RECEIVED
FEDERAL ELECTION
COMMISSION
OFFICE OF GENERAL
COUNSEL

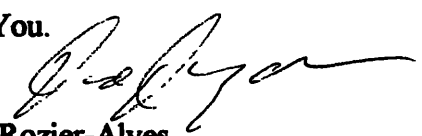

2005 OCT 31 A 9:55

To Whom It May Concern:

Please find attached a criminal complaint against the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, and a complaint to the FEC against Mr. Bryan Kennedy for violation of FEC regulations.

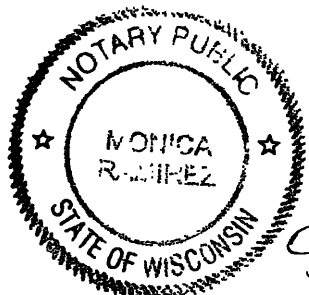

Each of the above two listed recipients has received the exact same package, with the sole exception that the FEC has received the FEC complaint as the first document presented (the criminal complaint is the first presented to the Attorney General Lautenschlager).

Thank You.

The below is a complaint, and request that the FEC to investigate the following:

I A) In the fall of 2004, Mr. Bryan Kennedy, a professor at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, was the Democratic candidate for the 5th congressional district of Wisconsin.

The University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee is a public institution, and as such must abide by Wisconsin statutes

Mr. Kennedy used his campaign cell phone, with its campaign message recording, in the process of hiring teachers for the UWM. (H, the criminal complaint filed with the state of Wisconsin is included for total disclosure)

B) In response to open documents requests, the Mr. Kennedy (responding for the University) claimed that this was his private cell phone (C), in his name

It would be in violation of the FEC regulations for Mr. Kennedy to use campaign funds to pay for private household expenses that would exist independent of his campaign (I have provided a copy of FEC Regulations (Q) By Mr. Kennedy's campaign report, the cell phone was paid for by Mr Kennedy's campaign (I, page 4 of 6).

C) However, if Mr. Kennedy's admitting to using campaign funds to pay for the cell phone, this is strong proof that Mr. Kennedy (and the UWM) knowingly violated the law (Wisconsin statutes)

II Therefore, it appears that Mr. Kennedy has falsified his report to the FEC to cover his illegal activity

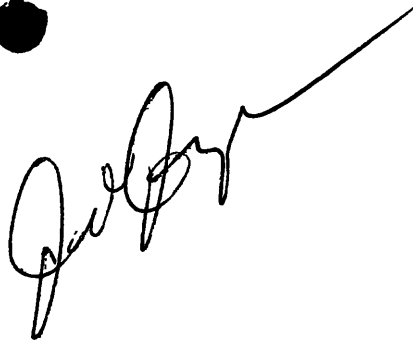

In January, 2005, after an open documents request (A) dated December, 2004 which attempted to get UWM documents justifying Mr. Kennedy's illegal activities, Mr Kennedy altered his expense report to the FEC, dated 1/02/2005. (J) In this report Mr. Kennedy claims that his campaign paid only the cell phone overages, even though the amount paid did not change from the original to the amended report.

This appears to be a transparent attempt for his cell phone to be at the same time both a personal cell phone and a campaign cell phone, thus covering up Mr. Kennedy's illegal activities.

Thank you,

Internships in International Studies

Guidelines and Procedures

- 1) Contact the supervisor directly at the placement that is of interest to you (see attached list).
- 2) Arrange your work hours directly with your supervisor. Hours noted below are for a full semester (fall or spring). They should be doubled for 8-week summer internships.
 - a. 2 credits = 7-8 hours per week
 - b. 3 credits = 10-11 hours per week
 - c. 4 credits = 13-14 hours per week
 - d. 5 credits = 16-17 hours per week
 - e. 6 credits = 20 hours per week
- 3) Enroll in International Studies Course #504-450, for the appropriate number of credits.
- 4) Internship placements are credit/no credit courses. You need to earn a grade of C- or better in order to receive credit for the course. Your grade is based on feedback from your internship supervisor; and a 10-page paper that you are expected to write, based on your internship experience (no outside research is required). Details about the paper will be sent to you after you enroll in the course. The paper is graded by the instructor listed in the Schedule of Classes. That instructor will also contact you once or twice during the semester in order to check on the progress of your internship.
- 5) Have fun! Most students have found their internship experiences to be very rewarding. Many students have gone on to find permanent employment in the agencies in which they interned, or through contacts made during their internships. If you find your internship experience to be less than adequate, or that you are doing an inordinate amount of "gopher work" (i.e., copying, collating, making coffee, etc.), please notify the course instructor immediately. While some amount of clerical work is a part of most jobs, you should also be working on substantial projects with international content.
- 6) Internship placements are unpaid.
- 7) Questions? Contact the Center for International Education office at 414/229-4252.

Noses to the grindstone

Bryan did a fantastic job at the SPREE debate last night. He showed us all, once again, that he has a impressive breadth and depth of knowledge on a wide range of issues. Bryan will be involved in another debate on Saturday. This one is also in New Berlin, at 2:00pm at New Berlin City Hall. More details tomorrow.

Meanwhile, at the campaign offices, we're concentrating on our fundraising efforts. We want to set a good example for Congress and show them the appropriate way to spend money. Instead of just plunking it all into ads right away, we're going to do a pay-as-you-go system. We want to come out of the primary with a lot of momentum, but we need your help. If you can, please contribute to the campaign.

Alright, time to get back to work. Until next time...

Mark Your Calendars

Mark your calendars

TONIGHT Bryan will be debating his Democratic opponent at New Berlin Eisenhower High School, in the Lohmiller/Sutherland

26044140903

Theater (there's a link to a yahoo map of the location on the main page of the site). The debate, which is sponsored by SPREE (Students and Parents for Responsible Election Education) will focus on education issues and is scheduled to go from 7pm-9pm. Be there!

