SPENDING SOARS FOR '94 RACES

WASHINGTON -- Pre-election reports show that spending by U.S. Senate and House candidates has increased by $69 million over 1992 levels, an 18% increase despite the absence of the unusual factors of redistricting and reapportionment that contributed to the upsurge in 1992 activity.

According to a Federal Election Commission compilation of financial activity from January 1, 1993, through October 19, 1994, Congressional candidates have raised $521 million and spent $449 million. They reported $122 million cash-on-hand as they entered the last three weeks of the campaign.

For all Congressional candidates, including primary election losers, reports covering through September 30 showed receipts of $551 million, up 10% over 1992 levels. Spending remained constant at $445 million.

Through October 19, Senate candidates raised $227 million, spent $205 million and had cash-on-hand of $32 million as they began their final days of campaigning. Support came in the form of $137 million from individuals and $37 million from PACs. Candidates relied on $42 million of their own money, contributing $18 million and loaning another $24 million to their campaigns.

In House races, $294 million in receipts and $244 million in expenditures left just over $89 million for the final weeks before the election. Fundraising for House races was up 15% from 1992 levels. Spending rose only 5%.

Financing for House races came in the form of $154 million from individuals and $107 million from PACs, with candidates providing $22 million of their own funds - contributing $4 million and loaning $18 million.

Median disbursements for Republican challengers nearly doubled from 1992, to $103,240, while Democratic challengers increased only 8%, to $45,904. Median disbursements for House Democratic incumbents increased only 1%, to $375,448, while median spending for Republican incumbents actually declined 15%, to $292,297. In open seat races, median spending for Democrats increased 38%, to $355,513, while their Republican counterparts reported a median spending increase of 60%, to $371,779.

Information attached to this report offers statistics on each race, candidate rankings, and overall summary data by political party as well as by candidate status (incumbent, challenger, open-seat). Comparable pre-general election summary figures are provided for the past four election cycles. A special table is included with median disbursement figures for various categories of House candidates, and because of increased amounts of personal funds, a ranking of all Senate and the top 50 House candidates who have contributed or loaned money to their campaigns is attached.

FOOTNOTES

1. Figures in the first two Tables and the detailed listing of candidates cover from January 1, 1993, or whenever the campaign registered during the election cycle, through October 19, 1994, or the last report filed by the campaign, as indicated. House candidates with information ending before October 19 are identified with an asterisk in the detailed listing for House campaigns.
2. Net receipt and net disbursement figures are total receipts and total disbursements, as reported by the campaigns, minus any money transferred between committees of the same campaign.
3. Columns entitled "Other Committees" (also "Other Cmte's") are monies received, as reported by the campaigns, that are comprised mostly of PAC funds, but also include contributions by other candidates' committees and some unregistered entities. On the Senate listings, the column "Non Party Contributions" contains PAC contributions for 1990 and 1992, as reported by the PAC's, and "Other Committee" data for 1994.
4. Open seat races are those in which the incumbent did not seek reelection. As such, both general election candidates in the 4 districts where the incumbent was defeated in the primary are classified as challengers. The two general election candidates in the 11th district in New Jersey are also listed as challengers. In this case, the incumbent decided to retire after receiving his parties nomination for reelection. Districts where special elections have been held at times separate from the regular election calendar (CA/17; KY/2; MI/3; MS/2; OH/2; OK/6; WI/1; and TX Senate) have been divided into two races. None of the activity regarding those special elections is included in these tables. Winners of the specials appear here as incumbents, and their activity begins with the first report following the Post Special filing. The district in which a special election is being held in conjunction with the general (TN/Senate; OK/Senate) are classified as open seat and has not been divided.
5. Percentage figures in Tables covering several election cycles represent the percentage of net receipts from each source and will not sum to 100, since not all sources of receipts are listed.
6. On the Senate listings, the column titles "Candidate Support" includes contributions by the candidate, as well as loans made or guaranteed by the candidate. The column titles "Trans from other auth" includes monies transferred from House committees of candidates for the Senate, as well as proceeds from joint fundraising activity among several candidates or committees. Contributions from individuals and PAC's made through these joint fundraising efforts are NOT included in the "Individual Contributions" or "Non Party Contributions" columns.
7. Detailed listings of candidates include all those participating in the November 8th general election who reported any campaign receipts, along with those candidates in Louisiana who received at least 50% of the vote in the primary and were therefore declared the winner of the seat.
8. Some House members who are or were running for the Senate in '94 changed their former House campaign committees into their Senate campaign committees. Financial activity related solely to their Senate campaigns cannot be isolated. (See Inhofe, OK; and Wheat, MO).
9. The detailed listing for House candidates includes a column labeled "Candidate Support". This includes contributions from the candidate plus any loans made by or guaranteed by the candidate, minus any loan repayments to the fund during this two year period. This amount will appear as negative, therefore, in cases where loan repayments were made during 1993 or 1994 for loans taken out in an earlier election cycle, if no new loans were made.
10. Incumbent David Levy, who lost the Republican primary in New York's 4th district, appears on the general election ballot as the Conservative party candidate.
