1990 CONGRESSIONAL CANDIDATES POST SPENDING DROP, FINAL FEC REPORT SHOWS

WASHINGTON -- Spending by congressional candidates dropped to its lowest point in six years to $446 million for the 1989-90 elections, according to the Federal Election Commission's Final Report.

The Report, which confirms previously released preliminary figures, found that the overall congressional election spending decline was fueled by a drop of $20 million, or 10 percent, in Senate campaigns while House candidate spending increased $9 million, or 3 percent.

The following chart summarizes by cycle the financial activities of all congressional campaigns during a 12-year period:

Summary Financial Activity - All Congressional Campaigns

While comparisons of overall Senate activity are difficult (because different states participate each cycle), generally the average spending per voter is higher in smaller states. In 1990, there were more small states holding Senate elections than in other years, so the overall spending per voting age population appears to be higher this particular cycle. Actually, however, spending per voter increased in larger population states and decreased in smaller ones. The most spent per voter, $5.77, was in Rhode Island, and the lowest, 19 cents, in Georgia. (See chart, page 17).

Spending by House campaigns, $265.8 million, increased only slightly in 1990. There were more House candidates involved in close elections (whose races finished within 10 voting percentage points). Median spending for these campaigns declined compared to the previous election. (See chart, page 11).

Reliance on individual (53 percent) and PAC (32 percent) contributions remained the same as in past cycles, based on the percentage of total campaign receipts. Senate and House campaigns received $249.5 million from individuals and $149.7 million from PACs. A chart on page 10, shows the various sizes of individual contributions to congressional candidates.

Following a 12 percent growth in 1988, PAC contributions increased one percent. Fluctuation was also apparent in the direction on PAC contributions. Senate campaigns of both parties, House Democratic challengers, and House open seat candidates relied less on PAC money than in 1988. Overall, PAC contributions comprised 38 percent of total receipts in House campaigns compared to 22 percent in Senate contests.

The following chart provides an overview of PAC contributions and the percentages they represent of total receipts for Senate and House candidates during a 12-year period:

FOOTNOTES

1. Figures in the first two Tables and the detailed listing of candidates cover from January 1, 1989, or whenever the campaign registered during the election cycle, through December 31, 1990, or the last report filed by the campaign, as indicated.
2. Net receipt and net disbursement figures are total receipts and total disbursements, as reported by the campaigns, minus any money transferred between committees of the same campaign.
3. Columns entitled "PAC Contributions" are monies contributed to campaigns as reported by the PAC's making contributions. For candidates who won special elections in 1989 or 1990, these contributions have been divided between the special and regular election processes based upon the date of the contribution. If that date is more than 20 days after the special election, then the contribution is included in the regular election information for that candidate.
4. Open seat races are those in which the incumbent did not seek reelection. As such, both general election candidates in Ohio's 8th district are classified as challengers because the incumbent lost in a primary. Districts where special elections have been held at times separate from the regular election calendar (AL/3, CA/15, FL/18, IN/4, MS/5, NY/14, NY/18, TX/12, TX/18, WY) have been divided into two races. Special election activity appears in tables referring to all campaigns and is included in the open seat category. Regular election activity of winners of the specials appear in the incumbent category, and their activity begins with the first report following the Post Special filing. The district in which a special election is being held in conjunction with the general (HI/2) is classified as open seat and has not been divided.
5. Percentage figures in Tables covering several election cycles represent the percentage of net receipts from each source and will not sum to 100, since not all sources of receipts are listed.
6. On the Senate listings, the column titled "Candidate Support" includes contributions by the candidate, as well as loans made or guaranteed by the candidate. The column titled "Trans from other auth" includes monies transferred from House committees of candidates for the Senate, as well as proceeds from joint fundraising activity among several candidates or committees. Contributions from individuals and PAC's made through these joint fundraising efforts are NOT included in the "Individual Contributions" or "PAC Contributions" columns.
7. Detailed listings of candidates include all those participating in the November 6th general election, along with those candidates in Louisiana who received at least 50% of the vote in the primary and were therefore declared the winner of the seat.
8. Some House members who are or were running for the Senate in '90 changed their former House campaign committees into their Senate campaign committees. Financial activity related solely to their Senate campaigns cannot be isolated. (See Akaka and Saiki [HI], Craig [ID], Schneider [RI], Tauke [IA]).
9. One incumbent Senator has carried debts from previous elections which continue to be reflected in the "Debts Owed" column of the detailed listing and in Top 50 listings. See Warner [VA].
10. Marguerite Chandler [NJ/12] has reported significant roll over of debt during the 1990 campaign. Loans from banks were repayed with newly borrowed money. The reporting of this activity inflates receipts and disbursements by approximately $430,000.
11. Figures for Senate Republican Challengers are significantly affected by the campaign of James Rapaport in Massachusetts. Loans from the Candidate totalling $4,200,000 in this single campaign represent 58% of all candidate loans in Senate general election campaigns.
12. Activity of House Other Party candidates primarily reflects the campaign of Bernard Sanders in Vermont.
