and we are not aware of any such information.⁴⁴ communication and those employees or consultants currently or previously providing services to the candidate who is clearly identified in the communication, or that candidate’s authorized committee, the candidate’s opponent, the opponent’s authorized committee or a political party committee; and (2) is described in a written policy distributed to all relevant employees, consultants and clients. Id. § 109.21(h)(1)-(2). This safe harbor does not apply if specific information indicates that, despite the firewall policy, material information about the candidate’s campaign plans, projects, activities, or needs was used or conveyed to the person paying for the communication. Id. § 109.21(h).

⁴⁰ See Id. § 109.21(d)(4)(ii).

⁴³ MUR 7714 BFM Resp. at 7. Respondents also rebut the allegation by invoking the safe-harbor provision and pointing to IMGE’s internal firewall policy found in the entities’ contracts with the consulting firm. MUR 7714 James Resp. at 5; MUR 7714 BFM Resp. at 2-3, 7-8. We note that Respondents did not provide copies of the actual signed contracts or of IMGE’s firewall policy.

⁴⁴ See 11 C.F.R. § 109.21(d)(4)(i); MUR 7714 Compl. at 1-2.

In addition, the Complaint does not allege that IMGE conveyed material non-public information about the Committee's plans, projects, activities, or needs to create, produce, or distribute the communications paid for by BFM.⁴⁵ And we are not aware of any. Rather, the Complaint relies on the fact the Committee and BFM used IMGE within the same 120 days, but such facts are insufficient to satisfy this element of the conduct prong.⁴⁶ The Commission has explained that "the mere presence of a common vendor" does not result in a presumption of coordination.⁴⁷ Thus, the available information indicates that the common vendor conduct standard has not been satisfied.

Because the record does not support a finding that the conduct standard is satisfied for any of the advertisements in question, the Commission dismisses the allegation that Respondents made or accepted a prohibited in-kind contribution in violation of 52 U.S.C. § 30118(a).⁴⁸

B. There Is Insufficient Information to Support a Reason to Believe Finding That Respondents Violated the Act's Soft-Money Provisions

The Complaint in MUR 7716 alleges that James, through his agent, Sachs, established BFM to raise and spend non-federal funds to support his election.⁴⁹ The Complaint asserts that "[i]t is nearly impossible" to believe Sachs acted of her own accord, and not as an agent of James, in helping to establish BFM because: (1) she went from the Committee directly to BFM

⁴⁵ See 11 C.F.R. § 109.21(d)(4)(iii).

⁴⁶ See F&LA at 9, MUR 6477 (Huey, et al.) (finding no reason to believe that common vendor standard was satisfied where there was no information indicating that common vendor "used or conveyed information material to the creation, production, or distribution of the communication").

⁴⁷ Coordinated & Independent Expenditures, 68 Fed. Reg. 421, 437 (Jan. 3, 2003).

⁴⁸ In addition, none of the remaining conduct standards appear to be satisfied. The available information does not indicate that BFM created, produced, or distributed the relevant ads at the request or suggestion of James or the Committee. Further, the record does not indicate that James or the Committee were materially involved in or had a substantial discussion with BFM to create, produce, or distribute the ads, or that BFM republished the Committee's campaign material.

⁴⁹ MUR 7716 Compl. at 1.

just a few weeks later; and (2) BFM promptly ran negative advertisements featuring Gary Peters, the incumbent senator and James's opponent.⁵⁰

The Act prohibits a candidate, an agent thereof, or an entity directly or indirectly established, financed, maintained or controlled by or acting on behalf of a candidate from soliciting, receiving, directing, transferring, or spending funds in connection with a federal election that do not comply with the limits, prohibitions, and reporting requirements of the Act.⁵¹ Commission regulations provide that an agent is "any person who has actual authority, either express or implied," to solicit, receive, direct, transfer, or spend funds in connection with any election.⁵²

Here, the record does not contain sufficient information to support a reasonable inference that Sachs continued to serve as James's agent after she terminated her independent contractor relationship with him in May 2019. According to the Committee's 2019 July Quarterly Report, Sachs received her last payment from the Committee on May 3, 2019, and Respondents contend that she stopped providing services to James and the Committee at or before that time.⁵³ Although the Complaints suggest that Sachs continued her work for the Committee throughout May, Respondents directly rebut the suggestion, and there is no available information corroborating it. The Complaint relies on the timing of Sachs's transition from the Committee to BFM and BFM's advertising attacking James's opponent, but the available information is