Also, I'm looking for personal testimonials from you, the campaign's supporters, about your experiences with Bryan. Do you have a particularly memorable/meaningful moment involving Bryan that you'd like to share? What makes you believe in Bryan's campaign? Why are you supporting him? We'll post your responses here on the blog.

That's all for today. Happy blogging!

CHAPTER 9

Use of Campaign Funds

1. Use of Funds

Campaign funds may be used for the following non-campaign purposes

- The defrayal of ordinary and necessary expenses of a federal officeholder such as
 - Travel expenses for a federal officeholder and an accompanying spouse, provided that the travel is undertaken to participate in a function that is connected to the officeholder's official responsibilities See, for example, AO 1997-2, and
 - Winding down costs of a federal officeholder's office for a period of six months after leaving office See, for example, AOs 1996-44 and 1996-14, (House and Senate rules may apply, see AOs 2000-37 and 1996-45, and see Appendix E)
 - Donations to charities (organizations defined in 26 U S C §170 (c)) See, for example, AOs 1999-34, 1997-1 and 1996-40,
 - Unlimited transfers to any national, state or local party committee See, for example, AO 1996-9, and
 - Salary payments to the candidate, subject to certain restrictions See below
- 113 2

Contributions to Other Federal and Nonfederal Candidates

A federal candidate committee may contribute up to $1,000 per election to the committee of another federal candidate 102 12(c)
(2) Contributions from federal candidate committees to state or local candidate committees are subject to state law 300 62

Transfers of Funds

Funds may be transferred between authorized committees of the same candidate (for example, from a previous campaign committee to a current campaign committee) without limit as long as the committee making the transfer has no net debts outstanding 110 3 (c) and 116 2(c)(2) See, for example, AO 1987-4 See Chapter 10, "Transfers," for more information

Alternatively, a candidate may redesignate a former campaign committee as the principal campaign committee of his or her current campaign and use the excess funds of the previous campaign in the current campaign AO 1980-30

2. Personal Use of Campaign Funds

Using campaign funds for personal use is prohibited The regulations provide a test to differentiate legitimate campaign and officeholder expenses from personal expenses, and the regulations include a list of specific expenses that are considered personal use (Candidates and officeholders should also consult the House or Senate Ethics Rules)

Campaign/Officeholder Expenses vs Personal Expenses

In determining whether expenses are for personal use or are legitimate campaign/officeholder expenses, the Commission uses the "Irrespective Test" discussed below

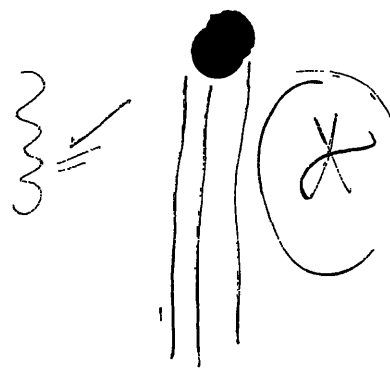

The Irrespective Test

26044140906

candidate (or former candidate) to fulfill a commitment, obligation or expense of any person that would exist irrespective of the candidate's campaign or responsibilities as a federal officeholder 113 1(g) More simply put, if the expense would exist even in the absence of the candidacy or even if the officeholder were not in office, then the personal use ban applies

Conversely, any expense that results from campaign or officeholder activity falls outside the personal use ban

EXAMPLE A candidate may not pay for his or her personal household expenses with campaign funds because those costs would be incurred even if he or she were not running for federal office

What is Not Personal Use

In addition to the "irrespective test," the Commission regulations include an exhaustive list of uses of funds that do not constitute personal use 113 2

Charitable Donations

Gifts to charity are not considered personal use expenses as long as the candidate does not receive compensation from the charitable organization before it has expended the entire amount donated Note that the amount donated must have been used for purposes that do not personally benefit the candidate 113 1(g)(2) See also AOs 1997-1, 1996-40 and 1994-20

Transfer of Campaign Assets

The sale or transfer of a campaign asset (see Chapter 15, "Winding Down the Campaign")—to either the candidate or a third party—does not constitute personal use as long as the transaction is made at the fair market value 113 1(g)(3)

Gifts

On special occasions, campaign funds may be used to purchase gifts or make donations of nominal value to persons other than the members of the candidate's family 113 1(g)(4)

Candidate Salary

The candidate may receive a salary from his or her campaign committee under the following conditions

- The salary must be paid by the principal campaign committee,
 - The salary must not exceed the lesser of the minimum annual salary for the federal office sought or what the candidate received as earned income in the previous year ^[1]
 - Individuals who elect to receive a salary from their campaign committees must provide income tax records and additional proof of earnings from relevant years upon request from the Commission,
 - Payments of salary from the committee must be made on a pro-rata basis (i.e., a candidate may not receive a whole year's salary if he or she is not a candidate for an entire twelve-month period),
 - Incumbent federal officeholders may not receive a salary payment from campaign funds, and
 - The first payment of salary shall be made no sooner than the filing deadline for access to the primary election ballot in the state in which the candidate is running for office ^[2]
 - Salary payments may continue until the date when the candidate is no longer considered a candidate for office or until the date of the general election or general election runoff
 - For special elections, payments may continue from the date that the special election is set until the date of the special election
- 113 1(g)(1)(i)(I)

Automatic Personal Use

The regulations list some expenses that automatically fall under the personal use ban Based on these rules, the following paragraphs discuss what kinds of expenses the campaign can and cannot pay for

Household Food Items and Supplies

The candidate cannot use campaign funds to pay for food purchased for daily consumption inside the home or supplies needed to maintain the household The campaign may, however,
