STATEMENT OF REASONS OF COMMISSIONER ELLEN L. WEINTRAUB

The Complaint in this matter concerned the interplay between the coordination provisions and the internet exemption in the law and Commission regulations.¹ Specifically, the Complaint alleged that a network of political committees and organizations that had been established or controlled by David Brock made, and Hillary for America and Elizabeth Cohen in her official capacity as treasurer accepted, in-kind contributions in the form of coordinated expenditures and communications that resulted in excessive and prohibited contributions.² The Commission has rarely mustered four votes to address coordination allegations and did not do so here.

Our Office of General Counsel (“OGC”) recommended that the Commission dismiss many of these allegations concerning most of the organizations, but recommended that the Commission find reason to believe that Correct the Record and Elizabeth Cohen in her official capacity as treasurer made and failed to report excessive in-kind contributions to Hillary for America, and that Hillary for America knowingly accepted and failed to report those in-kind contributions.³ The respondents did not deny coordinating; rather, they claimed their activity was covered by the internet exemption.⁴ OGC’s analysis concluded that the internet exemption is not so capacious. Consistent with my vote in MURs 6940, 7097, 7146, 7160, and 7193 (Correct the Record),⁵ I agreed with our Office of General Counsel’s recommendations and voted to approve them subject to edits to two of their proposed Factual and Legal Analyses.⁶ These edits primarily eliminated reliance in any way on materials that been obtained through hacking by foreign adversaries as

RESPONDENT: AB PAC and Rodell Mollineau in his official capacity as treasurer

MUR: 7726

I. INTRODUCTION

This matter was generated by a complaint filed with the Federal Election Commission by Craig Robinson and the Patriots Foundation. The Complaint makes various allegations that AB PAC and Rodell Mollineau in his official capacity as treasurer (“AB PAC”) violated the Federal Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (the “Act”), and Commission regulations through its activities as part of a network of political committees and organizations allegedly established or controlled by political operative David Brock, as well as through its interactions with Hillary for America (“HFA”), the authorized committee of 2016 presidential candidate Hillary R. Clinton. The network of organizations allegedly established or controlled by Brock includes Media Matters for America (“MMA”), American Bridge 21st Century Foundation (“AB Foundation”), and Correct the Record and Elizabeth Cohen in her official capacity as treasurer (“CTR”).

First, the Complaint alleges that, during the 2016 election, MMA made in-kind contributions to AB PAC in the form of “uncompensated services,” which AB PAC failed to report. The Complaint asserts that it is “reasonable to infer” that MMA provided unspecified services to AB PAC based on their shared physical address and goal of helping to elect Clinton. The Response argues that the Complaint fails to adequately allege any violation of the Act. Because the allegation is vague, speculative, and unsupported by the available information, the Commission dismisses the allegation that AB PAC failed to report in-kind contributions from MMA in violation of 52 U.S.C. § 30104(b)(3)(A) and 11 C.F.R. § 104.3(a).

MUR 7726 (AB PAC)

PROPOSED Factual & Legal Analysis

1 Second, given an arrangement whereby AB PAC and AB Foundation share certain 2 administrative expenses based on “management and budgeted” estimates, the Complaint alleges 3 that AB PAC’s reporting of the payments arising out of its cost-sharing arrangement with AB
4 Foundation are inaccurate. The Response argues that the Complaint has provided no evidence 5 that the estimates yielded incorrect reporting. Because there is no indication from the available
6 information to suggest any discrepancies between the estimates and actual costs, the Commission 7 dismisses the allegation that AB PAC violated 52 U.S.C. § 30104(b)(3)(A) and 11 C.F.R.
8 § 104.3(b) by submitting inaccurate disclosure reports.

9 Third, the Complaint alleges that AB PAC’s independent expenditures during the 2016 10 election opposing Donald J. Trump, Clinton’s general election opponent, should have been 11 reported as in-kind contributions to HFA because AB PAC “did not operate independently” of 12 CTR which “openly coordinated” with HFA. The Response argues that the Complaint fails to 13 point to any specific AB PAC communication that satisfies the Commission’s coordinated 14 communication test at 11 C.F.R. § 109.21. The available information, including the alleged 15 association between CTR and HFA, is insufficient to infer that AB PAC, by extension, 16 coordinated with HFA. Therefore, the Commission dismisses the allegation that AB PAC made 17 unreported, excessive in-kind contributions in violation of 52 U.S.C. §§ 30104(b)(6)(B)(i), 18 30116(a)(2)(A) and 11 C.F.R. §§ 104.3(b), 110.2(b).

19 Fourth, the Complaint alleges that AB PAC made prohibited in-kind contributions to a 20 variety of unidentified Democratic candidate campaigns in the form of free research services.
21 The Complaint points to descriptions of AB PAC’s research program and its general usefulness 22 to political campaigns. The Response argues that the Complaint provides no evidence that AB 23 PAC actually provided its research to a campaign committee without charge. Given the lack of 1 specific information tending to substantiate the allegation, the Commission dismisses the 2 allegation that AB PAC made and failed to report excessive in-kind contributions to unidentified 3 campaign committees in violation of 52 U.S.C. §§ 30104(b)(6)(B)(i), 30116(a)(2)(A) and 4 11 C.F.R. §§ 104.3(b), 110.2(b).

