Late Transfer from Nonfederal to Federal Account of State Party Committee

In order to resolve a bank account transfer problem, the Democratic Party of Virginia (the Party) may make a one-time transfer from its nonfederal account to its federal account outside the normal 70-day window for such transfers. 11 CFR 106.5(g)(2)(ii).

Background

On June 18, 2001, in accord with the Party's ordinary practice, Executive Director Alan Moore faxed a written request to the bank asking that $43,679.88 be transferred from the Party's nonfederal account to its federal account. This transfer was to cover allocable administrative expenses for the period of April 20 through May 3, 2001. On July 12, 2001, the Party reviewed its June bank statements and discovered that the requested transfer had not been made. They immediately contacted the bank. Neither the bank nor the Party could locate any written record to confirm

Lawrence H. Norton Appointed General Counsel

On September 17, 2001, Lawrence H. Norton, formerly an official with the Commodity Futures Trading Commission, became the FEC's General Counsel. Mr. Norton replaced former FEC General Counsel Lawrence M. Noble.

Before joining the FEC, Mr. Norton served as the Associate Director of the Division of Enforcement at the Commodity Futures Trading Commission and as an Assistant Director at the Federal Trade Commission. In addition, he was a frequent speaker on federal regulatory issues, a standing member of multi-agency task forces and an adjunct instructor with the National Institute of Trial Advocacy.

Before joining the federal government, Mr. Norton was an Assistant Attorney General in the Civil Litigation Division of the Maryland Attorney General's Office. He is a graduate of the University of Maryland School of Law.

the bank's receipt of the transfer request. However, Mr. Moore submitted a signed, sworn declaration to the Commission that he specifically remembered faxing the request to the bank and that, to the best of his knowledge, the bank received the request and failed to honor it.¹ The Party disclosed the disbursements for which the nonfederal portion was to be transferred in its pre-special election report, which was timely filed on June 7. A post-special election report, recording several transfers (but not the transfer requested on June 18), was filed on July 19.

Analysis

Commission regulations require that a state party committee with separate federal and nonfederal accounts must pay the expenses of mixed federal and nonfederal activities, including administrative expenses such as rent, utilities, office supplies and salaries (except for such expenses directly attributable to a clearly identified candidate), from its federal account or a separate allocation account. 11 CFR 106.5(g)(1). The committee may transfer funds from its nonfederal account to its federal account solely to cover the nonfederal share of the allocable expense. Such a transfer must be made no more than 10 days before, and no more than 60 days after, the payments for the allocable expense. 11 CFR 106.5 (g)(2)(ii). Any transfer from the nonfederal account made outside this window is "presumed to be a loan or contribution from the nonfederal account to a federal account, in violation of the Act." 11 CFR 106.5(g)(2)(iii).

If the wire transfer had been made on June 18, it would have been timely for all of the disbursements covered in the amount of the transfer. The Commission relies upon the representations in the advisory opinion request, and in particular on Mr. Moore's declaration under penalty of perjury that he faxed the request to the bank, as truthful descriptions of the Party's actions with respect to the attempted transfer of funds. In past advisory opinions, the Commission has addressed situations where contribution monies were not received by a political committee, or deposited by it in a timely manner, because of circumstances outside the control of the committee or its agents. AO's 1999-23, 1993-5 and 1992-42. The Party's situation is analogous to those dealt with in previous advisory opinions in that the required action was not performed. The Commission also found significant that the Party:

- Made the transfer request in a timely manner, so that the relevant transfer would have been made between 46 and 59 days after the disbursements;

- Discovered that the transfer was not made and notified the bank of the discovery within 30 days after the requested transfer date and before the filing due date for the report that would have disclosed the transfer; and
- Expeditiously submitted this advisory opinion request to the Commission.

Given the bank's of control over the means of transfer and the Party's actions with respect to the requested transfer, the Party may make the transfer, originally requested on June 18, from its nonfederal to its federal account. The transfer must occur within 15 days of the Party's receipt of this advisory opinion.

Reporting

The transfer must be disclosed on the Party's next scheduled report. The Party must report the date the transfer actually occurred, and must include an explanatory note with the report stating that:

- The transfer was not made within the 70-day window of 11 CFR 106.5(g)(2)(ii) because of special circumstances; and
- The Commission expressly allowed the Party to make the transfer in this advisory opinion, which should be cited by number.

