SPENDING JUMPED TO $504 MILLION BY '92 CONGRESSIONAL CANDIDATES -FEC finds spending in House races grew 41 percent-

WASHINGTON -- Post-election disclosure reports filed at the Federal Election Commission show campaign spending by U.S. Senate and House general election candidates jumped to $504 million, $113 million more than during the same period in the 1990 election cycle.

Overall, general election congressional candidates raised $498 million, spent $504 million and reported cash-on-hand of $67 million, according to an FEC review of reports covering financial activity from January 1, 1991, through November 23, 1992.

In Senate general election contests, candidates reported raising $187 million, spending $190 million and having cash-on-hand of $14 million. Political action committees contributed $44 million to Senate candidates. Because Senate elections are for staggered, six-year terms and, at least in this cycle, there were two California contests - comparisons of activity are difficult.

In comparing 1992 House general election races to 1990 races, campaign receipts increased 27 percent to $311 million and spending rose by 41 percent to $314 million. House candidates reported cash-on-hand of $53 million, of which incumbents accounted for 93 percent. PAC contributions, which totaled $117 million, comprised 38 percent of total House campaign receipts.

Even as the number of House challengers increased in 1992, this type of candidate's median disbursements tripled from 1990 to $80,168 for Republicans and doubled to $61,890 for Democrats. Median disbursements for House incumbents increased by $177,639 for Democrats and $105,396 for Republicans. Also compared to the previous election, median disbursements for open seat Republicans dropped 7 percent and 14 percent for open seat Democrats.

More House candidates, especially non-incumbents, loaned their campaigns money than in previous cycles. The table at the bottom of page 8 describes how many candidates made personal loans to their campaigns and how many received some repayment by November 23. The table at the top of page 8 lists the median amount spent in the final campaign weeks by winning House candidates and their opponents.

Increased financial activity in this cycle may have been influenced in part by congressional redistricting and an unusual number of House incumbent departures and retirements, which caused an increase in the number of challengers and open seat races.

Information attached to this report provides race-by-race statistics, candidate rankings and overall summary data by political party as well as by candidate status (incumbent, challenger or open seat). Some charts also compare current activity to that in 1989-90 and 1987-88. Summary tables on Senate candidates include financial activity since 1986. Activity from 1987-90 may relate to debt retirement from prior elections and should not automatically be presumed to have been raised for a candidate's 1992 campaign.

FOOTNOTES

1. Figures in the first two Tables and the detailed listing of candidates cover from January 1, 1991, or whenever the campaign registered during the election cycle, through November 23, 1992, or the last report filed by the campaign.

2. Net receipt and net disbursement figures are total receipts and total disbursements, as reported by the campaigns, minus any money transferred between committees of the same campaign.

3. Columns entitled "Other Committees" (also "Other Cmte's") are monies received, as reported by the campaigns, that are comprised mostly of PAC funds, but also include contributions by other candidates' committees and some unregistered entities. On the Senate listings, the column "Non Party Contributions" contains PAC contributions for 1988 and 1990, as reported by the PAC's, and "Other Committee" data for 1992.

4. Open seat races are those in which the incumbent did not seek reelection. As such, both general election candidates in the 14 districts where the incumbent was defeated in the primary are classified as challengers. The two general election candidates in Ohio's 1st district and the 7th district in New Jersey are also listed as challengers. In these two cases, the incumbent decided to retire after receiving his parties nomination for reelection. Districts where special elections have been held at times separate from the regular election calendar (AZ/2; MA/1; IL/15; PA/2; TX/3; and VA/7) have been divided into two races. None of the activity regarding those special elections is included in these tables. Winners of the specials appear here as incumbents, and their activity begins with the first report following the Post Special filing. The districts in which a special election is being held in conjunction with the general (old NY /17 which becomes NY/8.; and NC/1) are classified as open seats and have not been divided.

5. Percentage figures in Tables covering several election cycles represent the percentage of net receipts from each source and will not sum to 100, since not all sources of receipts are listed.

6. On the Senate listings, the column titles "Candidate Support" includes contributions by the candidate, as well as loans made or guaranteed by the candidate. The column titles "Trans from other auth" includes monies transferred from House committees of candidates for the Senate, as well as proceeds from joint fundraising activity among several candidates or committees. Contributions from individuals and PAC's made through these joint fundraising efforts are NOT included in the "Individual Contributions" or "Non Party Contributions" columns.

7. Detailed listings of candidates include all those participating in the November 3rd general election, along with those candidates in Louisiana who received at least 50% of the vote in the primary and were therefore declared the winner of the seat.

8. Some House members who are or were running for the Senate in '92 changed their former House campaign committees into their Senate campaign committees. Financial activity related solely to their Senate campaigns cannot be isolated. (See Dorgan, ND and Aucoin, OR).

9. Activity of House Other Party candidates primarily reflects the campaigns of Bernard Sanders in Vermont, Lynn Taborsak in Connecticut, and Carlos Romero-Barcelo in Puerto Rico.