5 II. FACTUAL AND LEGAL ANALYSIS

6 Hillary R. Clinton was a candidate for president in 2016, and HFA was her authorized 7 committee.¹ David Brock is reportedly a Democratic political operative.² He was involved in 8 the creation or operation of the entities described below.³

9 MMA is a 501(c)(3) organization that was incorporated in 2003; Brock served on its 10 inaugural Board of Directors.⁴ MMA's stated purpose is "ensuring accuracy, fairness, and a 11 balance of diverse views in the media through research, public education, and advocacy."⁵

12 AB PAC is an independent expenditure-only political committee ("IEOPC") that 13 registered with the Commission in 2010.⁶ Brock served as its initial treasurer.⁷ AB PAC

2 Democratic politics.”⁸

3 AB Foundation is a 501(c)(4) organization that was incorporated in 2011; Brock served 4 on its inaugural Board of Directors.⁹ AB Foundation’s stated purpose is to “advocate and 5 research progressive solutions to America’s public policy concerns, and to educate the American 6 people and nation’s leaders on progressive ideas.”¹⁰

7 CTR is a multicandidate hybrid political committee that registered with the Commission
8 on June 5, 2015.¹¹ It reportedly was founded by Brock and was active primarily during the 2016 9 election cycle.¹² CTR was previously a project of AB PAC during the lead-up to the presidential 10 primaries, but subsequently split off from AB PAC, its parent group.¹³ CTR’s stated purpose

CTR filed a termination report with the Commission on December 4, 2019, but, as of the date of this Report, remains an active political committee. FEC Form 3X, CTR Termination Report (Dec. 4, 2019).

As a hybrid PAC, CTR maintains a non-contribution account, to and from which it can deposit and withdraw funds raised in unlimited amounts from individuals, corporations, labor organizations, and other political committees. FEC Form 1, CTR Original Statement of Org. (June 5, 2015). The Commission issued guidance on the formation and operation of hybrid political committees following its agreement to a stipulated order and consent judgment in Carey v. FEC, Civ. No. 11-259-RMC (D.D.C. 2011), in which a non-connected committee sought to solicit and accept unlimited contributions in a separate bank account to make independent expenditures. 4 Kind Contributions Received from MMA

5 The Complaint alleges that MMA made in-kind contributions to AB PAC in the form of 6 “similar uncompensated services” which AB PAC received and failed to report. The Complaint 7 does not specify a timeframe, but states that this occurred “at least during the 2016 election.”¹⁵
8 It also does not describe the alleged uncompensated services or identify specific facts or sources 9 that otherwise support the allegations. Instead, the Complaint asserts that it is “reasonable to 10 infer” that MMA provided services to AB PAC “given [MMA’s] coordination with the Clinton 11 campaign, its steadfast focus on undertaking activities designed to help get Hillary Clinton 12 elected, and its shared office and goals with AB PAC.”¹⁶ In response, AB PAC argues that the 13 allegations are “baseless” and that “mere speculation that a violation may have occurred, without 14 facts to support the allegation, is not sufficient.”¹⁷

15 The allegation in the Complaint is vague, speculative, and unsupported by the available 16 information. Even if MMA “shared offices and goals” with AB PAC, which is not disputed, 17 those facts alone do not establish that MMA provided services to AB PAC, let alone services that 18 AB PAC failed to report. In sum, because the Complaint lacks sufficient information to support 19 the allegation, and the Commission is unaware of other information that supports it, there is

1 insufficient indication that the alleged provision of uncompensated and unreported services
 2 occurred.¹⁸ Therefore, the Commission dismisses the allegation that AB PAC failed to report in-3 kind contributions from MMA in violation of 52 U.S.C. § 30104(b)(3)(A) and 11 C.F.R.
 4 § 104.3(a).

8 1. Facts

9 AB PAC and AB Foundation share administrative expenses including for staff, office
 10 space, and overhead, and AB Foundation reimburses AB PAC for its share of these expenses
 11 pursuant to a cost-sharing agreement.¹⁹ Regarding employee salaries, AB PAC disburses 12 salaries of staff common to AB PAC and AB Foundation either on a prospective basis or 13 retroactively reimburses funds to AB PAC for work done on its behalf in accordance with the 14 “common paymaster” provisions of the Internal Revenue Code.²⁰

¹⁸ Statement of Reasons, Comm’rs Mason, Sandstrom, Smith, & Thomas at 1, MUR 4960 (Clinton for U.S. Exploratory Committee) (“The Commission may find ‘reason to believe’ only if a complaint sets forth sufficient specific facts, which, if proven true, would constitute a violation of the [Act].”).

²⁰ See Factual & Legal Analysis at 5, MUR 7284 (American Bridge 21st Century) [hereinafter MUR 7284 F&LA]. Under the common paymaster provisions in the Internal Revenue Code, two or more “related” entities, like AB PAC and AB Foundation, may employ the same individuals at the same time and pay these individuals through only one of the entities (the “common paymaster”), which is considered, for federal tax purposes, to be a single employer. 26 U.S.C. §§ 3121(s), 3306(p); Treas. Reg. §§ 31.3121(s)-1, 31.3306(p)-1. By using a common paymaster arrangement, related entities pay, in total, no more social security taxes than the organizations would pay were they a single entity, and each may deduct only its own part of the wages. Id.; Common Paymaster, IRS.GOV, <https://www.irs.gov/government-entities/common-paymaster> (last visited Nov. 12, 2020). The common paymaster is responsible for filing information and tax returns, issuing W-2 forms, and issuing the paychecks to the employee, while the other entity transfers its share of the employee expenses to the common paymaster. Id.

