FEC RELEASES 18-MONTH PAC STUDY FOR '86 ELECTIONS

WASHINGTON — Although PAC contributions to federal candidates continue to increase, the rate has slowed, according to figures released today by the Federal Election Commission. After 18 months of the 1985-86 election cycle, PAC's have increased their support by 37% over 1984 levels. For the '84 season, their activity in direct support of candidates had increased 50% over '82 levels.

From January 1, 1985, through June 30, 1986, PAC's raised $254 million and spent $205 million. They began the cycle with a cash balance of $55 million and had $103 million on hand at the start of the third quarter of 1986. That represents 30% more cash available than they had at the same time in 1984 ($103 million versus $79 million.)

Contributions to federal candidates totalled $78 million. Of that amount, $71 million was given to Senate and House candidates involved in the '86 elections. In addition to contributions, PAC's have made independent expenditures totalling nearly $2 million. During the same time period in 1983-84, PAC's had contributed $57 million and independent expenditures had already surpassed $7 million, but that was due to the fact that it was a Presidential election year. In 1981-82, PAC's had spent $3.1 million independently, in addition to contributing $38 million during the first 18 months.

The FEC study looked at 4,421 PAC's. However, only 62%, or 2,729 of those PAC's actually made contributions during the 18-month period. That percentage is typical for 18-month PAC activity documented for the past four election cycles. Similarly, statistics from prior years indicate that about 74% of all registered PAC's contribute to candidates by the end of the two-year cycle.

For an overall picture of PAC activity, the figures below show the number of PAC's involved in each FEC 18-month survey, the number of PAC's actually making contributions to federal candidates during that time, the amount given to all candidates, and the amount given only to those candidates seeking election in that election cycle:

(in millions of dollars)

Charts on the following pages provide details of PAC contributions to Senate and House candidates by type of PAC and category of candidate. Information is presented on contributions to Democrats, Republicans, incumbents, challengers and open seat races. In addition, comparisons can be made with information on previous election cycles, and top fifty listings show which committees raised, spent and contributed the most money.

- 1/ The number of committees included in the top chart are the number of committees reviewed by the FEC for this study. In the bottom chart, the number of committees includes only those which actually made contributions to candidates.
- 2/ Receipts and Disbursements have not been adjusted for monies transferred between affiliated committees. For that reason, they are somewhat inflated.
- 3/ Cash-on-hand is as of June 30, 1986, unless committee ceased reporting earlier.
- 4/ Bottom chart: There are two figures given for each category. The first represents the total amount contributed to all federal candidates regardless of whether or not they are seeking election in 1985-86. The second figure is only the contributions made to candidates seeking office in 1985-86 elections.
- 5/ Open Seat races are those in which the incumbent never sought re-election.
- 6/ Expenditures For and Against are independent expenditures.