Court Cases

New Litigation

Judicial Watch, Inc. v. FEC

On August 17, 2001, Judicial Watch, Inc., a nonprofit, public interest organization, asked the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia to find that the Commission acted contrary to law when it failed to respond to the organization's administrative complaint. The April 10, 2001, administrative complaint alleged that Representative Tom DeLay and the National Republican Congressional Committee (NRCC) sold meetings with top Bush Administration officials in exchange for campaign contributions to the NRCC. Judicial Watch contended that the NRCC was required to report these meetings to the Commission as "offsets to contributions." 2 U.S.C. §434(b) and 11 CFR 104.3. Judicial Watch asked the Commission to investigate because it believed that the meetings had not been reported and would not be reported in the future.

In its request for declaratory relief, Judicial Watch alleges that the Commission did not act on the complaint within 120 days, as required by the Federal Election Campaign Act. Judicial Watch asks that the court:

- Declare the Commission's failure to act on the complaint contrary to law;
- Direct the Commission to act within 30 days; and
- Retain jurisdiction over this action.

On Appeal

FEC v. NRA

On August 23, 2001, the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit denied the Commission's petitions to have this case reheard by a panel of the court and heard en banc. The Commission had asked the court to revisit a portion of its June 29, 2001, ruling. The court had held that in 1980 the National Rifle Association (NRA) qualified for a limited exemption to the Federal Election Campaign Act's ban on corporate contributions and expenditures. This case was summarized in the August 2001 Record, p. 3.

Although the court denied the FEC's petitions, it did—at the Commission's request—clarify that the NRA's 1980 exemption applied only to corporate independent expenditures and not to corporate contributions to candidates. ♦

Campaign Guides Available

For each type of committee, a Campaign Guide explains, in clear English, the complex regulations regarding the activity of political committees. It shows readers, for example, how to fill out FEC reports and illustrates how the law applies to practical situations.

The FEC publishes four Campaign Guides, each for a different type of committee, and we are happy to mail your committee as many copies as you need, free of charge. We encourage you to view them on our Web site (go to www.fec.gov, then click on "Campaign Finance Law Resources" and then scroll down to "Publications").

If you would like to place an order for paper copies of the Campaign Guides, please call 800-424-9530, press 1, then 3.

Reports

South Carolina Special Election Reporting

The Special Election to fill the U.S. House seat of the late Congressman Floyd Spence in the Second Congressional district of South Carolina will be held on December 18, 2001. The Special Primary will be October 30 and the Special Runoff, if needed, will be November 13. Committees involved in any of these elections should consult the accompanying chart for filing information.¹

Note that 48-hour notices are required of authorized committees that receive contributions of $1,000 or more between October 11 and October 27 for the Special Primary, between November 29 and December 15 for the Special General and between October 25 and November 10 for the Special Runoff, if that election is held.

Reports filed electronically must be submitted by midnight on the filing date. A committee required to file electronically that files instead on FEC paper reporting forms will be considered a nonfiler.

Reports filed on paper and sent by registered or certified mail must be postmarked by the mailing date; reports sent by any other means (including reports sent via first class mail) must be received by the Commission's close of business on the filing date.

For more information about any of these filing requirements, please call the FEC's Information Division at 800/424-9530 (press 1, then 3) or 202/694-1100. ♦

Midyear PAC Count Shows Slight Decrease from January 2001

The FEC's semiannual PAC count reveals a small decrease in the number of PACs since the last count was taken in January 2001. The table at right shows the midyear and year-end PAC figures since 1995. Administrative Fines

Committees Fined for Nonfiled and Late Reports

The Commission recently publicized its final action on 52 new Administrative Fine cases, bringing the total number of cases released to the public to 240.

Civil money penalties for late reports are determined by the number of days the report was late, the amount of financial activity involved and any prior penalties for violations under the administrative fine regulations. Penalties for nonfiled reports—and for reports filed so late as to be considered nonfiled—are also determined by the financial activity for the reporting period and any prior violations. Election sensitive reports, which include reports and notices filed prior to an election (i.e., 12 Day pre-primary, October quarterly and October monthly reports), receive