1 According to AB Foundation’s available annual financial statements from 2015 through 2 2018, prepared and signed by an independent auditor, AB Foundation and AB PAC do not have 3 a “formal agreement relating to the allocation of expenses.”²¹ AB Foundation’s 2015 financial 4 statement indicated that AB PAC and AB Foundation allocated expenses “based on management 5 and budgeted estimates,” and the available financial statements for the subsequent years do not 6 indicate the method by which the allocations were made.²² In its Response, AB PAC appears to 7 acknowledge the use of estimates to allocate their shared costs, but do not provide any specific 8 information.²³

9 During the period from 2011 to 2020, AB PAC reported 128 receipts from AB
10 Foundation that totaled approximately $24.3 million.²⁴ AB PAC reported the receipts on line 15
11 of its FEC disclosure reports (as “offsets to operating expenditures”), most with the reported 12 purpose of “Overhead & Staff Expenses” and some for “Overhead Expenses.”²⁵ AB PAC also 13 reported debts and obligations owed to AB Foundation for “Overhead & Staff Expenses” or

1 “Overhead Expenses” in 2011, 2013, and 2014.²⁶ Based on a review of AB Foundation’s 2 available financial statements, it appears that in 2015, AB Foundation reimbursed AB PAC for 3 expenses based on an initial calculation of its allocation and later reported a debt owed by AB
 4 PAC which reflected a reconciliation of the initial allocation.²⁷

5 The Complaint alleges that “[t]o the extent that AB Foundation’s reimbursements to AB 6 PAC are based on estimates and not actual costs, the amounts are not accurate.”²⁸ Specifically, 7 if AB Foundation’s actual shared costs are lower than those allocated, AB Foundation made 8 unreported in-kind contributions to AB PAC. If AB Foundation’s actual shared costs are higher, 9 AB PAC subsidized AB Foundation’s costs without properly reporting those disbursements.²⁹
 10 The Response contends that the Complaint “provides no evidence that the estimates used by AB 11 PAC and AB Foundation actually yielded incorrect reporting by AB PAC on its FEC reports.”³⁰

12 2. Legal Analysis

13 Political committees are required to report the identifying information of each person 14 who makes an aggregate contribution in excess of $200 within the calendar year (or election

²⁶ See, e.g., FEC Form 3X, AB PAC Amended 2011 Mid-Year Report, Sched. D at 75 (May 24, 2012) (reporting outstanding debt of $24,154.29 to AB Foundation); FEC Form 3X, AB PAC 2013 Year-End Report, Sched. D at 538 (Jan. 31, 2014) (reporting outstanding debt of $136,665.66 to AB Foundation); FEC Form 3X, AB PAC Amended 2014 April Quarterly Report, Sched. D. at 380 (July 31, 2015) (reporting outstanding debt of $371,938.22 to AB Foundation).

1 cycle, in the case of an authorized committee), together with the date and amount of any such 2 contribution.³¹ Further, political committees are required to report their disbursements,³² as well 3 as their outstanding debts and obligations.³³

4 The Commission has provided guidance to different types of political committees about 5 the variety of methods available to share or allocate costs — such as use of advances or 6 reimbursements for the expenses of staff shared with other entities — and the various methods 7 available for reporting such costs, including through reporting reimbursements for shared costs 8 as offsets to operating expenditures.³⁴

9 The cost-sharing agreement between AB Foundation and AB PAC was previously the 10 subject of MUR 7284 (American Bridge 21st Century, et al.). The complaint in that matter 11 alleged that AB PAC’s “utilization of the common paymaster arrangement [with AB Foundation] 12 may have violated the reporting requirements” of the Act.³⁵ The Commission concluded that the 13 arrangement under which AB PAC paid shared employees’ salaries; received reimbursements

³⁴ See, e.g., Advisory Op. 1995-22 (DCCC) at 3 (approving of a particular method of reporting shared employee costs in which one entity reimburses another, while also noting that the approved method “is not the only permissible method” and noting that, “normally,” committees would report such reimbursements as “offsets to operating expenditures” like refunds); Advisory Op. 1980-38 (Allen) at 2 (“AO 1980-38”) (concluding that political committee may receive reimbursement payments from non-committee for shared costs, which should be reported as offsets to operating expenditures); Advisory Op. 1978-67 (Anderson) (superseded in part by AO 1980-38 on other grounds) (concluding that Act and Commission regulations do not prohibit shared use of facilities so long as costs are allocated appropriately and committee reports its own expenditures); see also 11 C.F.R. § 106.1 (setting out allocation rules); Advisory Op. 1988-24 (Dellums) (approving joint operations account pursuant to joint fundraising agreement between federal- and non-federal committees sharing operational costs, including common staff).

³⁵ Compl. at 11, MUR 7284 (American Bridge 21st Century, et al.) (Oct. 9, 2017). More specifically, the Complaint alleged that AB PAC: (1) misreported receipts from AB Foundation as reimbursements for overhead and staff expenses when they were actually contributions; and (2) failed to properly reports specific transactions, including debts to AB Foundation. Id. at 11-13.

