REPUBLICAN PARTY OUTPACES DEMOCRATS IN FUNDRAISING FOR 15-MONTH PERIOD IN 1992 CYCLE

WASHINGTON -- The national Republican party outraised and outspent the Democrat's by considerable margins in both federal and nonfederal, or soft money*, activity during the first 15 months of the 1991-92 election cycle, according to the Federal Election Commission.

In federal activity from January 1, 1991 through March 31, 1992, the three national committees of the Republican party raised $102 million, spent $88 million and ended with cash reserves of $13 million. Democratic committees raised $30 million, spent $29 million, and ended the period with cash on hand of $3 million.

In terms of candidate support, Democratic party committees contributed $544,568 directly and spent $1.5 million in coordinated expenditures on behalf of candidates. The Republican party contributed $368,525 directly and spent $1.1 million in coordinated expenditures on behalf of candidates during the 15-month period.

In nonfederal activity, the Republican "soft money*" accounts reported receipts of $26 million and disbursements of $19 million, while the Democrat's nonfederal accounts raised $10 million and spent $9 million.

Charts attached to this release provide summary data for the financial activities of the Republican and Democratic national party committees during the first 15 months of the 1991-92 cycle compared to the same period in the 1989-90, 1987-88 and 1985-86 cycles. Data on nonfederal party activity is available for the 15-month period of this cycle, however no information exists for prior election cycles.

*"Soft money" describes funds raised outside the limitations and prohibitions of the Federal Election Campaign Act. Soft money must be deposited in nonfederal accounts and cannot be used in connection with a federal election. To enhance public disclosure, the FEC now requires national political party committees to report the sources of receipts to all nonfederal accounts. Prior to this Commission action, disclosure of soft money receipts had not been mandatory.