1 from AB Foundation for its share of employee costs; reported salary payments as disbursements
2 on its reports; and reported the reimbursements from AB Foundation as offsets to operating 3 expenditures “is generally permissible and does not, in itself, give rise to unspecified reporting 4 violations.”³⁶ However, the Commission explained that “[i]naccurate reporting of, or failure to 5 report, transactions made pursuant to a common paymaster arrangement would be a violation . . .
6 for the reason that committees must accurately report their activity.”³⁷

7 The instant Complaint alleges, more specifically, that to the extent AB PAC and AB
8 Foundation allocated shared expenses using estimates and not actual amounts, it follows that AB 9 PAC’s reporting of the allocated costs must be inaccurate.³⁸ The Commission’s Factual and 10 Legal Analysis in MUR 7284 did not directly address the use of estimates to allocate shared 11 expenses, but it stated that “there is no basis for concluding that AB Foundation reimbursed AB
12 PAC in excess of its own portion of the shared employees’ costs such that the payments
13 represent AB Foundation’s contributions to AB PAC.”³⁹

14 The instant Complaint provides no information calling into question the accuracy of the 15 estimates upon which AB PAC and AB Foundation relied when allocating their costs, and the 16 Commission is aware of no such information. In MUR 7284, AB PAC represented to the 17 Commission that the two entities engage in “ongoing accounting and reconciliation,” and AB 18 Foundation’s financial statements show at least one instance where an initial allocation was

1 determined to be incorrect and subsequently reconciled.⁴⁰ Moreover, it is unclear whether AB 2 PAC and AB Foundation continued to use “estimates” beyond 2015 — the only year for which 3 AB Foundation represented in its available financial statements that allocations were determined
4 based on estimates. Although there is a lack of information regarding how AB PAC and AB 5 Foundation may have used estimates to determine cost allocations, the general notion of using 6 approximations to allocate administrative costs such as overhead, staff time, and office space 7 does not appear to be unreasonable. The Complaint has provided no evidence, and the 8 Commission is aware of none, to reasonably infer that AB PAC and AB Foundation failed to 9 base their allocations on good-faith estimates and in accordance with generally accepted 10 accounting principles.⁴¹ In the absence of Commission regulations governing how such 11 allocations should be made, there is no reasonable basis to warrant an investigation as to whether 12 the estimates here were sufficiently accurate.

13 Therefore, the Commission dismisses the allegation that AB PAC violated 52 U.S.C.
14 § 30104(b)(3)(A) and 11 C.F.R. § 104.3(b) by submitting inaccurate disclosure reports to the 15 Commission.

4 The Complaint alleges that independent expenditures reported by AB PAC during the 5 2016 election opposing Clinton’s general election opponent, Donald J. Trump, were actually
6 coordinated with the Clinton campaign and, therefore, should have been reported as in-kind
7 contributions from AB PAC to HFA.⁴²

8 In support of the allegations, the Complaint submits a transitive theory of coordination
9 based on the relationship between AB PAC and CTR, and that between CTR and HFA. The 10 Complaint states that “AB PAC did not operate independently from CTR, which openly
11 coordinated with Clinton’s campaign,” and thus “AB PAC’s pro-Clinton advertising could not 12 have been independent [from HFA].”⁴³ The Complaint points specifically to overlapping staff
13 between AB PAC and CTR, namely, seven individuals who received simultaneous salary
14 payments from both groups between April and November 2016, including Brock.⁴⁴

15 In response, AB PAC argues that the Complaint fails to identify any specific 16 communication that satisfies the coordinated communication test at 11 C.F.R. § 109.21, and 17 provides no evidence indicating that HFA had any material involvement in decisions concerning

3 2. Legal Analysis

4 An “independent expenditure” is an expenditure “for a communication expressly 5 advocating the election or defeat of a clearly identified candidate” that is not coordinated with 6 the candidate or the candidate’s committee.⁴⁶ As discussed above, an expenditure made in 7 cooperation, consultation, or concert with, or at the request or suggestion of, a candidate or a 8 candidate’s authorized committee is treated as an in-kind contribution to that candidate.⁴⁷ With 9 respect to communications specifically, under the Commission’s coordinated communications
10 regulation, the communication at issue must: (1) be paid for by a third party; (2) satisfy a 11 “content” standard; and (3) satisfy a “conduct” standard.⁴⁸ All three prongs are required to be 12 considered a coordinated communication and treated as an in-kind contribution under 13 Commission regulations.⁴⁹

14 The available information does not provide a reasonable basis to infer that AB PAC 15 coordinated with HFA regarding its advertising that opposed Trump. As a threshold matter, the 16 Complaint does not point to any specific communications purportedly coordinated with HFA, 17 which is ordinarily required to conduct a coordinated communication analysis under the three-18 part test at 11 C.F.R. § 109.21. Further, the available information is insufficient to indicate that,

1 as a general matter, AB PAC interacted with HFA such that it would be reasonable to infer that 2 AB PAC coordinated some or all of its political advertising with HFA.

3 The allegation in the Complaint is premised on AB PAC's relationship with CTR, i.e., 4 their overlapping staff, and CTR's relationship with HFA, which allegedly involved systematic 5 coordination. However, it does not necessarily follow, based exclusively on such associations,
6 that AB PAC also coordinated with HFA, or that such coordination related to advertising
7 opposing Clinton's opponent. Stated otherwise, even if CTR staffers, who also worked for or 8 were associated with AB PAC, engaged in coordinated activities with HFA, there is no 9 indication that they did so in their capacities as AB PAC staffers.⁵⁰ Thus, without more, the 10 allegation that AB PAC impermissibly coordinated with HFA is insufficiently unsupported by 11 the available information.⁵¹

12 Therefore, the Commission dismisses the allegation that AB PAC made excessive in-kind 13 contributions, which it failed to report in violation of 52 U.S.C. §§ 30104(b)(6)(B)(i), 14 30116(a)(2)(A) and 11 C.F.R. §§ 104.3(b), 110.2(b).

5 article quotes Chris Harris, AB PAC’s Communications Director, as stating: “Our research helps 6 to inform their polling; their polling helps us decide where we want to do our media hits

9 President Brad Woodhouse stating, “there’s no organization that does the level of tracking and 10 research that we do.”⁵⁵

11 Based entirely on information from the news articles, the Complaint alleges that AB PAC 12 made unreported and excessive contributions to unidentified “campaign committees” in the form 13 of “free research services.”⁵⁶ In response, AB PAC argues “the Complaint provides no evidence

1 2. Legal Analysis

2 Under the Act and Commission regulations, the provision of goods or services “without 3 charge or at a charge that is less than the usual and normal charge for such goods or services” is 4 an in-kind contribution.⁵⁸ “Examples of such goods or services include, but are not limited to:
5 Securities, facilities, equipment, supplies, personnel, advertising services, membership lists, and 6 mailing lists.”⁵⁹ The Commission has concluded that the provision of certain information, 7 including a contact list, research, and descriptions and analysis of poll results, may constitute in-8 kind contributions.⁶⁰

9 At the outset, while the Complaint alleges that AB PAC provided uncompensated 10 research services to “a variety of Democratic campaign committees,” the cited news articles in 11 fact reference interactions between AB PAC and certain IEOPCs, with no mention of campaign
12 committees.⁶¹ However, even considering the allegations in terms of uncompensated research 13 services provided to IEOPCs, there is still insufficient information to support a finding of reason 14 to believe as to the provision of uncompensated research services to unidentified IEOPCs.
15 Although one of the news articles claims that AB PAC was “in communication daily” with 16 IEOPCs and includes a quote from AB PAC’s Communications Director suggesting that AB 17 PAC may have provided research — “Our research helps to inform their polling . . . they don’t 18 have to do research” — neither of these statements indicate that AB PAC provided research

PROPOSED F&LAFEDERAL ELECTION COMMISSION*PROPOSED FACTUAL AND LEGAL ANALYSIS

RESPONDENTS: Media Matters for America MUR: 7726
Correct the Record and Elizabeth Cohen in her official
capacity as treasurer
Hillary for America and Elizabeth Jones in her official
capacity as treasurer

I. INTRODUCTION

This matter was generated by a complaint filed with the Federal Election Commission by Craig Robinson and the Patriots Foundation. The Complaint makes various allegations that a network of political committees and organizations allegedly established or controlled by political operative David Brock as well as Hillary for America and Elizabeth Jones in her official capacity as treasurer (“HFA”), the authorized committee of 2016 presidential candidate Hillary R. Clinton, violated the Federal Campaign Act of 1971, as amended (the “Act”), and Commission regulations. The network of organizations allegedly established or controlled by Brock include Media Matters for America (“MMA”), and Correct the Record and Elizabeth Cohen in her official capacity as treasurer (“CTR”). Respondents submitted a joint Response denying the allegations.

First, the Complaint alleges that, during the 2016 election, MMA made impermissible in-kind corporate contributions to HFA in the form of “media services” provided without charge. The Response argues that the alleged activities did not amount to an in-kind contribution because they were conducted to directly support free internet communications and, thus, exempt from the definition of “public communication.” The only alleged instance of coordination between MMA and HFA before the Commission relates to an article that MMA published on its website, apparently covered by the internet exemption. Therefore, the Commission finds no reason to

MUR 7726 (Media Matters for America, et al.)

1 believe that MMA made, and HFA knowingly accepted or received and failed to report, in-kind 2 corporate contributions in violation of 52 U.S.C. §§ 30104(b)(3)(A), 30118(a) and 11 C.F.R.
3 §§ 104.3(a), 114.2.

4 Second, the Complaint alleges that, during the 2016 election, MMA made in-kind 5 contributions to CTR in the form of “uncompensated services,” which CTR failed to report. The 6 Complaint asserts that it is “reasonable to infer” that MMA provided unspecified services to 7 CTR based on their shared physical address and goal of helping to elect Clinton. The Response 8 argues that the Complaint fails to adequately allege any violation of the Act. Because the 9 allegations are vague, speculative, and unsupported by the available information, the 10 Commission dismisses the allegations that CTR failed to report in-kind contributions from MMA 11 in violation of 52 U.S.C. § 30104(b)(3)(A) and 11 C.F.R. § 104.3(a).

12 Third, the Complaint alleges that, during the 2016 election, CTR “systematically 13 coordinated” with the Clinton campaign, resulting in CTR making unreported, excessive in-kind 14 contributions to HFA. The Response argues that the Complaint provides no evidence that CTR 15 made any expenditures in support of Clinton beyond those incurred in connection with exempted 16 internet communications. However, the available information contains multiple examples of 17 expenditures by CTR that appear to have been coordinated with HFA for activities not covered 18 by the internet exemption, such as expenditures for travel, fundraising, and polling. Therefore, 19 the Commission finds reason to believe that CTR made, and HFA knowingly accepted and failed 20 to report, excessive in-kind contributions in violation of 52 U.S.C. §§ 30104(b)(3)(A), 21 30116(a)(2)(A) and 11 C.F.R. §§ 104.3(b), 110.2(b).

22 Fourth, the Complaint alleges that HFA should have reported independent expenditures 23 made by AB PAC and Rodell Mollineau in his official capacity as treasurer (“AB PAC”),

MUR 7726 (Media Matters for America, et al.)

1 another entity allegedly formed or controlled by Brock, as in-kind contributions. The Complaint
2 argues that the independent expenditures, which opposed Donald J. Trump, Clinton’s general
3 election opponent, were in-kind contributions to HFA because AB PAC “did not operate 4 independently” of CTR which, pursuant to the above allegation, “openly coordinated” with HFA.
5 The Response argues that the Complaint fails to point to any specific AB PAC communication 6 that satisfies the Commission’s coordinated communication test at 11 C.F.R. § 109.21. The 7 available information, including the alleged association between CTR and HFA, is insufficient to 8 infer that HFA, by extension, coordinated with AB PAC. Therefore, the Commission dismisses 9 the allegation that HFA knowingly accepted unreported, excessive in-kind contributions in 10 violation of 52 U.S.C. §§ 30104(b)(3)(A), 30116(f) and 11 C.F.R. §§ 104.3(a), 110.9.

1 MMA is a 501(c)(3) organization that was incorporated in 2003; Brock served on its 2 inaugural Board of Directors.⁴ MMA’s stated purpose is “ensuring accuracy, fairness, and a
3 balance of diverse views in the media through research, public education, and advocacy.”⁵

4 CTR is a multicandidate hybrid political committee that registered with the Commission
5 on June 5, 2015.⁶ It reportedly was founded by Brock and was active primarily during the 2016 6 election cycle.⁷ CTR was previously a project of AB PAC during the lead-up to the presidential 7 primaries, but subsequently split off from AB PAC, its parent group.⁸ CTR’s stated purpose was 8 to “work in support of Hillary Clinton’s candidacy for President, aggressively responding to false 9 attacks and misstatements.”⁹

3 1. Facts

4 The Complaint asserts that, during the 2016 election, MMA provided “media services to 5 the Clinton campaign without charge.”¹⁰ In support, the Complaint first cites to a December 19, 6 2016, news article published by New Republic that summarizes interviews with former MMA
 7 staff who reportedly described how, in the lead-up to Clinton’s announcement of her candidacy 8 in April 2015, MMA’s “priority shifted . . . towards running defense for Clinton.”¹¹

9 The Complaint next cites to a hacked July 25, 2015, memorandum from unidentified 10 senior HFA staff to Clinton that generally noted a strategy of “[w]ork[ing] with [MMA] to 11 highlight examples of when the press won’t cover the same issues with Republicans.”¹² The 12 Complaint also cites to a hacked HFA email from Press Secretary Nick Merrill to another HFA
 13 staffer, dated January 5, 2016, which states that “[MMA] is ready to push back on a Vanity Fair 14 article about [Clinton campaign vice chair] Huma Abedin We have [MMA], CTR, and core 15 surrogates lined up”¹³ Finally, the Complaint points to a January 6, 2016, article that MMA
 16 published on its website attacking the claims about Abedin in the Vanity Fair article.¹⁴

1 The Complaint asserts that the January 6, 2016, post on MMA’s website “confirm[s]” 2 that MMA coordinated with HFA.¹⁵ HFA reported no disbursements to MMA or the receipt of 3 any in-kind contributions from MMA during the 2016 election cycle.

4 Based on this information, the Complaint alleges that MMA made, and HFA knowingly 5 accepted or received and failed to report, prohibited in-kind corporate contributions.¹⁶ In their 6 joint Response, MMA and HFA argue that, to the extent that MMA coordinated with HFA in 7 connection with the January 6, 2016, article posted on MMA’s website, there was no in-kind 8 contribution “because these activities were all conducted to directly support free internet 9 communications.”¹⁷

10 2. Legal Analysis

11 The Act defines a contribution as “any gift, subscription, loan, advance, or deposit of 12 money or anything of value made by any person for the purpose of influencing any election for 13 Federal office.”¹⁸ Commission regulations provide that the phrase “anything of value includes 14 all in-kind contributions.”¹⁹ In-kind contributions include coordinated communications, subject 15 to a three-part test codified at 11 C.F.R. § 109.21; coordinated expenditures, defined at 11 C.F.R.
16 § 109.20(a); and the provision of “goods or services,” defined at 11 C.F.R. § 100.52(d).

9 As explained below, the Complaint points to an article MMA published on its website on 10 January 6, 2016, that was allegedly the product of coordination between HFA and MMA. The 11 article, however, appears not to fall under the definition of “coordinated communication” in 12 Commission regulations because the “content prong” of the three-part “coordinated

MUELLER, III, SPECIAL COUNSEL, U.S. DEP'T OF JUSTICE, SPECIAL COUNSEL'S REPORT, REPORT ON THE INVESTIGATION INTO RUSSIAN INTERFERENCE IN THE 2016 PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION 3, 13 (Mar. 2019). The Commission has observed that foreign cyberattacks “present unique challenges to both criminal prosecution and civil enforcement,” and “fulfilling its ‘obligation to preserve the basic conception of a political community’ under section 30121 cannot hinge solely on prosecution of foreign violators abroad,” but instead “requires that countermeasures be taken within the United States.” Advisory Op. 2018-12 at 8 (DDC) (quoting *Bluman v. 3 An electioneering communication is “any broadcast, cable, or satellite communication”
4 that refers to a “clearly identified candidate for Federal office,” is publicly distributed within a 5 certain time before an election, and meets certain requirements regarding the audience.²⁹ The 6 article was published on the internet, not broadcast, cable, or satellite, and therefore was not an 7 electioneering communication.

8 A public communication is “a communication by means of any broadcast, cable, or 9 satellite communication, newspaper, magazine, outdoor advertising facility, mass mailing, or 10 telephone bank to the general public, or any other form of general public political advertising.”³⁰ 11 Commission regulations provide that public communications “shall not include communications 12 over the Internet, except for communications placed for a fee on another person’s Web site,” a 13 provision referred to as the “internet exemption.”³¹ The internet exemption appears to apply to 14 the article because it was published on MMA’s own website and there is no indication that MMA 15 also placed it for a fee on another person’s website.

16 The article is the only discrete instance of alleged coordination identified by the 17 Complaint. In addition, the available information does not otherwise suggest or indicate that 18 MMA made any coordinated expenditure on behalf of HFA, or that MMA provided HFA with 19 any goods or services without proper charge. The reported statement from MMA staffers in an

1 April 2015 news article about “running defense” for Clinton, even if suggestive, does not itself
2 indicate that MMA coordinated with HFA because such a “defense” could have been conducted 3 without any coordination.

4 Therefore, the Commission finds no reason to believe MMA made, and HFA knowingly 5 accepted or received and failed to report, in-kind corporate contributions in violation of 52 6 U.S.C. §§ 30104(b)(3)(A), 30118(a) and 11 C.F.R. §§ 104.3(a), 114.2.

8 Kind Contributions Received from MMA

9 The Complaint alleges that MMA made in-kind contributions to CTR in the form of 10 “similar uncompensated services” — apparently referencing the “media services” that MMA 11 allegedly provided to HFA in connection with the above allegation — which CTR received and 12 failed to report. The Complaint does not specify a timeframe, but states that this occurred “at 13 least during the 2016 election.”³² It also does not describe the alleged uncompensated services 14 or identify specific facts or sources that otherwise support the allegations. Instead, the 15 Complaint asserts that it is “reasonable to infer” that MMA provided services to CTR “given 16 [MMA’s] coordination with the Clinton campaign, its steadfast focus on undertaking activities 17 designed to help get Hillary Clinton elected, and its shared office and goals with . . . CTR.”³³ In 18 response, CTR argues that the allegation is “baseless” and that “mere speculation that a violation 19 may have occurred, without facts to support the allegation, is not sufficient.”³⁴

1 The allegation in the Complaint is vague, speculative, and unsupported by the available
2 information. Even if MMA “shared offices and goals” with CTR, which is not disputed, those 3 facts alone do not establish that MMA provided services to CTR, let alone services that CTR 4 failed to report. In sum, because the Complaint lacks sufficient information to support the 5 allegation, and the Commission is unaware of other information that supports it, there is 6 insufficient indication that the alleged provision of uncompensated and unreported services
7 occurred.³⁵ Therefore, the Commission dismisses the allegation that CTR failed to report in-kind 8 contributions from MMA in violation of 52 U.S.C. § 30104(b)(3)(A) and 11 C.F.R. § 104.3(a).

1 As discussed above, Commission regulations provide a three-part test, consisting of a 2 payment prong, content prong, and conduct prong, all of which must be satisfied for a given 3 communication to be coordinated and thus treated as an-kind contribution.⁵⁶ Relevant here, 4 under the content prong, the definition of “public communication” “shall not include 5 communications over the Internet, except for communications placed for a fee on another 6 person’s Web site,” referred to as the “internet exemption.”⁵⁷ An expenditure — for something 7 other than a communication — is considered to be coordinated and thus treated as an in-kind 8 contribution if the expenditure is “made in cooperation, consultation or concert with, or at the 9 request or suggestion of, a candidate, a candidate’s authorized committee, or a political party 10 committee.”⁵⁸

11 The available information shows that CTR systematically coordinated with HFA on its 12 activities. From its first week of existence as a separate entity, as evidenced by the press release 13 announcing its establishment, CTR has consistently stated that the entirety of its work would be 14 made for the purpose of benefiting Clinton and in coordination with her campaign.⁵⁹ Brock 15 publicly explained the “coordinated status” of CTR and described CTR as “a surrogate arm” of 1 approximately $9 million in disbursements for activity during the 2016 election cycle cannot 2 fairly be described as for “communications,” public or otherwise, unless that term covers almost 3 every conceivable political activity. Analyzing CTR’s payments under the “coordinated 4 expenditure” provision for activities, rather than purely under the “coordinated communication” 5 provision, is consistent with prior matters. In MUR 5564 (Tony Knowles for U.S. Senate, et al.), 6 for instance, a committee made various expenditures relating to a voter canvassing effort.⁶¹ The 7 Commission analyzed costs for non-communicative items (e.g., salaries for canvassers) under the 8 coordinated expenditure framework, and analyzed costs for communications (e.g., telephone 9 calls) under the coordinated communications framework.⁶²

10 Following that approach here, CTR’s costs for non-communicative items “far less 11 directly connected to a specific unpaid internet communication,” such as “computer equipment, 12 office space, software, video equipment, and salaries for those who conducted internet activity 13 (posting on social media and emailing journalists), as well as . . . polling” should be analyzed as 14 coordinated expenditures and thus not subject to the internet exemption.⁶³ The bulk of CTR’s 15 reported disbursements are for purposes that are not communication-specific, including payroll, 16 salary, travel, lodging, meals, rent, fundraising consulting, computers, equipment, event tickets,

1 mixed purposes such as “video consulting and travel” and “communication consulting and 2 travel.”⁶⁴

3 At its core, CTR existed for only one purpose — to elect Clinton — and it sought to 4 accomplish its purpose via openly and systematically coordinating its efforts with HFA, as 5 evidenced by the available public statements from CTR leadership. If accepted, CTR and HFA
6 would have their purported lack of “public communications” swallow the Act’s longstanding 7 prohibition on coordinated expenditures. This position does not withstand scrutiny. The scale of 8 the close coordination between CTR and HFA suggests that most of CTR’s entire range of 9 activity during the 2016 election cycle represents coordinated expenditures and thus in-kind 10 contributions to HFA.

11 Therefore, the Commission finds reason to believe that CTR made, and HFA knowingly 12 received or accepted, unreported excessive in-kind contributions in violation of 52 U.S.C.
13 §§ 30104(b)(3)(A), (b)(6)(B)(i), 30116(a)(2)(A) and 11 C.F.R. §§ 104.3(a), (b), 110.2(b).

3 The Complaint alleges that independent expenditures reported by AB PAC during the 4 2016 election opposing Clinton’s general election opponent, Donald J. Trump, were actually
5 coordinated with the Clinton campaign and, therefore, should have been reported as in-kind
6 contributions from AB PAC to HFA.⁶⁸

7 In support of the allegations, the Complaint submits a transitive theory of coordination
8 based on the relationship between AB PAC and CTR, and that between CTR and HFA. The 9 Complaint states that “AB PAC did not operate independently from CTR, which openly
10 coordinated with Clinton’s campaign,” and thus “AB PAC’s pro-Clinton advertising could not 11 have been independent [from HFA].”⁶⁹ The Complaint points specifically to overlapping staff
12 between AB PAC and CTR, namely, seven individuals who received simultaneous salary

4 An “independent expenditure” is an expenditure “for a communication expressly 5 advocating the election or defeat of a clearly identified candidate” that is not coordinated with 6 the candidate or the candidate’s committee.⁷² As discussed above, an expenditure made in 7 cooperation, consultation, or concert with, or at the request or suggestion of, a candidate or a 8 candidate’s authorized committee is treated as an in-kind contribution to that candidate.⁷³ With 9 respect to communications specifically, under the Commission’s coordinated communications
10 regulation, the communication at issue must: (1) be paid for by a third party; (2) satisfy a 11 “content” standard; and (3) satisfy a “conduct” standard.⁷⁴ All three prongs are required to be 12 considered a coordinated communication and treated as an in-kind contribution under this 13 regulation.⁷⁵

14 The available information does not provide a reasonable basis to infer that HFA 15 coordinated with AB PAC regarding AB PAC’s advertising that opposed Trump. As a threshold 16 matter, the Complaint does not point to any specific AB PAC communications purportedly

1 insufficient to indicate that, as a general matter, HFA interacted with AB PAC such that it would 2 be reasonable to infer that HFA coordinated with AB PAC on some or all of its political 3 advertising.

4 The allegation in the Complaint is premised on AB PAC's relationship with CTR, i.e., 5 their overlapping staff, and CTR's relationship with HFA, which allegedly involved systematic 6 coordination.⁷⁶ However, it does not necessarily follow, based exclusively on such associations,
7 that AB PAC also coordinated with HFA, or that such coordination related to advertising
8 opposing Clinton's opponent. Stated otherwise, even if CTR staffers, who also worked for or 9 were associated with AB PAC, engaged in coordinated activities with HFA, there is no
10 indication that they did so in their capacities as AB PAC staffers.⁷⁷ In contrast to AB PAC, CTR 11 publicly described its arrangement to coordinate with HFA, which it contended was 12 permissible.⁷⁸ CTR's admitted activities do not appear to involve AB PAC.⁷⁹ Thus, without 13 more, the allegation that AB PAC impermissibly coordinated with HFA is insufficiently 14 unsupported by the available information.⁸⁰
